AWS Fashion Showing Highlights Fall Season

University of Nevada coeds are expected to fill the Mapes hotel Skyroom when the Associated Women Students present their annual fall fashion preview tomorrow.

The back-to-college fashion show, sponsored each year by Joseph Magnin's, will follow the theme "Fashions in the News", according to chairman Aliceann Monaghan.

Miss Monaghan is urging all University women to attend the show scheduled for 2 p. m. She announced this week that the $1.75 tickets may be purchased in the Jot Travis student union building. Reservations may also be made by calling her at the Gamma Phi Beta house, FA 2-3091.

Ten Nevada coeds will model the various ensembles of evening wear, camp clothes, afternoon attire, and sleeping and lounge wear.

Representing the six women's residences on campus will be models Linda Borer, Judy Charbonneau, Denise Dangberg, Pam Hinkley, Karen Phillips, Loni Powell, Norma Sheley, Sue Voss, Toddy Watkins, and Carolyn Webster.

The showing of headline-winning fashions to be seen on campuses across the nation will be Joan Alford, Joseph Magnin fashion coordinator, who is traveling to Reno from San Francisco expressly for this annual AWS event.

One of the highlights of the fashion show will be the announcement of the best-dressed coed on the Reno campus as determined by Nevada's male population. Members of the Inter-Fraternity Council will be present during the afternoon to judge all women attending the show.

A second award to be handed out during the show will be the trophy going to the sorority with the highest grade-point average for the past semester.

And, thirdly, Judy Quanchi will be presented the AWS scholarship awarded annually to an outstanding woman on campus. The recipient was announced Thursday night at an AWS meeting for all freshmen and new students.

The AWS scholarship is financed by the profits from the previous year's AWS fashion show.

Dean Sam Basta Backs Laking For Grass-Walkers

Dean of Students Affairs Sam Basta came out Tuesday in favor of laking for violators of the campus tradition governing campus cutting.

"I don't have any real serious objection," said Dr. Basta, adding that he thinks most students "would support it providing certain rules were observed."

Dean Basta, a Nevada graduate who was tossed in Manzanita Lake an estimated four-to-five times himself during his college career, called a revival of laking important in maintaining the beauty of the campus and the "squad."

But he said certain "ground rules" would have to be drawn up by a revived mens' upperclass committee to safeguard students and protect them from injury.

Laking died out a few years ago when the mens' upperclass committee gradually lost its powers, which Basta says is the responsibility of the "new type of student."

"We have students ranging from 18 to 55-year-old, including married students and veterans," said Basta.

But he said those students—and any others unwilling to go along—should not be disciplined by an upperclass committee.

But he felt that destruction of campus beauty features such as the lawn areas and the squad warranted a revival of the age-old discipline. "It would be in the spirit of traditions, and to maintain the quad," he said.

Basta himself has spent years chasing students and faculty members of the quad himself, and its not been uncommon for him to bellow out of his window at some unsuspecting violator "Get off of the grass."

He said he would favor laking if a section of Manzanita lake was cleaned and an area cleared for such activity. He said an upper-

Senate Opens . . .

Steering Committee Will Guide Solons

By PAT ROGERO

Sagebrush Managing Editor

A steering committee which if formed would become one of the most vital organs of the ASUN senate, was discussed at senate's first meeting of the fall semester Wednesday night.

The steering committee, which is in the planning stages, was outlined by Ken Clayton, and chairman of a special senate committee to study the proposal.

Clayton told the senators that the group had come up with a few solid ideas and had gathered some at leadership conference.

He said that the steering committee could make the university a better place and stimulate more interest and discussion at senate meetings rather than having its members act as "passive amoebas."

In explaining the proposed committees possibilities, Clayton further said it would "steer senate into new fields of endeavor and direction." This type of committee would give senate a new outlook; senate would be informed ahead of meetings so as to have ideas before coming to them, Clayton said.

As to important functions that the committee would perform Clayton told the group that it could look over student activities, study those originating on campus and those coming from without.

The committee could do research and send the literature to the senators.

Clayton's committee is composed of the following senators: Wayne Ferguson, Doris Fenili, Cecilia Molini, and Linda Phillips.

Other action taken by senate was the approval of Mr. Robert Strane of the speech and drama department as Wolves Frolic director and a resolution to invite individual foreign students to attend senate meetings. It was pointed out that any student could attend and take in these meetings.

Senate set the date of the President's Buffet for October 7. This buffet hosted by university President Charles Armstrong is designed to have senators become acquainted with the president.

Senators absent from the first fall meeting were: Joan Westfield, arts and science; Bob Rusk, business administration; Delta Delta Delta; Manzanita hall; Sigma Phi Epsilon; Theta Chi; and Linda Phillips, junior women's senator-at-large.

Senate's next meeting is set for October 3.

Flu Shots Available; Costs $1 at Infirmary

Flu shots are being given at the infirmary for an indefinite period at the cost of $1/shot.

The student health service says the shots will continue for both faculty members and students desiring them for an indefinite period of time.

AWS Sponsoring Final Prof Talk

The last lecture ever to be given by Dr. Willard Day, a popular psychology professor, will be held in the Education auditorium, Wednesday, Sept. 26, at 8 p. m.

The lecture will be the first of a series entitled, "The Last Lecture", sponsored by the Associated Women Students. Each professor who is asked to participate in this lecture series will imagine that it will be his last chance to ever speak to a group.

It is hoped that the series will result in many different, important, and interesting topics.

Similar projects have been tried on several campuses and proved very successful. Each month a lecture will be given by a member of a different department.

Patricia Plenn, chairman of the series, commented "because of the nature of the series, the professors will speak upon topics which are personally interesting to themselves."

Each professor will be limited to one hour speaking time . . . probably because the world will be coming to a simulated end at that time.

"Proclamation"

In accordance with the recommendation of the faculty discipline committee and with the full cooperation of the local law enforcement agencies, students are reminded that the storage, use and possession of alcoholic beverages, including beer, on university property, is strictly prohibited. Any person in violation of these statutes will be subjected to severe disciplinary action by the Office of the Dean of Student Affairs and/or appropriate law enforcement agencies.

Sagebrush Editorials . . .

There will be no snakedance tonight through downtown Reno after the Pajama Rally. The end of the years-old event came about through the protests of the Reno police dept., which now frowns on such events.

In past years, the snakedance followed the bonfire-pajama rally, and wound from the campus downtown to the casino area. But police said it congests traffic, and so it was abandoned.

And there's nothing wrong with that.

But with Truckee Meadows metropolitan area experiencing one of the highest crime rates in the nation, and with jay-walkers running unchecked in the casino area, the protest rings a hollow note.

It appears that Reno police are taking an easy way out by banning the snakedance, but it is hoped they will follow up with accomplishments in other areas now that the post-pajama event is a thing or the past.

The proposed ASUN senate steering committee was given a partial hearing at Wednesday night's senate meeting, and will be ready for action at the group's next get-together.

It is one of the first positive things that ASUN government has done in a long time.

The steering committee would put the senate on its feet again as a legislative body by actively seeking issues with which the senate can concern itself.

Approval of the proposed committee by the senators at their Oct. 3 meeting would be a long step forward in ASUN government—a unit that has often had to look for reasons for existence in recent years.

Dean of Students Sam Basta said something this week that many have been saying for some time—that a revival of laking is necessary to help preserve the beauty of the Campus.

In making the pronouncement, Basta made himself the target of attack by various persons, but he is a man who appreciates the campus with the understanding of one who has been around.

The sooner the ASUN restores the men's upperclass committee, and lays down safeguarding rules for a revival of laking, the sooner will the University take pride in its campus again.

Disrespect for the campus reveals disrespect for other things, including a man's country and his own dignity.

Letters to the Editor

Where's Scrapbook?

Editor, the Sagebrush:

Did you know that the student body has a scrapbook? To quote one senior, "I've been here for three years and never have seen it, much less know that on existed."

Why, if every year a perky Tri-Delt is chosen to edit it, don't we ever get to see the results? As far as this reporter knows, there has been a historian for the past several years but alas, no book.

The present collection has been located on the top of Mike Mackedon's filing cabinet collecting dust. When asked why it wasn't placed in a more useful place, he replied, "I don't want it to get torn." Is this why we have no recorded records of said book? If the student body pays for the paper on which our news goes in, why can't we see the results?

Woodcuts On Sale In Student Union Building

The Student Union is presently showing an exhibit of original woodcuts by renowned artist Irving Amen. The cuts are available for purchase through the office of Student Services.

Amen is an American artist and widely traveled and has had his work displayed in the Smithsonian Institute, The Krasner Art Gallery in New York City, and has had one man shows in cities throughout the country.

In 1960, Amen was elected a Fellow of the International Institute of Arts and Letters.

The showing is sponsored by the Student Union Board and is part of the Art Committee's program for the year. This particular display is under the direction of Barbara Barenco.

Price listings are on all cuts on display.

Campus Players Hold Open House

Prospective actors were welcomed last night by the Campus Players at an open house in the lounge of the fine arts building.

The Campus Players, service group for the drama circle, gave new students a tour of the Fine Arts building, including the theatre, and information about the coming film and theatrical sessions.

Campus Players members are selected on the basis of service rendered by acting, staging, or ushering at the various functions through the year.

The group is the sponsor of the "film classic" series, shown each year on campus.

Ski Club Membership Drive Now Underway

The Ski Club is holding a membership drive in anticipation of a big year ahead, says Lou Jurs, president.

Cost of membership is one dollar for old members and $1.50 for new ones.

Jurs said membership cards entitle the holder to admission to Ski Club-sponsored events, and lower rates on the ski hill.

The club is again sponsoring a semester-break coed trip to Mammoth for members and non-members—"a must," says Jurs.

PJ Rally Tonite In Stadium; New Snake Parade Route

Along with the first football game comes the traditional pajama rally and snakedance.

Tonight students who live in the dorms or off campus will meet in front of the student union at 7:00.

The snake line will go from the student union to the SAE house then on ninth street to Sierra passing all four sorority houses, progressing across University Terrace by the fraternity houses on that street.

From there the line will go by the Sigma Nu house and then head back down eleventh street to Mackay Stadium. On the way the line will "pick-up" members of the various houses.

In the stadium cheers and songs will be led by the school cheerleaders. The 1962 Wolf Pack and coaches will be introduced at this time.

Following the rally all students are invited to attend the pajama dance in the Dining Commons.

In years past the Snake dance wove down Virginia Street, in and out of the various clubs, and ended near the Riverside Hotel.

Due to the heavy amount of traffic and the danger it creates to the students the Reno Police Department would not permit students to dance through the streets this year.

Both the cheerleaders and the songleaders are sponsoring the rally.

Members of the Sagers, under president Art Kess, contributed the wood for this year's stadium bonfire, said Walker . . . and a Reno fire department unit will be on hand.

Finance Control OK's 4 Budgets

Cheerleaders include Jack Walker, lead cheerleader; Diane Sturm, Donna Martin, and Bev Theilig. Songleaders are Susie Royer, Kate Murray, Marcia Oaks and Ellen Roseman.

Hello On the Hill Set Saturday Nite

The traditional Hello on the Hill Dance will take place Saturday evening in the Dining Commons.

Stag or drag, freshman through seniors will be dancing from 9-12 to the music of Tom Lee and his band.

"I want to see everyone at the dance and hope they'll have a good time," says Sharon Domenici, chairman of the event.

Dress is casual (school clothes) and admission by couple is 75c or 50c per person.

Chaperones for the dance are Dr. Ruth Russell and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Spencer.

"Hatful of Rain" Slated For Sunday Showing

"Hatful of Rain," this Sunday's student union film, stars Eva Marie Saint, Don Murray, Anthony Franciosa and Lloyd Nolan in the story of the effects of one man's drug addiction upon his family.

Told with candor and an almost lyrical quality, the focus is not so much on the addiction itself as upon the broken and thwarted lives it leaves in its wake.

The showing will be at 7 and again at 9 p. m. Sunday in the educational auditorium.

Campus Christians Set To Organize

The Campus Christian Assoc. got rolling last Sunday night with a singing hour following a break-down in the film showing of "The Beloved Infidel."

Following the movie in the education auditorium, a group of about 20 gathered in the Campus Christian house across Virginia street from Juniper hall for singing and an informal discussion.

Pastor Don Thompson, the full-time campus minister supported by the Methodists, the Presbyterians, the American Baptists, the Christian church, and the United Church of Christ, called it "a good start."

He called the group "very responsive," and said an organizational meeting was scheduled for last Wednesday.

The group will elect officers, set up a constitution and by-laws, and seek official ASUN recognition.

The first topic for the new organization was a three-pronged discussion of "Science, Moral Relations, and Literary - Historical criticism," said Pastor Thompson.

He said the group would first discuss the subjects, and then tie them into a major theme—"Inquiry Into Faith."

"I'm feeling my way along in getting to know people, and finding out what kind of a program I'll need," said Pastor Thompson, who is only a few years out of a Methodist seminary.

Realist Alliance Sked Discussion

By LINDA CHAMBERS

"How many bathtubs do you have?" William F. Rickenbacker Jr. doesn't want to tell, so the state government is going to fine and jail him. Rickenbacker is taking it to the Supreme Court."

"Does it bother you that your taxes go — via Poland — to buy Red bullets which kill Americans in South Viet Nam?"

These facts and many others bother Steve Miller and approximately forty other students on this campus who will join for the first time on the 27th of this month in the Aggie conference room at seven o'clock to organize the Realist Alliance.

Four major political philosophies combine to give a foundation to the Realist Alliance. These four, already given by Miller in his letter to the editor in the last issue of the Sagebrush, are: Libertarianism, an emphasis on human liberty. This ranges from pure democracy to philosophical anarchism.

Conservatism, which is based on the belief of a God, believes that man's mission on earth is to achieve religious salvation. Conservatives say that man must have the opportunity to choose whether or not he wants to do right; you can't be good if you are forced to be good. They feel that the best government is the least government.

Objectivism was founded by Ayn Rand, author of "We, the Living," "Anthem," "The Fountainhead," and "Atlas Shrugged." Miss Rand's works all portray the fiercely individualistic personality of the objectivist, who believes that what a man earns is the objective value of his work, it also favors free enterprise.

Individualism is independence of thought and attitude. Miller stressed that this is not to be confused with what is commonly thought of as "beat-nik".

A rough constitution has already been drawn up for the Alliance, subject to approval by its members.

Tentative speakers for the group are Walter Baring and William Wright.

Miller emphasizes that the Realist Alliance will participate in off-campus politics on a state and national level.

'Take Five'

By JOHN FIRPO

What's been going on lately? Did I see wrong or were there two Sundowners milking a goat at the 4H exhibit at the Fair last week. Maybe it was part of an initiation or could the Sundowners be on the wagon? Never.

Where have all the flowers (women) gone, was a popular question last week. The little Wal, the fair, Shakey's looked like they were quarantined. Only answer possible is sorority rush. You could sure tell the women actives last week . . . they all looked like leftovers from an overnigher. Some gals smiled so much during rush there was a small epidemic of sore mouths.

The Sundowners beer bust was a ball for those who did attend. There seemed a shortage of underclass damsels. It looked like prohibition days had returned last Saturday at the Theta pledge banquet held in the Villa Roma. Everyone is reported to have nothing but Cokes or Seven-Ups.

Lambda Chis are finishing a new patio area in the rear of the house. The project will include a fireplace, barbecue pit, and keg cooler. The men at 255 University Terrace have pledged the top men's drum major and baton twirler in the United States last year.

Fatalities for the week included the marriage of former Mackay Day queen Dorothea Cook to Bob Lamkin, Jr. of Bishop. GDI Jeanne Wamstad and Lester Armstrong exchanged vows recently in Reno. Theta Karen Peckardt is now wearing the pin of former Tau Gerald Boden. Boden is currently serving a hitch with Uncle Sam.

The SAE's and Gamma Phi's are planning a get-together this Saturday. Included in the festive social will be exchange of house cleanings, a beer bust, and an afternoon watching the Wolf Pack opener.

EVENTS . . . sounds like all sorority row will be in Virginia City this weekend for the Camel races, Friday through Sunday. Watch for ostrich, zebra, and elephants to compete too. The annual and memorable Candy dance at Genoa is this Saturday at 9 p. m. Saturday and Sunday are the days for the Annual Reno sports car races at Stead Air Force Base.

Scratch Louis Armstrong and the Four Freshman for the Homecoming assembly. It seems Satchmo has a contract with Harrah's not to appear thirty days before his opening night at Stateline at any place within a hundred mile radius of the lake. The Four Freshmen got the black ball when they asked for 1500 for their appearance. Latest word is that Bill Lohse is trying to get pianist Andre Previn for Friday night.

The best show in many years is now at Harrah's at South Shore. If you can get ahead of these nasty old books, take in Jimmy Durante and Helen Traubel for a night full of laughs. Singer Judy Garland has signed to appear there on February 7th for three weeks.

Profs in the journalism department have an effective way of getting everyone to class on time. They merely shut the classroom doors at three minutes before the hour and the nicotine fits are cut short.

The first of the fall semester is a good time to reform. A playboy friend decided to do so recently. The first week he cut out cigarettes. The second week he cut out Sundowner beer busts. The third week he cut out coeds. The fourth week he cut out paper dolls.

Don't forget the Hello on the Hill dance in the dining commons Saturday night. The annual pajama rally for the football game will not tour downtown Reno this year since it poses a traffic problem. Instead the pajamites will play ring-around the Greek houses.

THOUGHT FOR TODAY . . . Dig that crazy hairdo of Pan-Hellenic president Michael Mackedon.

Summer Sessions Growing Rapidly

More states were represented in the university summer school of 1962 than ever before. Students came to school from 36 different states and nations including Iran, Korea, and Lebanon.

There were also eight students from Hawaii and ten from Alaska.

Total enrollment for all sessions of summer school was 2,200. There were 353 people representing certain programs at the University including English Institute, Summer Language Institute, Vocational Education Course, Counseling and Guidance program, and the Coach's Clinic.

Besides these, there were 1587 from special interest programs such as Girl's State, Rainbow Girls, Laboratory School, Desert Research Institute, Tahoe Music camp, Pacific North-West Conference, and the Western Farm Economic association.

More courses were offered than ever before, and the University now has one of the largest summer school curriculums among U. S. universities.

Plans are already underway for the 1963 summer sessions.

Negro Comedian Dick Gregory To Talk On Segregation Problem

How does it feel to wake up in the morning knowing that 38 million people hate your guts?

Negro comedian Dick Gregory will give U of N students a unique insight into the segregation problem this Monday night at 7 p. m. in the new gymnasium.

The appearance, sponsored by the student union, will consist of a lecture opened to all university students and faculty only, and his regular night club act which will follow at 8:30 to which the public is invited.

Gregory, the first Negro comedian to hit the big time without the old "Mississippi Mud" routine, has two L. P.'s already on the best seller list ("Dick Gregory in Living Black and White" and "Dick Gregory, East and West"). Next month his book of commentaries "From the Back of the Bus" will be released.

Gregory, who is featured in a four-page spread in the current issue of "Playboy" magazine, is still surprised at his success. "When I left St. Louis," he recalls, "I was making $5 a night. Now I'm getting $5000 a week for saying the same things out loud that I used to mutter under my breath."

Clark Santini and Bill Lohse of the Student Union board who arranged for the appearance have also sent letters to the Greeks requesting cancellation of the regular meetings. Students are asked to cancel any other meetings so as not to miss the performance.

The admission is free of charge to U of N students and faculty but will cost the general public $1.50.

THEY'LL FACE REDLANDS

PASSER AND RECEIVER—Quarterback (R) Jim Cawiezell, 180 pound senior, from Davenport, Iowa and 6-1 senior end Gary Brush (L) from Lone Pine, Calif. get the feel of the ball in preparation for the Wolf Pack - Redlands game Saturday at 2 p. m. on Mackay field.

Vengeance Sparks Nevada Spirit; Hopes Hang On Veteran Backfield

With revenge on their minds and four returning starters in their backfield, the Nevada Wolf Pack opens its 1962 football season against Redlands University tomorrow at 2 p. m. in Mackay Stadium.

Last year the Bulldogs from southern California battered the Wolf Pack 25-0 in the first game of the season for both teams. Halfbacks Bob Herron and Calvin Campbell, quarterback Jack Renwick, and fulback Jock Echave were all active in last year's game. All have been named as possible starters in tomorrow's encounter by head coach Dick Trachok.

Trachok lists Campbell or Al McDaniels as his starting choice for left halfback, Herron or Ray Del Turco at right halfback, Renwick or Bob Ebell at quarterback, and Echave as the definite starter at fullback.

Redlands faces only one real loss from the team that crushed the Wolf Pack a year ago. "Little All-America" center Rollin Crider finished three years of football with 1961's final game, and left a weak spot in the middle of their line.

Last year's top ground gainer Bill Bryant, top pass catcher Karl Phillips and three other teammates who helped wreck Nevada in 1961 will be around to haunt the Wolf Pack in tomorrow's encounter.

Although they are picked for second in their conference, the Bulldogs dropped their opening game to Cal Western college last weekend 27-12. The loss was a sore one for Redlands because their San Diego conquerors lost six starters from their 1961 squad.

Coach Trachok forecasts, "a real battle," but is very high on his team.

"They have grasped our system very well," he says, "and should play a very fine game." He adds however, that Redlands has the advantage of one game's experience which will be considerable help to the Californians.

Wolf Pack Staff Is Experienced

By DOUG BRUCKNER
Asst. Sports Editor

A competent coaching crew with a combined total of 55 years experience will guide the University of Nevada football squad through this year's nine game schedule.

Dick Trachok begins his fourth year as chief grid mentor with high hopes of improving a 5-4 winning record last year. An active player in another era when Nevada built national power house, Trachok was a starter on a 1948 Wolf Pack squad that was rated third in the nation.

After graduation the former Pennsylvanian began an imposing 10 year stay at Reno High School where he rung up a 70-21-3 record on the way to six state championships.

Backing Trachok are three talented young coaches all familiar with the University and its football system.

Dick Dankworth who doubles as head track coach may find his added experience an asset this year while coaching such speedsters as Al McDaniels and Bobby Herron. Dankworth is the only Californian on the squad. He attended high school and college in Los Angeles.

However Dankworth left the southland immediately after receiving his USC Masters Degree and began teaching and coaching at Nevada.

Line coach Floyd Edsall is a native of the Silver State who was an All State end at Sparks High School in 1939. Edsall took his Masters at the University of Nevada in 1956 and joined the coaching staff the following year along with Trachok.

Bill Ireland lays down the ball and bat he uses to coach the Wolf Pack baseball team in the spring to assist Nevada gridders during football season.

Ireland graduated from the Reno campus in 1952 and picked up valuable experience and several conference championships while coaching his two specialties at Fernley High School and South Tahoe high school.

The young, ambitious staff hopes to bring back in 1962 at least a taste of the prowess silver and blue elevens enjoyed when head coach Trachok was playing.

athletic staff, and also serves as head baseball coach.

Taylor was an all-round athlete at the University of Southern California and served as head football coach at San Bernardino High from 1948 to 1955 before coming to Redlands.

Redlands' assistant backfield cack is Roger Chaney, a 1962 graduate of the University of Redlands.

Chaney was one of the greatest triple threat backs in UR history and was selected to the all-SCIAC team three times.

Myron Tarkanian, the line coach, is also a 1962 graduate of Redlands. He was an outstanding tackle on the UR line for three years.

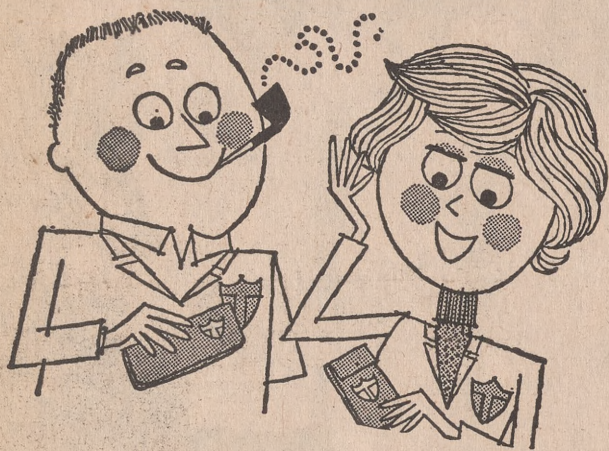

All in all Redlands' coaching staff and crew should prove a formidable opponent to Coach Trachok and his boys. Here's hoping "revenge is sweet," for the U of N is not soon going to forget last season's 25-0 shellacking.

Nevada Battles Redlands In Opener

SAGEBRUSH . . .

Sports Slants

By DOUG BRUCKNER
Assistant Sports Editor

Last September, on a cool evening in southern California's citrus district the University of Redlands battered a struggling Nevada squad 25-0 to open the Wolf Pack's 1961 season.

Again this fall the silver and blue face the Bulldogs from the southland in their schedule's first encounter with this year's setting Mackay Stadium on Saturday afternoon.

Nevada's coaches and many of the players remember last year's loss, and following the team's intersquad scrimmage over the weekend they compared the 1961 and '62 clubs progress this way:

Jim Cawiezell, husky quarterback turned end who talked from a rub down table nursing an injured knee: "There is considerably more depth in this year's club, and more desire to win than we had last year."

Calvin Campbell, returning starter at halfback from Fort Lauderdale, Florida: "We are four games ahead of last year right now. We've got two first teams this year."

Max Culp, rugged defensive lineman who exhausted his eligibility in 1961 but is helping his many ex-team mates as a trainer this fall: "The biggest difference is preparedness. The squad right now is much more prepared than we were."

Jack Renwick, starting quarterback from the 1961 squad who will be head signal caller this season: "We're much further ahead than at this time last year."

Bill (Rock) Daniel, sturdy 5' 9" defensive lineman who is returning to beef up Nevada's forward wall this year: "We're much more aggressive this year. These guys run harder, tackle harder and play harder—they want to play."

The coaching staff was somewhat less overwhelmed by the improvement, but nonetheless enthusiastic.

Assistant coach Dick Dankworth: "There is definitely more speed on this season's squad, but we have a long way to go condition wise."

Head coach Dick Trachok: "I agree readily with Coach Dankworth that there is a lot of conditioning work needed to put us in top shape. Our passing attack is very much improved this year."

The Redlands team that Nevada will face Saturday is still very much a mystery to U of N coaches and journalists. The only facts known prior to the assistant coaches' return with the scouting report is that Redlands is picked for second in their league, and lost their opener to Cal Western, a small San Diego denominational school, 27-12. But considering Redlands' ambitious scholarship program and its access to the vast Los Angeles area recruiting fields it is a safe assumption that the Wolf Pack will need all their improvement, depth, and desire Saturday.

ROTC Promotions Go To 15 Cadets

The department of military science has announced the promotion of 15 seniors in the advanced ROTC course.

The promotions will be temporary, according to the military dept., and will be changed somewhat when drill sessions get underway.

Named cadet major were Andrew MacKenzie, Lester Armstrong, and Robert Henderson. They will each command a battalion of two companies strength.

Cadet captains will be Wayne Kollodge, Dale Wagner, Steve Heyer, Richard Benson, James Smith and Robert E. Lee. They will each command one of the six companies of three platoons strength.

Executive officers for the companies will be first lieutenants Harvey LoSasso, Donald Arkell, Harry Culbert, Douglas Buchanan, Glen Green and David Small.

Platoon leaders will be cadet first lieutenant Harvey Lambert and second lieutenants Michael Cauble, Thomas Cook, Mario Frugoli Jr., James Gaumer, Richard Gwyn, William Lohse, Barney Lujan, Ralph Madsen, Bryan Nott, David Scruggs, Robert Seifers, Gene Shimatori, Rodney Stuart, Frederic Starich and Russell Wilde.

Drill sessions, always a highlight in the life of freshman and sophomore men, begin Thursday.

Harmon Forecast Nevada Will Win In Saturday Game

If the weekly Harmon Football Forecast is any indication, this year's Nevada grid squad is in for some rugged tests during its nine game schedule.

The forecast looks for weekend wins from every silver and blue opponent except Sacramento State which faces Far Western Conference partner Cal Poly.

Fortunately for Nevada fans the Wolf Pack is picked to avenge last year's loss and topple Redlands 20-14 in its opening game tomorrow.

Harmon predictions for UN opponents include: Cal Poly 20 Sacramento State 8; Cal Aggies 22 Santa Clara 7; Humboldt State 30 Oregon Tech 0; Idaho State 31 Colorado Mines 0; Whittier 13 Santa Barbara 8; and San Francisco State 20 Long Beach State 12.

Basta Talks About Laking

ing, removal of valuables and shoes and other outer garments, and for protection of students with physical disabilities which would not allow laking.

Reno Stamp Collectors Want Campus Group

The Silver State Stamp club is willing to help organize a group of stamp collectors on the University campus.

N. Bittner, secretary of the club, says any interested students should attend the next meeting of the club at 8 p. m. in the Washoe county library on the second and fourth Wednesdays of each month.

"In a sense, its hazing," said Basta, but said he thought it a good idea if we set up precautionary measures and safeguards. "Most faculty members who are Nevada graduates I'm sure have been in once or twice," he said, naming Glenn (Jake) Lawlor, director of athletics; and Dr. Russell Elliot of the history and political science dept. as possible past "inhabitants" of Manzanita.

Despite the dying-out of laking, the lake has remained the focal point of interest at the annual Frosh-Soph Field day, and has been used to bathe the presidents of Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Blue Key annually.

Besides the establishment of laking regulations, Basta emphasized the need for a Manzanita clean-up, now being undertaken by Blue Key. Citing the number of beer cans, garbage-can lids, and Coffin and Keys rafts that possibly occupy the lake, he said a clean-up should be required... but that only a specified "laking area" would be needed at first.

"We might even find a dead dean down there," said Basta.

"It's a beautiful campus — and a beautiful quad," concluded Basta, adding "personally I don't think many students would object."

Officials Deny Action Suppresses Freedom

A new policy covering use of the University's facilities is not intended to suppress freedom of speech, press, or exchange of ideas at Nevada, say two University officials.

Dr. Kenneth Young, executive vice president, and Dr. Sam Basta, dean of students, told the Sagebrush earlier this week that the policies were designed in fact to strengthen those freedoms.

The Board of Regents adopted a 3-part policy governing use of university facilities on the Reno and Las Vegas campuses at their August meeting in Reno.

One segment, stating "discussion of highly controversial issues will be approved only when every effort is made to present two or more aspects of the subject by qualified speakers within a reasonable period of time," had caused concern by some students who feared it would put a stop to controversial issues on campus.

But Young and Basta both affirmed that the policy was designed to strengthen freedom of discussion—while providing for two-sided arguments—and was in fact held up for over a month because one regent feared such an interpretation would result.

"We need ideas," said Basta. "Ideas should never be taken away from people... they should be brought out in the open."

The policy statement points out that University facilities are for the support of the "on-going" functions of the University, including instruction, research, and public service.

Any uses classified as "special," must comply with the Regents' policy under the new statement, which gives precedence to the "on-going" functions over other activities.

In one passage, the Regents were careful to point out that freedom of speech would be maintained for students and faculty, and that policies would not be used to prevent a full and frank exchange of ideas.

The Regents further state that they will not tolerate subversion or illegal activities; that law and order must prevail, and that every effort should be made to prevent a balanced program of "speakers and ideas."

The statement forbids exploitation of the University name, efforts at conversion or solicitation by religious and political groups, and distribution of literature on campus in connection with the activity without special permission.

It also points out that the University will not be responsible for policing and handling crowds, traffic, special facilities, or post-activity clean-ups.

Schools, colleges, and other divisions of the University, and recognized organizations of the faculty and staff can apply for use of facilities.

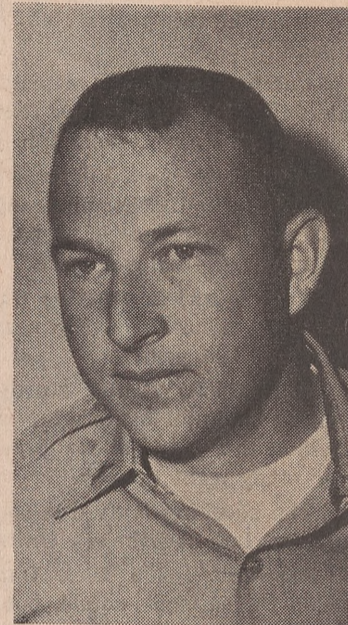

Students must apply to the executive vice president through the second vice president of the ASUN and student affairs office.

The Regents also set up special provisions for the use and care of Mackay stadium, the Fine Arts theater, the Sarah Hamilton Fleischmann room, and the Jot Travis Union and dining commons.

New Instructors In Military Dept.

Four new cadre members have been assigned to the University's military department, including a 1958 graduate of Nevada.

He is First/Lt Charles W. Fulkerson, who graduated from the ROTC program with a BS in Agriculture. He was a member of Theta Chi Fraternity, Scabbard and Blade, and commanded the Sierra Guardsmen.

1st/Lt Fulkerson

Fulkerson is a graduate of the Army's Airborne and Ranger schools for Infantry officers.

M/Sgt Sidney Domingue has been assigned as Sgt Major at Nevada. Domingue chose a military career over professional golf, but was widely-known during his European assignment for his golfing performances on the continent. He will complete 20 years in June.

SFC Cole has been assigned supply sergeant from Ft. MacArthur. A combat veteran of Korea, he has received the Combat Infantry Badge and the commendation ribbon with metal pendant.

SSG Cillford Nelson, recently returned from Germany, is assistant supply sergeant. He is a veteran of 12 years in the Army.

SP-5 Troy Diamond will serve as armorer in the military dept. Diamond has been in the Army since 1948, and served his most recent hitch at the Presidio of San Francisco.

Bidding to Start On Operation Mud

"Operation Mud" is on its way. Bob Blair, Blue Key President, said earlier this month that bids for the drainage of Manzanita Lake will be accepted this month.

He noted that if Blue Key could receive an additional one-thousand dollars at registration there would be no other financial problems.

Blue Key is an honorary organization composed of Junior and Senior men on campus with the purpose of giving service to the school. Blair announced the newest project of the club would be to improve relationships between the college and Nevada high schools.

Its program includes lectures to local schools covering aspects of college life. Andy MacKenzie will be in charge.

Recently, Blue Key and Sagens were co-hosts at the Trek-Nic held Sept. 8 for freshmen and new students.

ACT Testing Dates Set In High Schools

Four dates have been set for upcoming American College Testing (ACT) examinations, Sidney Weatherhead, director of testing, has announced.

The exams will be held on November 2, 1962, February 23, 1963, April 20, 1963, and June 22, 1963 at the University.

Area high schools participating in the tests will include Fernley, Manogue, Reno, Sparks, Tahoe-Truckee, Virginia City and Wooster.
