Demo Candidates Talk On Campus

By PAT ROGERO
Sagebrush Managing Editor

Three Democratic candidates for public office spoke briefly to a brief audience Wednesday night at the first in a two part "Political Spotlight" series sponsored by the Student Union.

Incumbent Governor Grant Sawyer, first to speak, appeared in his usual relaxed and informal manner. He told the small gathering he intended to run a clean campaign, keeping to issues rather than personalities.

After being elected to the Governors office in 1958, he said, his family found themselves involved in all kinds of controversy. "But, when you hold a public office you belong to the public. They should talk about you and be critical of you. No one becomes totally immune to criticism, that comes with the package," he said.

In speaking of his campaign, Sawyer said he must be as responsible during the campaign as any other time.

Clean Campaign

"I will not make attacks against my opponent. I know the family, I like them, and I don't want to hurt them." "And above all," Sawyer said, "I don't want to do any damage to this state. I love this state."

He praised the candidates of both parties, saying, "Everyone who is running for public office, with a few exceptions, is doing so with sincerity."

Sawyer was asked for his opinion on a series of articles appearing in the Las Vegas Sun aimed at the University. Asked about a point stating that Nevada residents were paying tuition, Sawyer said that the attorney general has ruled resident tuition illegal. He said he would not challenge the newspaper's statement.

Old Audit

He pointed out that the series was based on an old audit and actions of the previous administration.

Alan Bible, incumbent U. S. senator, his more serious and sober manner in contrast to Sawyer, urged all those able to vote. He said voting in the state was poor and "voting is the most precious right we have in the world."

"In my opinion," he said, "a person 18 years old is old enough to vote."

He told the audience that the 87th congress had been a stormy one, many things which should have gone through did not.

"There were things that I disagreed with the administration on and many things I supported," Bible said.

Opposes Foreign Aid

He informed the audience that he would continue to support Medicare and oppose the urban affairs and foreign aid bills.

As a student in the audience asked the Senator if he felt the Monroe doctrine was "out of date", Mike Mirabelli, the third speaker, apparently dismayed by the question, raised his hand to his head,

Cast Selected For Campus Play 'Cave Dwellers'

The cast has been selected for the first University play, "The Cave Dwellers," and rehearsals are under way.

The performers and the roles they play are as follows: Mike Keenan, King; Judy Garwood, Queen; Kathy Francais, Girl; Don Hackstaff, Duke; Ron Gold, Father; Sara Pederson, Mother; Jim Bernardi, Gorky; Jerry Small, Boss; Bob Ware, Silent Boy; Kathy Blake, Young Queen; and Barbara Hardin, Woman in Furs.

Professor Robert Strane, Director of the University Theater, will direct the play.

The play is scheduled to run on November 8, 9, 10 with a matinee performance on Nov. 10.

Tickets will go on sale on November 5 and may be purchased at the box office of the Fine Arts Building from 1-4:30 p. m., Monday through Friday.

Price of the tickets are $1.25 general, $.65 for students and $.50 for University students with A.S. U. N. cards.

Season tickets are also on sale now, and entitle the holder to attend all films and plays at the University this year. The price is $3.00 for faculty and $6.00 general.

Win Nominations Josse, Fuetsch

Due to a sparse turnout for the Freshman fall primary elections, Pete Josse, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, and Carl Fuetsch, Sigma Nu, will compete in the general elections Oct. 17.

Phillis Goytino, Kappa Alpha Theta and Karen DeVincenzi Pi Beta Phi, will vie for the AWS Freshman Representative.

Mackedon Naming Upper Class Committee

The men's upperclass committee is in the works.

The group, whose re-establishment was approved last week by the ASUN Senate, is in the process of formation now. ASUN president Mike Mackedon is naming the members this week,

All-Girl Drill Team Slated To Make Debut On Campus

A new all-girl drill-dance team has been added to the Nevada Marching Band, according to Dr. John Carrico, director of bands. The all-girl unit, to be known as the "Nevad-Anns", is led by Mary Lee Parmenter, freshman from Carson City, who was a leader of the Carson City high school all-girl team.

The 25-member unit, selected after September tryouts, will perform with the University band at the Wolf Pack home games at Mackay Stadium. The unit will also appear at two professional football games this fall.

The professional game shows scheduled are the Los Angeles Rams-Baltimore Colts at the Los Angeles Coliseum, November 11, and the San Francisco '49-ers-Cleveland Browns game at Kezar Stadium December 15.

The Nevada co-ed organization will make its debut at a future home game in October when they get new uniforms.

The members of the "Nevad-Anns" are

Bauer Elected Prexy Of Realist Alliance

John Bauer was elected president of the newly-formed Realist Alliance Wednesday night.

Other officers are Jim Christopherson, vice president; Mary Alt, secretary; and Steve Miller, librarian.

Committee heads include Mike Hislop and Bruce Beardsley, membership and activities; and Toddy Watkins, publicity.

Nev. Regent Dies; Served 3 Years As Board Official

Weld Arnold, member of the University of Nevada's Board of Regents for three years, died last Friday night. Mr. Arnold was 67 years of age.

President Charles Armstrong expressed shock and sorrow at Arnold's passing.

"He was a close friend and a devoted servant to the University" Dr. Armstrong said.

Arnold was first elected to the Board of Regents in 1958 and was defeated for re-election in 1960. Governor Grant Sawyer re-appointed him in June, 1961, upon the resignation of William Tyson. He was a candidate for re-election in 1962.

The widely-known traveler and scholar moved to Nevada in 1934. In 1948 he moved to Carson City, where he lived with his wife, Margaret, and 13 year old son, Thomas.

Arnold served as a machine gun officer in World War I, and as an Air Force officer in World War II.

The deceased Regent graduated from Harvard University and from the Royal Geographical Society in England. He later taught at both schools and at the University of Nevada.

Wolves Frolic Tickets On Sale

Tickets for Wolves Frolics will be on sale at the ASUN Book Store Oct. 15 according to Pete Jensvold, Frolic chairman.

Prices of the tickets are: $2.40 orchestra; $1.80 orchestra; $2.40 loge; $1.50 balcony; $1.00 balcony.

Try-outs for the Frolics were held Oct. 4 and 5. The groups who auditioned for the Frolic are: Gamma Phi Beta; Delta Delta Delta; Kappa Alpha Theta; Pi Beta Phi; Manzanita Hall; White Pine Hall; Alpha Tau Omega; Lambda Chi Alpha; Sigma Alpha Epsilon; and Sigma Nu.

Specialty acts were also presented for judging.

Mr. Robert Strane, Frolic Director, will select acts for the show.

He will also coordinate the various acts into one fast moving production.

Foreign Students Issue Newsletter

A bi-weekly news letter, International Student News, has recently made its debut on the campus. Benny Echeverria, Foreign Student Advisor, says the purpose of the letter is to inform foreign students and other interested people about the activities and events in the University's foreign student program.

Copies of the letter are now being issued to all foreign students, faculty, and academic departments, as well as being displayed on various bulletin boards around campus.

Echeverria hopes a letter of this type will "do much to help coordinate the foreign student program."

Sagebrush Editorials . . .

One last word on the Las Vegas Sun's "expose" series on the University of Nevada.

So far, the Sagebrush has been the only Nevada newspaper to comment on the series, which ran recently and purported to show misdeeds on the part of the Board of Regents.

Its most important assertion was that students are being charged illegal tuition. The fees, by the way, have been approved by opinion of the attorney-general.

The charges were based on a two-year-old audit, not the most recent one made this year.

University officials were charged with lowering admission standards; providing a "jerry-built" library, and making illegal expenditures of University funds.

It should be noted that the series was written by a newsman whose credentials to cover the state legislature have been revoked.

University officials have not chosen to dignify the series with a reply, which it certainly does not deserve. But the Sagebrush, as a spokesman for student opinion, must answer.

And that answer is that the charges are based on so many inaccuracies and half-truths that no one is taking them seriously. And if the Sun continues such practices, its likely no one will take it seriously either.

And if you are a newspaper, that's bad.

Much ruckus has been raised about last Friday's editorial on the student union, the Homecoming celebration, and the failure to get Andre Previn for the Homecoming celebration.

It should be noted that the Sagebrush is not critical of the failure to secure entertainment, or of the role of the student union in the celebration.

The criticism has been aimed at the attitude of the student union president concerning the matter when he said he was "tired of the whole mess."

It is to be expected that the student leaders involved in the celebration may run into roadblocks—often impenetrable ones. But so long as any alternatives are available, projects should not be abandoned.

Lecture Series Off For One Month

The AWS lecture series — featuring the last lectures of various Nevada professors—has been cancelled until November.

AWS spokesman Muriel Ellis said the series has been postponed because there are too many scheduled activities and the professors are very busy and will be unavailable to speak this month.

The first lecturer, Dr. Willard Day of the psychology dept., was apparently too convincing. He made the mistake of announcing he was leaving—which was too be assumed—and rumors spread quickly that Day was on his way.

The next lecture will be Nov. 27, said Miss Ellis.

Letters to the Editor

Answers Lohse

Bill Lohse, President of Student Union Board:

In answer to your letter to the Editor last Tuesday I would like to add another viewpoint.

You said that the Editor has not familiarized himself with both sides of the issue. I volunteered to do the research on this story, and I did get both sides. You'll remember that I talked to you personally.

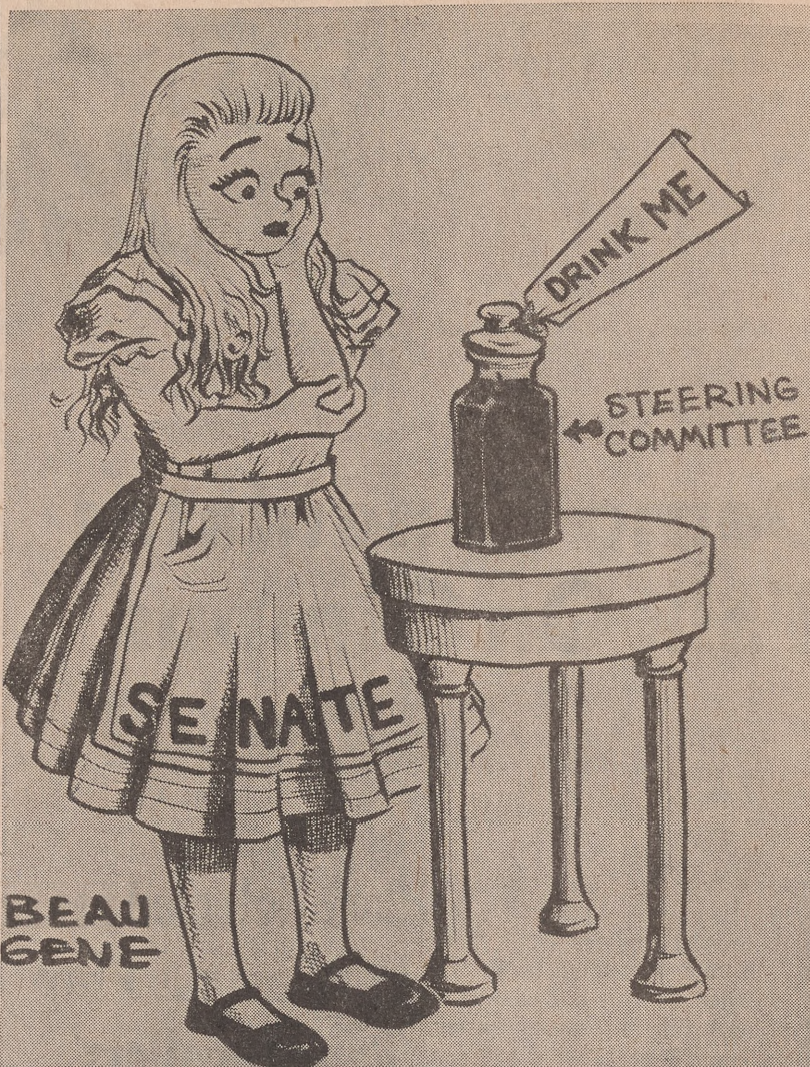

You say the role of the Student Union in assisting in Homecoming is of a voluntary nature. It is voluntary because once the students have paid their $5 fee to the Student Union they lose any control over the use of that money. The Student Union fund is the only one large enough to support an outlay the size of Previn's fee.

Are you being philanthropic in "donating" student funds for student use?

You also seem to have missed the point of the editorial. He was not questioning your attempts to get Previn, although persons connected with you during that time testify to your apathy and disinterest in the project. The editorial was questioning your defeatist attitude in carrying out an elected office and dispensing student funds.

In the letter to Homecoming chairman Gordon Corn you specifically stated that your neglect stemmed directly from your unwillingness to get anyone for the Friday spot after so many unsuccessful and discouraging attempts to fill the Wednesday spot. What did you expect the Homecoming (Continued on Page 3)

Committee to do for entertainment, or would you rather they hold a United Disgust meeting at the Wal and cry lack of appreciation on the Friday night before Homecoming.

I could reiterate your suggestion to assume a more responsible role in the exercise of your duty, but of course since the students have no control over your actions, your attitudes, or their money, it would be of no consequence.

Adams Comments

Editor, the Sagebrush:

I write this letter in hopes that it might clear up the Union's position and not to enter into, or start a controversy. In regards to your editorial concerning the Union Board's attitude and what you termed "personal neglect", on the part of Bill Lohse toward the Homecoming Assembly, I submit the following for the consideration of your readers:

When an editorial is written and represents a body, it not only hurts the individual but his group, and what that group stands for. If there is criticism to be made, and we can all be criticized, it should be based on facts and without personality conflicts received from other sources.

Regardless of the outcome of Mr. Previn's performance, or who was at fault by not obtaining this musician for the assembly, it seems to me that you have given the impression that it is (or was) the Union Board's responsibility to provide some sort of entertainment for all ASUN Assemblies, and certainly the Homecoming Assembly.

To the contrary, it is the Board's responsibility to the students of the university to provide a separate program including all phases of art, lecture series, movies, recitals, dances, etc. One of their most important functions is to provide hospitality, which can be accomplished in many ways, not only to the students, but for the many visitors on our campus each year. I do not think that any student who has been at the university for any length of time feels the Union Board has neglected their responsibility.

Reason for your obligation that the Union Board is obligated to the ASUN for assemblies might arise from the past where the board came to the aid of the ASUN with financial backing for various events. It should also be noted that the Union Board has gone to the ASUN for the same type of support (Brubeck, Smothers Brothers). This proves that both ASUN and the Union Board can work and do work together with a common goal of providing a program for the students.

However, the ASUN does not provide the other type services that were mentioned above. I am sure you realize what would happen if they did.

Many students are unaware that the Union and ASUN operate under two separate constitutions and the profits from the Bookstore and other ASUN fees are returned to the treasury of the ASUN to provide such programs as Homecoming, Winter Carnival, Mackay Day, and others. The ASUN appoints the chairmen for the aforementioned activities and it is their responsibility to execute their successfulness.

As a Sagebrush reader and a member of the staff, I think that many of your editorials have been good ones and are for the betterment of the University of Nevada and its family. If you are going to direct an editorial toward an individual it should be done on that level—but not to say "the student union threw in the towel."

Sincerely yours,
BILL ADAMS

Yell Squad Critic

Editor, the Sagebrush:

When does the team need the most support from their cheering section? The Nevada yell squad seems to think that when the team needs them is when they are winning and when they are fresh and ready for action at the beginning of the game. However, at the Chico game last week-end, a few die hard fans stayed and yelled until the last play was over, while the yell squad calmly watched the game end.

The yell squad does a good job of leading the cheers in between forming new routines and talking about the latest fashions. In the Chico game the fans started more cheers than the yell squad. If this is the case then what is the purpose of having cheer and song leaders, or is this one of the latest fashions, too.

What has happened to the old standby cheers of bygone days? The ones which seem to captivate the fans into yelling seem to have disappeared and been given over to nothing but kindergarten level, with one ortwo words being used over and over again. Why aren't we treated like college students and allowed to use some ingenuity, after all, we are supposed to have some brains in our heads.

Where the fault lies for this sad breakdown in spirit lies put forth by the yell squad is almost anyone's guess. The time to institute a change in policy is now, while there is still time to salvage the fans. Can something be done, yell squad?

'Take Five'

By JOHN FIRPO

The big week's over. The world series is out, homework and classes are in. There's big signs of relief now that the Tau Bowery dance is over without the familiar happenings, so common in the past.

The men's upperclass committee is being formed. With the advent of winter, Manzanita isn't getting any warmer. A dunking penalty for breaking traditions won't be an easy sentence on the violator, so beware, Eliot Mackedon and the upper-untouchables are watching.

Speaking of ASUN prexies, it seems that Mike couldn't help being mistaken for Dick Gregory when the comedian spoke at the gym recently. Ask Judy Jeppson or Mary Rossolo.

The Board of Regents discussed the feasibility of a fraternity-sorority, "Greek Park", at a meeting last week. The plan would place all of the Greek living groups on a "co-educational" complex on campus. Just think of having the Pi Phis or Thetas for neighbors. I propose every frat should be next door to a sorority for better greek relations.

Former ASUN president Ben Echeverria, has a convenient office for his new job as foreign student counselor. Benny's giving "the eye" to the coeds from his office in the old Clark library, which faces the main hallway on campus.

Did you know that Nevada is the second largest state in yearly consumption of beer? It's nothing new to the Sundowners who hope to boost the state to first place next year.

Andy McKenzie and Tim Griffin managed to lay low before the Bowery to guarantee their entrance. Andy and Lee Ann Zimmerman were seen in Henry's corner bar that same night. Tim showed up at the light orgy with Kate Murray. Tau Tom Seeliger and frat brother Mackedon stayed in their locked student union offices during the pre-dance days for security purposes. The pledges thought Alaska was beautiful this time of year — in fact they had two free one-way tickets for any lucky active.

The news from the state pen in Carson City is that former Sagebrush "playboy" nominee, Joe Conforte, a Nevada businessman, is happy in his new home. Joe has been elected floorwalker for the prison games of chance.

It's usually the tradition for Nevada cheerleaders and song leaders to get asked first by the men of the football team. There's only one problem with one of the gals this year, whose gonna date that sexy pachyderm, Big Bertha?

The SAE minors had trouble getting served alcoholic beverages at their pledge dance in the Mapes. It seems the men had to present their dates with I. D.s at the bar in order to get two drinks. Maybe the word leaked out from the Sante Fe festival. Anyway, Tri-Delts take notice tonight.

Polly Bergen is now at Harrah's South Shore Room. Dennis Day sings nightly as star of the current show in the Sparks Nugget Circus Room. The Primadonna has a new, lavish restaurant with an entrance on Sierra street. At the Riverside, and direct from appearances in Boston, is the French songstress Denise Darcel.

Ski enthusiasts will be glad to hear that Alpine Meadows, Squaw Valley, and Slide Mountain have added new additions. Alpine Meadows has added another double chair lift, a platter pull lift, and has paved the entrance roads. At Squaw, there's four new double lifts leading to all parts of the area around Squaw Peak.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY . . . Professor Keiste Janulis of the journalism department tells of his days on the Allentown Call newspaper. It seems the prof got a kick out of the news from a small community in Pennsylvania called Intercourse.

Fatalities during the past week were the wedding of Janet Robinson and Tony Ko.

Reno's Altitude Hard On Singers Voice

By DOUG BRUCKNER

Jimmy Arnold, the high tenor quarter of the Four Lads, vocal group, sipped throat-soothing tea and honey as we talked in the coffee shop of the Holiday hotel.

Arnold explained that Reno's thin, dry air, and the Lads' lounge show pace make an evening's work a rugged ordeal on his valuable voice.

The Lads' journey from the humid east to the Sierra foothills had made the altitude decidedly noticeable. The Canadian tenor placed much of the strain blame on the quartet's lounge show routine which, "includes very little comedy or other embellishments, and concentrates on singing." He claimed that at the Holiday, where the group headlines the show lounge bill, they sing an average of 15 songs during each of their four nightly performances.

The Four Lads are one of the nation's oldest vocal groups. In their 18 years of singing, the Canadian crooners have been amazingly successful in an era of flashy rock 'n' roll teams that have periodically dominated the music market.

Strangely enough the Lads' biggest record hit, million seller "Moments To Remember", rocketed into the top ten during the height of the rock 'n' roll era.

The group has topped the million mark with three other discs in its career, and has starred at many of the country's foremost night spots.

The Four Lads shared the stage last winter with the Smothers Brothers in the University's Winter Carnival show concert.

What did Arnold think of the U of N audience? "I thought they were very responsive. Actually the college audience is one of the easiest audiences to work for."

Arnold also admitted that he liked everything about Reno except gambling.

"In a lounge show there are many distractions to begin with. Waitresses move between tables, conversations are carried on, much of the audience is under the influence of alcohol. In Nevada, gambling is added to the distraction list making it that much harder to entertain."

Even with the gambling and thin air, the Four Lads have been Reno mainstays ever since they first appeared here in 1953. The group has headlined shows at the Riverside Hotel and Harrah's Club as well as the Holiday. Arnold revealed the primary factor.

"Because of the gambling element salaries in Nevada are the highest in the country."

Arnold affirmed the often heard assertion that entertainers who appear almost exclusively in the Silver State become the victims of "Nevada stagnation."

He pointed to the atmosphere of the lounge, backbone of Nevada entertainment.

"In a lounge the people are not always interested in seeing just you. With this lack of importance your career can be easily stalemated."

Many of the groups that were founded during the war have broken up as their members have gone out on their own. Arnold saw little chance of this happening to the Lads because of the length of their association.

Still as close as ever, and heading for their nineteenth anniversary, the Lads leave the Holiday Oct. 11, said Joe Maize.

Next on their schedule will be a series of 10 one-nights, an ordeal that will probably call for a lot more tea and honey.

Gamma Phi, Snakes Hold "Twist" Social

The Gamma Phi Betas and the Sigma Nus held a napkin twisting social recently at the Republican headquarters in Reno. The purpose of the exchange was "just plain fun," before the real work of building the 1962 homecoming floats begins.

The GOP headquarters, formerly the Sierra Brewery, is the place where the two groups will be building their floats. It is customary at homecoming time for fraternities and sororities to get together to help one another in building floats.

Band Performed At Chico Game

The Nevada marching band made its first performance of the 1962 football season at a half-time show at the Chico - Nevada game last Saturday.

The 70-member band, led by "Miss Nevada" of 1962, Audrey Chambers, gave a marching exhibition.

Miss Chambers also did a specialty baton twirling act.

The last appearance of Nevada's band at Chico was in 1958. They will perform at Los Angeles and San Francisco professional football games this year.

Pack Tackles Cal Aggies at Davis

The Nevada Wolf Pack football team meets the Cal Aggies tonight seeking a ticket of re-admission to the Far Western Conference title race.

The U of N gridgers' 8 p.m. Davis, California date will be anything but enjoyable. While Nevada was being upset by a surprising Chico State team last weekend the Aggies were being battered 40-7 by a Whittier team that the Wolf Pack had beaten earlier in the season.

There may be more at stake for the Pack. Both teams will be out and analysis of personnel, the Cal Aggies are a difficult team to evaluate. They started their 1962 campaign with a 27-6 conquest of Santa Clara, and a 10-0 victory over Pomona. However last week's shellacking at the hands of the Whittier Poets showed the Aggies can be easily handled by a good ball club.

At the season's outset the forecast in Davis was for trouble. Talented passing quarterback Ron Calgano was lost through graduation. Hard running halfback Ron Sbragia was a 1962 graduate as well. However, in their first two games

Three Rifle Teams Shoot 'Em Up

Like to shoot? There are three rifle teams on campus including one for the girls.

There are two male teams, one representing the University and one representing the Military Department. The female team will also represent the University.

All teams are National Rifle Association affiliated, and out of state matches have been set up for all of them. All weapons and ammunition are provided and points in better shooting will be given by Sgt. Robert H. Maxey of the Military Department.

Tryouts for the girl's team are at 7 pm on Monday nights and for both male teams at 7 pm Wednesday nights in the rifle range under the Old Gym. The range is available for practice Monday through Friday, provided that there are no classes being held.

For more information, Sgt. Maxey may be contacted at the rifle range Monday through Friday.

Ski Team Sign-up

All skiing enthusiast should plan to be at the new gym on October 16, at 4:00 p.m. to attend the sign-up meeting for the varsity ski team. Popular Chelton Leonard, returning to the University of Nevada after a two-year absence, will coach the squad this year.

Leonard has announced that any fully matriculated undergraduate student is eligible for the team. It is the host team at the U of N's Winter Carnival in addition to regular intercollegiate ski competition.

Plans for the coming year will be discussed Tuesday afternoon, and conditioning equipment for Nevada's slatmen will be checked out. The meeting is to be held in room 102.

to bounce back. Nevada may be fighting for its Far Western Conference life.

After the Chico loss Silver and Blue coach Dick Trachok claimed a conference championship for his team is "possible, if we win the rest of our league games." Trachok doubted that any club in the FWC would go undefeated.

The Nevada mentor has announced two significant line up changes after viewing the films of the Chico-Wolf Pack encounter. Jim Bronson will replace Clyde Robarbs as the starting offensive center and 208 lb. Vance Fisher has been moved up to a starting defensive end slot.

Judging by comparative scores the Aggies appeared to have found some excellent replacements.

John Carriere, Calgano's replacement as signal caller, is rated by some as one of the conference's finest quarterbacks. As a ball carrier, he picked up an average of 8 yards per crack in the Santa Clara game.

Defensive linebacker Skip Davis has scored into his own this year. He made 14 tackles in the Pomona tilt. Sophomore Mike Doyle, the only aggie backfield member who isn't a letterman, has been a big touchdown maker. Varsity returnees Steve Johnson, and captain Dave Weishan have been outstanding linemen.

GDI's Undefeated In Softball Play

An all-time high of four Independent teams are entered in the 1962 intramural softball program at the University of Nevada.

Both men's dormitories—Lincoln Hall and Artemesia Hall—are represented as well as the Independents and a new team, the "Mavericks."

The Independents and the Mavericks, both undefeated, were scheduled to meet in the final round of the winner's bracket yesterday in the 11-team, double elimination softball tournament. Lincoln Hall has been eliminated and Artemesia Hall is playing in the loser's bracket.

Brian Fox coached Lincoln Hall, Ron Gallagher manages Artemesia Hall, and Gary Mattice is handling the Independents.

The Mavericks are unscored upon in two games, winning 11-0 over

Theta Chi and 4-0 over Alpha Tau Omega.

The roster for the Mavericks includes catcher Mike Copenhaver, pitchers Neil Brooks and John Doyle, first baseman Jim Maguire, second baseman Bruce Barton, shortstop Paul Kautz, third baseman Luke Stanley and Tom Anderson. Royce Feour is the manager of the Mavericks.

Snake Pledge Dance Saturday at Lancer

Sigma Nu's and their dates will dance to the music of Dave Min-edue and his Versitones this Saturday night at the Lancer.

The dance, from 9 to 12 p.m., serves a dual purpose—to honor new pledges and to be a get-together for the pledges and actives.

A CONVERSATION WITH HENRY

Henry Lumkin is the smiling, tubby proprietor of Reno's Corner Bar at the rustic intersection of Lake Street and Commercial Row.

Despite its somewhat undesirable location (Henry's house of drink is hardly in what you'd call the high rent district), the jolly Negro's establishment does a surprising amount of business. Friday and Saturday nights it sometimes boasts more University students than the Wal.

The secret to the Corner Bar's success is Henry himself, for Henry is not merely a bartender. Henry is a personality. And unknown to many of his Friday and Saturday night visitors he is also a sportsman as well.

When he showed up in the student stands at the Whittier game clad in a bright orange sweater and an ivory-toothed grin, he drew more cheers than Calvin Campbell, who made three touchdowns.

Henry was impressed with Nevada's performance. "This team has guts. They aren't afraid to go down the middle. And that coach of yours, 'has got a lot of fire.'"

Henry brushed off last week's 21-7 loss to Chico. "This team has enough ability to win the Far Western Conference championship."

Henry's sports interests don't stop at football. He proclaims a definite interest in baseball and basketball. However, the prosperous bar owner claims he has a little trouble enjoying winter sports. "I like to watch skiing, but you'd never get me on those things," he said. Henry admits he doesn't understand hockey.

What of the increasing numbers of University students that threaten to make Henry's Corner the most unlikely collegiate "hang out" in the nation?

"The people that come from the University are a credit to the school, the way they behave down here. They talk about everything you could think of, and they get along real well with our other customers." Henry wished, "they could be on T-V to show everyone the way they act." And although most of his customers from the hill probably wouldn't want their parents to look in on their weekend doings at Henry's, Mr. Lumkin is proud of the way the students behave.

Undoubtedly Henry enjoys his University of Nevada business and I think he'd want college students to visit his now famous corner even if they didn't spend any money.

Blodgett Returns From ECPD Meet

Dr. Howard B. Blodgett, Dean of the College of Engineering, returned last week from the annual meeting of the Engineer's Council for Professional Development held in Philadelphia.

Dean Blodgett was the U of N's representative at the three-day meeting of the ECPD, which discussed such matters of national concern as the drop of enrollment in the colleges of engineering throughout the nation.

Some of the functions of the ECPD are to accredit colleges of engineering and to inspect University facilities to see that minimum requirements are maintained. The U of N will be inspected again this spring.

Queen Elections

The Homecoming Queen is scheduled to be elected by ballot next week, October 19, in the Student Union. The polls will be open from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. All University men are eligible to cast ballots.

slid his chair back and toppled off the rostrum.

He explained he had another engagement in Carson and thought the answer would take "about two hours".

Bible, after helping Mirabelli, said there was more to the Monroe Doctrine than is readily seen. He pointed out that the United States could force the issue, and could overwhelm Cuba, but it must be considered a calculated risk and a delicate situation in foreign affairs.

Mirabelli, slightly flushed and still laughing about his fall, is democratic candidate for state treasurer. He said that he couldn't enumerate his qualifications for the post because he had never been a state treasurer. "Fortunately for me," he bantered, "neither has my opponent."

He said he did have some experience handling money because as chairman of the Washoe county commissioners, he handles a budget around $8 million, and as vice chairman of hospital trustees one of $3 million.

Republican candidates will have a chance to air their views Oct. 18 in the dining commons.

Volleyball Starts Intramural Play

By TIM ANDERSON
Sagebrush Sports Staff

Volleyball began Wednesday, adding still another activity to the year's intramural sports schedule. Softball and badminton are still underway and the addition of volleyball has somewhat crowded the intramural calendar.

Five teams have been eliminated from softball as of late Monday afternoon, leaving the remaining six to fight it out for existence. Monday afternoon Lambda Chi Alpha beat SAE, 11-5 and the Mavericks handed ATO its first loss, 4-0. As a result, SAE became the fifth victim to lose two games in the tournament.

On Thursday afternoon, October 4, Sigma Phi Epsilon and Lincoln Hall were eliminated when they forfeited to Lambda Chi and Artemisia Hall. Theta Chi and Phi Sigma Kappa were eliminated earlier. Three of the six remaining teams were undefeated as of Monday afternoon, Sigma Nu, the Mavericks, and the Independents.

Five teams have also been eliminated from the double-elimination badminton tournament. They are Sigma Phi Epsilon, Theta Chi, Lincoln Hall, the Independents, and ATO. Going into this week, two badminton teams were sporting perfect records, Sigma Nu and Artemisia Hall, both 3-0.

Tri-Delts; Pi Phis Pledge Dances Tonite

The women of Delta Delta Delta and Pi Beta Phi will honor their new pledges this Friday night.

The Tri-Delta dance will be in the Mapes Sky Room from 9 to 12 p. m. Music will be provided by Bernie Comer and his orchestra. Dr. and Mrs. Earl Kersten and Dr. and Mrs. William Miller will be chaperones. Each pledge will be given a corsage.

ID Pick-Up Deadline Scheduled October 19

Students have until 5 p. m. Oct. 19, a week from today, to pick up their identification cards in the offices of the dean of men and the dean of women.

Dean of Student Affairs Sam Basta said that students who pick up cards after that date will be charged a fee.

He added that the cards, besides being essential for many phases of campus life, are necessary for spring semester registration. Lack of a card in January will result in a late fee being assessed, he said.
