

Grass Is Rescued By Senate Action

The lawn on campus was given a break Wednesday night when Senate voted to revive the Men's Upperclass Committee.

President Mike Mackedon was given the power to set up the committee. He said that although the committee would not have a great deal of power it would "recreate spirit on campus." The committee, which will begin by seeing that the "Do Not Walk On The Grass" signs are observed, will branch out into other endeavors as the situations warrant.

VP Mimi Sizzles; Needs Club Files By 15th Deadline

By MARGIE RUSSELL

"I need a complete file of the reorganized ASUN clubs and organizations. If the presidents of the clubs do not contact me before Oct. 15, with their constitutions and officers, their clubs may be suspended."

This sizzling message comes from Mimi Patrick regarding various clubs that come under her domain as ASUN second-vice-president.

She added that a committee of one, Mimi Patrick, was going to do the complete job and it was going to be done.

The job of second-vice-president entails many responsibilities.

All social functions at the University must be approved by and checked over by the second veep.

This year, Mimi is trying to promote group spirit and club organizations throughout the student body.

Among the future activities to be planned is — the activity parade. All interested clubs must contact Mimi no later than Oct. 22 to receive a booth at the show.

The activity parade recruits new club members. It is an excellent opportunity for one to find out data on particular clubs.

Nov. 28 has been designated for a meeting of the Calendar activities. All clubs who want to be on next semester's calendar must attend and present the dates for plans.

Seven Coeds Seek Homecoming Title

Seven beauties will vie for the title of 1962 Homecoming Queen this year.

They are Diane Nungesser, Gamma Phi Beta; Judy Norcott, Delta Delta Delta, Donna Martin, Kappa Alpha Theta; Patricia Plenn, Pi Beta Phi; Gerry Shaw, Manzanita hall; Alice Swainston, White Pine hall; and Judy Black, off-campus independent.

The young women were selected by their respective sororities and living groups.

Each of the girls will be escorted by a Blue Key member to the various fraternity houses for lunch and dinner, during the week of Oct. 15-19.

This will give the men an opportunity to "look over the prescriptive queens".

Voting will take place at the fraternity houses for all Greeks while Independents may vote in the Student Union on Oct. 22.

The Queen will be announced at Wolves Frolic Wed., Oct. 25. The following evening the winner will be introduced to the general public in the state building, site of Wolves Frolics, Sat. Oct. 27.

She will ride in the Homecoming parade and preside over the Dance the same evening at Mathisen's Hall.

Miss Black is a junior and is active in Newman club. Miss Sadler is a senior, member of Pi Beta Phi, and was clerk of the Student Court in her junior year. Sinasek, a junior, is a member of Alpha Tau Omega and served as freshman class president.

Another important item passing senate was the establishment of the Senate steering committee. The committee is designed to give direction on issues before senate, review phases of university life, and make up the senate agenda. Selection of committee members was delayed until senate's next meeting Oct. 17.

The committee was first proposed by ASUN President Mike Mackedon when he was a candidate for that office. The possibility of forming the committee was studied by a special senate committee under the direction of Ken Clayton, senior men's senator-at-large.

Senators absent from the semi-monthly meeting were: Keith Lee, Alpha Tau Omega; Cecelia Molini, AWS; Jackie Chiatovich, College of Education; Charles Batchelder, College of Engineering; Phi Sigma Kappa senator; Jackie Burr, White Pine hall; Jill Walker, School of Nursing; and Junior Women's Senator-at-Large Linda Phillips. Miss Phillips was reported to have been tied to a tree.

Assembly Doubts Loom; Previn Out

By CAROLE HUEFTLE

Homecoming looms ominously, a mere three weeks away. But plans for the assembly, now set for Friday, Oct. 26, are still engulfed in a fog of red tape.

It appears that, in the face of failure to book a top-talent from outside the Reno area, entertainment committeemen will once again go begging to the casinos and clubs.

Andre Previn, jazz pianist and composer, reneged on a tentative commitment in August in favor of a $10,000 offer from Dinah Shore. Later when changes in the schedule set the assembly date to Friday, Previn no longer had that date open.

Similar problems arose last year when the Limelights, who had been contracted and sent a $1000 installment, remitted the money with sincere condolences and left the Christmas assembly minus entertainment.

The last big time entertainers were the Gateway Singers who kicked off the 1960 Homecoming celebration. Before that the Dave Brubeck group was somehow snagged for a campus appearance.

But these are the exception, not the rule.

Every September enthusiastic homecoming chairmen slave in vain to bring top talents to the campus with a minimum of funds. They promise Champagne on a beer allowance. And most of the time both they and the campus are disappointed.

Yet one of the most enjoyable assemblies this reporter had ever seen on the campus was presented at Christmastime in 1960. The performer was a young woman folk singer from San Francisco.

She was probably nearly unknown. She played the guitar and sang. Her finale was "He's Got the Whole World in His Hands" and the entire audience joined . . . a phenomena seldom seen on this somewhat apathetic campus.

I don't propose an answer. Perhaps smaller names but equal, if unknown, talent, such as the young folk singer would start a trend toward hiring not established names or prestige talent, but giving newcomers a start. It is just a thought.

Student Directory Out This Month

Would you like to know the phone number of that little blonde in English 101, or Prof So-and-So's phone number? You can look up these numbers when the new AS UN student and faculty directory is issued.

According to Tom Seeliger, AS UN 1st vice president, the new directory will be issued toward the latter part of October. The directory, compiled by the compus chapter of Sigma Delta Chi and paid for by the ASUN, is being printed by Institutional Directories of Texas Sigma Delta Chi is the international professional journalistic fraternity.

Some three-thousand copies will be issued to students and faculty free of charge.

Faculty Committee Recommends Reconsideration Of Suspension

The faculty discipline committee last night recommended a "suspended sentence" for two University men who have been suspended for violating University and state liquor codes. The two men, one a 21-year-old junior, the other a 20-year-old sophomore, were suspended last week by President Charles J. Armstrong on the recommendation of dean of students Dr. Sam Basta.

One admitted to Dean Basta, Dean of Men Hathorn, and ASUN President Mike Mackedon, that he had possessed beer at the Nevada-Redlands game. The other admitted driving a car containing five cans of beer onto campus the night preceding the game.

Both men appeared with spokesmen—one a practicing attorney—but it was ASUN President Mike Mackedon who apparently convinced members of the committee that such action was necessary.

He argued that "part of a law is certainty, as well as severity," and that "certainty has not been a part of the regulations."

This statement helped turn the tables for the two men, who are still under suspension. Last night's action was a recommendation, which will be forwarded to President Armstrong through the dean of students and Dr. Kenneth Young, executive vice president.

The move was protested before its approval by Dean Basta, who argued "I cannot administer discipline under a vacillating committee." He said new evidence should have been presented, and that he had seen no new evidence.

The men will be on a form of suspended suspension if the recommendation is approved, similar to a court judgment. A wrong move, and the ax falls.

The motion to suspend was made by Dr. Kathryn Duffy, who said it would keep the "concept of suspension."

Duffy said that, this way, "the suspension stands but we are going to reserve the execution of it."

Frosh Women In Contest For AWS Representative

Six freshman women are vying for the post of AWS representative in the Oct. 10 primary election.

They are Karry Devincenzi, Pi Beta Phi, of Reno; Phyllis Goytino, Kappa Alpha Theta, of Reno; Lynn Friedhoff, Delta Delta Delta, of Yerington; Margaret Lewis, Gamma Phi Beta, of Fallon; Kathleen Wick, Manzanita hall, of Carson City, and Susan Prior, White Pine hall, of Sparks.

Running for off-campus, non-affiliated AWS representatives are Joyce Long of Reno and Aileen Miller of San Francisco. Both women are freshmen.

Frosh To Whitewash Selves and Big "N"

Freshman students will once again uphold the tradition of painting Nevada's "N" Oct. 6.

Herded by the Sophomore class, enthusiastic Frosh armed with brushes and lime will paint the "N" on Peavine Mountain.

Those needing transportation should meet at the north end of White Pine Hall at 10 a. m.

Chuck Burr, sophomore class president, urged "all lower classmen to support this activity. It will also give the Frosh and sophomores a chance to get acquainted."

Sagebrush Editorials . . .

Once again, Homecoming is in a bind.

The Homecoming committee, and the student union board, have sought entertainers for a Homecoming assembly that has ben tossed around the calendar like eggs being scrambled.

Entertainment has been obtained from local casinos, but after an attempt to get pianist Andre Previn failed, the student union threw in the towel.

In a letter to Homecoming chairman Gordon Corn, student union president Bill Lohse said efforts to get Previn for October 26 have failed; that one reason lies with his "personal neglect," and that that is the union board's "official and final word" on the subject.

He ended his letter with the statement that he was tired "of the whole mess."

It is entirely possible that he is. The 1962 celebration has hit all sorts of snags, many unforeseen. But the committee and its chairman have continued their struggle to throw something together.

But elected student officials do not blame disgust for their abandonment of important projects.

Mr. Lohse ran for his office; he was elected, and now things are expected of him—one being that he does not abandon student projects when there is any possibility of completion.

If he feels otherwise, he should resign.

Senate got on its feet Wednesday night with a series of actions that indicated it will be more than a rubber-stamp for the ASUN administration this year.

The senators picked three student justices, OKed a steering committee, and re-established the men's upperclass committee.

In every instance, the senators appeared interested in their projects—a reversal from previous years when they sat on their hands to mutter a series of "ayes" as legislation was railroaded through the body.

In reinstating the upperclass committee, the group has made a big step in reviving the dormant esprit de corps of the student body—lack of which has hurt the campus in recent years.

In establishing the steering committee, the senate made a move that will set up ASUN government as a vital force in campus affairs.

The senate stubbed its toe on a minor point, however, when it put off appointment of steering committee members until the next meeting—delaying the start of committee activities.

But overall, if senate continues to move in the direction it has indicated, it will be a good year for the ASUN.

Poet John Ciardi Criticizes Methods Of Poem Teaching

By JON BENSON

John Ciardi, poetry editor of the Saturday Review Journal, lectured to an audience of over 100 on the topic, "How Does a Poem Mean." He explained the four basic elements of a poem; diction, metaphor, rhythm, and form.

During the discussion, he criticized the American school system for their neglect of poetry. Ciardi said children at the elementary level were interested in poetry, but that by the time they reach high school or college level, they seem to lose this interest to a great extent.

However, he also blamed this lack of interest on the American male's fear of being called a sissy. His answer to the problem was:

"The process is very simple; first you grow up, then you get married, an after that you are a sissy anyway."

He criticized the method of teaching poetry in American schools. The poet stated it was impossible to interpret a poem in three or four sentences that make sense.

Ciardi said, "I don't think it is necessary for a poem to mean anything. It is not what it means, but how it is said."

Aside from being the poetry editor of the Saturday Review Journal, Ciardi also writes a very controversial column, "Manner of Beau Gene . . .

"Turnabout"

Speaking", and many editorials for the same magazine.

He has published poems in many other American magazines including the Atlantic Monthly, Harpers, Glamour, Ladies Home Journal, Saturday Evening Post, and the New Yorker.

Ciardi, a former professor of English at Rutgers University, is now host for the CBS Television Network discussion show "Accent".

Danforth Grants Offered To Grads

The Danforth Foundation, one of the nation's 10 largest educational foundations, is offering fellowships to male college seniors or recent graduates preparing for a career of teaching, counseling, or administrative work at the college level.

Approximately 100 fellowships will be awarded to outstanding candidates nominated by liaison officers of accredited colleges and universities in the United States, said Dr. Russell Elliott, Nevada liaison officer. Nominees will be judged on intellectual promise and personality, integrity, genuine interest in religion, and high potential for effective college teaching.

teach, and 267 more already teaching in some 150 colleges in this country and in 20 institutions abroad.

HELD FOR LIFE

Danforth Fellowships may be held for life, with certain benefits after completion of graduate study such as financial assistance to attend educational conferences.

Students may hold a Danforth Fellowship concurrently with other appointments, such as Ford, Fulbright, National Science, Rhodes, and Woodrow Wilson. Winners will become Danforth Fellows without stipend until these other awards lapse.

In youth we learn; in age we understand—Marie Ebner-Eschenbach.

4 YEARS AID

Winners will be eligible for up to four years of financial assistance, with an annual maximum of $1,500 for single men and $2,000 (as well as $500 per child) for married men, plus tuition and fees. A grant of $3,500 per year is possible for certain married students. Students without financial needs are also invited to apply.

Publications Bd. Hears Darkroom Request; Salaries

By SUE MOSS

The bi-monthly meeting of the Publications Board, a representative committee for the establishment of policy and budget allotments for all ASUN publications, was held Tuesday.

A need for an adequate darkroom was brought out by Sagebrush editor Doug Buchanan who attributed the need to the faulty construction of the present room and the extra photographer (this year there will be two cameramen—one for the Artemisia and one for the Sagebrush).

A special committee reported that the student directory would be out in two or three weeks if all goes as planned.

Toddene Watkins, business manager of the Sagebrush, quoted salaries for the newspaper's staff. They were as follows: Editor and business manager — $37.50 per week, managing editor — $15 per week, advertising manager — $15 per week plus 10% commission on ads, feature editor $5 per week, photographer — $100 per semester apiece. Mentioned was the fact that the photographers must supply their own equipment. The budget was approved.

Progress on the Artemisia was reported by Jo Ann Nelson, Artemisia editor. Picture taking began last week. Jim Richards, Artemisia business manager, reported that due to the large margin of profit made on last year's book, the panel rate for living groups will be lowered from $35 a page plus $1 a picture to a flat rate of $35 a page. Honor groups such as Blue Key and Sagens will be printed free of charge. There will be eight full color pages in front and two less pages of advertising.

Reflections of Telstar

Remember the picture above? It flashed across your television screen on a hot night last July. Perhaps you remember that it originated from France. And that it reached the U. S. via Telstar, the world's first private enterprise communications satellite.

Since that summer night, the Bell System's Telstar has relayed electronic signals of many types—television broadcasts, telephone calls, news photographs, and others.

But there's one Telstar reflection you might have missed. Look into the faces of the Bell System people below and you'll see it. It is the reflection of Telstar's success that glowed brightly on the faces of all who shared in the project.

Their engineering, administrative and operations skills created Telstar and are bringing its benefits down out of the clouds to your living room.

These Bell System people, through their talented, dedicated efforts, make your phone service still better, more economical, and more useful.

The reflections of Telstar are many.

'Take Five'

By JOHN FIRPO

World Series time is here. The television rooms in the tub and the journalism building are expected to be packed. There are usually less cuts when the series goes four or five games.

You new students shouldn't be surprised at the I. D. photos. As usual they are terrible. It's ironical since these photos are used for identifying you. Most people in local businesses will say you've got the wrong identification and refuse to cash your check. Ask Penny Levin.

The student directories will be the size of standard binder paper this year instead of the old compact editions of the past. They'll be appearing after homecoming. They'll contain everything except coed's measurements.

It's good to see such loud, rowdy, spirit at the Pack games. The ban on booze in the stands held up. Those who wanted to drink went to various "cocktail parties" before the game. Bouquets to Moose Armut. Dick is the kind of cheerleader Nevada needs.

Six Tau pledges serenaded the Tri-Delts last Monday night. Trouble was, the gals had to help the frat neophytes with the ATO songs.

Ask Ellen Roseman about her great trip to Hollywood as a result of winning first runnerup in the Miss Lake Tahoe contest at stateline this summer.

Tri-Delt Nonnie Hansen announced her engagement to Bill Coones. The SAE house had a recent fatality in the pinning of member Dan Mathews to independent Nancy Alberti.

The wedding bells rang this week for Theta Patty Cobb and Sigma Nu Jim Sawdon. Also exchanging vows recently were senior Dan Tucker and Laura Repetti of Sparks.

Former Pi Phi pledge Peggy Burgess is engaged to Snake Bruce Pendleton. The Castle has more fatalities than their pledge class this year.

Independents Cara-Lee McDaniel and Jim Curran were married. Both attend the University.

How come Judy Wegman came home from the Sundowner dance at Grange Hall Saturday with Dick Pinion and his date? Where was Tony Klenakis? Did he go to Virginia City or stay and dance to the music of Little Richard?

Theta Chi Troy "Skip" Williams is pinned to Shirley Moore of Carson City.

The Pi Phis, Thetas, and Snake pledges went on a publicized sneak at ranch near Carson City. The actives didn't have the heart to break it up.

Homecoming is coming. Be prepared and reserve a seat outside the little Wal. The Homecoming committee has provided an ambulance or convertible for the winner of the cross-country race from Sparks to the University. The winner has his choice, depending on his condition. A number of pledges have a choice between running in the race or helping build their frat's float.

Lambda Chi Hary Culbert set a record this week at an intramural softball game. He had the distinction of being the first third base coach to be tossed out of an intramural match.

SAE Bob Backus says I should change the name of this scandalous column to "Pillow Talk".

In the entertainment line, Harry Belafonte and the group will open at Harrah's stateline on November 8th. Jerry Lewis will appear around Christmas time. Louis Armstrong and George Goebel team up at Homecoming time at the lake.

Homecoming Chairman Gordon Corn says that an assembly will be held the Friday night of that glorious weekend. Sparks Nugget owner John Ascuaga has offered to lend the student union board his entertainers for a show. Other clubs in the area are expected to contribute stars from their shows that weekend too. All this after Bill Lohse had given up in his attempt to find a suitable group or person.

Comedian Dave Barry is on the seventh floor of Harolds club. Judy Lynn and her aggie music is at Harrah's Reno show. The Four Lads are at the Holiday and Billy Eckstine entertains the masses at Tahoe Harrah's lounge. Speaking of entertainment, singer Eddie Fisher, in a show at Sinatra's Cal-Nevada this summer, said they were serving a new drink on the lake. He called it "tenor on the rocks".

THOUGHTS FOR THE DAY . . . Don't cut corners on the quad or sit on the senior bench in front of the journalism building, Big Brother Basta is watching. Did you ever see Judy Quanchi do the monster mash?

Artemisia Band Seeking a Name

What happens when a Zoology major, a prospective range manager and pre-dental student get together in the basement of Artemisia hall?

Music happens. The music of a nameless band that is making itself heard all over campus.

John Winn, Joe Curry, and Bill Hamilton are the mysterious musicians who make up this band. Started last fall for the Aggie Stomp, the band, still without a name, played at various independent socials and open houses.

The familiar sounds of the drums, guitar and piano have become second nature to many successful fuctions.

Spokesman John Winn, who alternates between the guitar and the piano, said the band hopes for a successful year and successful future.

"If things work out we are interested in making a full time job of playing," said Winn.

Currently, these Artemisia music men are looking for a saxophone player and also a name for their band. Until then, the campus will continue to hear their musical rehearsals in the basement of Artemisia.

6 Professors Plan Sabbatical Leaves Two Going Abroad

Six professors have been granted sabbatical leaves by the University for the 1962-63 year.

They are Professor Russell R. Elliott, Assistant Professor William R. Harberstad, Professor E. R. Larson, Associate Professor John W. Morrison, Professor J. Craig Sheppard, and Professor Loring R. Williams.

A sabbatical leave is a leave of absence, with pay, granted by the Sabbatical Leave Committee, to professors to further their study in their fields, or to work on projects related to their fields of study.

Professor Russell R. Elliott, professor in history and political science. Professor Elliott, granted his leave during the spring semester, plans to spend his time in Nevada. He is now working a book called, History of Nevada Since the Comstock. He plans to complete this book during his leave.

Professor William R. Harberstad, assistant professor in philosophy. Professor Harberstad, granted leave for the entire year, is also spending his leave in Nevada. He is working on a joint project with Professor John Morrison, also on leave. They are working on a text book that they hope will be used for general humanities courses.

Professor E. R. Larson, professor in geology. Professor Larson will take his leave during the second semester. He plans to travel to Grenoble, France and set up headquarters under French Professor Moleat.

He will be studying the Geologic Structure of the Alps. He will be accompanied by his wife and children in June and they will return in time for the fall semester of next year.

Professor John W. Morrison, associate professor of English. In addition to working with Professor Harberstad, Professor Morrison's main reason for taking leave will be to complete his bibliography on Far Eastern literature. He plans to have this bibliography published at its completion.

Professor J. Craig Sheppard, professor of art. Professor Sheppard is now in Tours, France. He is making final preparations for his own art show in Paris this fall. His main reason for traveling to France is to develop new techniques in expression.

Professor Loring R. Williams, professor of chemistry. Professor Williams is spending his leave at the University of California in Berkeley. He is studying inorganic chemistry and familiarizing himself with classroom techniques used there.

Home Economics Club To Elect New Officers At Next Regular Meeting will sponsor "A College Day in Home Economics" for ninth-grade girls in California and Nevada schools Saturday, Oct. 13.

Fifteen Nevada and eight California schools will participate.

"The purpose of the day is to acquaint potential college students with curriculum, facilities and faculty," stated Patricia A. Tripple, associate professor of the School of Home Economics.

The girls will be divided into five groups. Each group will have as a guide a sophomore home economics student.

The schedule of events for the day will include a registration period; a lecture by Dr. Marilyn J. Horn, assoc. director of the School of Home Economics; classes in child development, experimental foods, fashion design, fashion merchandising, and interior design; a luncheon at the student union; and more lectures.

Students in charge of the day's social activities are Joanne Pritchard and Dianne McManus.

Badminton Opens For Intramurals

By TIM ANDERSON
Sagebrush Sports Staff

Intramural badminton began Wednesday and will now share the spotlight with softball, which is already in full swing.

Team representatives for intramural sports have decided to play doubles. Like softball, it will be a double elimination program. The Mavericks decided not to play badminton, but another team, the Rackateers, have entered the competition, making 11 teams. The other ten teams will be the same as they were for softball.

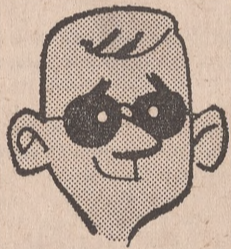

Sigma Nu and the Mavericks won their first softball games on September 27. The Snakes downed Sigma Phi Epsilon, 12-4, and Theta Chi fell to the Mavericks, 11-0.

On Monday, Oct. 1, ATO won its second game of the tournament by squeezing past Artemisia Hall 3-2.

The independents beat Lambda Chi Alpha the same day by 8-2. Five more games were scheduled for the rest of the week. By the end of the week, three teams will be eliminated as six once-beaten teams are scheduled to play against each other.

Tighe has reminded intramural teams that volleyball starts Wednesday, Oct. 10.

Sport Slants . . .

By DOUG BRUCKNER
Sagebrush Sports Editor

SOUTH SHORE, LAKE TAHOE, NEVADA — Over 10,000 spectators sat on a sandy shore beach and watched the mid-morning sun sparkle on Lake Tahoe.

In the festively decorated starting area a small group of gleaming, narrow-nosed water craft warmed up their airplane engines.

Last weekend's Tahoe Regatta, sponsored by Harrah's plush casinos in Reno and Stateline, was underway.

Hydroplane racing is much like automobile racing. They are both more a spectacle than a sport. They are both less a fight to win than a dual with danger. The Regatta program carried an article on Dallas Srtz' amazing escape from Miss Seattle Too which nosed over and disintegrated into Lake Washington during the 1962 Gold Cup race. Traveling at Regatta speeds that surpassed 140 miles per hour on the straightaways is risking serious injury.

The people that attend a spectacle are easily distinguished from an ordinary sports crowd. Ron Musson won the rugged event in his emerald-green Miss Bardahl boat, but the on-lookers were much less interested in the winner than in the possibility of a chilling mishap.

At the south turn where we sat on the gravelly Sierra sand people seemed to anticipate a flip. They tensed as a boat slid precariously around the buoy throwing the bright blue water in a sweeping white stream, then almost grudgingly relaxing as the craft turned on the power surge down the main straightaway. One girl wished, "one of them would blow up."

Maybe people have not come very far from the day they watched gladiators brutally kill each other on a sunny weekend afternoon, or maybe it was just a feeling I had. But when the last boat had roared down the straightaway and into the pits, the sun bathers with the binoculars and beer cans were obviously disappointed.

League Opener In Chico

Coach Dick Trachok's undefeated Nevada Wolf Pack opens its 1962 league schedule tomorrow night against a Chico State squad that may be either the doormat or the dark horse of the Far Western Conference this year.

The Chico Wildcats boast 16 lettermen from last year, but the Californians went through the entire conference schedule in 1961 without a win.

Whittier College, which Nevada topped 21-6 last week, listed 20 returnees from a team that topped its league and played in a bowl game.

However, this season may be a brighter one for Wildcat fans. Chico dropped its opening contest 28-0 to Southern Oregon, but bounced back to whip Pacific University 19-13 last weekend.

Pacific's strength this season is questionable. The Badgers lost to obscure Pacific Lutheran 12-7 in their opening contest.

Southern Oregon soundly trampled the Wildcats. They rolled up 323 yards offensively, connecting on 19 passes out of 25 attempts.

Chico State's strong point is its backfield of seven varsity veterans.

One-hundred ninety pound fullback John Second served notice with fine running in the Pacific

Sagebrush sports staff member Bob Meade will follow the Wolf Pack football team to Chico, California Saturday night, and report the game for Sagebrush readers Tuesday. If you can make it to Chico, be sure and go. The team needs you. If you cannot read Meade's special report in Tuesday's edition.—D. B.

game that he will be a big threat to the Wolf Pack's classy defensive record. Only one touchdown has been registered on Nevada's proud defenders in their first two games.

Concord, California quarterback Al Allison, combines talented running with alert signal calling and fair passing, and may break into the scoring column as he did against Pacific last week.

Dave Borjon is a 180-pound senior halfback who was a consistent ground gainer in the game last weekend.

Nevada Pages Granted Spur Charter; Becomes 38th National Chapter

The 38th national chapter of Spurs, sophomore women's honorary, was installed Thursday, Sept. 27, at the University of Nevada.

In ceremonies in the Jot Travis Student Union, 22 former members of Pages, the local group which was formed to obtain a Spurs charter in 1960, were initiated into the national organization.

Pages president have been Alice Urrutia, Marylouise Reynolds, and Sherrie Millard. Barbara Beesley, the last Pages president, continues to head the Nevada Spurs.

The Pages have worked actively since their formation in the spring of 1960. They have met Spurs requirements, and have attended national conventions of the organization. A 2.5 is required for membership, and new members are named near the close of the second semester.

The 22 old Pages initiated last week were: Marilyn Madsen, Linda Phillips, Michele Mackedon, Sue Voss, Sue Staphenhorst, Joanie Westfield, Christiane Balducci, Jackie Chiatovich, Mary Rossolo, Pat Boren.

Linda Wadsworth, Rosemarie Haenel, Muriel Elis, Julie LaFond, Sherrie Millard, Barbara Spaulding, Diane Swart, Carole Hoover Gribble, Judy Quanchi, and Marcia Eccles.

The new Spurs are not Spurs yet, but will be initiated soon, said Miss Beesley. They include—

Barbara Beesley, Connie Bell, Anne Louise Cantlon, Karen Carlson, Andrea DeSantis, Sharon Domenici, Danny Ferrier, Nancy Franklin, Margaret Goegg, Ann

Tau Bowery Dance Tonite At VFW Hall

The ATOs will be holding their annual Bowery Pledge Dance this evening, Oct. 5, 1962, at the VFW hall in Reno. The dance will be from 9-12 p. m.

The Bowery is a costume dance whose theme is typical 1920 fashions. The chaperones for the dance will be Major and Mrs. Edwin W. Lawlor, and Sergeant and Mrs. Forest Lawson. The group will be dancing to the music of Jan Savage and her band.

A Tau tradition has it that the pledges do all in their power to keep the president and pledge trainer from attending the Bowery dance.

But president Andy MacKenzie said that he and pledge trainer Tim Griffin planned to be at the dance, no matter what the pledges did.

Last year, they unsuccessfully tried to ship pledge trainer Paul Bible to Alaska. The winners in the game of wits will be determined tonight.
