Mackedon, Seeliger Win Top Positions

The 1962 spring election brought a record smashing voting turn out, with nearly two-thirds of the student body casting ballots. ASUN President Paul Bible attributed the 1479 turnout to the new system of precinct voting. There are 2303 matriculated students, according to Bible.

Mike Mackedon, ASUN president-elect, received 818 votes, while his opponent Lynn Gerow, polled 660 votes.

Mackedon is presently a junior, majoring in pre-legal political science. He is a native of Fallon and graduated from Churchill County schools.

He has attended the University of Nevada for two years and has been active in campus affairs. Mackedon is a member of Alpha Tau Omega, Blue Key, Phi Alpha Theta and debate team. He is presently serving as Mackay Day chairman and was co-ordinator for Homecoming celebrations.

In the close race for ASUN first vice-president, Tom Seeliger slipped by Tom Cook with an 18-vote margin. Seeliger from Alpha Tau Omega polled 716 and Cook, Sigma Nu received 698.

Mimi Patrick defeated Sherry Harwood to become ASUN second vice-president by a vote of 822 to 470. Miss Patrick is a Pi Beta Phi. Miss Harwood is a member of Tri-Delta.

In the men's senator-at-large race, Wayne Ferguson received 677 while opponent Larry Struve received 569 votes. Ferguson is a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon and Struve is a Lambda Chi.

Linda Phillips, Kappa Alpha Theta was victorious over Ellen Roseman, Delta Delta Delta, in the women's senator-at-large race. Miss Phillips polled 782 votes and Miss Roseman received 544.

Bill Mortensen was elected senior class president by defeating Dale Donathan with a voting result of 194 to 75. Mortensen is a Sigma Nu and Donathan is a Lambda Chi.

Junior class president for next year is Jim Bernardi who received 191 votes to defeat Bob Hale who polled 115 votes.

In the race for sophomore class president Charles Burr defeated Bud Olsen by a vote of 339 to 229.

Warren Laird defeated JoAnne Pritchard by a vote of 50 to 44 to become the College of Agriculture senator.

Police Raid Party; Was Not Students

Eight persons temporarily held Tuesday night, and identified as University of Nevada students and instructors have no connection with the University, according to the Dean of Men's office.

Officers apprehended eight persons in a nearby laundromat Tuesday night on a report that a "beer party" was in progress. However, the officers found no alcoholic beverages, and no one was seen drinking.

No charges were brought. But seven persons identified themselves as University students, while one, William M. Roberts, called himself a "teacher at the University of Nevada."

Dean of Men Jerry Wulk was disappointed with the police for letting the identifications get to the Reno morning newspaper, and indicated that a retraction would be printed.

"This is discouraging, because we take the rap on these things," said Wulk.

Editorial Comment

ASUN President Paul Bible Wednesday attributed the phenomenal voting turnout—nearly two-thirds of the student body—to the precinct voting system used in this week's ASUN general elections.

Precinct voting definitely made it more convenient for a large number of students who take classes on the outskirts of the campus to reach polling places. But people who vote in elections have to be driven by more than proximity to a voting booth. Something more than precincts got the record-breaking number of 1479 students to vote Wednesday.

And it wasn't reaction to the manner in which the various candidates appealed to students' rational processes. Reactions varied from conclusions as intelligently drawn as speeches delivered by the candidates, to the typical closed-mind "He-didn't-say-a-thing" reaction.

Two factors which contributed most to the huge—by comparison—turnout were the various gimmicks used and the great amount of pressure politics which went on behind the scenes.

Backers of the candidates appealed to students' emotions with every kind of printed material available—but that's freedom of the press. The really good gimmicks were all that candy handed out, the two bands which kept professors from lecturing five minutes before and after each class period, and the real winner—a Twist session in front of the Student Union.

In the big race, one side started their campaign with a somewhat oriental theme at the election assembly and ended with a Volkswagen rally on the final day. The opposition just started out noisy, turned to an Indian theme two nights before elections, and ended with a cowboy on a jackass parading around campus the day of elections.

If these attraction devices and emotional gimmicks didn't play a major part in getting so many students to the polls, they took a back seat only to rigorous campaign tactics used by both sides.

The election was really a battle of political wits, and although the votes are in, the rumors continue to circulate. Tactics may be questioned occasionally in the weeks to come, but win or lose, the major campaigners accomplished something when, with the help of their gimmicks, they got the Independents out to vote.

Assuming that all the campus Greeks voted, it still leaves at least one-half of the total vote cast by Independent voters.

The Independents had the power to sway the election. And they did it Wednesday.

Prof Notes Elections

EDITOR, THE SAGEBRUSH:

In the last year, we have heard much from students about the raising of standards at the University. Student leaders have urged it upon us all. This week standards were indeed raised all over our campus with a view to electing new student leaders who would, no doubt, help raise standards.

This week, too, regularly enrolled student "representatives" made appearances in their classes; others, probably student followers rather than student leaders, were out raising standards.

Such, this week, has been our academic division of labor. The important thing, after all, is that we raise—or is it rise?—a little. Hell.

Maybe somebody ought to.

Marriage Comedy In Union Sunday

Max Schulman brings his widely-read comedy to the screen in "Rally 'Round the Flag, Boys," to be seen Sunday night at 7 p. m. in the education auditorium.

The Twentieth Century Fox cinemascope picture in color is one of the series sponsored by the Student Union.

Starring in the satire on suburban life and the organization man are Paul Newman, his real-life wife Jaonne Woodward, and Joan Collins.

Also seen in the cast are Jack Carson, Dwayne Hickman, and Tuesday Weld, all directed by Leo McCarey.

Newman plays the part of a harried young husband who feels slighted because of his wife's (Joanne Woodward) civic activities. He becomes innocently but embarrassingly involved with a seductive neighbor, Joan Collins, who is neglected by her busy husband.

All this takes place within the context of a community working itself into an uproar because it has been selected as an Army guided-missile base.

"Rally 'Round the Flag, Boys" is a wild comedy of romantic confusion and suburban turmoil.

Firpo Is First Fire Reporter

Thanks to University of Nevada journalism student John Firpo, Reno radio station KBET was the first on the air to report the Golden hotel fire Tuesday.

Firpo, who works for KBET, was just leaving the police station after his morning check on news when he heard the general alarm.

He stationed himself at the Reno bus depot opposite the hotel. With a large supply of dimes he started phoning in stories. He stayed on the scene until about 9 a. m.

Covering the story for radio station KOH was Jerry Higgins, also a University student. Higgins said that his reports were carried on about thirty stations across the country and on the National Broadcasting Company.

Both students are juniors in journalism.

Firpo, living in Truckee, has attended the University of Nevada since he started college. Higgins spent his first two years at Shasta Junior college in Redding, Calif.

Fire department officials said the blaze apparently was caused by an exploding boiler or acetylene tank. The hotel, the only building damaged seriously, was destroyed.

Higgins said, "The fire department did a marvelous job in confining the flames to one building. The whole block could have gone."

Water Politics Is Topic Of Seminar

"Politics of Water Development Resources in the West" will be the subject of another public seminar by a distinguished visiting scientist.

Ernest A. Englebert, Ph. D., associate professor of political science, University of California at Los Angeles will be the speaker.

The seminar will be April 11 in the Gatchell library, room 6, at 8 p. m.

This is another of a series of seminars sponsored by the Public Occasions committee and the Desert Research Institute at the University of Nevada.

Senators To Ponder Aid To UN; CCUN Asks Favorable Solon Action

The proposal before the United States Congress calling for the United States buying $100 million in United States bonds to help get the international body out of debt will go before the ASUN Senate when they meet Wednesday night.

The Collegiate Council of the United Nations on this campus has drawn up a resolution, which, if approved by the Senate, will give ASUN support to the Congressional proposal.

Under the proposal which Congress must deal with, the United States would purchase half of the $200 million in bonds needed to get the United Nations out of the red.

The text of the resolution to go before Senate is printed below:

Whereas, the United States and the rest of the world have a high stake in the peace-keeping operations of the United Nations; and

Whereas, the continuation of these peace-keeping operations depends upon the ability and willingness of the member nations to support the provisions made by the United Nations to finance them; and

Whereas, from any alternative plans the United Nations General Assembly chose to endorse a $200 million bond issue as the scheme which assures the widest possible participation of the member nations in meeting the current financial crisis which faces the United Nations primarily as a result of its emergency action in the Congo; and

Whereas, proposals for short-term unilateral loans by the United States to the United Nations are an inferior means of meeting the financial crisis because they make no provisions for enlisting financial commitments from other member nations; and

Whereas, twelve member nations have already agreed to purchase over $30,000,000 of the bonds, thereby indicating their support of the General Assembly's decision to issue the bonds and reiterating their continued faith in the future of the United Nations; and

Whereas, the commitment of these twelve nations was made in the belief that the United States would also commit herself to the bond issue and their commitment and that of other members of the United Nations might be jeopardized by the adoption of an independent plan by the United States; be it therefore

Resolved, that the Student Senate of the Association of Students of the University of Nevada hereby supports the United States purchase of $100 million of the United Nations bond issue as a reflection of the determination of the American people to do all they can to help build a better world for tomorrow; and be it further

Resolved, that a copy of this resolution be sent to the Honorable Alan Bible, United States Senator, the Honorable Howard W. Cannon, United States Senator, and the Honorable Walter S. Baring, member of the House of Representatives of the United States.

Dean Elmore Impressed With Nevada; Orvis School of Nursing Has Great Potential

"I am favorably impressed with the Orvis School of Nursing and the Nevada campus. I think there is a great potential here in nursing, and with the total University enrollment increasing there is a good possibility the School of Nursing enrollment will increase," commented Marjorie J. Elmore, new dean of the nursing school this week.

Miss Elmore and her faculty have plans for the future. She said they hope to look forward to some changes in the school.

"Since the school is just over five years old and relatively new, we anticipate quite a growth in the number of nursing students," she added.

Dean Elmore said that the Nursing school wants to build up its student body and "impress our influences throughout the state." She stated that the Orvis School of Nursing is the only program in the state for students interested in nursing.

Miss Elmore succeeds Mrs. Helen Gilkey, who resigned the position last year. She is the third dean of the Nursing school and assumed her position Monday, April 2.

City as a research associate to come to Nevada. Her degrees include an AB in biological science in 1937 from Park College, Missouri, and a BS in nursing which she earned in 1943. Miss Elmore has her MA in education from the University of Missouri, earned in 1945.

She belongs to a long list of nursing associations. Miss Elmore has earned the National League of Nursing Fellowship Award for Doctoral Study.

She was the first editor of the Missouri Nurse, an official monthly publication of the Missouri State Nurses association. Editorially she has written for both the Missouri Nurse and the Oregon Nurse.

She has served as executive secretary for the Oregon and the Missouri State Nurses associations, Barbara Easter Relaps where they

Palzis Ends Corps Training

Pete Palzis, first male from the University of Nevada to enlist in the Peace Corps, returns to Reno in a few days after ending a program-training period tomorrow at Arizona State University.

The 24-year-old political science major enlisted in the Corps in late January. Along with sixty other United States Peace Corps volunteers, he is being trained for a mission to Colombia, South America.

During the training period, the corpsmen lived a week on the Gila River Indian reservation to become acquainted with a different culture from those of the 27 states they represent.

At Arizona State University, Palzis and the other trainees have been taking a much more intensive study program than the university's 14,000 regular students.

Peace Corps studies for the two-year Colombian mission include Spanish, industrial arts, agriculture, first aid, physical conditioning, and history and politics of the United States and Colombia.

Palzis applied for the Peace Corps during a 1961 summer stay in Hawaii. He had only one semester left at the University of Nevada when he accepted the position with the Corps.

Palzis has 11 free days after tomorrow, which he plans to spend in Reno until he goes on for further training.

He will be engaged in a Puerto Rico field-training program April 19 through May 15. On May 16 he will leave for Colombia.

A candidate for ASUN President a year ago, Palzis has already completed his military obligation. Before leaving Reno, he worked in the Golden Rooster room of the Sparks Nugget.

Palzis, who lives in Angwin, Calif., attended Napa JC where he played football. He also played for the Wolf Pack football team during the two years he attended school in Nevada.

He was affiliated with Sigma Alpha Epsilon and was a member of Sundowners.

CRAM COURSE NO. 2: BIOLOGY

The grisly shadow of final exams looms over us, so today in this column instead of merry quips and homely saws, you will find hard facts—quick cram courses to help you through the ordeal ahead.

Last week I gave you a rapid survey of Modern European History. Now let us turn to Biology.

Biology is divided into several phyla, or classes. First is the protozoa, or one-celled animal. All life stems from the one-celled animal. Over a space of millions of years, life slowly evolved until today we have animals with as many as 12 cells. Some larger mammals claim they have 14 to 16 cells, but you know how larger mammals lie.

The second class of animals is the periphera—a shadowy category that borders often on the vegetable. Take, for example, the sponge. The sponge is definitely an animal. The washcloth, on the other hand, is definitely not.

Next we come to the arthropoda, or insects. Most people, of course, find insects fairly repulsive—and yet, if one will but look, there is exquisite beauty in the insect world. Who does not remember the lovely insect poems of William Cullen Sigafoos—such enchanting lyrics as Tumbling Along with the Tumbling Tumblebug, Fly Gently, Sweet Aphid, and Gnats My Mother Taught Me. Mr. Sigafoos has been inactive since the invention of DDT.

Our next category is the mollusca—lobsters, shrimp, and the like. Lobsters are generally found under rocky projections on the ocean bottom. Shrimp are generally found in a circle around a small bowl containing cocktail sauce. Marlboro Cigarettes are generally found at any tobacco counter or vending machine.

What have Marlboro Cigarettes got to do with biology? Well, actually, not very much. It must be remembered, however, that the makers of Marlboro pay me for writing this column, and they are inclined to get surly if I fail to mention their product.

Mind you, I enjoy singing the praises of Marlboro—and so will you once you try that flavorful tobacco, that fine filter which lets the flavor come through undiminished. It is a great pleasure to smoke Marlboros and a great pleasure to write about them, but sometimes, I must confess, I find it a bit difficult to work the commercial into the column. Some years ago, for example, I did a piece about Alexander the Great, and, believe you me, it took a heap of stretching to drop in a plug for Marlboro. The way I finally managed it was to have Alexander go to the Oracle at Delphi and say, "Oracle, I have conquered the world and tasted all its pleasures, but somehow I am not content. I know that somewhere there must be a joy I have not yet experienced." To which the Oracle replied,

There is no great difficulty distinguishing the two

"Yes, Alexander, there is such a joy, but, alas, the time is not yet. I refer to Marlboro Cigarettes which will not be invented for another 2500 years." Whereupon Alexander fell into a sulk from which he never recovered. . . Well sir, there is no question I sold a lot of cigarettes with this ingenious commercial, but the gang down at the American Academy of Arts and Letters gave me a mighty good razzing, you may be sure.

But I digress. Back to biology, and the most advanced phylum of all—the chordata, or vertebrates. There are two kinds of vertebrates—those whose backbones run horizontally and those whose backbones run vertically. Generally, there is no great difficulty in distinguishing the two varieties. A fish, for instance, has a horizontal backbone, and a man has a vertical backbone. Occasionally, however, you run into a problem—like a fish who swims upright and a man who spends most of his time in the sack. How, in such a case, do you tell one from another? Science struggled with this sticky question for centuries, but finally Sigafoos of M.I.T. came up with a brilliantly simple answer. Offer the creature a Marlboro. If it is a fish, it will refuse. If it is Homo sapiens, it will accept. In fact, the more sapient, the quicker the acceptance.

© 1962 Max Shulman

The makers of Marlboro, upright vertebrates all, remind you that their fine cigarettes are available in pack or box wherever cigarettes are sold in any of the 50 states.

Theta Chi Raffle Figurines

Handmade porcelain figurines and a vase will be given away by Theta Chi fraternity this Saturday.

The prizes, which are on display in the Student Union building, were made and donated by Mrs. Nicole Solages. The mother of a Theta Chi pledge, Mrs. Solages is reportedly the only person on the West Coast who can make the figurines.

The prizes will be awarded during a public card party at the Theta Chi house, beginning at 7:30 p. m. on April 7. The card party is an annual affair sponsored by the Theta Chi Mothers' club. It serves as a get-together for alumni, and to provide information for persons interested in the fraternity system.

The Mothers' club has as its project this year improvement of the chapter house. Over $300 towards the goal has been realized. Mrs. Geneva Kimpton is president of the group.

Tickets are now being sold in the Union building, or may be obtained by calling the chapter house at FA 3-1948. They are 25 cents apiece, four for $1, or one book of ten for $2.50.

A fraternity representative said that the first prize, a vase, already has a buyer who will pay $65.

What is the matter with the University of Nevada? Have you lost complete respect for your school traditions? I have been noticing for the last few days how the students at this school have about as much respect for the campus as a herd of elephants have for a flower bed. Our University is now nearly one hundred years old. In that time we have grown a great deal. Before I came to school here I was told it was one of great tradition.

Well, the grammar school I went to had more tradition than this place does. Just two years ago the idea of walking across the quad was only thought of if someone wanted to go swimming. Now the quad seems to be a patch of grass where, for some reason, they didn't build any classrooms. The only dangers of walking across the quad now are stumbling over some campaign sign and breaking your neck. I'll admit, with the construction going on it makes it necessary to cross on one end. But who are these people who consider themselves so godly as to go tromping right over the middle.

And another thing . . . how many people even know where the senior bench is? How many people know that only upper-classmen can wear cords? How many people know that under-classmen may enter Morrill hall only from the rear? Very few people know, and those who do just don't give a damn.

Because of the situation I have some suggestions on what to do. Cement the whole quad and use it to play tennis on. Or else we could start building classrooms on it. We don't need a quad anyway. It's too hard to walk around. Maybe we could chop down all the trees for clearance, and have kite flying contests for all the freshmen.

NOW, WHAT'S GOING ON . . . I hear the Phi Sigs have a library that is more popular than the new Getchel library. It seems on week-ends, the place is really humming. How nice to see men really searching for knowledge. They really don't read that much, though.

SIGMA ALPHA EPSILON PLEDGE . . . Tony Klenakis has now joined the men of Sigma Alpha Epsilon. Tony will go great in the purple-walled building. Phi Alpha brother.

SORRY I'M LATE . . . I didn't find out about this until after I had handed in last week's column. Last week all the Junior Prom queen candidates were going around to the different houses as guests for lunch or dinner. You know the routine: they walk into the room all smiles, eat, then get up and thank everyone for such a lovely meal. Well, Lynn Aguilar was a guest at the Sigma Nu house. Before the meal started they all sang their favorite song, "Don't Take My Pin." For some reason Tom Case wasn't there. I have never seen a couple go through so much hell after breaking up as those two have.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY . . . We could always use the quad as an outdoors bowling alley.

Education Group Develops Policy

The first meeting of the University Education Council was held at 2 p. m. yesterday, April 5, in room 204 of the education building.

According to Dean Garold D. Holstine, chairman of the council, this new group was formed to coordinate teacher education policies and curricula on the campus.

President Charles J. Armstrong, the University Academic Committee, and the University Faculty Council recently approved the new council. Represented in the council are members from the College of Business Administration, College of Education, College of Agriculture, the department of home economics, College of Arts and Science, and Nevada Southern.

The University Education Council will meet regularly, and concern itself with achieving the following purposes:

1. To coordinate the essential elements in planning teacher education curricula and advising on a campus-wide basis.
2. To develop policies that govern admission of students to all teacher education curricula offered by the University of Nevada.
3. To develop a system of registration and enrollment of students for the purpose of identifying all students preparing to teach.
4. To provide for a centralized system of record keeping for all students/enrolled in teacher education curricula.
5. To develop policies and standards for the satisfactory completion of all teacher education curricula.

Sagens Elect New Members

New members of Sagens will be elected today when the upperclass women's service organization holds a meeting at noon in the conference room.

Nominations were made Tuesday for new members to replace graduating seniors in the six women's living groups and to represent the off-campus Independents.

Present Sagens members will make final selections during today's elections.

The annual spring banquet, held in honor of old and new Sagens, has been scheduled for Tuesday, April 24. At this time, officers to serve the organization for 1962-63 will be elected.

Shots For Miners

Rocky Mountain spotted - fever shots have been given to mining students in preparation for a six to ten-week summer course in the fundamental techniques of studying and surveying the thickness of geology formations.

Other field trips to various parts of the state for junior mining students are scheduled this spring.

The shots were given to the students and Dr. E. R. Larson, professor of geology, the instructor for the field trip. The shots will prevent spotted fever, which is caused by ticks living in trees.

The summer course consists of studying topographic maps, maps showing the geology formations, and surveying the area under study. Students will then interpret this information to find the sequence of geological events.

Advanced students and graduates will go to the Nightingale district in northern Nevada for geochemical exploration of tungsten.

Students will also go to Castle Peak, Nev., with Dr. Anthony L.

Payne, associate professor of mining. At Castle Peak they will search for quicksilver. The trip has been set for the second or third week of this month.

The Mackay School of Mines has been invited by the National Mines in northern Humboldt county to help search for new deposits of gold.

Within the past two years, National Mines has re-opened approximately 3,600 feet of tunnel. The mining students will evaluate surface and underground structures to find new deposits.

Dr. Payne says the mine once contained very high grade gold ore deposits and the owners believe more is present.

Senior mining students will visit Bishop, Calif., next month for a final review of exploration, mining operation, and metallurgical problems. The review will be centered around the Pine Creek tungsten mine near Bishop.

All these field trips are a part of the formal course work.

Junior Prom Tomorrow; One Of Seven Will Reign

By DOUG BUCHANAN

Freedom of the press at the University of Nevada received its severest jolt since the celebrated O'Donnell case of a year ago last week.

It happened when a pair of campus cuties conspired to withhold "vital" information from a Sagebrush reporter, and caused raised eyebrows among journalistic observers on campus.

But the press does what it can, and the report on the 1962 Junior Prom queen candidates is as complete as it can be — without measurements.

Andy MacKenzie, junior class president, will crown one of the unrevealed lovelies Saturday night at intermission. The Prom, slated for Hidden Valley country club, will be preceded by a buffet-banquet for juniors and their dates beginning at 7 p. m.

Social juniors are invited to the banquet along with academic juniors, said MacKenzie. The price for the combined dinner-dance is seven dollars.

All other students are welcomed to the Prom, which gets underway at 9 p. m.

To finance the Prom costs, and refurbish the junior class scholarship fund, members of the junior class committee are selling raffle tickets at fifty cents apiece — or three-for-a-dollar.

Prizes include a $100 gift certificate good at Ginsbergs, Joseph Magnins, or Paterson's Men's store. A second attraction is a dinner for two at Harrahs club's Tahoe showroom.

Robin Reese

Voting for one of seven coed charmers will start at 9 p. m. when guests arrive. Male suffrage is in effect; women will not vote.

The line-up includes:

Lynn Aguilar, 21-year-old junior from Kappa Alpha Theta, and Napa, Calif. Aguilar initiated the plot to withhold information, and stifled further dissemination of vital statistics to campus males—who hold the deciding votes.

But this pert, brown-eyed coed, likes Nevada men; says "they're pretty good—a good cross-section of men." She stands 5-foot-5 and sports dark brown hair. A swimmer-water skier, she is vice president and pledge trainer of her sorority, and has been a member of Pan-Hellenic and AWS councils.

She is a business administration major.

Linda Borer, a charming 20-year-old blonde, represents Delta Delta Delta. Linda, an elementary education major, spends her spare time getting beautiful on the Tri-Delt sun porch, and likes to water ski on other occasions.

"I think they're neat," said Linda of Nevada men, and the opinion is probably the same vice versa. She is 5-foot-6, with green eyes, serves the Tri-Delts as social chairman, and belongs to Newman club and SNEA.

Karin Bryant is 20 years old, and has gone to school with Miss Borer since the first grade in Hawthorne. They both vied for the title in high school, but neither was successful.

Karin, who swims, plays tennis, and water skis, stands 5-foot-2, and has blue eyes set beneath dark blond hair. She is a cheerleader, is hospitality chairman for the Student Union board, and is on the Junior class committee.

Janis Palzis, 20, is the "Girl Tarzan" of the Pi Phi, and represents her sorority in the Junior Prom queen race. Janis, who went to school with Lynn Aguilar from the third grade on up, is the other half of the news-suppression ring.

The two together stifled any attempts at statistics analyzation, and dealt measurements a death-blow in the Sagebrush—which is probably to the good Janis is a physical education major, and gives this as the reason for her agility. She is house manager at Pi Beta Phi, and always does her part in cleaning up—for instance, hanging from curtain rods and standing in windows—which gets places clean that most coeds wouldn't get near.

A sparkling girl, Janis lives in Angwin, Calif., and swims and water skis. She has green eyes, brown hair, and stands 5-foot-5; she is a member of PEMs, WRA, and Sagens. And she's really OK. "I like boys," she said, and the boys can't help but reciprocate.

Carolyn Prince is 20, and a transfer from the University of Houston. A Reno-born southern belle, she brought her Southern accent along to White Pine hall. It compliments her brown eyes and brown hair.

Carolyn, a history major, likes sports, piano, dancing, and Nevada men. "I think they're real nice —

Toddy Watkins

I've been having a ball, thanks to them," said luscious Carolyn. Active on campus, she is a member of Young Republicans and the YWCA.

Robin Reese is 20, brunette, with hazel eyes. She lives in Reno and is representing the off-campus Independents in the race. Standing 5-foot-2½, Robin has a crackling smile and an appreciation of Nevada men, whom she thinks are "sharp."

An education major, she belongs to the Silver and Blue pep club, Young Republicans, and SNEA. She swims, rides horses, bowls, and dances. And she is the first representative in AWS council for off-campus Independent women.

Toddy Watkins, girl reporter, represents Gamma Phi Beta as a campus royalty potential. Toddy is from Bishop, is 5-foot-8-inches tall, with brown eyes and black hair—and even though she is reputed to be a hard-boiled Sagebrush editor, she is really quite feminine.

Toddy wishes she could be a man at times — when the going gets tough in journalistic circles—but she is stuck in skirts and looks none the worse for it. This could be the explanation for Toddy's liking for Nevada men — but probably not. She is a coed, like it or not, and belongs to coed organizations, like Sagens. She is also a member of Young Republicans, Press Club, and standards chairman for her sorority.

That is the line-up for Saturday night. A bunch of certified dolls, and even if the male voters don't know everything there is to know before casting qualified ballots — the Junior class won't suffer from any result.

Principals Confer On Campus Today

The University's two-day Principal Counselor opens today on campus with a panel program in the Fine Arts building this morning.

Student interviews are scheduled for this afternoon and a buffet dinner tonight.

"Some Reminiscences on Counseling" will be discussed by Dr. Earl Wooster during an address tonight. Dr. Wooster is the executive secretary of the Nevada State Education association.

Taking part in the two-day conference are secondary school principals and counselors throughout the state of Nevada. The University's admissions and school relations committee is hosted the conference.

The committee's chairman, Registrar Jack Shirley, expects 22 departments will participate.

Dr. Shirley said forty people, representing 19 Nevada schools, one California school, and representatives from the Nevada State Department of Education have notified him that they will attend the conference.

High schools expected to be on campus today and tomorrow include Reno, Sparks, Wells, Carson City, Humboldt county, White Pine county, Gabbs, Douglas county, Stewart, Elko, Hawthorne, Whittell, Churchill county, Pershing county, Smith Valley, Tonopah, Beatty and Lyon county high schools.

Scheduled on the list of activities for tomorrow, Saturday, are informal conferences with department chairmen in the morning.

A tour of the Getchell library is scheduled for Saturday afternoon.

Hall, Robinson Make All-FWC

Senior Craig Hall and freshman Bill (The Dipper) Robinson were the number one and two scorers in the Far Western Conference basketball statistics and were named to the all-conference first team.

Robinson, 6 - 6 center, led the FWC in scoring with 255 points in 12 league games for 21.25 points per game and Hall, a 5-9 guard, netted 227 points for a 19.75 per game average.

Hall was the leading scorer in the FWC last season and was a unanimous pick for the All-FWC first team. Robinson has quit school and is joining the Army.

FWC champion and NCAA small-college runner-up Sacramento State also placed two players on the all-league first team—Ron Rohrer and Les Kuhn.

Darnell Mikel of newcomer Alameda State was the other player on the first squad.

The second All-FWC team was Bill Baker, Sacramento State;

Larry Lauritzen, Alameda State; Fred Obermiller, Chico State; Ray Crawford, Cal Aggies; and Wade Wall, Chico State.

Golfers At Chico In 4-Way Clash

University of Nevada golfers go into their fourth match of the season Saturday at Chico in a four-way go among Alameda State, Humboldt State and host Chico State.

Coach Dick Trachok's linksmen dropped a trio of matches last week at Woodlawn, Calif. — 13½-½ to San Francisco State, 10-5 to the Cal Aggies, and 8-6 to Humboldt State.

Veteran Don Stoker of Winnemucca shot the best score — an 90 — for the Wolf Pack.

SPORTS

ATO, Sigma Nu Clash Again On New Gym Court

If the fires of competition between the Taus and the Snakes weren't fanned enough in the election Wednesday, another chance will be afforded them next Wednesday.

The pledges of Alpha Tau Omega have challenged the Sigma Nu fledglings to a game of Commando Basketball, to be played in the gym at 8 p.m. April 11.

What's Commando Basketball? That's a combination of boxing and basketball with a little horse-play thrown in . . . the result? Who knows, but it is different.

The mentor of the game on campus is ATO Mike Mirabelli of the two broken legs which, will prevent his participation.

The game was used at Las Vegas high school, Mirabelli's alma mater, as a fund-raising scheme. According to Mike, the game may have originated there since he has never encountered it before or after.

The rules of the game are as follows:

1. There are two opposing teams composed of five players each.
 2. The game consists of four 8-minute quarters.
 3. Each player wears one 16-ounce boxing glove on one hand with the other free.
 4. The basketball is put into play as usual, however, whenever a player catches the ball, the opening players may hit him with the boxing glove hand.
 5. If the player with the ball is knocked down by the opposing team, the opposition teams gets a free throw.
 6. The object of the game is not to knock down as many as possible, but to score the most points.
- Tickets may be obtained from any ATO pledge. The price is 50 cents for students, and 75 cents for adults.

Gridiron Call

Any student interested in turning out for football next fall and hasn't already made arrangements is urged to report to varsity coach Dick Trachok.

Trachok may be contacted in the coaches' offices downstairs in the new gym.

University of Nevada will play a nine-game schedule next season on the varsity level and will also man a junior varsity team.

Pack Hosts COP In Triple Contest

By ROYCE FLOUR
Sagebrush Sports Editor

University of Nevada's tremendous track team makes its first home showing for students and Reno fans Saturday afternoon at Mackay Stadium.

The powerful Wolf Pack plays host to University of Pacific from Stockton, Calif., and Oregon Tech from Klamath Falls.

Field events get underway at 1:30 p.m. with the high jump, pole vault, javelin, and shot put and the first track event — the mile run — is set for 2 p. m.

Coach Dick Dankworth's Silver and Blue will be shooting for their third 100 - plus point performance of the season in dual or triangular competition.

Nevada surpassed the century mark in a dual meet at Humboldt State and in a three-day affair with the Lumberjacks and Chico State at Chico.

The Wolf Pack are fresh from a storming performance in the Santa Barbara Easter Relays where they racked up 47 points for the highest team total.

The Dankworth men competed in the college division in the relay events while other top teams—Arizona, Los Angeles Striders, and UCLA — participated in the open division.

Sophomore lettermen John Manke, and Bob Herron will go in the 100 while Manke and junior Fred Fralick are set for the 220 for Nevada with Al McDaniels the alternate in the century and Fred Williams the alternate in the furlong.

School quarter-mile record holder Gary Sullivan, Fred Williams, junior Bob Rusk and freshman Tim Anderson are entered in the 440 for the Wolf Pack.

In the 880, Paul Speer, a senior from Santa Rosa, Calif., school record holder Mike Andrews, and Leland Sheppard are entered for the Silver and Blue.

Freshman Ron Lee, of Fallon, and school record holder John Barney will run the mile, and Doug Ketron, school record holder, and Truce Trmuan will be in the two-mile.

Dankworth named Sparks' Vic Eppinger, McDaniels, Herron and Dave Heskitt of Reno in the broad jump and freshman Bill Barber, senior Morris Cotter, and Jay Edwards of Reno in the high jump.

Rich Williams, a junior from Delano, Calif., Ryan Melton, senior Glen Davis, and Jerry will pole vault for Nevada.

Sophomore Jon Key of Reno, McDaniels, and junior Bob Chalender will be in the 220 low hurdles and freshman Steve Holloway, Brent Johnson of Susanville, Calif., and Melton are the 120 high hurdle entries.

In the javelin, Larry Smith, Rick Miles and freshman Les Dickens of Henderson will throw for the Wolf Pack.

School record holder in the weight events Bob Pederson will team with junior Clyde Robards of Sparks in the shot put and Pederson, senior Joe Hnat, Doug Robb of Reno, and Tom Cook will toss the discus.

Intramural Ski Meet Scheduled For Sunday

The intra-mural ski meet will be staged Sunday (11 a.m.) at Sky Tavern with a two-run giant slalom set as the only event.

Meet director Larry Cheney reports that each team may enter four racers with the top three times counting towards the team score.

Cheney asks participating teams to be at Sky Tavern at 9 a.m. Sunday to pack the course. Each team is also requested to furnish two gatekeepers.

Olivas Says Men Can Win Match; 'Big Three' To Help

"We can win that tournament with men," said University of Nevada boxing coach Jimmie Olivas about the California Collegiate Boxing Conference tournament Friday and Saturday in San Luis Obispo, Calif.

The three boxers Olivas was referring to were his undefeated "Big Three" of Steve Parker, Skip Houk and Lonnie Tolano.

Parker, a 132-pound senior from Reno, was selected as a Wheaties All - American last year and has captured 13 straight victories, including seven this season.

Sophomore Skip Houk, 147-pounder from Reno, has rocked his opponents with his startling aggressiveness and has lost a bout in 1962 although he was held to a draw in the first bout at Cal Poly this year.

Tolano, probably the classiest boxer in the conference at 165 pounds, hasn't lost a fight since the 1960 NCAA championships at Madison, Wis., while winning six last year and seven this season.

Olivas will enter two other Wolf Pack boxers - 156-pound Dave Stix and heavyweight Ken Munley - in the Friday and Saturday tournament at Cal Poly.

Stix, of Pyramid Lake, has lost six out of seven bouts this season but has been improving rapidly and will be a threat boxing out of his crouching, shell-like pattern.

Munley, a senior from Reno (Manogue), has lost his only collegiate match but could be the surprise of the CCBC tournament if it is right.

Teams from host Cal Poly, Nevada, California, Chico State, and combined Stanford - Santa Clara will compete in the two-day tournament.

... Record Election

with four senators elected, Judy Black, Larry Hutchings, Pat Heward, and Joan Westfield received the highest number of votes to become elected. Miss Black, polling the highest number of votes, was elected with 393, Hutchings received 317, Miss Heward received 302, and Miss Westfield polled 264. John Duty and Jinx Dabney were defeated in the race receiving 222 and 218 votes respectively.

Marsha Frankovich and Bob Rusk won the Business Administration Senate seats, defeating Harvey LoSasso and Lyle Rivera. Miss Frankovich polled 103 votes, Rusk 131, LoSasso, 83, and Rivera 45.

Charles Batchelder defeated Lewis Sornetta for the College of Engineering Senate seat by a vote of 90 to 41.

Jaci Chiatovich and Doris Fenili were elected senators from the College of Education. Miss Chiatovich received 178 votes and Miss Fenili 169, defeating Sally Nielson who polled 158 votes.

The School of Mines had no one running for its one Senate seat.

All amendments to the ASUN constitution were given the affirmative. With these results, the tenure of office of all ASUN officials was changed from May 15 to April 15.

In nine days all elected officers will be installed. The voting results for the amendment was 885, yes and 143, no.

The amendment to make cross-country a major sport received 803, yes, and 231, no.

The amendment to change the class standing of second vice-president from senior class standing to upperclass standing was passed by a vote of 864 to 145.

The results of the election were given Wednesday night in the Student Union. It was estimated that nearly 500 students awaited the results, some for nearly three hours.

As tension mounted, Paul Bible, outgoing ASUN president read the results over the loudspeaker at 8:45 p.m.

Comments from many students about the election and campaigns indicated that this brought about an unprecedented amount of spirit than has ever been seen before on campus.

Spirit brought about by the campaign strategy included, a guitarist on a burro, a twist-o-rama, bands, booths passing out candy, nearly a dozen Volkswagens beeping for their candidate, and probably the most spectacular display occurred when Gerow leaflets were dropped from an airplane.

Griffith Busy With UN Tournament

In the process of conducting one forensics tournament, forensics director Dr. Robert Griffin is making plans for another this weekend.

Running Thursday through Saturday is the Nevada Great Western Champion tournament sponsored by two national forensic fraternities, Delta Sigma Rho and Tau Kappa Alpha.

Forty schools from the Western United States including Hawaii have been invited to send representatives. Two entrants from each participating college have been competing in debate, extemporaneous speaking, oratory, and after-dinner speaking.

Nevada debaters are Pat Clary and Larry Struve.

The topic under debate is a national debate topic: Resolved: That labor organizations should be under the jurisdiction of anti-trust legislation.

After - dinner speeches, which are supposed to be amusing, will be made on the topic, "Constant Vigilance is the Price" or "Our Guardian."

Drill Competition

Competition to select the best-drilled company of the University ROTC brigade for 1962 was begun yesterday.

Battle Group Commanders selected the best-drilled company of their battle group. These companies will be in final competition on April 10 for the Lieutenant L. A. McClure Revolving Trophy.

The McClure trophy was first awarded to the outstanding ROTC company in 1912 when Lieutenant McClure was professor of military science at the University. After being awarded for several years, the trophy was discontinued until about a half-dozen years ago.

Union Board Has Two Open Spots

Bill Lohse, Student Union president, announced today there are two open positions on the Student Union board of directors.

Positions are open from the College of Agriculture and Mackay School of Mines.

Any fully-matriculated student with an average of 2.0 or better may file in room 113 in the Jot Travis Student Union.

Seven Coeds Seek Mackay Crown

Today's Mackay Day queens are resolute—ready to face the world, and they'd even face it without men. But they'd prefer not to.

In checking the line-up for the 1962 Mackay Day queen contest, the Sagebrush found today's crop of senior beauties solidly in favor of continuing the world's present male-female set-up.

This was the significant question asked of seven Mackay girls who are preparing for elections on Monday and Tuesday. The coed cuties have been campaigning during the past week at Nevada's fraternities in efforts to woo the male vote.

And breaking out the old tape-measure, the Sagebrush came up with answers in the vital statistics part of queen reporting. This more than offset the temporary set-back received earlier when Junior Prom hopefuls stayed mum on the subject of measurements.

These are the girls:

Marlene Ferrari, plucky 21-year-old coed representing Kappa Alpha Theta. Marlene is from Reno, is 5-foot-6, has brown hair and brown eyes and measures 34-24-36. She majors in elementary education, is ASUN second vice-president, belongs to Sagens, Cap and Scroll, Phi Kappa Phi, and serves on Senate. What does she like to do? "I like to be domestic," said Marlene.

Marlene is a staunch believer in a future world that includes men. When she pondered the question: "Do you think men are essential to the future of the world?" and decided she did. Marlene took the stand that "if we're going to keep having a world, we're going to have to have men."

Judy Fey is 21, from Las Vegas, and stands 5-foot-10, and has brown eyes and light brown hair. She measures 38-26-38. A biology major, she is graduating with a secondary education teachers' certificate. She transferred to Nevada from Nevada Southern last fall. In Las Vegas she was a Homecoming queen and student body secretary.

At Nevada, she represents White Pine hall in the Mackay queen contest. She has appeared in campus dramatic productions, and she thinks men are essential. "Of course—you can't live without them," she she.

Nancy Horning at 22 is the oldest of the lot and represents the off-campus Independents. Nancy is from Reno, but transferred here from Pacific Union college in California after her freshman year. She is 5-foot-6½, has green eyes, reddish-brown hair, and 37-24½-37½ statistics. An English major with a journalism minor, she has been business manager of the Sagebrush for two years.

Nancy belongs to Young Republicans, English club, and Press club, and serves on the Publications board. She thinks men are useful. "I think men are essential if turmoil among women is to continue," quoth Nancy.

Lora Leonard, 21, is an energetic ASUN secretary who belongs to Gamma Phi Beta and has been termed "Salty" by her student government cohorts. Lora flashes blue eyes beneath brown hair and has 38-24-36 measurements (which she released quickly because she, as a journalism major, believes in dissemination of information).

Lora comes from Klamath Falls, Oregon. She belongs to the Press club, and is president of Sagens. She likes horseback riding, swimming, and (according to her co-workers) Jack Daniels. She likes men, too, calling them "very" necessary. "You can't live with them . . . and you can't live without them," said Salty.

Judy Maxsom, 21-year-old ex-majorette for Nevada from Carson City, is carrying the Delta Delta Delta banner in the election. Curvaceous Judy is 5-foot-4, has blond hair and green eyes, and measures 34-23-35. She is Artemisia editor, and is majoring in history and political science.

Judy hasn't "had a chance" to find out what she likes, but is active on campus. Past Tri-Delt social chairman, she belongs to Sagens, Phi Kappa Phi, and Phi Alpha Theta. Do women need men? "Certainly," said Judy, "we can't go on without men."

Lorraine Odell, 21, is from Carson City, is blond and at 5-foot-1, the shortest of the Mackay Day royalty. She represents Manzanita hall, and also the infirmary, for she is one of the latest victims of "the Twist." She has campaigned on crutches after dislocating a knee doing the dance—and expects to be in that condition for another three weeks.

A cheerleader, Lorraine has gray eyes and statistics that read 33-23-33. She is a member of the Student Union board's hospitality committee. "They (men) definitely are essential to the world situation—Oh, definitely," said Lorraine.

Joanie Ruark, brown-eyed and sparkling, is representing Pi Beta Phi at the ripe age of 21. Joanie comes from Reno, is 5-foot-7 with dark brown hair and measures 36-25-38. She is majoring in physical education, likes "most any sport" and dancing.

President of Cap and Scroll, she has been Pi Phi vice president; is junior women's senator-at-large, and serves on the AWS council. She also belongs to Sagens, PEMs, and WRA. And men? "Of course they're essential," said Joanie. "What would we do without them?"

Chairman of the 1962 Mackay Day celebration is Mike Mackedon. Mike is from Fallon and has brown hair, but the Sagebrush has no statistics on him.

Cast Says Miller May Play Caesar In University Play

"You can include in the cast that the body of Julius Caesar will be played by Dr. William Miller," bantered David Hettich, assistant English professor and a member of the cast.

However, play director Miller, also professor of speech and drama, had more concrete information to add.

Contrary to the usual costuming, the Nevada troupe will dress in modified Spakespearean costumes instead of togas.

This innovation, explained Dr. Miller, stems from the fact that originally Skakespeare wrote the play for the costumes and dress of his day — 17th century England. Hardy McNew is in charge of costumes.

The play is set for April 12, 13, 14, in the auditorium of the Fine Arts building, with three evening performances and one matinee on Saturday.

Dr. Miller also announced that the stage crew will include Tori McDonald, stage manager; Ron Obetchina, fly man; Jim Bernardi, lights; Barbara Champlin, cues; Bob Lemon, sound; Vienna Otegui, props; Marge Maple, gel changes.

Necessity is the plea for every infringement of human freedom. It is the argument of tyrants; it is the creed of slaves.—William Pitt.
