

World Union Advocate To Speak In Commons

Clarence K. Streit, an advocate of a concrete Atlantic partnership, is scheduled to speak to University students and faculty Wednesday night in the dining commons. Streit, who advocates a "Union Now" philosophy that asks for a "declaration of interdependence" among the free nations of the Western World, will speak at 8 p.m.

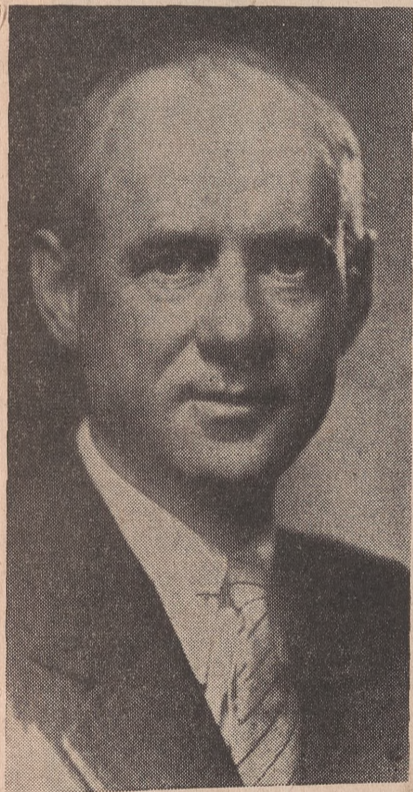

Streit wants the government of the United States, Canada, and other free western European nations, to sponsor a constitutional convention similar to the Philadelphia meeting of 1787. He believes such a move would help approach his goal of supranational government of the free world.

He is editor of a monthly magazine, "Freedom and Union," and is president of the Federal Union and the International Movement for Atlantic Union.

Streit obtained his BA at Montana State University, studied at the University of Paris, and was a Rhodes scholar at Oxford. A member of Phi Beta Kappa, he has received honorary degrees from three different colleges and has been a Nobel Prize nominee four times.

His book titles include "Union Now," "Freedom Against Itself," and "Freedom's Frontier: Atlantic Union Now," and he co-authored "The New Federalist," with Justice Owen J. Roberts and John F. Schmidt.

delphia meeting of 1787. He believes such a move would help approach his goal of supranational government of the free world.

He would like the convention to set up an international government with executive, legislative, and judicial branches similar to the United States.

His approach, which has been called the constitutional approach, would have member nations delegate limited amounts of power to the super-government, including those over defense, fiscal, and monetary affairs.

Streit's approach to world union has been called by President Kennedy one that "would serve as a nucleus for the union of all free men."

National Publication Seeks Student Poems

The Inter-Collegiate Poetry Congress is preparing its 1962-1963 poetry anthology, composed of poems submitted by American college students.

Selections will be based upon poetic merit. If the poetry is accepted for publication, all future publishing rights are retained by the author.

Students interested in submitting entries should address them to: Inter-Collegiate Poetry Congress, 203 South Third Street, Lewisburg, Pa.

Cossack Chorus Performs Sunday

The Don Cossack chorus and dancers, a group of White Russian entertainers, will present a Russian singing and dancing concert on campus Nov. 11.

The group, composed of emigrated Russians who are naturalized citizens, has been in business for 35 years. Some of its members fought communism in their native land.

The performance is slated for 3 p. m. in the new gym, and is sponsored by the ASUN public occasions committee and the Sparks Recreation Center.

The Don Cossacks have presented hundreds of concerts, including many for war bond drives and disabled veterans.

Tickets are available in the student union for one dollar. Proceeds go to the Sparks YMCA building fund.

Engineers Slate Saturday Dinner

Members of the Nevada student chapter of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers will hear a Sacramento engineer at their annual fall dinner this Saturday.

The local chapter of AIEE-IRE will meet in conjunction with its Sacramento branch at the Santa Fe hotel to hear Rudy Poucher, manager of Neely Enterprises in Sacramento.

Poucher will speak on "The Way Up for an Engineer," pointing out the problems that beset an engineer after graduation. He will also note some guidelines to a successful engineering profession.

The dinner begins at 7 p. m., preceded by a 6 o'clock social hour. Interested men can sign up in the electrical engineering building.

Colloquium Lecture

Dr. William T. Scott, associate professor of Physics, spoke about "fast charged particles" at a physics colloquium last week. The colloquium took the place of the usual graduate seminar.

Spotlight Misses Friday Night Date; Candidates Cancel

The third phase of the student union's "Political Spotlight" series was cancelled Friday when one-half of the show notified lectures chairman Clark Santini it wouldn't be there.

The program, scheduled for Friday evening in the dining commons, was titled "Meet the Student Press," and would have had three candidates answering questions first from student news personnel, and then from the audience.

A four-person panel from the Sagebrush staff was to have provided the opening questions.

Facing the panel was to have been Paul Laxalt, Republican, and Berkeley Bunker, Democrat, candidates for lieutenant-governor, and Carlton Adair, Republican candidate for the House Representatives.

An earlier try to get incumbent Democratic congressman Walter Baring failed when Baring refused to appear on the same platform with Adair, said Santini.

Bunker never confirmed the date, and Adair and Laxalt had to switch plans because of a Clark county rally the same evening that was slated to draw 5,000 voters.

Laxalt offered to send former congressman Cliff Young to represent him, and Adair offered to bypass the rally to fulfill his Reno commitment, said Santini.

Earlier "Spotlight" series netted Democratic and Republican candidates for governor, United States senator, and state treasurer, or their representatives.

New Atmosphere For Union Dance

Nevada students danced at the closest thing to a bar on campus Saturday night.

The dining commons looked like a bar—all that was missing was the liquid refreshments and thirsty dancers drank cokes from the snack bar.

Three door prizes were given away including the football used in the Sacramento State game, and two $5 gift certificates were also given away.

To add to the atmosphere the planters were arranged to form booths. Football players names were "carved" on paper-covered pillars.

Donna Sanford, student union dance chairman, was in charge of the dance.

Soil Scientists Meet On U of N Campus

The annual meeting of the Western Soil and Water Research Committee, and seven related technical committees, was held at the College of Agriculture last week.

President Charles J. Armstrong welcomed the group, including about 80 scientists from agricultural experiment stations and federal agencies in the twelve western states.

Break Ground For Union Wing

Ground-breaking ceremonies for a new $450,000 addition to the Jot Travis student union were held Monday afternoon on the construction location.

University and student officials broke ground before a moderate crowd as the University band played some spirited marches in the background.

ROTC 'Bomb Run' Slated Thursday For Military Ball

The campus comes under "attack" next Thursday as the University of Nevada Cadet Officers Club (UNCOOC) prepares to blast off its 1962 publicity campaign for the "Fabulous 34th" annual Military Ball.

A lone Air National Guard craft, piloted by seasoned Capt. R. H. Miller of the Military dept., will strafe the campus at 11:30 a. m. Thursday with leaflets advertising the Military ball.

The ball, billed this year as "Fabulous", is scheduled for Nov. 17 at Mathisen's Hall.

In advance of the event, the UNCOOC men are again preparing a barrage of publicity that will include an aggressor force on campus next week, commanded by cadet capt. Glenn Green.

A combat-tested veteran of the ROTC - SLC (Strategic Leaflet Command), Miller was at the controls last fall as the military men flew two different sorties over the University grounds.

This year, the number of missions have been cut to one.

The leaflets will contain heretofore classified information about the ball, and will feature a drawing of a tank—Miller's favorite conveyance next to airplanes.

Miller will be accompanied by Maj. Lee Garretson, of the Army National Guard's state adjutant general's office.

Leaflet CO Mike Cauble is staying on the ground this year, in contrast with 1961 when the student leaflet chief rode in the airplane.

Cauble expressed a desire to make the trip, but not without a parachute.

He said that a few tickets to the ball might be dropped in addition to the leaflets.

Bookstore Offers Two-for-One Sale

A "two-for-the-price-of-one sale" will be held in the ASUN bookstore tomorrow on all Liggett & Meyers Tobacco Co. products.

Cigarettes going at two-for-one prices include L & M's, Chesterfields, Oasis, and Dukes.

Also in conjunction with the sale, a 1963 Pontiac Tempest will be exhibited outside the student union. Fifty of these cars will be given away to college students across the nation in the "L & M Grand Prix 50" contest.

Information about this contest may be found in an advertisement on page six of this issue of the Sagebrush.

Dr. Charles Armstrong, president of the University, turned the first shovelful for the crowd and cameras. Other ground-breakers included Dr. Kenneth Young, executive vice president; Graham Erskine, architect; C. V. Isbell, Sr., member of the state planning board; Dr. Sam M. Basta, dean of students; Mike Mackedon, ASUN president, and Susie Royer, member of the student union board.

Dr. John Locke, director of the University health service, also broke ground. The health service is one of the facilities that will be housed in the new addition.

The ground was already prepared, however, before the ceremonies, and dignitaries had little difficulty breaking it again. Dr. Armstrong, however, preferred to break new ground—and did so.

Actual construction, "steam-shovel ground-breaking," according to Student Union president Bill Lohse, should start next week if things go as scheduled.

Former regent Roy Hardy, who was instrumental in channeling funds from a grant by the late Wesley Elgin Travis for student use, highlighted remarks made at a post-ceremony luncheon in the faculty dining room.

He said Travis, who was educated at Harvard, was enthusiastic about a student union because it would help students make contacts that they would maintain through life.

"I hope the memories the students have of this student union, and the friendships they make will always be as important to them as they were to us," said Hardy. He attended the University in the days of wooden sidewalks and witnessed ground-breaking ceremonies for the Mackay School of Mines.

President Armstrong called the new addition "a great step forward."

"We will have here a facility that will be second to none compared with those on other campuses," he said.

Lohse, acting as luncheon host, outlined the student union's brief history, from the time it opened in September, 1958.

"Today marks the beginning of new growth for the union and the university," he said, calling the union "part of the educational program of the University."

The addition will be financed through funds from the Travis estate, and a matching amount from state appropriations. It will include ASUN and student services offices, guest rooms, meeting rooms, a new bookstore area, and a club headquarters room.

It will occupy the area in front of, and to the northwest of, the present building. Completion is scheduled for September of this year.

Sagebrush Editorials . . .

The next speaker on the student union's lecture schedule is Clarence Streit, a proponent of international union. He will speak Wednesday in the dining commons.

Mr. Streit's political views are common today; they advocate more international union—which has led in many cases to entangling alliances that leave the United States footing most of the bill.

However, whatever Mr. Streit's views may be, he is a fine speaker and typical of the kind that the lecture committee has brought on campus. Clark Santini has been the man in charge of the lecture series, and certainly deserves commendation for his efforts.

Coed Swimmers Sixth at Davis

The WRA swimming team placed sixth in individual and team events at Davis, Oct. 27.

Dawna Saden placed third in the 25-yard breast stroke, taking 20.2 seconds. Miss Saden also took fourth place in the 50-yard breast stroke in 46.2 seconds.

Penny Rigsbee took 15.2 seconds to place fifth in the 25-yard free style match. Another fifth place went to Lois Chanslor in form-swimming.

The University of California at Davis was host to the meet this year. Sponsored by the Extra-Mural League of Northern California, the league is made up of eleven California schools and the University of Nevada.

Letters to the Editor

Prof Notes Error In 'Brush Editorial

Editor, the Sagebrush:

An abominable but rather interesting error occurs in the Sagebrush editorial of 2 November. The editorial claims that "a well-balanced distribution (of "heroes," evidently, although it is odd to say the "heroes" are distributed on the campus) exists on campus." One cannot assert about "a well-balanced distribution" that it exists, and clearly not that it exists on campus. But the major claim of the editorial, presumably, is that we should be thankful that "a well-balanced distribution" undoubtedly exists and that "intellectuals" do not.

I must say that I am not tempted to join the celebration, but that I quite agree that "intellectuals" do not exist. Indeed, the full arrogance of the phrase, "and Nevada has not developed into a haven for 'Ban the Bomb' intellectuals" is evidence enough that although "a well-balanced distribution" may be said (but wrongly) to exist, one would have little reason to attribute existence to anything so happily unbalanced, so unequally distributed, and so much given to having beliefs about the world, as "mind."

Band Buttons For Editor and Veep

Editor, the Sagebrush:

I was delighted to see your editorial concerning the band in the Oct. 30 Sagebrush. Even though the band is receiving insufficient funds, I must agree with you when you say that the band is doing an excellent job. In fact, it is heartening indeed to see they way that the band has taken this financial starvation; it hasn't sulked in a corner, or gone around bearing placards, or quit playing at games, but has quietly set out to prove to the finance board that at least the band cares about the reputation and representation of this school.

At the Homecoming game Saturday I saw Governor Grant Sawyer wearing a band button, yet I can not recall seeing a single student body officer wearing one. Can it be that the Governor is more interested in the student's band than the student officers are?

And since I have seen neither you (Buchanan), nor Mr. Seeliger wearing a band button, I have enclosed two, free of charge. Would you and Mr. Seeliger please condescend to wearing them?

Sincerely,
GEORGE VANDERHOOF

Military Ball Queen Voting Next Week

The University ROTC brigade will pick the Queen of the 1962 Military Ball in elections next week.

Seven Nevada coeds are vying for the crown, and one will reign over the "Fabulous 34th" on Nov. 17 in Mathisen's hall.

They are: Andree Walker, Pi Beta Phi; Judy Schmidt, Delta Delta Delta; Peggy Hayman, Gamma Phi Beta; Sally Shank, Kappa Alpha Theta; Suzanne Glenn, Manzanita hall; Vicki Smith, White Pine hall; and Rosemary Lituania, off-campus independent.

The girls will be present at the Nevada brigade at drill Thursday, and balloting will be carried out in basic and advanced military classes next week.

The queen is made an honorary colonel and brigade commander of the ROTC.

Attend Convention

Two Nevada students attended the annual Nevada State Nurse's Convention in Las Vegas last Friday and Saturday. They were JoAnn Elkin, a junior; and Janice Pritchard, a senior.

22 Campus Clubs Face Suspension

Twenty-two campus clubs face suspension if they do not turn their constitutions in to ASUN second vice-president Mimi Patrick within the week.

The clubs must also report the names of their officers to retain ASUN recognition, she said.

The original deadline was Oct. 24, but when only 24 of Nevada's 61 clubs had reported the necessary information, Senate re-set the final deadline.

Clubs in danger include: American Institute of Electrical Engineers-Institute of Radio Engineers, Alpha Epsilon Delta, American Society of Civil Engineers, American Society of Mechanical Engineers, band club, Block "N," Engineering-Mining council, Eta Epsilon, Gamma Delta, Gothic "N," Kappa Kappa Psi.

Paideus, Phi Alpha Theta, Phi Chi, Phi Kappa Phi, Philosophy club, Pi Mu Epsilon, Psi Chi, Sigma Tau, Tau Beta Sigma, and Young Republicans.

Miss Patrick said any officer of the organizations may submit the desired information.

Campus Independents Move To Unite

Fervent but diffuse Independent student feeling may turn into constructive organization tomorrow night when a hastily formed Independent Council holds its first meeting in the White Pine hall recreation room.

In a preliminary conclave last week, the presidents of the four campus dormitories, Larry Bingham of Lincoln, Bill Helming of Artemisia, Alice Swainston of White Pine, and Sarah Pederson of Manzanita decided on the representation for the council.

It will be composed of the four hall executives, two additional representatives from each dorm, and six delegates from off-campus.

Chief item on tomorrow night's program, according to Bingham, is the drafting of an independent charter. A preliminary document was drawn up last week, but was rejected by the presidential group because of certain "radical ideas" about the Sagebrush.

Early feeling on the editor's Oct. 24 editorial was so strong that schemes to establish an "independent Sagebrush and withdraw all independent monetary support from the present paper were advanced.

Other ideas up for discussion, are money-raising projects, and the drafting of letters to California schools asking how the Independent organizations work.

Selling "GDI buttons" was one suggestion made for raising funds. According to Bingham, there is a start. "We have 29 dollars left over from a movement such as this in 1949."

A move to withdraw independent funds from ASUN publications would require a constitutional change, ASUN first vice president Tom Seeliger said Sunday.

The present move to establish an Independent organization at first included a proposal to withhold independent funds from the Sagebrush and use them to set up an independent newspaper.

But Seeliger said ASUN funds are distributed by the by-laws and would require a constitutional revision for re-distribution.

The publications funds come from the $17.50 ASUN fee which has been approved by the Board of Regents and is a compulsory fee paid at registration. Of the total, 46 per cent goes to publications, and 45 per cent of that goes to the Sagebrush, said Seeliger.

Brotherhood Dinner

The National Conference of Christians and Jews will sponsor a Brotherhood Dinner in the dining commons Nov. 15, featuring a talk on police-community relations.

University president Dr. Charles J. Armstrong, chairman of the local chapter, will present three Brotherhood awards to Reno area community leaders.

James Hicks, Sacramento police chief, will lead off the after-dinner program. His talk, and one by state conference director Dr. Heinz Rettig of Las Vegas, will be followed by a panel discussion.

Promotions Announced For ROTC; 28 Cadets Get New Assignments

Lester Armstrong and Andy MacKenzie, advanced ROTC seniors, have been promoted to cadet lieutenant colonel in the University of Nevada brigade.

The promotions, announced last week by University president Dr. Charles Armstrong and Col. Robert L. Gundlach, professor of military science, put the two men in contention for the rank of cadet colonel and brigade commander.

The appointment to cadet colonel will be announced at the ROTC's annual Military Ball, scheduled for Nov. 17 in Mathisen's hall.

The promotions were announced at brigade drill Thursday, Nov. 1, and were followed by announcements of advancement for other cadet officers.

Promotions were also made to the cadet ranks of major, captain, first lieutenant, and sergeant. The officer-grade appointments were based on parade-ground performance, academic proficiency, and achievement at ROTC summer camp at Fort Lewis, Wash.

Other promotions included: Major—Richard Benson, Gustav

Heyer, Wayne Kollodge, Robert E. Lee, James Smith, and Dale Wagner.

First Lieutenant—Richard Gwyn and Barney Lujan.

Sergeant—Robert Cameron, Allen Carlisle, John Dalton, Phillip Headley, and Gary Nelson.

Assignments to the new officers—include command of companies and battalions, and position of brigade and battalion staffs, and in headquarters company.

Student Directory Delayed Again

The student director is late this year, but should be out later this month, it was announced at a Publications board meeting last week.

According to Tom Seeliger, ASUN first vice-president, the directory was scheduled for release at the end of October. But now, Seeliger says, the directory will not be seen for "a couple of weeks."

He said the complete list of students and faculty has just been mailed to the printing company.

Once the company receives the final student list, it has two weeks to print the directory, according to contractual agreements.

The directory, compiled by the campus chapter of Sigma Delta Chi and paid for by the ASUN, is being printed by Institutional Directories of Texas. Sigma Delta Chi is the national men's professional journalistic fraternity.

Prof Writes Book On Nevada Fish

"Fishes and Fisheries of Nevada" is the title of a new book by Dr. Ira LaRivers, chairman of the biology department.

Dr. LaRivers spent ten years collecting the information. He gathered thousands of species of fish, which are now stored in the biology department.

The book includes the history of Nevada's lakes and rivers, with a complete report on Pyramid Lake. A complete index and description of all diagrams are used to illustrate the book. Printing was provided by a gift of the Fleischmann foundation which was given to the state Fish and Game Commission, which sponsored Dr. LaRivers.

Limited copies have been sent to museums and universities across the country.

The Reno-Sparks Metropolitan All-Stars—a "Little League" football team—battled with the Lions of San Carlos, Calif., Sunday in Mackay stadium.

CAMPUS TYPE III

The Bookstacker serves the cause of classical literature in various ways. Perhaps the least of these is in keeping the rows of books properly aligned and the jackets free of dust.

Her most important contribution is in improving the environment for study, enhancing the halls of learning with her own classical form. Many a college man has discovered a previously unmet craving for knowledge simply because he received his copy of Homer from the hand of a deep-breathing redhead who sighed, "I think Homer is the most!" Yes, it pays to take a good look at the classics now and then.

Among cigarettes, Pall Mall is a classic—famous length, fine tobacco... no flat "filtered-out" flavor, no dry "smoked-out" taste. Try Pall Mall and see!

Pall Mall's natural mildness is so good to your taste!

So smooth, so satisfying, so downright smokeable!

APPEAR IN PLAY

Two University of Nevada Students Have Roles In Little Theatre Play

A couple of University of Nevada students are expected to add class to the Reno Little Theater musical comedy, "Take Me Along," which opens Friday night.

Taking important roles are Doug Smith, senior speech and drama major, and Ralf Kuehnert, a sophomore who is studying economics. Both are 22-years-old.

Smith, a veteran of University Theater productions, plays "Wint," and he has some great lines. For instance

"Hey, kid, there are wild women! Boy, I've lined up a couple of swift babies from New Haven. Real riparoos! Red hair—and black hearts—the kind that make big bad men out of good little boys. These girls go all the way and throw their shoes even farther."

Smith also comes out with a pleasing tenor, singing "Pleasant Beach House."

Kuehnert, a native of Germany, portrays Arthur, a sophisticated Yale student, who's still immature in the ways of women.

His lines are brief, but carry impact and importance in the play, written by Robert Merrill.

Kuehnert came here from Germany nine years ago. He works a 40-hour week for the Gordon H. Huber Co. of Reno, carries 14 credit hours, and has appeared in several University productions.

His parents run a ranch at Doyle, Calif.

Smith has appeared in 10 Nevada plays, with leads in Julius Caesar, Male Animal, Our Town, Sleeping Beauty.

Students Arrested In Disturbance

A Friday-night disturbance at Henry's Corner Bar, an increasingly popular collegiate hangout, resulted in the arrest of the owner and of two University students.

The two students, both 20-year-old, were charged with illegal drinking.

The owner, Henry Lumpkin, was charged with failing to obey an officer and disturbing the peace.

The Reno police report pointed out that many young persons were in and about the bar—the primary reason for the filing of the report instead of just the usual arrest record, said the officer.

"If this situation continues to prevail," reported the officer, "it will get out of control and serious consequences may result. . . many officers of this department could testify as to the conditions in and around Henry's Corner Bar."

The officer said the owner created a disturbance, "causing a crowd to gather."

The report indicated that the original cause of the disturbance were men with beer and liquor on the sidewalk making remarks to passing women.

Vicki Smith Is Delta Sig Queen

Vickie Smith, 19-year-old sophomore from Elko, was named the "Rose of Delta Sig" at Delta Sigma Pi's annual Rose dance last Saturday night at the Lancer.

Miss Smith, representing White Pine hall, is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. L. D. Smith, stands 5-foot-8-inches, and weighs 128 pounds. She is a sophomore art major, and is interested in fashion design, modeling, horseback riding, and outdoor sports.

Delta Sigma Pi is the national professional business fraternity. She now competes for the national title of "Rose of Delta Sig." Her picture will be entered in competition and will be judged by television and motion picture personalities.

Also seeking the crown were Dee Buss, Kappa Alpha Theta; Sue Rhoades, Gamma Phi Beta; Karen Phillips, Pi Beta Phi; Judy Schmidt, Delta Delta Delta, and Suzanne Glenn, Manzanita hall.

Misses Schmidt and Glenn will have another chance at Miss Smith, however. All three are also representing their living groups in the race for Military Ball Queen.

tion superintendent in India. Smith is carrying 16 credit hours at Nevada. He had a 2.7 grade point average last semester.

"Take Me Along," which ran two years on Broadway with Jackie Gleason and Walter Pigeon starring, is an adaptation from Eugene O'Neill's "Ah! Wilderness."

It will run for 10 performances on the following dates: Nov. 9, 10, and 11; Nov. 14-18 and Nov. 20 and 21.

Curtain time on Sunday, Nov. 18, is 2:30. On Nov. 11, the time is 7:30. Times on all other dates is 8:30 o'clock.

Del Turco and Campbell Score TD's As Wolf Pack Closes FWC Season

By BOB MEADE
Sagebrush Sports Writer

The Nevada Wolf Pack put on its worst home performance of the season but still managed to deal Sacramento State its first conference defeat of the season 23-12 at Mackay stadium. Nevada got the first break early in the first quarter when Sacramento center sailed the ball over the head of punter Carl Agbulos, who fell on the ball on the Sacramento 2-yard line, giving Nevada the ball, first and goal.

On the first play from scrimmage Ray Del Turco shot over for the T.D., Jack Renwick converted and the Wolf Pack led 7-0.

Late in the half Sacramento linebacker Joe Enloe picked off a Renwick pass on the Wolf Pack 28 and raced untouched into the end zone. Bill Daniel, who played an outstanding defensive game for the Pack crashed through to block the a tempted conversion and Nevada held a slim 7-6 lead.

With the half nearly over, Bob Peterson pounced on a Sacramento fumble at the Hornet's 45. Bob Ezell, taking over the quarterback chores, then fired a long pass to Al McDaniels in the end zone, but McDaniels lost the ball in the sun. Ezell again called a long pass play and this time, hit Cal Cambell at the 3-yard line with a second left in the half. Campbell raced around right end for the second Nevada score.

After a beautiful fake, Renwick fired a pass to Harlan Heward for the two-point conversion, and the Pack held a 15-6 halftime lead.

The Wolf Pack came to life immediately after the intermission marching 69 yards to a touchdown. The drive was spearheaded by Echave, Del Turco and Campbell. Ezell and Heward set up the T.D. with a pass that gave the Wolf Pack a first down on the Hornet four. Renwick's quarterback option pitch to Echave clicked for the score, but the placement attempt was wide, and Nevada led 21-6.

The Hornets bounced back fast. Speedy halfback Marv Grim raced 63 yards on the kickoff to the Nevada 22 before a beautiful last ditch tackle by Fred Williams saved a touchdown. The Hornets marched 22 yards anyway, with Lazark going through for the score. Ezell knocked down an attempted pass on the conversion attempt and the Wolf Pack led 21-12.

After Sacramento stalled Nevada on the five-yard stripe, Nevada defensive end Doug Williams nailed Reyes in the Hornet end zone for a safety, giving Nevada a 23-12 lead and ending the scoring.

Ten fumbles, five by each team, all of which were lost, stalled both attacks. Defensive ends Williams and Bush did a good job of containing Sacramento's sweeps while the defensive secondary, led by Barber, Ezell, and McDaniels, stalled the Hornet's passing.

Williams kept the Wolf Pack out of trouble with some brilliant punting.

The win left the Wolf Pack 4-2-1 on the season and enabled them to finish FWC play with a 2-2-1 mark.

ATOs Look Good In Kinnear Race

Two independent teams, Artemisia hall and the Mavericks are leading in intramural points, but Alpha Tau Omega is threatening to pass them.

Both teams have 100 points to their credit, and Alpha Tau Omega is third with 80. These figures do not include the points which will be given for volleyball.

Sigma Nu and ATO played for the volleyball title last Thursday. The winner of volleyball collects 60 points.

Wherever ATO finishes in the volleyball race, they are virtually assured of the lead in intramural points. First place in volleyball will give the Taus 140 points; second place will give them 120.

The independents were in fourth place last Thursday with 70.6 points. They were followed by Lambda Chi Alpha, 40; Sigma Nu, 37½; Phi Sigma Kappa, 7½, and Sigma Alpha Epsilon, 5.

Competition for the Kinnear trophy resumes tomorrow with the free-throw contest. Basketball is scheduled to start Nov. 15.
