'Dipper' Sinks 25 In Weber Defeat

By DOUG BRUCKNER
Sagebrush Sports Editor

Spodic scoring surges and alert floor play netted Jack Spencer's Nevada basketball squad a wire-to-wire 76-62 opening game win over Utah's Weber College last night.

Set shots by Chico Feilback and Bill "The Dipper" Robinson sent the Wolf Pack off to a 4-2 lead and the Nevadans were never headed. They pulled away to a 31-21 lead at half-time.

Feilback and Robinson were the rebounding standouts all evening. Feilback added nine points to his backboard performance and "The Dipper" was high point man for both teams, potting 25.

Jim Lyon of Weber was a potent man on offense with an unbelievably accurate outside jump shot. Lyon fouled out with 3:54 remaining in the second half. He had netted 23 points at the time.

Bob Donlan, a 22-year-old transfer student from Lancaster, California, made his first game in a Nevada uniform a fine one, banging in 10 points, and showing excellent ball handling.

Joe deArrieta drew a large ovation from the packed stands in the new gymnasium after a spectacular floor play performance and nine important points.

Both clubs were very poor in their early first half shooting. It took Weber the entire first quarter to find the range. Both clubs then warmed up near half time, and there were intermittent periods of long jump shots by both teams.

Nevada's defense was impressive in the first quarter, but faded under the impact of Lyon and later Parker Jenkins' outside shooting streaks.

Lyle Hunsaker, Weber's tall center, did a good job on guarding Robinson's inside shots, but the Kansas City sophomore found the range with long, arching jump shots, often outside the key and in the corners.

Library Attendance Up In Extra Hour

The extended library hours are pulling good attendance, announced Ron Watson, chairman of the ASUN library committee, this week.

Watson said figures show an average of 150 students in the Getchell library at 10:15 p.m. and 75 at 10:30 p.m. The hours were extended from 10 to 11 p.m., Sundays-through-Thursdays, by a University appropriation last month.

Judy Petersen Named Lambda Chi Queen

Christmas Queen candidates included Toni Gail, Pi Beta Phi; Anne Louise Cantlon, Kappa Alpha Theta; Barbara Spaulding, Gamma Phi Beta, and Judy Settrigren, White Pine hall.

Chaperones were Dean Elaine Mobley, Miss Robert Barnes, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Strane, Dr. and Mrs. James Tigner, and Mr. and Mrs. Pierre Bonvin.

WRA Candidates Announced Today

Candidates for 1963 offices in the Women's Recreation Association will be announced today at a WRA meeting in the new gym at 4 p.m. Elections will be held next Tuesday, Dec. 11, said Cecelia Molini, WRA president, Sunday.

Court Hears Evidence In Sundowner Case

The Sundowners are scheduled to go before the Student Judicial council today at 3 p. m. to present their case in connection with the Nov. 17 "anti-Military Ball" in Sun Valley.

The hearing will be open to the press, Dean Sam Basta announced Friday.

Basta is hopeful the hearings will ferret out student opinion concerning the Sundowners before the case goes on to the faculty disciplinary committee.

The party, held in the Sun Valley community hall, was originally blamed for much of the resulting damage, described at first as "the damndest thing we ever saw," by Basta.

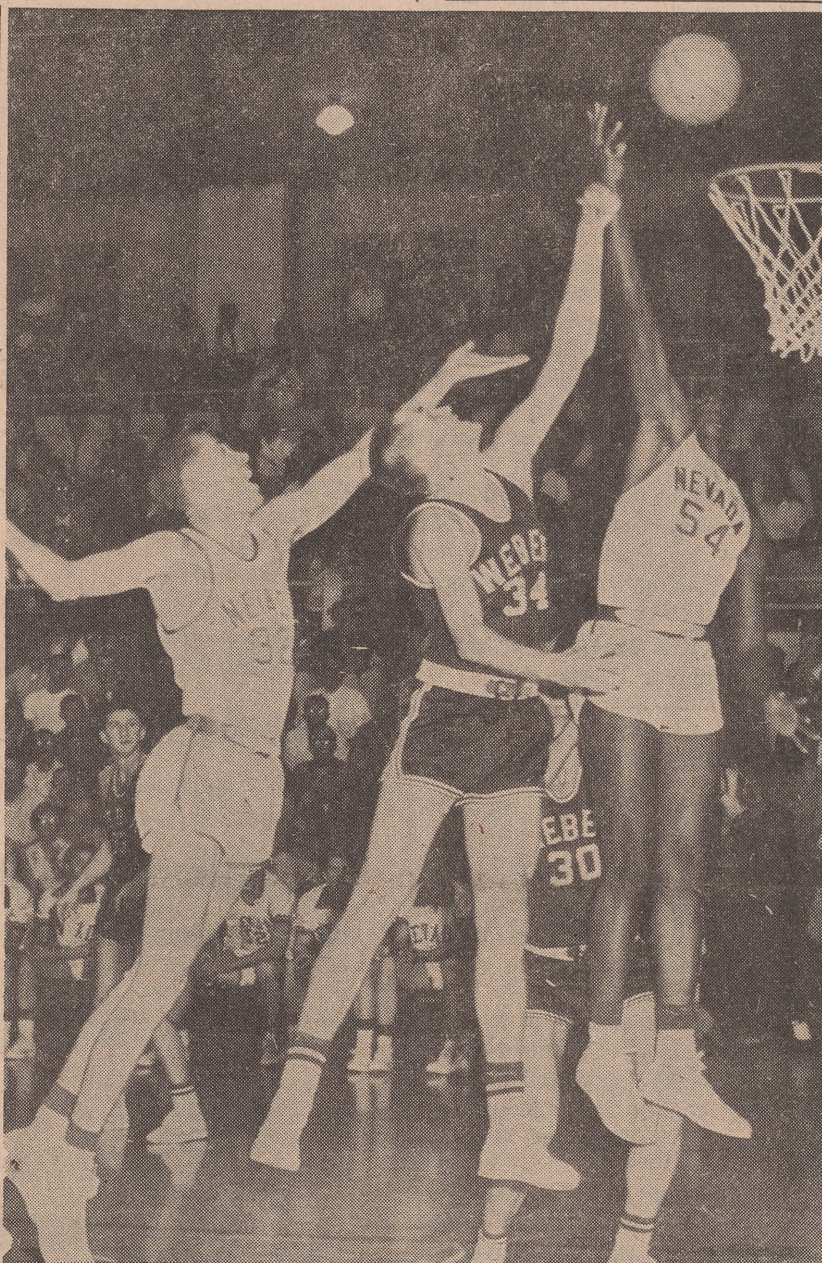

The Dean later backtracked after two days of hearings last week, saying that the damage was not entirely the fault of the Sundowners, and that the hall was "no place to have a dance."

Basta said his office had "doubts" as to the destructive extent of the party.

John Doyle, Sundowner president, said last week that he would compile evidence and cross-examine witnesses if the case went before the council.

The party, which was followed by AWS lectures and a Pan-Hellenic Council warning to sorority women, came to Basta's attention after some coeds reported some of the details to the office of student affairs.

The hearings determined that attendance ranged between 75-100, that there was "excessive drinking," that minors were present, and that the party was attended by many non-Sundowners.

Student Directories Issued In Bookstore

The student directories are out, and students can pick them up free in the ASUN bookstore by presenting their ID cards. The directories arrived over the weekend, and were released for distribution Monday morning after a delay in shipment.

One-hundred directories will go to the registrar and department offices, said Tom Seeliger, ASUN first-vice president. Seeliger said that copies might be made available to the faculty later, but that "students come first."

"Operation Abolition" Slated Wednesday

"Operation Abolition," a film depicting the 1960 San Francisco riots against hearings of the House Un-American Activities committee, will be shown by the Realist Alliance Wednesday night.

The showing is scheduled for 7 p. m. in room 213-14, Ross hall.

It is intended as a preview for the Dec. 13 campus debate between William F. Buckley, Jr., and Irving Hall. Buckley, a conservative, and Hall, a liberal, are at odds on the continuation of the committee.

Heavy Agenda Faces Senators

Senate has a great deal to discuss Wednesday night as a result of behind-the-scenes action by the newly formed steering committee.

The group, formed to make up the senate agenda and give "direction and purpose to the ASUN senate," will submit several resolutions and ideas for consideration.

Resolutions will be submitted outlining the purpose of the steering committee, proposing establishment of suggestion boxes in living groups and colleges, books for the Peace Corps, and the establishment of an Honor code committee.

Reports will be submitted on Men's Upperclass committee, the Brushfire, the library, and Homecoming.

Other steering committee proposals will be to lower senate's quorum and to study reasons for poor attendance at senate meetings.

Under new business, senators will elect a fifth steering committee member to fill the vacancy left by Linda Young, senior women's senator-at-large.

Constitution Goes To GDI Balloting

The final draft of the proposed Independent constitution goes to a vote Dec. 13 at the next meeting of the Independent council.

The constitution, which will need a three-fourths vote of those present at the ratification meeting, should put the Independent movement on solid footing for the first time since its inception late in October.

The proposed organization, titled the Organization for the Associated Independent Students, will raise money through projects, not dues, and will be controlled by a 16-member executive board.

The executive board got a thorough two-and-a-half-hour going-over at Thursday's Council meeting by the executive board and a sizeable group of non-affiliates.

The executive board will enforce the constitution, recognize active members, run elections, advise and consent to appointments of the president, and interpret and enforce the constitution.

Proposed fund-raising projects included the sale of drinking mugs, GDI sweatshirts and buttons, a car wash, and a dance.

The organization will plan Independent socials and dances, and push for Independent elections to ASUN offices, said Doug Brucker, president.

Sagers Meet Tonite

Sager's, men's underclass service organization, will plan activities for the next two months at its meeting tonight in room 213, Ross hall. The next big item on the Sager agenda is registration, scheduled for Jan. 30, 1963.

CHRISTMAS COMES EARLY

RALPH "SANTA CLAUS" MADSEN takes time out at the SAE Christmas dance to distribute favors to good SAE's and their dates. Six Nevada fraternities held Christmas dances last weekend.

Sagebrush Editorials . . .

Over forty years ago, the United States enacted the 18th amendment into the Constitution, thereby legislating the morals of the land, and abolishing legal sale of alcohol.

The resulting crime wave that rocked the nation hasn't stopped to this day. The entire affair was a sorry picture of what happens when people legislate moral attitudes and actions.

It should serve as a warning to AWS, Pan-Hellenic Council, and the Deans before they attempt another liquor-and-hours crackdown. When the AWS tells senior women they may not have regular senior hours, and Pan-Hellenic tells coeds not to go in men's apartments, they are inviting trouble.

The Army and Navy have put various places "off-limits" for years, but the University of Nevada is not the Army or Navy.

One excuse has been the old standard—Nevada is experiencing the problems of a growing university. Growth and progress, however, are continually hauled out of the excuse file whenever one is needed.

For years, self-regulation has been one of the unscheduled lessons taught at Nevada. The men and women who have not regulated themselves have, for the most part, never finished school.

The Independent Council, trying to organize the unorganized, puts a constitution to an Independent vote next week.

The council claims that independents will maintain their individuality, but some of their terms create doubt—such as "enforce," and "active members."

The proposed constitution for the Organization for the Associated Independent Students will not represent all the independents. Very few (percentage-wise) will vote on it, and there will probably never be a majority taking part in its activities.

Consequently, the campus could present a three-way split—the Greeks, the organized independents, and the real independents (who will probably still be griping about their "downtrodden" position).

But at least some of them are doing something about it now.

Letters to the Editor

Bauer Corrects "Misinterpretation"

Editor, the Sagebrush:

Shortly after my letter came out last Friday on Dr. Kirkpatrick's "last lecture," it was pointed out to me that I misinterpreted a few of the things he said. I am sorry to have done so; the last thing I want to do is shed any bad light on the professor, which I may have done through misinterpretation.

First, his reference to George Washington was in terms of an isolation policy, not in the sense that I have implied.

Second, the professor did not use the words "obscure," "worthless," and "miniature" with regard to the small African country. I am afraid that I implied that he did. These were my words, and I used them poorly as intensifiers to the question I really wanted to raise as to equity of representation in the United Nations—"Is it fair that such a small country have representation equal to that of a larger and more powerful country such as the U. S. and Russia?" I certainly do not think that any country is, or that the people in it are, worthless.

I called it the way I saw it, which, as analysis renders it, is the way I wanted to see it. Again, sorry for any and all wrongs; no offense was intended.

I would like to thank those who were interested enough to correct me—they were important corrections and, along with possible others, needed to be made!

JOHN BAUER, president

Indonesians 'Awed' By Nevada Visit

Three young Indonesian geological engineers were "awed" by Nevada's geology when they visited here last month as guests of Dr. Joseph Lintz, Jr.

Dr. Lintz, professor of geology and paleontology in the Mackay School of Mines instructed the men last year at the Bandung Institution of Technology in Indonesia.

The men, Judo Elixfas, Asril Kamili, and A. Djalal Nasution, are graduates of the University of Manitoba, and were en route to Indonesia on their Nevada visit. They will serve with the Indonesian Geological Survey of the government-owned petroleum industry.

Hailing from one of the most densely populated and luxuriously vegetated areas in the world, the men were not prepared for the spectacle of Nevada's vast uninhabited land, or for their first sight of a true desert.

the fourth dimension: TIME

... still a mysterious concept to science. Time is only an idea, an abstraction... an area of shadow, speculation—and surprise.

SEPT. 5, 1752, NEVER HAPPENED!... Nor did any date from Sept. 3 to 13, at least in England and the American Colonies. Why? The King decreed that these days would be skipped to correct a discrepancy between the Old English calendar and the newly adopted Gregorian calendar. This left puzzled Englishmen and colonists with one 19-day month and a 355-day year.

THE HAMSTER'S BUILT-IN "CONTINUOUS CLOCK"... enables him to maintain his daily activities of eating and sleeping without the usual stimuli of light and darkness. He lives on exactly the same schedule even in total darkness.

Poll Looks At Independent Council

Varying opinions concerning the future of the independent organizational movement were raised in a Sagebrush campus poll last Thursday.

The Independent Council, organized late in October, has a constitution in the making, identifying sweat shirts, and a post-game dance planned for Feb. 16, 1963, in the dining commons.

Answers to the question, “Do you think the independent movement to organize will be effective?” included:

Harry Walters, Inter-Fraternity Council president: “I don't believe that some of the independents are aware of the trials and tribulations of the operation of an effective council. The greatest factor that will hinder the Independent Council is Independent interest . . . the council should have well-established goals, more than just getting together to elect student body officers and queens. It should be a true representative of every Independent . . . I have noticed a feeling of animosity between Independents and Greeks, which certainly should be eliminated for effective student government procedures.”

Toddy Watkins, Gamma Phi Beta and former Independent: “The reason I was an Independent was because I didn't want to be organized. I wanted to manage my own affairs.”

Butch Brinkerhoff, dormitory Independent: “The Independent movement is long overdue; I think it will be effective.”

Sandy Bodney, off-campus Independent: “There is not enough unity between the off-campus and the on-campus independents to make an effective organization.”

Sharon Domenici, dormitory Independent: “I really do! I think its slow right now, but I do think once we get a firm ground-like the constitution, that will be all we need. The kids are definitely interested and this has been proven by the sale of GDI sweatshirts.”

Dave Hamilton, off-campus Independent: “Heck no! Everybody joins, but nobody ever does anything except a few people.”

Doug Bruckner, Independent Council president: “I'd like to correct a common misconception, held not only by Greeks but also by Independents. This misconception concerns the fact that, having achieved organization, the independent students will lose their individuality. I think I can speak for a majority of the council members in stating that our two major objectives—those of sponsoring more and better activities for the Independents and solid support for a full slate of independent student body office candidates—will not reduce individuality in the slightest. We realize that if this happens, all we worked so hard for will be lost.”

HAPPY TALK

As we all know, conversation is terribly important on a date. When lulls in the conversation run longer than an hour or two, one's partner is inclined to grow logy—even sullen. But occasionally one finds it difficult to keep the talk going, especially when one is having a first date with one. What, then, does one do? If one is wise, one follows the brilliant example of Harlow Thurlow.

Harlow Thurlow prepares. That is his simple secret. When Harlow is going to take out a new girl, he makes sure in advance that the conversation will not languish. Before the date, he goes to the library and reads all 24 volumes of the encyclopedia and transcribes their contents on his cuffs. Thus he makes sure that no matter what his date's interests are, he will have ample material to keep the conversation alive.

Take, for example, Harlow's first date with Priscilla de Gasser, a fine, strapping, blue-eyed broth of a girl, lavishly constructed and rosy as the dawn.

Harlow was, as always, prepared when he called for Priscilla, and, as always, he did not start to converse immediately. First he took her to dinner because, as everyone knows, it is useless to try to make conversation with an unfed coed. Her attention span is negligible. Also, her stomach rumbles so loud it is difficult to make yourself heard.

“Wash your cuffs and be my love!”

So he took her to a fine steak house where he stoked her with gobbets of Black Angus and mounds of French fries and thickets of escarole and battalions of petit fours. Then, at last, dinner was over and the waiter brought two finger bowls.

“I hope you enjoyed your dinner, my dear,” said Harlow, dipping into his finger bowl.

“Oh, it was grandy-dandy!” said Priscilla. “Now let's go someplace for ribs.”

“Later, perhaps,” said Harlow. “But right now, I thought we might have a conversation.”

“Oh, goody, goody, two-shoes!” cried Priscilla. “I been looking everywhere for a boy who can carry on a intelligent conversation.”

“Your search is ended, madam,” said Harlow, and pulled back his sleeves and looked at his cuffs to pick a likely topic to start the conversation.

Oh, woe! Oh, lackaday! Those cuffs on which Harlow had painstakingly transcribed so many facts—those cuffs on which he had noted such diverse and fascinating information—those cuffs, I say, were nothing now but a big, blue blur! For Harlow—poor Harlow!—splashing around in the finger bowl, had gotten his cuffs wet and the ink had run and not one word was legible! And Harlow—poor Harlow!—looked upon his cuffs and broke out in a night sweat and fell dumb.

“I must say,” said Priscilla after several silent hours, “that you are a very dull fellow. I'm leaving.”

With that she flounced away and poor Harlow was too crushed to protest. Sadly he sat and sadly lit a cigarette.

All of a sudden Priscilla came rushing back. “Was that,” she asked, “a Marlboro you just lit?”

“Yes,” said Harlow.

“Then you are not a dull fellow,” she cried, and sprang into his lap. “You are bright! Anybody is bright to smoke such a perfect joy of a cigarette as Marlboro which is just chock full of yummy flavor, which has a Selectrate filter which comes in a soft pack that is really soft, and a Flip-Top Box that really flips, and which can be bought wherever cigarettes are sold in all fifty states and Duluth . . . Harlow, tiger, wash your cuffs and be my love.”

“Okay,” said Harlow, and did, and was. © 1962 Max Shulman

The makers of Marlboro cigarettes, who print this column at hideous expense throughout the school year, are very happy for Harlow—and for all the rest of you who have discovered the pleasures of Marlboro.

Physician Talks on Persian Hunting

Biology club and the premedical student society (AED) will co-sponsor a lecture on Persian big-game hunting Wednesday, Dec. 5, in the Education auditorium.

Featured speaker will be Dr. Robert Broadbent who has practiced medicine in the Reno area for the past 12 years. His lecture entitled “Persian Adventure” will tell of his experiences during a hunting trip taken with his wife Kay last fall in the company of native herdsman.

In addition to descriptions of tribal life and hunting methods and types of big-game in the country, Dr. Broadbent will stress the role of medicine in modern-day Iran.

Since receiving his B.S. at University of California in 1940 and his M.D. from University of Southern California in 1950, Dr. Broadbent has had a general practice in Reno.

The Department of the Interior was authorized by Congress to administer the national forest reserves on June 4, 1897.

Five Pack Stars On All-FWC

Five fine Nevada football players were honored for superior effort in this season's Far Western Conference race, winning first team berths on the 1962 All-FWC squad.

The Wolf Pack shared the privilege of placing the most players on the exclusive list with San Francisco State and Humboldt State. Little - All - Coast first stringer, and Nevada scoring champion Calvin Campbell added another prize to his pigskin collection, by taking the top-team halfback spot.

Burly, 240-pound Clyde Robards made first string offensive center. Winnemuccan Harlan Heward, the only Silver and Blue junior to make the all-conference grade, was picked for defensive end.

Rugged Dick Pinion earned defensive linebacker honors in a first string slot.

Stocky Bill Daniel was named the conference's best middle guard. Jack Renwick was the second team field general.

Dave Lundy received an honorable mention at defensive end.

Sigma Delta Psi Tryouts Slated

Tryouts for Sigma Delta Psi, national athletic honorary society, are held each Thursday at the new gym from 4-5 p.m. The select group, chartered at Nevada in 1948, is a national organization requiring top athletic achievements for membership.

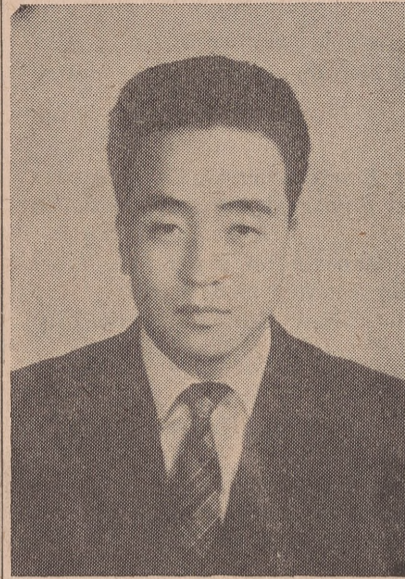

Prospective members must pass a rigid test.

The man-killing events include running 100 yards in 12 seconds; the 120-yard low hurdles in 16 seconds, a 17-foot broad jump, a 30-foot shot put, and a six-minute mile. There are ten other rugged events to pass besides those.

Since Nevada's chapter was established, only 34 men have passed the membership examination, although 2,000 have attempted it. Inquiries can be directed to Jack Tighe in the physical education department.

KOREAN STUDENT

Second in a series of foreign students being featured in the Sagebrush is Mahn Sup Kim, a resident of Seoul, South Korea, and a graduate student of mining engineering in the Mackay School of Mines.

Kim, attending college here on a scholarship arranged by the state dept., will work in the Korean government after he obtains his degree. He speaks, reads, and writes Korean, Japanese and English, and obtained his B. S. degree from Seoul National University.
