New Policy To Curtail Sundowners

A six-point policy dealing with discipline for the Sundowners was announced Wednesday by Dr. Sam Basta, dean of students.

The policy, sharply curtailing Sundowner activities, is aimed at encouraging the "good fellowship" organization to seek ASUN recognition and establish itself as a regular campus group, said Basta.

The policy follows nearly a month of investigation and questioning by the office of student affairs, the Student Judicial Council, and the faculty disciplinary committee concerning a Nov. 17 party held in the Sun Valley community hall.

The student court decided that the Sundowners were responsible for their actions, and recommended a definite University policy for dealing with unrecognized groups, in a Dec. 13, 1962, judgment.

Sundowners Recognized

The new policy, although not yet effective, ends confusion concerning the status of the Sundowners. Contrary to past ASUN policy, the dean's policy recognizes that the group exists—and has existed for 41 years.

The policy, reflecting both student court and faculty recommendations, sharply curtails the Sundowners by clamping a lid on participation in activities involving students, University activities, or events that have no connection with the University.

The Sundowners will be allowed group activities, so long as they do not involve other University students under 21 years of age, Basta said.

The six-point policy states that:

1. The Sundowners were responsible for the Sun Valley party on Nov. 17, 1962.

2. Due to conflicting testimony and a lack of adequate supporting evidence, it has been determined that group punishment "is more fair and just" than individual punishment.

3. The Sundowner organization has existed, still exists as a distinct group, and will be disciplined as a distinct group.

4. The party was not in good taste; property was damaged; the University policy on alcoholic beverages was violated, and the party reflected unfavorably on the University and the student body.

5. Effective Jan. 2, 1963, the Sundowner organization is prohibited from:

—Initiating, organizing, or sponsoring any activity involving University students, wherein that activity may result in conduct unbecoming a University student.

—Participating in any University activity wherein their participation may result unfavorably on the University community.

—Participation at non-sponsored University activities.

6. Failure to abide by the restrictions can result in suspension, expulsion, or other disciplinary action by the dean of student affairs.

Clamps the Lid

Point five clamps the lid on many traditional Sundowner activities.

Its first section eliminates "beer busts" and unauthorized dances; the second part does away with appearances in the Homecoming parade and Wolves Frolic, and ends the traditional initiation breakfasts at sorority houses. The final section forbids Sundowners from appearing at Nevada Day.

Basta said he hoped the Sundowners would seek ASUN recognition — which they have never done — and "rejoin the University community."

"It is hoped that the Sundowner organization shall consider a reconstruction of their objectives with the idea of becoming a useful member of the University family," he said.

41-Years-Old

The Sundowners were organized 41 years ago, in 1921, as a group of

Rebecca Kogan Lone Fatality In Highway Accident

The University of Nevada's first traffic fatality in two years was Rebecca Sue (Becky) Kogan, 18-year-old freshman from East Ely. Miss Kogan died Tuesday, Dec. 18, when a car in which she was a passenger rolled off the highway and overturned.

Although the car was filled with five other students (none from Nevada) returning from a holiday party, Miss Kogan was the only one killed. The rest were treated for minor injuries at the Ely hospital.

She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ludwig Kogan.

Miss Kogan, a brown-eyed, brown-haired home economics major, was a resident of Manzanita hall. She was attending college on a $500 Max C. Fleischmann scholarship for home economics.

Described as an "outstanding student" by Dr. Sam Basta, dean of students, she was an honors student at White Pine high school.

Dean Basta, a personal acquaintance of Miss Kogan and her family, said in a letter of condolence to her parents — "Rebecca was a fine young lady, an outstanding student."

"Rebecca was well-liked and respected by her student friends and faculty members, and we deeply regret her leaving us," said Elaine Moble, dean of women.

The last University student to die in a highway accident was Lyndon Robertson, an Elko mining student. He also died in a holiday crash, on Dec. 31, 1960.

A second student failed to return to campus as the result of an automobile accident—but he will return alive.

He is Dale Bentley, junior in business administration. Bentley was involved in an automobile accident in Mexico City during the holidays.

In accordance with Mexican law, his car was impounded and he was held temporarily, said the office of student affairs.

Off-Campus Coeds Select Candidate

Non-affiliated off-campus women are invited to attend a meeting of the proposed AWS Off-Campus Independent group today at noon in the education auditorium.

The purpose of the meeting will be two-fold, said Aileen Miller, AWS representative for non-affiliated off-campus women.

Court to Hear Violation Charges

Two University of Nevada students face a Student Judicial Council hearing Jan. 10 in connection with an unauthorized newsletter distributed on campus Dec. 14, 1962.

Dave Herrmann, 22, and Dale Donathan, 20, will be charged with conduct unbecoming a student. The charge will be based on the University's policies regarding the special use of University facilities, adopted last summer by the Board of Regents.

The two men will be charged specifically with violating section 2-L of the policy, which states that:

"No literature, other than programs, may be distributed free or sold in connection with meetings or events on campus without permission obtained in advance."

Reference will also be made to section 2-B, said Hathhorn. That section states that:

"The special use of University facilities must be for activities which, broadly construed, promote the welfare of the University or the purposes which the University serves."

The newsletter, published by "The Student Movement of 'Real' Issues," was an answer to a Realist Alliance newsletter published earlier in the month. It charged:

—That the Alliance had been infiltrated by the American Medical Association.

—That the Alliance was in some kind of a league with the John Birch Society, and that the two had attempted to "intimidate" students celebrating United Nations Day.

—That the Realists' attacks were aiding "the continuance of the suppressions of the desire for true independence which all people in the Congo have."

The newsletter was printed on the ASUN mimeograph machine the night of Dec. 12. Herrmann and Donathan admitted gaining entrance to the ASUN office with a key that Herrmann had in possession. Herrman is resident night watchman for the student union—location of the ASUN offices.

Hathhorn said the Realist Alliance newsletter compiled with University regulations because the Alliance is recognized by the ASUN, printed the leaflet at its own expense, and named the editors.

Local Bakery Retaliates For Out-of-State Buying

The generosity of a Reno firm—Welsh's bakery—came to an end for two University student publications last fall after the University began buying its bread from an out-of-state baking firm.

Chuck Pearson, sales manager of Welsh's bakery, denied advertising to both the Artemisia, University yearbook, and the varsity football program last fall. He also declined to donate rolls for a benefit dinner in honor of University star Bill Daniels, scheduled for Monday night.

"We've never refused anything that was for the good of youth and welfare," said Pearson Wednesday, "but we're changing our policy."

Pearson said that henceforth Welsh's will contribute only to groups "who are loyal to the Reno economy."

The baking firm has advertised in the Artemisia for years, but will miss the 1963 book because of the University buying policy.

Robert M. Moyers, University buyers, defended the purchase of bread from the Blue Seal bread company on the grounds that Blue Seal had made the lowest bid.

According to Pearson, Blue Seal did underbid Welsh's by 6.6 cents. Welsh's bid 29.6 cents a loaf, which Pearson called wholesale rates.

Blue Seal's price, however, means it is operating at a loss, Pearson charged.

"The University probably thinks it's saving money, but they're taking it from the people who support them," said Pearson. He pointed out that his company has a capital investment of one million dollars in Nevada, and provides payroll support for "one hundred families." His rival, he said, employs only four salesmen-truckdrivers in the entire state.

Pearson said it was the first time his firm had refused an advertising request by the Artemisia, and that other local businessmen feel the same way.

"We feel strongly about it, but I don't mean any malice," said Pearson.

Welsh's former business with the University involved supplying 250 loaves of sandwich bread to the dining commons each week, said Pearson.

All Study, No Play During Dead Week

University activities cease following Saturday night's basketball game, as students prepare for semester examinations during "dead week."

Dead week will extend from Monday-through-Friday. The only activity next week will be a Nevada-Chico basketball game on campus Saturday, Jan. 12.

Students Arrested In Local 'Riot'

By DOUG BRUCKNER

The glass-and-bottle-shattering 1963 Reno New Year's Eve celebration ended with two University of Nevada students in the city jail on charges of "riot."

Arrested in the boisterous Virginia St. crowd were David L. Herrman, 22, an on-campus resident from White Pigeon, Mich., and Bruce Blatt, 18, of 2490 Moana Lane, Reno.

Blatt pleaded "not guilty" to his charge claiming he was "mistaken for someone else." Talking of his forthcoming February 20 trial he expressed high hopes of being acquitted, "because I am innocent."

Herrmann also entered a plea of "not guilty" but had no comment for the press.

TUB Main Entrance Closed This Week

The front entrance of the student union will be ready for use again next week. Construction work on a heating line have blocked it during the past week, Bill Adams, asst. director of student services, said Wednesday.

During the interruption, students should enter the student union through the side door, the snack bar area (now deserted), or the dining commons, said Adams.

Snack bar hours in the dining commons will be 7 a. m. - 5 p. m., Adams said.

An Attack That Backfired

A leaflet distributed on campus Dec. 14, attacking the Realist Alliance, has backfired. Authored by the president of the Collegiate Council for the United Nations, it only succeeded in discrediting the CCUN and its president.

A glance at the document leaves one wondering just how far left the United Nations is, when its adherents speak with words such as "komsonol, fellow travelers, puppets," and "NKVD tactics." In fact, if the leaflet were set in type and clipped, it would be difficult to tell if it had been written for "The Worker," or "The Weekly People."

The leaflet is an education. It tells you that the American Medical Association is a bad bunch—a "vested pressure group." That's a hard pill to swallow for persons who have never suspected their neighborhood physician of John Birch desires.

It also appears that the Katangese—now fighting a desperate action against United Nations forces—really want a United Congo, they just don't know it. The leaflet claims that "all people in the Congo" have a "desire for true independence." If the Katangese desire independence at the points of Ghanian, Indian, Swedish and Irish bayonets, no one has told them about it.

Then, with a sly query, the leaflet asks about this newspaper's employment as a "tool" of the Realist Alliance. That is a serious question.

We'll say this: If the CCUN had a publicity chairman half as good as the Realist Alliance has, we would probably have been the victim of similar attacks from the other side.

But this attack, made in a gutless, behind-the-back manner with its authors clothed in secrecy, gained little for the United Nations on this campus. It backfired.

Apology Offered For Taste, Judgment

December 14, 1962

Editor, The Sagebrush

On this day appeared a pamphlet published by an unrecognized student organization in violation of the code and policies laid down by the Board of Regents of this University, concerning distribution of written materials.

It is our purpose here to apologize for the poor taste and unwise judgment exhibited by us in this pamphlet to the persons and organizations mentioned.

Respectfully,

DAVID L. HERMANN

Realist Refutes Leaflet's Charges

Editor, the Sagebrush:

Now that Dale Donathan and Dave Herman have admitted printing and distributing the unprincipled attack on the Realistic Alliance and myself which appeared on campus the last day of school before the vacation, it's important to note all they did:

1) They entered the ASUN president's office the night of Dec. 12, ran their sheet off on ASUN facilities (machine, paper, ink), and left the mimeograph machine a mess.

2) They illegally distributed their attack on the Alliance on campus, publicly, without the necessary permission from the administration.

3) They libeled me, personally, calling me contrary to fact a "fellow traveler" and "puppet of Dr.

Detar and local Birchers'.

4) They linked the Realist Alliance with the John Birch Society, a completely unjust accusation and smear.

5) They said the Realists have "theories of racial superiority", another base falsity. Ironically, the lead story in the Alliance's publication, "The Realist", had been defending Katanga, a Negro, African, country. And the Realist Alliance has intentionally made racists and other fanatics distinctly unwelcome.

6) Donathan and Herman would

Learning never stops for engineers at Western Electric

There's no place at Western Electric for engineers who feel that college diplomas signify the end of their education. However, if a man can meet our quality standards and feels that he is really just beginning to learn . . . and if he is ready to launch his career where learning is an important part of the job and where graduate-level training on and off the job is encouraged — we want and need him.

At Western Electric, in addition to the normal learning-while-doing, engineers are encouraged to move ahead in their fields by several types of educational programs. Western maintains its own full-time graduate engineering training program, seven formal management courses, and a tuition refund plan for out-of-hours college study.

This learning atmosphere is just one reason why a career at Western Electric is so stimulating. Of equal importance, however, is the nature of the work we do. Our new engineers are taking part in projects that implement the whole art of modern telephony, from high-speed sound transmission and solar cells to electronic telephone offices and computer-controlled production techniques.

Should you join us now, you will be coming to Western Electric at one of the best times in the company's history. In the management area alone, several thousand supervisory jobs are expected to open up to W.E. people within the next 10 years. And our work of building communications equipment and systems becomes increasingly challenging and important as the communications needs of our nation and the world continue to increase.

Challenging opportunities exist now at Western Electric for electrical, mechanical, industrial, and chemical engineers, as well as physical science, liberal arts, and business majors. All qualified applicants will receive careful consideration for employment without regard to race, creed, color or national origin. For more information about Western Electric, write College Relations, Western Electric Company, Room 6206, 222 Broadway, New York 38, New York. And be sure to arrange for a Western Electric interview when our college representatives visit your campus.

Two Frosh Will Investigate Dreams

Two Nevada freshmen, Gary Daverso and Chip Mills, will study in the steamy South and Central American jungles instead of the Getchell library next semester.

The two men, both from Las Vegas, will accompany retired professor and author Calvin Hall on a seven-month study on the dreams of primitive Indian peoples. The trip is part of the investigations currently carried on by the federally-financed Institute of Dream Research which Hall directs.

Daverso and Mills' involvement in the project stems from an Oak Creek Canyon (Ariz.) camping trip last summer.

During the vacation, Mills met Hall, and when their conversation turned to the psychological study of dreams, the ex-professor found Mills as interested as himself in the subject. Mills contacted his friend Daverso, and the three-man research team was completed.

Interpreters will be used to communicate with the primitive Indians. Interviews will be aimed at an ultimate correlation of dreams and personality.

The significance of the final results, which will be matched with inquiries into the dreams of more civilized peoples, won't be known for five years.

Between 200-300 individuals will be questioned in each tribe.

The trip gets underway February 1, with the first stop somewhere in Mexico. From there the party will move down the western section of south and central America to Chile, then up through the eastern coastal nations.

When they return to the United States, the dream - interrogators will have talked with primitive inhabitants of 16 nations.

The two students will receive only expense money on their trip, but begin to collect Institute salaries when they return to the United States.

Top Tuba, Trombone, Clarinet Men Will Appear With Nevada Band

Three nationally-renowned soloists have been scheduled to perform with University of Nevada bands during the concert season, Dr. John Carrico, director of bands, has announced.

William Bell, the "dean of American tuba players" will appear with the Symphonic Band on Sunday, Jan. 27, in the Fine Arts auditorium. Bell, formerly solo tuba with Toscanini, the New York Philharmonic, and other symphony orchestras and professional bands, is now a member of the Indiana University faculty.

On Feb. 23, Carl Fontana, a leading jazz trombone performer currently playing Las Vegas shows, will appear with the University Stage Band, directed by Eugene Isaef. Fontana will also give a clinic as one feature of the second annual "High School Stage Band Festival" to be held on the campus.

High school, college, and professional bands, representing Nevada, California, Oregon, and Idaho will perform at the festival. Sixteen bands have registered to date.

Ralph Gari, clarinet and saxophone artist, will appear as guest soloist with the Symphonic Band on Sunday, March 24. Gari has played with leading professional groups throughout the country including the Disneyland band, Hollywood studios, and Las Vegas show bands. The band concert with Gari will be held at the State building in Reno.

Painting Exhibit Here Next Week

An exhibition of paintings by Glenn Wessels, professor in the art dept. of the University of California at Berkeley, will be held at the Fine Arts building from Jan. 9-Feb. 7.

A well known West Coast painter with a distinguished background, professor Wessels has studied in France, Italy, Germany and the United States. He has held teaching positions at the California College of Arts and Crafts, State College of Washington, and during the summer has taught in a number of colleges and universities about the country.

His paintings, all in the contemporary vein, are derivative of nature themes: rocks, trees, mountains, water.

Alfred Frankenstein, art editor of the San Francisco Chronicle, has said, "it is worth observing that only the richest of abstract expressionist paintings find so great a variety of painterly resources used at once and in so complex an organization of pictorial energies."

not take responsibility for their attack but signed it: "printed by the Student Movement of 'Real' Issues."

7) Herman, in coming up the ASUN president's office for this purpose violated the trust placed in him.

8) Both Donathan and Herman, before eventually admitting complicity, had denied knowledge of the source of the "publication".

9) Their forthcoming apologies and retractions are not the result of any sincere repentance, but instead the result of a contraindication from the University Administration.

10) Without the fortitude to actually say so, they implied that the Sagebrush was "a tool of the Realist Alliance".

The scurrilous and dishonest attack was an insult to the intelligence of University of Nevada students. As for the libel directed at me, I have neither the money, time nor inclination for bringing suit.

Personally, I would have expected more from Dale Donathan.

'The Dipper' Wasn't Enough . . .

Nevadans Sunk Six Times

By BOB MEADE
Sagebrush Sports Editor

Despite scoring outbursts by Bill ("Dipper") Robinson, Nevada could not match the superior height of four tall and talented basketball teams which dumped the Wolf Pack during a disastrous all-losing six-game holiday road trip.

Robinson became the 26th leading NCAA small college scorer, ringing up 149 points on the tour and hitting a high of 35 against Regis. Coach Jack Spencer claimed the Dipper should have "hit fifty at Denver."

The start of the disastrous trip found the Pack traveling to northern California to meet the powerful Santa Clara Broncos. Although the outmanned Nevadans stayed during the first half of the opener of the two game series, the Broncos height was too much for the Pack.

The Broncos controlled both boards to cop both contests by scores of 74-53 and 87-58.

From Santa Clara the Wolf Pack traveled to Las Vegas to meet a vastly improved Nevada Southern quintet. Nevada again dropped a pair as the Rebels posted 62-50 and 64-54 victories.

The Pack put on a poor showing in the opener, despite a 28-point outburst by Bill Robinson.

In the second game, however, the Wolf Pack outshot the Rebels by five field goals.

From Las Vegas, the Pack traveled to the Rocky Mountain region and ran into a pair of red-hot quintets in Omaha and Denver.

A Creighton quint which had been nationally ranked, but fell to upset-minded Michigan, took out their wrath on the outmanned Nevadans by 120-76.

Despite the one-sided score, the Pack put on its best performance of the trip, but ran into a Creighton club which connected on over 50 per cent of their shots.

Nevada again ran into a hot-shooting team in Denver, when Regis connected on half of their shots to post a 101-68 victory, despite "Dipper" Robinson's 35-point burst.

Coach Jack Spencer is still optimistic over the Wolf Pack's chances in the FWC. Following games at San Francisco State and Alameda this weekend, the Pack will have played eight straight road games, and will finish the majority of their schedule at home. Spencer further said that Nevada is competing in a conference which is probably as "well-balanced" as any in the country.

The modern forest conservation policy, that timber operations should be conducted under forestry principles, began in the Department of the Interior.

UNCOC Initiates Junior Cadets

The University of Nevada Cadet Officers club put thirty junior ROTC cadet officers through its annual initiation ceremonies on Dec. 13.

Dressed in ill-fitting, homemade uniforms, the cadets carried makeshift weapons to guard duty around dormitories and sorority houses. Failures to follow commands drew extra physical training from supervising seniors.

The evening ended with an aptly - named "Inspiration Hour" in Hartman hall.

Initiated were: Donald Banta, Ronald Banta, Bruce Beardsley, Howard Beck, Michael Blakely, William Brodhead, William Broyles, Thomas Burns, John Dedolph, Ronald Evans, Wayne Ferguson, Louis Gardella, Dennis Golden, Donald Hackstaff.

David Haines, Dennis Haney, Donald Heath, Jon Key, Gene Lane, Edward Martin, Jack McElwee, Richard Miles, Fred Mitchell, Arthur Mize, Daniel Perkins, William Pollard, Charles Pratto, Gene Shimotori, Rodney Stuart, Steven Thompson, Troy Williams and Milo Harcourt.

Chairman of the initiation was Harvey LoSasso.

New Tryouts Set For "J.B."

Tryouts for the first University Theatre play of the second semester are scheduled for today, Saturday, and Monday, announced Robert Strane, director, Wednesday.

The play, titled "J.B.", is a Pulitzer-prize winning drama by Archibald MacLeish. A modernized version of the Biblical story of Job, it produced an impact in its 1958 Broadway premiere.

Students may arrange for individual readings by signing sheets posted at room 146 of the Fine Arts building, said Strane. Scripts are available at the library reserve desk, he said.

Virginia Street Parking Banned

Parking is now prohibited on the east side of Virginia St.

Students returning from Christmas vacation found curbs painted red from Ninth St. to 1416 N. Virginia, about a block past the University infirmary.

The parking ban was requested by the University administration and the Reno city council, with the State highway dept. making the final decision.

The administration, originally opposed to the parking ban, announced a reversal in its decision in a request to Joseph Latimore, Reno city manager.

The ban was first requested by the Reno traffic engineer.

Officials said the loss of parking space will be more than offset by traffic flow advantages.

Conduct Probation For 2 Students

Two cases involving student driving violations were turned back to Jim Hathorn, dean of men, by the Student Judicial Council when the group failed to muster a quorum Dec. 14, 1962.

Hathorn recommended conduct probation in both cases.

One involved a minor charged with drunken and reckless driving; the other involved a student over 21-years-old charged with reckless driving.

Conduct probation means an official warning that future violations will carry more severe penalties, said Hathorn. The recommended probations will be enforced through the second semester, he said.
