Constitution's Fate Answered Tonight In Special Senate

Senate votes tonight on whether the proposed new ASUN Constitution will go to a general student vote Friday, and prospective ASUN candidates will then know for which offices they may file.

If Senate rejects the constitution, candidates may file for the same offices as are provided for in the present constitution. If the document is approved by Senate and gets an acceptance vote from two-thirds of thirty percent of the student body, a new slate of offices will be up for grabs.

Because of the doubts concerning which constitution — the old or the new — will be in effect, final filing date for candidates has been set at Wednesday, March 7, regardless.

The system of representation under the proposed constitution provides for a Senate made up of twenty senators — 12 one-year at-large senators, four two-year at-large senators, and the four academic class presidents.

The fate of the proposed constitution has the Sagebrush, as well as candidates, up in the air.

According to Robert's Rules of Order, parliamentary authority for Senate, the proposed new ASUN constitution is an amendment to the present document. And the present constitution states that a copy of an amendment must be printed in the Sagebrush prior to its being voted upon in an election.

If the proposed constitution passes Senate and goes to a general election Friday, the Sagebrush will come out Thursday afternoon and will contain a printed copy of the "amendment."

Candidates filing for whatever offices will be open, will turn in nomination forms in the ASUN office by 5 p. m. March 7.

Primary elections will be held March 14 with generals a week later, Wednesday, March 21.

Senate meets tonight in special session to vote on the proposed constitution at 7 p. m. in the Aggie conference room.

The senators voted at a regular meeting Wednesday to postpone for one week voting on accepting or rejecting the constitution. Their purpose was to provide more time to consider the document and any possible changes.

100-Year Celebration Brings Big Speakers

March 11 through 17 has been proclaimed "University of Nevada Week" by Governor Grant Sawyer as the campus makes plans to participate in the national centennial observance of the Morrill Land-Grant Act.

The celebration is being held in observance of one hundred years of education growth since the passage of the Morrill

Act, signed in 1862.

Campus activities during the week have been planned during the past month.

Dr. Nevitt Sanford, author of the controversial study "The American College, will speak Tuesday, March 13. The author of the "psychological interpretation of higher learning" will speak concerning land grant colleges as he knows them from his studies.

Faculty members will conduct a panel discussion the following day Wednesday, March 14.

Dr. Juscelino Kubitschek, former president of Brazil, will give a public lecture Thursday, March 15. Kubitschek is being sponsored by the Public Occasions committee and the Student Union.

A number of art and photography exhibits in the Fine Arts building and the Student Union will show the University's growth since its establishment in 1864.

A special book display and land-grant exhibit will be on view in the Noble H. Getchell library.

Local information on the celebration will be given by deans and members of the administration as they talk to members of local organizations including the Twentieth Century club, American Legion, Quota club, YWCA, Rotary club, Lions club, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Optimist club, and Women's Civic club.

The Morrill Land-Grant Act granted the various states parcels of government-owned land. The land was sold by the states and proceeds were used to establish public universities.

Prof Talks On Oriental Drama

"The Theatre of Japan" will be the topic of a lecture by Dr. John W. Morrison Thursday night.

Dr. Morrison, an associate professor of English, will lecture at 8 p. m. in the Fine Arts theatre.

His talk is designed to provide background information on the upcoming play, "Rashomon," which will be presented March 8, 9, and 10. One of a series of presentations by the department of speech and drama, the lecture will be free of charge and open to the public.

Dr. Morrison will describe the new theatre of Japan as compared with the old traditional theatre. He will provide general information on literature and the theatre, and their integration in Japan. "Rashomon" itself was adapted from Japanese literature.

Neither the Orient nor the theatre is new to Dr. Morrison. He studied Oriental history and languages during his undergraduate years at the University of Washington.

During World War II, he was sent to a language school while on active duty and learned Japanese there. Later in the war he translated enemy documents and interrogated Japanese prisoners of war.

Although he has not been to the Orient since that time, he hopes to return.

Dr. Morrison is the author of a book on literature, "Modern Japanese Fiction." The book, which discusses top Japanese authors and their works, may be found in the Noble Getchell library.

The theatre has also played a large part in the history of the lecturer. Dr. Morrison has appeared in various Reno Little Theatre productions, ranging from "All The King's Men" to "Macbeth." He is a member of the board of directors of that group.

Dean Has IDs

Students who did not pick up their combination identification and student body cards either Friday or Monday may pick them up in room 104, Ross hall from today on.

ID cards were distributed in the Student Union Friday and Monday. The remainder are in the dean of men's office.

The photographed cards entitle students to admission to games, plays, lectures, the library and entitle the holder to voting privileges.

Students must present fee card stubs in order to pick up the ID cards.

Dormitory Women Circulate Petition For Masculinity

Women want to wear the pants. At least the dormitory women want to — when they eat dinner in the dining commons.

Around 150 dorm residents have signed a petition asking that they be allowed to wear pants, pedal pushers, capris, toreadors, or whatever.

The women are complaining that they get out of classes in the afternoon and change into something comfortable, only to have to put a skirt on again to eat dinner.

Women who have night art classes, requiring pants, are permitted to eat in pants so that they may go immediately to their evening classes.

According to Bill Adams, assistant director of student services, the cashiers in the dining commons have a difficult time determining which women students have night classes.

Adams spoke to residents of White Pine hall Wednesday night and explained some of the difficulties to be encountered if all women are permitted to wear pants to dinner.

He mentioned the around two hundred persons who eat in the dining commons who are not under contracts. These include University guests, professors, and administrators.

He added that women are allowed to wear pants on Saturday as well as being permitted to wear their hair in rollers or pin curls.

He added that it would not be impressive to University speakers such as Dr. Juscelino Kubitschek of Brazil or Nevitt Sanford, who will visit the campus next month.

The petition will go to the University food committee and then to the dean of women through the office of Student Affairs.

TUB Elects Prexy, Financier Tonight

The Student Union board, which manages the activities inside the Jot Travis building and sponsors various movies, dances, lectures, and programs, will elect a president and a financial director this week.

The board will meet Wednesday, Feb. 28 at 7 p. m. in the Union conference room for elections.

Candidates filed for president are Bob Backus, Bill Lohse, and Clark Santini. Ramone Arrizabalaga, Doug Ketron, and Stan Smart have filed for financial director of the Student Union.

Backus is now serving as financial director, and is also interim president, filling out the term of Dave Short who was unable to return to school.

Lohse is publicity chairman for the Union and Santini is chairman of the lectures program.

Arrizabalaga has served the Student Union this past term as art chairman; Ketron is a board representative from Mackay School of Mines, and Smart is the board's parliamentarian.

Clary, Struve Win Debates

Two Nevada students made a good showing for the University during the weekend as they took a second place in the Desert Invitational Debate Tournament at Tucson.

Pat Clary and Larry Struve walked away with high honors in the tournament which included 41 colleges and universities from the western, middle western and southwestern states.

The two debaters won the quarter-finals with a 3-0 decision over Brigham Young University, leaving Nevada the only western state in the competition.

Clary and Struve won in the semi-finals over Hutchison College, Hutchison, Kans., and were beaten in the finals by Washburn University of Topeka, Kans., by a 2-1 decision.

The debate tournament topic was "Resolved that labor organizations should be under the jurisdiction of anti-trust legislation."

Dr. R. S. Griffin, director of forensics, accompanied the team. Bob Van Lydegraf also went on the three-day trip, Thursday through Saturday, and entered two individual events. Dr. Griffin said the results of Van Lydegraf's competition have not been released.

The forensics director said of Clary and Struve, "The thing that makes them outstanding is their consistency," in reference to their large number of wins.

A second group of Nevada debaters attended a meet at Stockton College in California, accompanied by Prof. Arthur Hastings.

Dr. Griffin and members of the debate team are now planning the Nevada Invitational Debate Tournament which will be held on campus in April.

Nevada Potential Major Iron State

Nevada could possibly become a major iron supplier for the West, according to Dr. Walter H. Voskuil, visiting professor of mineral economics at the Mackay School of Mines.

An article written by Dr. Voskuil for Iron and Steel Engineer, monthly publication of the National Association of Iron and Steel Engineers, stated that there is approximately one-million tons of ore in the state.

He estimates that the ore is of better than sixty percent iron content, and that much of it is lying near rail transportation. Many counties are already exploring these deposits. Dr. Voskuil feels that Nevada's iron resources could eventually reach a substantial export market.

Prof Goddard Is Ski Slope Victim

Skiing claimed yet another victim last weekend — this time a faculty member.

Harold Goddard, assistant professor of music, sustained a twisted knee while shushing on the slopes of Squaw Valley. No cast was needed, however; the knee was bandaged and one crutch provided aid in walking.

Goddard related that he apparently got going too fast and found himself unable to stop. He expects to be back to normal by next week.

Prof Heads State Music Educators

Newly-elected president of the Nevada Music Educators association is Dr. John Carrico, director of bands on campus.

Dr. Carrico begins a two-year term as head of the state organization.

He has been a member of the University faculty since 1959.

The NMEA is made up of public and parochial school music directors and teachers throughout the state.

The organization is affiliated with the Music Educators National conference and the western division of MENC.

Birchers Sponsor Another Contest

University of Nevada students have been invited to compete in an essay contest sponsored by the John Birch Society.

Nine prizes will be awarded to undergraduates writing the best book reviews of Rosalie Gordon's "Nine Men Against America."

Any undergraduate enrolled during the 1962 spring semester is eligible to enter the contest which ends June 9.

Further information on the contest will be posted on bulletin boards in various campus buildings.

Education Conference

Dr. Trumen M. Cheney, association professor of secondary education, plans to attend a regional conference of the cooperative project on pupil accounting for local and state school systems in Salt Lake City March 7, 8, and 9.

The purpose of the meeting is to consider in detail the third preliminary draft of the Pupil Accounting Handbook and to make suggestions for its improvement. Dr. Cheney will represent the American Personnel and Guidance association. Other organizations responding to the invitation of the U. S. Commissioner of Education represent a comprehensive coverage of all the associations in the United States involved in educational studies.

Letters to the Editor

Anti Ambassadors

EDITOR, THE SAGEBRUSH:

Holding true to the Sagebrush policy of printing only articles of campus and community interest, I was pleased to read the vivid vacation capers involving five socially prominent students. I only wished that each student's personal experiences could be illustrated in the manner accorded the Tau's trek to Mexico. Just when the article began to drag timely comments such as, "MacKenzie's car returned to the ATO house dirty and full of sand!" spurred on further reading whereon this reader learned of Playboy Griffin's dysentery and the 500 lbs. of Marajuana not smuggled across the border.

In all fairness to the Sagebrush the fact is appreciated that Mr. Buchanan's article did take a back seat to the Senate Sex Probe, if only in length.

BRUCE WARD
P. S. John Glenn did go into orbit last week, didn't he?

Authors Answer

EDITOR, THE SAGEBRUSH:

As the original authors of the proposed ASUN Constitution, we were unable to attend last Wednesday's Senate meeting because we were out of the state. However, Friday's editorial in the Sagebrush reflects the area in which there appears to be controversy—senatorial representation.

The proposed method of representation before the Senate provides for sixteen senators-at-large and the four class presidents. This change from the originally proposed representation method is not only a good compromise proposal but also, in our opinion, may well be the best possible method.

The present proposal provides the ASUN with equitable representation, which is only right since all students pay the same ASUN fee and therefore should have the same voting powers. In any event it is clear that equality in representation has been generally accepted as a basis in governmental organizations, with representatives conceived of as representing persons.

The representation of living groups, per se, is not only inequitable for the students but is also unjustified on the basis of "interest" or "functional" representation; we have heard no good reason why a specific living group needs or requires a senator.

Finally, the new method of representation suggested in Friday's editorial is not only inequitable and unjustified for "interest" and "functional" reasons, but also the suggestion is totally unworkable, as the ASUN election board has pointed out. It would be impossible to obtain or prepare accurate lists of on-campus and off-campus Independents with which to run an election.

The method of representation before the Senate is the best method which has been proposed to date. It provides equitable representation; for establishing political parties.

On the whole, the "new" ASUN constitution, a compromise document, improves student government for the best interest of the University of Nevada.

Sagens - Blue Key Improve Relations

Better relations between service groups is the purpose of a party for members of Blue Key and Sagens Friday night.

The spaghetti dinner starts at 6:30 p.m. in Sparks, with 45 expected to attend.

Dave Mandell is chairman of the dinner which will bring together members of the upperclassmen's and upperclasswomen's honorary service organizations.

Mandell said a "Twist" party will follow, with music by records and stereo tapes.

The dining commons is catering the meal.

STUDY IN GUADALAJARA, MEXICO

The Guadalajara Summer School, a fully accredited University of Arizona program, conducted in cooperation with professors from Stanford University, University of California, and Guadalajara, will offer July 2 to August 10, art, folk-lore, geography, history, language and literature courses. Tuition, board and room is $245. Write Prof. Juan B. Rael, P. O. Box 7227, Stanford, Calif.

Editorial Comment What Happened to Women?

The thing that's wrong with women is that they don't want to admit they were born into the wrong sex. From the time they discover an inborn difference between them and other members of society (men), females are determined to do something about it.

They can't really—but they can make a lot of noise, and that they do to perfection.

Now the girls in the dorms have decided it's to much work for them to disregard their afternoon leisure wear of pants for the traditional skirts and dresses. Dining commons contracts stipulate that women dress like women to dinner.

Now girls can get out their dresses fast enough (the high pregnancy rate indicates this), but getting back into them after an afternoon of pants-wearing is akin to the Spanish inquisition.

They have petitioned the appropriate authorities for permission to wear pants to the dining commons. This will save precious seconds of time that would otherwise be wasted changing clothes.

Ever since America gave into that howling mob of suffragettes, and gave the insufferable women the vote, men have been besieged by request after request. Gradually, the requests became demands—and then ultimatums.

Women are everywhere. They go to college, they have jobs, they even join the Army. You can't throw them out of saloons. They might as well smoke cigars and pledge fraternities.

But wear pants to dinner? In this case, a useful tradition is in dispute, and it should be upheld at all costs. The girls, who have been getting far too big for their britches, should be whacked on their cute little backsides and sent to sit in the corner until they can come to dinner dressed like ladies.

If they get their way this time, who can tell what might happen. When ex-Brazilian president Kubitschek visits campus soon he might be so appalled by the lack of women on the campus that he would recommend his country quit accepting Peace corpswomen.

The University of Nevada, cow-school of the West, should hold up its head and do what is right in this case. If the heifers get out of line this time, the future holds nothing but disaster.—DB

Bill Tuck Heads Sig Ep Officers

Bill Tuck, junior business major from Reno, is the new president of Sigma Phi Epsilon colony at Nevada.

Tuck, a graduate of Reno high school, was vice-president of the fraternity before moving to the top post. He is also IFC vice-president.

Other Sig Ep officers are: Hank Lund, vice president; Chan Johnson, secretary; Wayne Ferguson, recorder, and Glen Galloway, chaplain.

Heat Lines Go In, Streets Go Out

University streets are having quite an overhaul, but all the digging being done by the buildings and grounds crews does not mean new streets are in the offing.

The crews are digging over six-foot deep holes in order to sink distribution lines for the central heating plant.

The operation has centered around areas by Stewart hall, the new engineering building, and between Mackay science hall and the Sarah Hamilton Fleischmann school of home economics.

Women Sked Lone Elections

Once again the Associated Women Students retreat from campaigning along with candidates for ASUN offices.

Last year AWS candidates presented platforms and made speeches at a student body assembly the night before ASUN general elections.

When AWS starts campaigning in March, the activities will be culminated with an all-women breakfast, scheduled for Saturday, March 3 at 9:30 a. m. in the dining commons.

During the breakfast, candidates will give campaign speeches. In addition, three foreign students will be guest speakers.

AWS emphasizes that the breakfast is open to all University women — Greeks, Independents, on- and off-campus women.

Special guests at the breakfast will include Dean of Student Affairs and Mrs. Sam M. Basta, Dean of Women Elaine Mobley, Women's Counselor Roberta Barnes, University President and Mrs. Charles J. Armstrong, Executive Vice President and Mrs. Kenneth E. Young, Dean of Men and Mrs. Jerry Wulk, Mrs. Trinie Erquiague, Mr. and Mrs. James McNabney, and the house mothers of the sororities, women's dormitories, and Mrs. Philip Auchampaugh, housemother of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

Cost of the breakfast is 90 cents. Women students who hold dining Commons meal tickets will pay an additional 34 cents.

YWCA Finds Differences Between Modern Roles of Men and Women

"The Changing Roles of Men and Women in the Twentieth Century' is a topic that challenges many students today on campuses across the country. What is masculine and what is feminine?"

This was one of the many questions posed to the University of Nevada YWCA cabinet by Odile Sweeney, associate in administration of the College and University Division of the National Board of the Young Women's Christian Association as she met with them in a planning session during her visit to the campus last week.

She stressed that the University of Nevada YWCA needs to create a new image of itself on the campus, that it must move slowly, emphasizing quality rather than quantity in seeking ways to bring to the Nevada campus an awareness of the economic, political and social concerns shared by hundreds of other Student Ys throughout the country.

At a small informal luncheon in the dining commons with Susan Lombardi, campus Y president; Mrs. Ruthe Talcott, advisory board president; Dean of Women Elaine Mobley and assistant, Miss Roberta Barnes; Cecilia Molini, president of CCUN; and Mrs. Louise McIntyre, executive director of the campus Y, Miss Sweeney said:

"The program of a student YWCA should be supportive to, and not in competition with, both the University and the church, and yet should challenge them both to more truly fulfill their roles in the lives of the students."

Membership in the University of Nevada YWCA is open to all women students, and men may be associate (non-voting) members in program participation.

Meetings are held the second and fourth Thursday of the month at noon in the Sierra room, Student Union.

Officers of the campus Y are Susan Lombardi, president; Barbara Coles, vice president; Marilyn Ruth Murphy, secretary; Marilyn Kotter, treasurer; Rosemarie Haenel, program chairman; Renate Gratt, social chairman; Judith Armstrong, worship chairman; Sally Nielson, publicity chairman.

Law's Long Arm Grabs Professors

According to the "campus cop", staff students are being cited for local parking violations.

However, violations seem to be on a downswing in comparison to the last school year period.

During the 1960-61 term, two-hundred and sixty automobiles were towed away at owners' expenses, while this year's estimation is closer to one-hundred and fifty.

The sole member of the University police force says that this may be due to the fact that there were two officers on duty last year. The University will be hiring another man to assist him in the near future.

Since Jan. 26, four hundred citations have been issued.

Penalties vary from warnings, citations to be paid by fine, towing and charges, and work hours doled out by the dean of men.

The "campus cop" says he generally gives first violators two or three days of grace with warning slips.

He finds that there are persistent violators among the many drivers on campus.

Driving on or parking on the grass is one of the more serious violations, with the penalty of work hours!

Work hours vary from five to forty, and are assigned by the office of the dean of men.

Fine Arts Shows Lithograph Prints

An exhibit of lithographs and prints now being shown in the Fine Arts building is part of a Ford foundation - sponsored program to promote the humanities and art.

The exhibit is being circulated in schools and colleges throughout the country by the American Federation of Arts. Described as "a retrospective exhibition of the prints of Misch Kohn," it includes a majority of black and white prints with a sprinkling of color prints.

The subjects are mostly representational—that is recognizable as known objects of persons. The works date from 1939 to the present time, and are designed to review the progress of Kohn as a printmaker.

The prints on exhibit were chosen by Carl Zigrosser, curator of prints and drawings at the Philadelphia Museum of Arts.

The exhibit was set up Monday, and will remain open to the public for a month.

Bridge Club A-OK

The prospective Bridge club on campus has been well received, according to Jeff Hebert who is organizing the group.

Hebert said the first meeting last Wednesday had a good turnout, and a second meeting is planned for tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. in the Student Union, upstairs in the card area.

It is required that all players, regardless of proficiency, are asked to come, Hebert said.

Selective Service Test April 27; Helps Students Obtain Deferrment

April 17 is the date for the selective service college qualification test, and applications for Nevada students are now available.

Scores made on the test, to be given on campus, will provide local boards with evidence of aptitude for continued undergraduate and graduate study.

The scores will play a large part in determining whether a student will be deferred from military service to attend the University.

Applications for the test can be postmarked no later than midnight, Tuesday, March 27.

To be eligible for the test an applicant must be a selective service registrant satisfactorily taking a full-time college course, undergraduate or graduate, leading to a degree.

Students may only take the test once.

At the present time, Nevada local boards reach men for induction at about age 22½. Students generally can complete their undergraduate studies at that age, but those hoping to continue studies in graduate school, for example, will need a deferment to do so. Also heavier draft calls would lower the age at which local boards reach men for induction, and deferments might be necessary to finish undergraduate work.

Metten Skeds Summer Plays

Two full-length plays will be produced on campus this summer as the University holds its first summer theatre workshop.

Dr. Charles Metten will direct the workshop, scheduled for the main six-week session of summer school, June 25 to August 3.

The workshop will earn students two University credits.

Assisting Dr. Metten in conducting the summer course will be Robert G. Ware, University Theatre technical director, a member of the speech and drama department.

Plays under consideration include those by Sidney Howard, Noel Coward, William Saroyan, Chekhov, and Ionesco.

In addition to acting, students electing the workshop will do technical work with scenery, lights, costumes, props, publicity and business.

Scholarship Fund For Bus Ad Men

Several business administration majors will receive scholarships of $200 to $500 under terms of a $5,000 scholarship fund established by Mrs. O. G. Bates of Reno recently.

The scholarships will be awarded starting fall semester, 1962. The fund is to be called the Mr. and Mrs. O. G. Bates Scholarship in Business Administration.

College of Business Administration Dean Robert Weems will recommend candidates to the scholarships and prizes committee headed by Dr. Robert McQueen of the psychology department.

Dr. McQueen said the awards will be based on scholarship, need, and faculty endorsement.

Candidates will not be disqualified for reasons of sex, age, marital status, place of legal residence, religion, or ethnic background.

Recipients will be announced during June graduation ceremonies.

Bulletins Available From 'Mexico U'

Bulletins and literature describing the 1962 summer session tour to the University of Mexico are now available.

The twenty-page illustrated bulletin details the seven-week program including courses offered, accommodations, travel arrangements, over 16 social and sight-seeing events, complete costs and fees for the entire summer program. The program runs June 23 through August 12.

Special program rates for students and teachers residing in select apartment hotels in Mexico City start from as low as $451 and include round-trip jet travel, living accommodations and the full schedule of activities.

The bulletin, application forms and transportation availabilities may be received by writing to Dr. Osmond R. Hull, Director, University Study Tour to Mexico, 703 Market Street, San Francisco 3, Calif.

Deadline Date To Seek Aid

Students interested in getting a scholarship for the 1962-63 school year should make application now.

Forms may be obtained from Dr. Robert McQueen, chairman of the scholarship committee, in room 203 of the education building. William Rasmussen, director of financial aids, Ross hall, also has application forms.

Deadline for submitting scholarship applications is April 10.

"These scholarships are in the general University scholarship program," Rasmussen said, "and are not to be confused with special awards or incoming freshman scholarships."

Scholarship awards will be made at the end of the spring semester.

Some awards will be announced at commencement, June 4.

Times Up Today; Library Gripes In

Today is the last day that questionnaires on library policy may be turned in.

All students having definite views on how the new Noble H. Getchell library should be run are encouraged to fill out one of these forms.

The student library committee, which drew up the questionnaire, will use the results of this poll to determine student library needs.

Questions relate to smoking areas, guided tours, and hours the library is open.

Forms are still available at the main entrance to the library. All campus living group house managers also have the questionnaires.

Members of the student library committee are Fred Miller, chairman, Jeff Hebert and Rose Marie Garn.

Srs.—Keep Dates

"Seniors signing up for job interviews must keep their appointments," William Rasmussen, director of student employment, announced today.

If something occurs that would prevent the interview, seniors are asked to notify the graduate placement office, room 104, Ross hall, prior to the appointment.

Physics Classes Hear Nobelman

Guest lecturer next week in several classes will be Dr. Walter H. Brattain, 1956 co-winner of the Nobel prize in physics.

Dr. Brattain, a research physicist of Bell Telephone laboratories, will be on campus Monday through Wednesday, March 5-7.

He won the Nobel prize, along with Drs. John Bardeen and William Shockley, for "investigations in semi-conductors and the discovery of the transistor effect."

Dr. Brattain's visit is under the auspices of the American Association of Physics Teachers and the American Institute of Physics as part of a broad, nation-wide program to stimulate interest in physics.

Lectures, informal discussions, assistance to faculty members with curriculum and research problems in physics, and talks with students will be included in Dr. Brattain's visit.

Dr. Sigmund W. Leifson, chairman of the University's physics department, is arranging Dr. Brattain's visit.

Tri-Delts Add Actives Saturday

Initiation activities for 23 pledges of Delta Delta Delta ended Saturday night with a banquet at the Villa Roma.

For a week before initiation ended, pledges were seen on campus wearing giant pledge pins and carrying their traditional paddles.

Pack Splits Weekend . . .

Nevadans Grab 2nd Slot In Cage Finale

University of Nevada's basketball team didn't capture the Far Western Conference championship again this year but performed well enough throughout the season to take second place with an 8-4 league record.

The Wolf Pack clinched second place in the FWC with a decisive 87-75 victory over the Cal Aggies at Davis Saturday night, after falling out of the league title race Friday while losing 87-60 at Sacramento State.

Fighter-Short Pack Defeated; Men Wanted

Nevada boxing coach Jimmie Olivas is still looking for boxers in the 139-pound, light heavyweight and heavyweight divisions after Chico State claimed three forfeits in Saturday's match.

The Wolf Pack took four out of the seven bouts held, but did not enter boxers in three divisions. Technically, Chico State won the card 6-4 with the three Nevada defaults.

Classy Lonnie Tolano, Steve Parker, Skip Houk and Brian Roach picked up the victories for the Wolf Pack ring team operating without Jimmie Olivas who was in Las Vegas refereeing a nation-wide TV bout.

In the varsity opener John Rivers of Chico, 1961 California Collegiate Boxing Conference featherweight champion, took a TKO victory after the second round over scrappy Chris Schol in the 125-pound class.

Undefeated Steve Parker unleashed a powerful left hook and jab to capture his fourth straight 132-pound victory of the season with a decision over Chico State's Carlin Jardin.

Fred Robertson dislocated his shoulder after the first round and had to give a TKO victory to 147-pound Mike Ferris of the Wildcats after both fighters scored well in the first round.

Aggressive Skip Houk punched out an impressive decision over Chico letterman Bill Moule in the other welterweight bout. Houk displayed a potent left hook in the driving attack on Moule.

Dave Stix dropped a 156-pound decision to Chico State's Ken Jensen. Stix, boxing from a shell of gloves and arms, charged his opponent all of the way and landed several good lefts but Jensen found the range through Stix' guard enough to take the close decision.

Brian Roach built up a big lead in the first two rounds and withstood a third-round volley from the Wildcats John Thomsen to nab the 165-pound nod. The tall Roach connected with several solid left-right series to the head in the first two rounds before tiring in the final minutes.

Running his undefeated streak to four 1962 bouts, Lonnie Tolano slammed Chico's Dave Worthington for two rounds before it was stopped for a TKO. Tolano again looked sharp with many jarring punches as he staggered Worthington with a second round left hook.

Golf Turnout

Any would-be Arnold Palmer or Jack Nicklaus has the chance to tryout for the University of Nevada golf team today at 1 p. m. in a qualifying round at the Washoe County golf course.

Coach Dick Trachok invites any male student to enter the qualifying round for a spot on the Wolf Pack golf squad. And you don't have to bust par to at least come out for the team.

The weekend California series wound up the season for Nevada with a 13-13 record, counting two forfeit victories over San Jose State.

The loss to Sacramento was a costly one for the Wolf Pack which could have gained a tie for the FWC championship with a win.

But coach Jack Spencer's Nevadans roared back the next night to avenge an earlier 13-point loss to the Cal Aggies in Reno.

Sacramento State's victory Friday gave the Hornets the Far Western Conference championship with a 10-2 league record and an overall 17-9 mark.

The Hornets, who have not lost a home game all season, move into the West Coast NCAA small-college regionals with the league crown.

Sacramento State jumped to an early 8-1 margin and never released the lead building a 35-24 halftime command after three quick layups in the final minute of the first half pulled the winners away.

All five starting Hornets scored in the double figures with Ron Roher's 25 points and Les Kuhn with 22 leading the attack.

Craig Hall scored only six points, none in the first half, under tight guarding by Tom Pugliese, ace defenseman for the winners.

Bill Robinson held Nevada in the game with 23 points on hooks and jump shots from the outside and tip-ins and follow-ups under the basket.

Robinson again was the mainstay in Saturday's victory over the Cal Aggies. The 6-6 freshman from Kansas City canned 28 points and pulled down 22 rebounds to spark the Wolf Pack victory.

Hall, playing his final game for Nevada, hit 27 points to boost his season total to 528 points for a 20.3 per game average.

Chico Feilback turned in his best game in more than a month with sharp passing to set up scores, and Joe DeArrieta played his usual outstanding floor game.

Nevada took the lead, 24-22, midway through the first half and held onto a 42-41 halftime lead before pulling ahead in the second half over the Davis Mustangs.

Fake Blood Spills In ROTC Battles

Sophomore ROTC students applied the tactics they have learned in classrooms in a mock war Thursday. This drill is an annual feature of the sophomore military program in basic infantry tactics.

The aggressor force was lead by M/Sgt. Forest C. Lawson. He and his men attacked the sophomore groups of approximately forty men.

The sophomores retaliated under the direction of Capt. Raymond H. Miller.

Members of both forces used rifles loaded with blanks and smoke grenades to gain strategic positions.

The battle was fought on the archery field behind the infirmary.

Similar battles will be fought in the same area Monday afternoon to complete this part of the sophomore program.

Profs Speak In Las Vegas; Back Fitness Campaigns

In line with President Kennedy's push for physical fitness in the United States, three University of Nevada professors will address a National Education association conference in Las Vegas.

Drs. George A. Broten, chairman of the physical education department, Ruth Russell, and Janet Felshin will be in the southern Nevada city March 4 through 8 to attend the National Conference association for supervision and curriculum development.

Purpose of the convention is to discuss the co-ordination of educational resources. Among the kinds of education to be discussed are social studies, physical fitness, communications in English and foreign languages, and general arts.

Dr. Russell said, "Educators and superintendents from public school systems all over the country will attend the convention."

She will head a discussion group on physical fitness. "The purpose of the discussion group is to propose a good physical fitness program in the schools," she said.

Dr. Broten will be a member of Dr. Russell's group. Dr. Felshin is also expected to head a discussion group.

Who's Coming Back in Fall?

How many out-of-state students will not be returning to the University in September because of the $150 raise in non-resident tuition?

ASUN President Paul Bible is trying to determine the figure to present to the board of regents when they meet here Saturday, March 3.

Bible says only two off-campus Independents have reported to the ASUN office.

He is getting figures on all other students through the various living groups, but is asking off-campus Independents to report in the upstairs student union office.

Non-resident students not returning because of doubling of tuition are asked to give their name, home town, major, class standing and whether they are now receiving some kind of loan.

Bible hopes to have all the information by tomorrow at 5 p.m.

Budget Set Thursday

The board of finance control meets Thursday at 4 p.m. in the Student Union conference room.

Organizations wishing to submit a budget for consideration at this meeting must turn a copy into Bob Van Lydegraf, ASUN first vice president, by 5 p.m. today.

CLOSEST ACTION IN CHICO-NEVADA FIGHTS

NEVADA AND CHICO mix it up for the second time in eight days in the Nevada gym last Saturday. The Wolf Pack, still hurting for fighters to enter events, won more matches than Chico, but lost when it had to forfeit three fights for lack of entrants. Score was 6-4, Chico. Sagebrush photo.
