Seven Princess Candidates Await Sno-Show Crowning

Nevada men face a tough seven-way choice today when they go to the polls to wind up the selection of the 1963 Winter Carnival Princess.

Seven freshmen women are vying for the crown. They visited Nevada's fraternity houses last night, where Greek men cast their ballots. Other men students will vote today.

This year's Frosh cuties include:

Lee Bloomfield, a graduate of Hiram Johnson high school in Sacramento, Calif., representing Pi Beta Phi. Lee, a nursing major, stands 5-foot-4-inches tall, and has blond hair and blue eyes. She counts skiing and swimming on her lists of interests.

Tala Crutchett, representing Gamma Phi Beta, is a resident of Reno and a graduate of Reno high school. An education major, Tala is a blue-eyed blond standing 5-foot-6-inches. A member of the Nevad-Anns drill team, she likes to ski, play tennis and fish.

Dee Duffy, a resident of North Hollywood, Calif., and a graduate of a high school by the same name, represents Manzanita hall. An education major, Dee has brown hair and blue eyes and stands 5-foot-4-inches. Her hobbies include skiing and other winter sports.

Margo Ford, a home economics major, is representing Kappa Alpha Theta. Margo stands 5-foot-7-inches, has green eyes and blond hair, and plans a career in fashion merchandising after graduation. She's interested in skiing—both the snow and water varieties. Margo is a graduate of Reno high school and resident of Reno.

Toni Martin, representing Delta Delta Delta, is a resident of Pleasanton, Calif., and a graduate of Pleasanton high school. Standing 5-foot-4-inches, she has black hair, brown eyes, and is interested in music. She is majoring in home economics and fashion design.

Diane Priess, a Reno resident and graduate of Reno high school, is representing the off-campus Independents. A blue-eyed, brown-haired psychology major, she stands 5-foot-10-inches, and is interested in criminology. She enjoys water and snow skiing, swimming and sports cars.

Darrell Shone, representing White Pine hall, is the shortest of the lot at 5-feet even. Her brown hair and eyes sets off a freckled face that indicate an interest in skiing. Enrolled in the college of Arts and Sciences, she is also interested in skiing and dancing.

Warm Weather; Possible Rain Plague Carnival

The crystal ball has darkened. Things look bad for Winter Carnival snow.

The forecast for the next five days, according to a weather bureau official, is occasional rains with above normal temperatures.

Sky Tavern, scene of the Carnival competition and Sunday night's Torchlight Parade, is in full operation, but with temperatures reaching the 70's in Reno, the possibility that it can last until competition starts Friday is small.

No storm systems are imminent, and any possibility of precipitation under present conditions would mean the end for the remaining snow. Warm temperatures would change it to rain.

Skiers Schedule Spaghetti Dinner

This year's annual spaghetti feed, sponsored by the Ski Club for members and their dates, will be held Friday at 5:30 p. m. at the Shadows, 5560 South Virginia.

Special guests will be members of visiting teams, and their coaches.

The menu includes spaghetti, salad, garlic bread, coffee and dessert. Reservations will cost ski club members one dollar each. Special guests will be admitted free.

Sagebrush Editorials . . . No Such 'Joe'

"Typical College Kid" . . . How many times has the phrase been used? Almost a cliché now, it has been used to praise, to degrade, to intimidate, to glorify. Mainly it has been used inclusively, too generally, and much too frequently.

And if there's one thing that is sure about "College Kids, U. S. A." it's that they aren't typical.

To simplify the complications of modern America, the public has come to use this means of stereotyping.

Ironically, the simplifying seems to meet with everyone's approval except the character being characterized. To a student enrolled in a university or college, there is no such thing as a "typical college kid."

A closer look at the subject, who shall be called "Joe College" for the sake of simplifying matters, reveals that he is in himself a very interesting and diversified person.

Besides being genuinely interested in physics, French, history, and horticulture, he finds time in a day's schedule to help a fraternity brother with a few lessons, work out in the gym, act as houseboy in one of the sorority houses, and plan to attend a meeting in the evening.

But this is only "Joe College."

Now there's Hank College, just returned to college after two years with the Peace Corps. With an overload of studies which he takes so that he can graduate in three more semesters, Hank doesn't have much time for a lot of Joe's activities, but does find a couple of hours a week to write a column for the campus paper on his experiences as a P. C. volunteer.

Pete College, on the other hand, a fine quarterback at his college, is married, a supporter of three, and a part-time employee at the university. When he's not practicing, or studying, he can be found working on one of the vast campus lawns. Supporting three? His wife works, too. Sometimes things can get pretty rough.

But Pete needs that college education. So do Hank and Joe.

They're all college kids, too.

But the way in which the word is applied nowadays, makes them wonder what the public does think of them.

Horseplay isn't tolerated any more. By the modern American public it is condemned at every turn.

And can the public call it anything but that?

With very few exceptions, the overt actions of the college kid is just that. Horseplay, prankish, rarely with malice aforethought.

Deviants of society lurk in the adult world, too.

But how many times does the world "adult" produce the picture that the word "college kid" does? That is, a rowdy delinquent in a sweat shirt and sneakers with a beer mug in hand?

Contrarily, to a college kid, the words imply just that. A human being in the role of student at an American college or university.

Normal, yes. Typical? Never!—JUDY BLACK

Willy Ley Is Prof; Not Fiction Writer

Editor, the Sagebrush:

Clark Santini's correction in the Jan. 11 issue needs correction. He says Willy Ley is a science-fiction writer. Maybe he should know that Willy Ley is a professor and the leading authority on the history of space travel. He doesn't write science fiction but "just" on science.

Thank you very much,

Criticizes Three Letters to the Editor

Editor, the Sagebrush:

As Messrs. Lohse and Launie both made obeisance Friday before the "excellence" of Kenton L. Galloway's letter, an analysis of the letter is due.

Galloway falsely states Realists "give unqualified support" to HUAC. This assertion is false because (1) the Alliance lays down no "party line" and because (2) I, among other Realists, do qualify what support I give HUAC.

Galloway demonstrates ignorance when he attempts to define "Objectives" from the dictionary definition of the root word. Objectivism, as has been stated many times by the Alliance, is the new philosophy of Ayn Rand's novels, The Fountainhead and Atlas Shrugged. To be consistent, Galloway would damn Auguste Comte's Positivism on the grounds its attitude toward theories of ultimate origins is negative!

Galloway engages in outright misrepresentation. He says The REALIST built a case "from the fact that a person . . . quoted from the New Republic." Actually, the reference to this journal was only parenthetical; what The REALIST said was that "the general personality-type" of one Leftist "is apparent from his plentiful references to and crude drawings of excrement, phalli and swastikas" in unsigned diatribes he slipped under the door to the room of a Realist. Galloway conveniently forgets to state this.

Galloway alleges the Realists "have launched an attack" on the CCUN. But the criticism (as his letter covertly admits) has been of one individual, who himself says the CCUN is only "one of the

'Highwaymen' Kick-Off TUB Program

A nationally - known singing group and an anti-communist crusader are the next two big events to be sponsored by the student union.

Tickets to Friday's Winter Carnival Sno-Show are available now in the student union office, or at Southworth's cigar store in downtown Reno.

They run $1.50 apiece for non-reserved seats, and $2 each for reserved seats.

The program will feature the Highwaymen, a four-man singing group that started as a college fraternity stunt, and the team of Joe and Eddie. The 1963 Winter Carnival princess will be crowned during intermission.

The show is scheduled for 8 p.

m. in the Reno high school gymnasium.

Dr. Fred Schwartz, president of the Christian Anti-Communist Crusade, is scheduled to lecture on Thursday, Feb. 14 at 8 p. m. in the new gym. Students and faculty will be admitted free if tickets are picked up in the student union office before Feb. 9. After that date all tickets will cost $1.00.

Also scheduled for Feb. 8 is the first in a new film-lecture series on "The World Around Us," sponsored by the student union.

A lecture and color motion pictures will be presented in person by world authorities in this new travel, adventure, and world knowledge series.

The first program on Friday will be "The Changing Heart of Africa." This will be presented by Arthur C. Twomey, Director of Education of the Carnegie Institute, recently returned from Africa.

Four similar programs are scheduled for the spring semester: "Puerto Rico," March 5; "Inside East Germany," April 3; "Alaska by Land and by Sea," April 25; and "Guatemala," May 8.

Registration

Participants in the 1963 Winter Carnival will register for competition all day Thursday at a special booth on the main floor of the student union.

The skiers will receive special instructions about the Carnival when they register.

University Theater, Student Union To Sponsor Seven Film Classics

The University Theatre, in cooperation with the student union film committee and the department speech and drama dept. will present seven film classics during the spring semester.

The first film Monday, was a German film, "The Sins of Rose Bernd."

"The Idiot," a French film produced in 1948, will be shown Feb. 11. It represents the first attempt to translate the morbid and brooding tale of Dostoyevsky's "The Idiot" to the screen, and features Gerard Phillippe in his first major role.

A 1952 American movie "A Member of The Wedding", may be seen Feb. 18. A lyric tragi-comedy based on the play and book by Carson McCullers, it is the story of a dreamy adolescent tomboy enveloped in her own fantasies and troubled by loneliness and rejection.

"Umberto D," directed by Vittorio De Sica, will be shown on Feb. 25. It is a study of an old man, alone in the world except for his mongrel dog, and his attempts to sustain himself and his pet.

"The Jolson Story," may be seen on March 18, in technicolor.

"The Hunchback of Notre Dame" shows on March 25. This original version of the famous Victor Hugo novel stars Lon Chaney.

The final film of the semester will be "Alexander Nevsky," a Russian film produced in 1938. Directed by Sergei Eisenstein, it portrays medieval warfare and heroism.

Individual tickets may be purchased at the box office at one dollar for adults and fifty cents for non-university students. University students are admitted free. Showtimes are 7:00 and 9:00 p. m. organizations of which he is a member." The attack on the CC-UN, though made, did not come from the Realist Alliance.

Galloway asks where the Objectivists and Libertarians are, saying he saw none at the Alliance group-discussion session he attended. At this session, on compulsory unionism, nearly all the Realists urged liberty for the laboring man to choose his associations for himself. Apparently the only thing that will get Galloway's mental block would be foot-wide lapel buttons proclaiming "I-am-a-Kenton-Galloway- Approved- Libertarian" or Objectivist.

Most revealing of all, however, is Galloway's concept of "sobriety and maturity". As a source for these qualities, he postulates the Herrmann - Donathan "Student Movement for Real Issues" which published the infamous sheet — dishonest, libelous and illegal — which brought its authors before the Student Judicial Council.

That Lohse and Launie resoundingly endorse Galloway's pitiful contention gives a true measure of their political judgment. Perhaps all three should try the course in introductory logic.

Sharon Barrett New Campus YWCA Chief

Sharon Barrett was named temporary chairman of the campus YWCA, as that group held its second meeting of the year in the Fine Arts building Wednesday night.

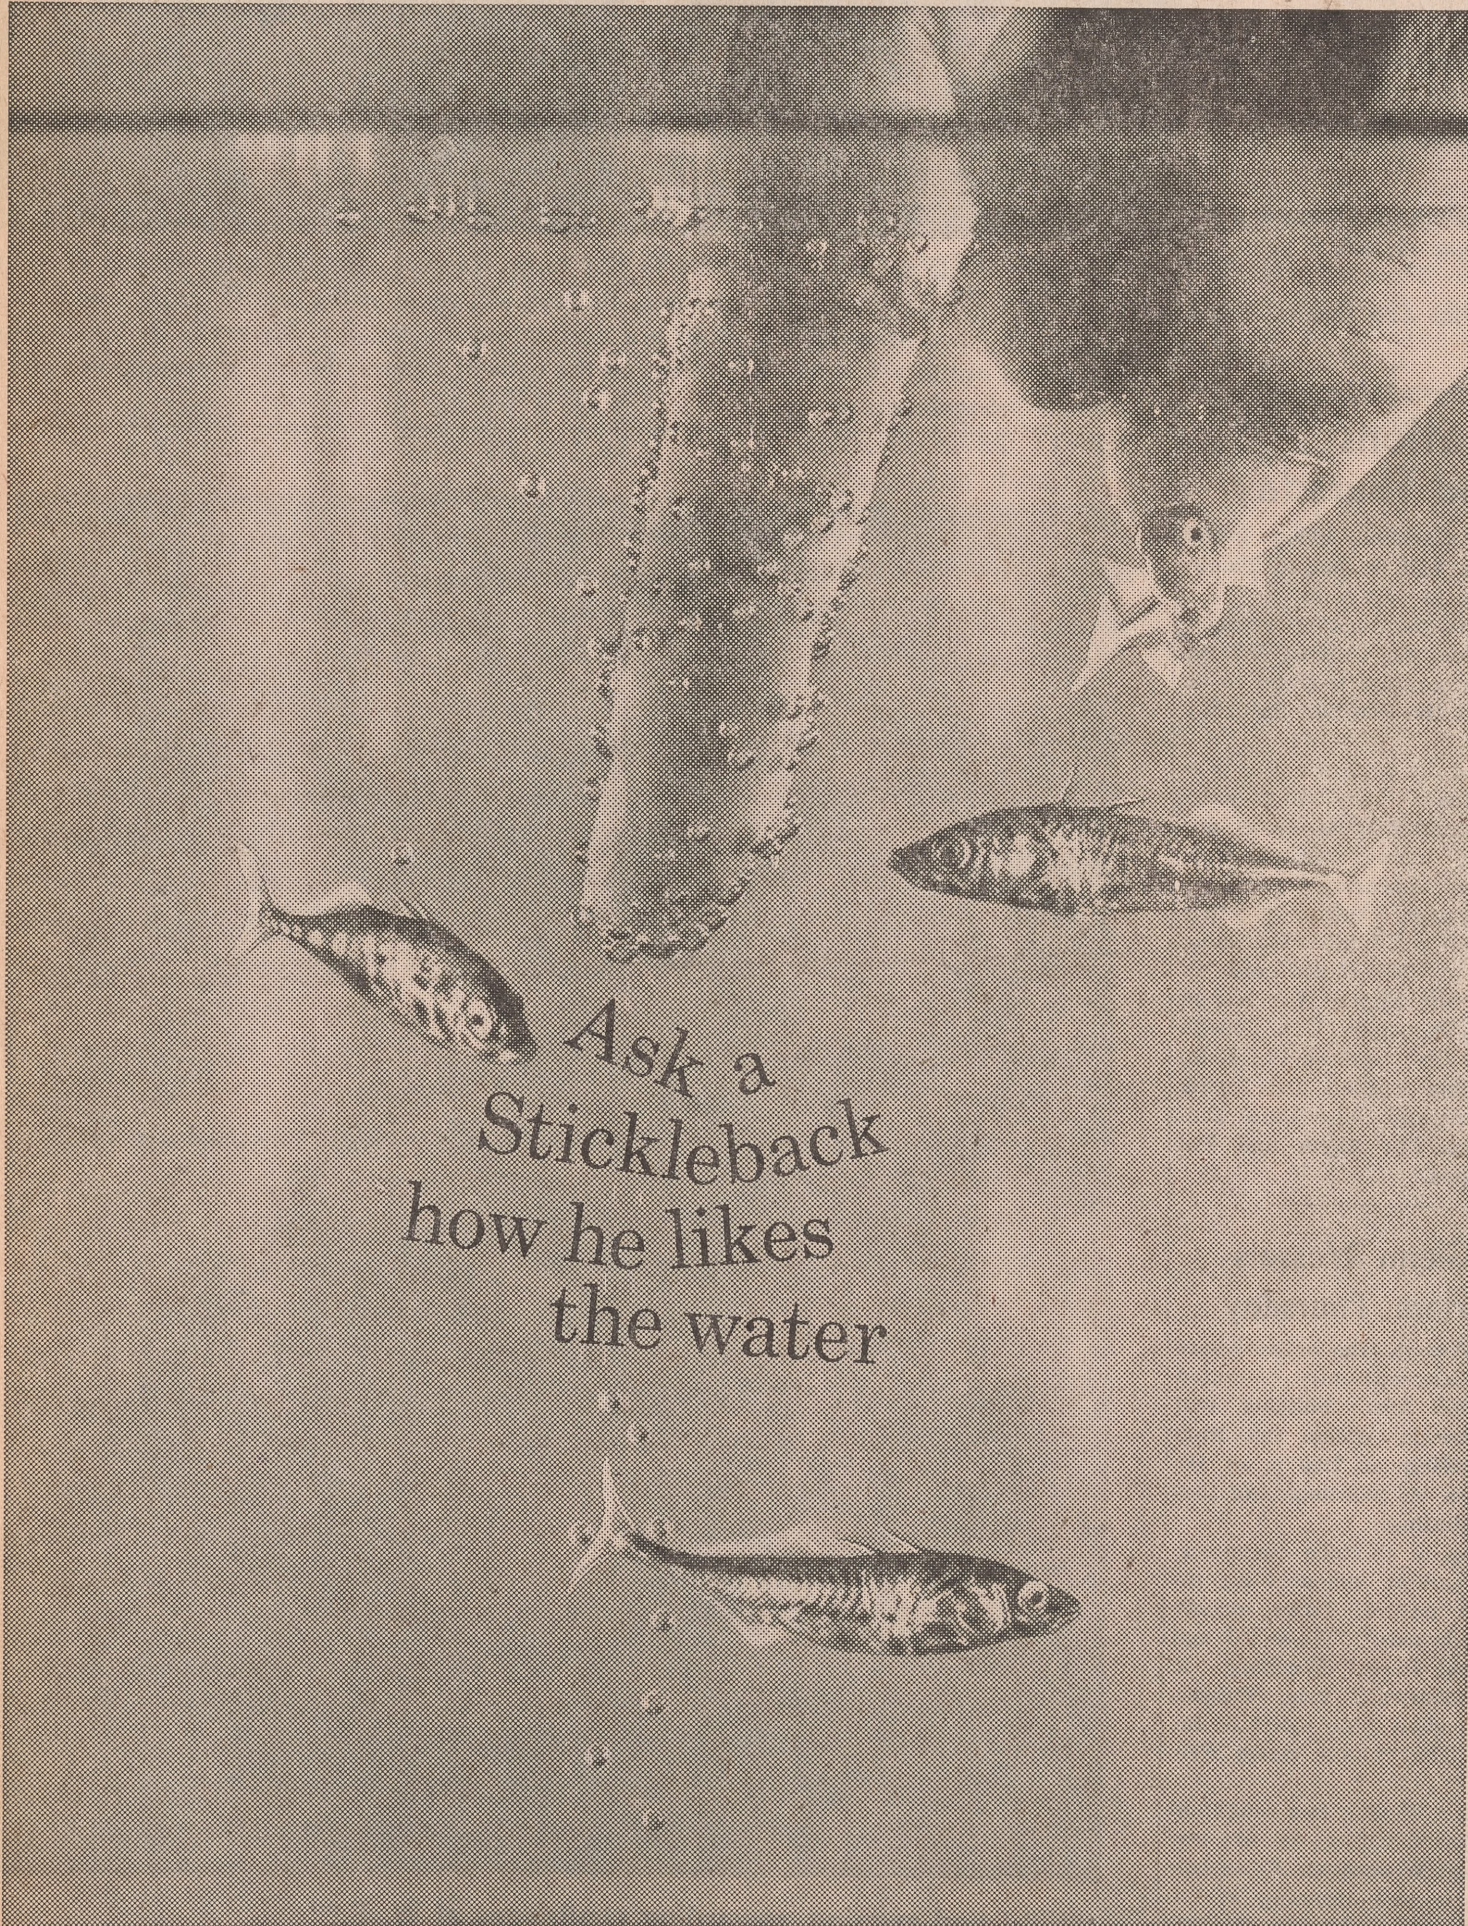

The organization discussed a city-wide book drive, aimed at starting a library at the Pyramid Lake Indian colony, and talked over a plan to divide into common-interest groups to further its service objectives.

Judy Hunt was named secretary of the group.

Chorus Rehearsals Wednesday Night

The new University Mens' Chorus has scheduled weekly rehearsals beginning this Wednesday, Feb. 6, at 7:30 p. m. in room 102 of the Fine Arts building.

Students, faculty, staff members, and residents of the Reno-Sparks area are eligible to participate, announced Ed Houghton, chorus director. The chorus has already received several requests for concert appearances throughout Nevada, said Houghton.

Ask a Stickleback how he likes the water

Who knows water better than a fish?

The fish we employ as water experts are tiny Sticklebacks. We pay them liberally in brine-shrimp, no salary deductions.

It's all because we use millions of gallons of water daily in our refineries. After use, it is treated with algae, bacteria, chemicals, sunshine and oxygen, to make sure the water is clean and pure when we return it to stream or sea.

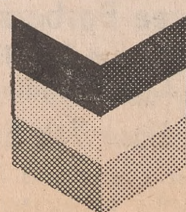

As an ultimate safeguard, we let our Sticklebacks test the water, before it is released. If they like it, we know it will be happy water for any fish.

The object is to keep our streams and coastal waters pollution-free with abundant fish to nibble your hooks, and clean playgrounds for your water sports.

Many other industries which depend upon water are equally careful. Our common concern is to protect a priceless heritage.

Planning ahead to serve you better

Job Interviews Will Start Today

Three employment interviews for University students are scheduled this week, the University Employment Service announced Monday.

Students in any major will be interviewed by a representative of the state personnel department today for work as a senior engineer with the highway department.

Majors in civil and electrical engineering will be interviewed Wednesday, Feb. 6, by a representative of the Federal Aviation Agency. The work, in civil and electronic engineering, will be concentrated in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Denver, Salt Lake City, and Seattle.

The FAA representative will also interview interested juniors for possible summer employment.

Civil engineering seniors will be interviewed by a representative of the U. S. Department of Commerce, Bureau of Public Roads, for jobs as bridge and highway engineers on Thursday, Feb. 7. The employment may be located anywhere in the United States, or in the bureau's region seven, including California, Nevada and Arizona.

Conferences will be held in room 104, Clark administration building.

J-Graduate Donates Old Newspapers

Rare copies of an old Nevada newspaper were recently donated to the University journalism dept. by journalism alumnus Don Segerstrom. The collection is valued at $1,000.

"The Advertiser," published in Ione, Nevada, in the fall of 1864, will be used by journalism students in their study of the history of journalism.

"The collection is of the only known existing copies of the newspaper and include the six complete copies that were published," said professor A. L. Higginbotham, chairman of the journalism dept.

"The first copies had only two pages and were about the size of typing paper," Higginbotham added.

Segerstrom was graduated in the class of 1946. The former publisher of a California daily, Segerstrom is now publisher of a western mining magazine in Sonora, Calif.

The newspaper will be put on display in the journalism building soon, Higginbotham said.

Decorations Judged Thursday

Winter Carnival living group decorations will be judged Thursday from 6 to 7:30 p. m.

Living groups, working together, will vie for the coveted Winter Carnival decoration trophies to be awarded at the Sno-Ball Saturday night.

Theme of the decorations is "Paradise in Snow." They will be judged on originality, creativeness, adherence to theme, workmanship, and over-all appearance.

Living groups working together are: Lincoln and White Pine halls; Artemisia and Manzanita halls; Pi Beta Phi and Sigma Nu; Kappa Alpha Theta, Alpha Tau Omega and Theta Chi; Gamma Phi Beta, Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Sigma Phi Epsilon; and Delta Delta Delta, Lambda Chi Alpha and Phi Sigma Kappa.

Artist Glenn Wessels Talks Here Thursday

Glenn Wessels, the artist whose paintings are currently exhibited in the Fine Arts building, will speak there in Room 139, Fine Arts, Thursday at 7:30 p. m. He will discuss his paintings and theories of painting.

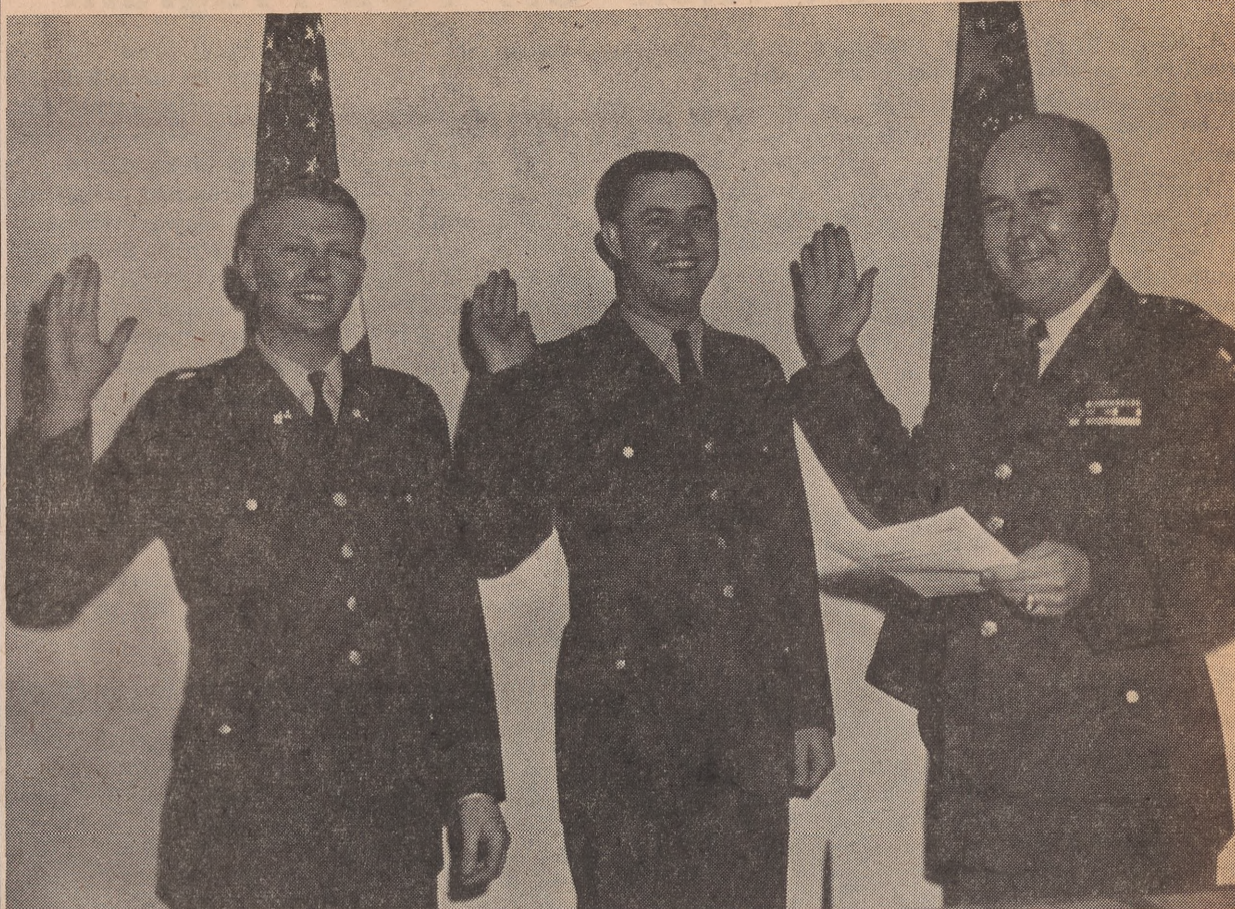

Made up of thirteen canvasses, Wessels' exhibit indicates his interest in nature. Titles include "Deep Redwoods," "Wave 9," and "Wave and Rock." Working in the contemporary vein, Wessels strives to show "the spirit of his subject." The exhibit closes Feb. 10.

Professor Wessels has taught at the California College of Art and Crafts, and Washington State college. He is now teaching at the University of California (Berkeley), where he received his Bachelors and Masters degrees. He also has a Bachelor of Fine Arts degree from the California College of Art and Crafts and has studied in France, Italy and Germany.

Pack Teams Take Breather

Ski Squad Competes In Carnival; Pack Cage Team Travels to Davis

The University's ski and basketball teams had the weekend off to rest and practice for competition beginning again on Friday.

The skiers couldn't compete in last weekend's Far West Intercollegiate meet scheduled for the Donner Ski Ranch because of insufficient snow.

The team missed the Northern California Invitational Intercollegiate meet slated for Sugar Bowl and Squaw Valley Jan. 11 for the same reason.

Friday morning's Galena Creek cross country race will start three days of grueling Winter Carnival events for the slatmen. They will compete in the downhill and slalom Saturday, and the jumping event Sunday.

For the Silver and Blue basketball team, the two week schedule break has come at a good time. The loss of Bill Robinson to ineligibility has faced Coach Jack Spencer with a grave personnel problem. Hopefully Spencer has found enough time to weld a new team together.

The roundballers meet the University of California at Davis Friday night on the Aggies' home floor. UCD headed into two games over the weekend with an 0-2 conference mark. If the Wolf Pack, second semester style, can't handle this team they will be in grave danger of losing any chance at Far Western Conference title contention.

Engineers to View Drydock Construction

Members of the American Society of Civil Engineers will view an hour-long program on the construction of a floating drydock at Wednesday night's meeting.

Utah State Joins Carnival Lists; Line-Up Selected

A new team, Utah State, entered the lists of Winter Carnival competitors over the weekend, bringing the total number of teams accepting Carnival bids to 12. The figure represents one of the largest lists in the history of the annual Nevada event.

Other schools participating include: Nevada, Arizona State College, San Jose State, Chico State, Sierra College, University of California (Berkeley), Denver University, Stanford, University of Oregon, U. S. Air Force Academy, College of Siskiyou, and Mills College.

Nevad-Anns Tryouts Scheduled Friday

Spring tryouts for the Nevad-Anns drill team will be held Friday in room 102 of the Fine Arts Building.

Credit can be obtained by registering for the drill team under music 118.

ATO Leads Intramural Race; GDI's Occupy Next 3 Spots

The perennial favorite to win the intramural sports race was again out in front of the pack at semester break.

Alpha Tau Omega, last year's top fraternity finisher, leads the Independents by a scant eight points.

Team	Points
ATO	170
Independents	162
Artemisia	120
Mavericks	110
Sigma Nu	80

The Taus have a first place finish in volleyball and several second and third place marks for point support.

After three first places, the Independents still find themselves in the second spot, but several high-point events remain on the schedule. The remaining winter and spring sports have been strong ATO gainers in recent years.

Two other independent teams have also become strong contenders, with the nearest fraternity, Sigma Nu, in fifth place.

Lambda Chi Alpha and Alpha Tau Omega will decide the basketball championship Wednesday. The Taus are undefeated while the Lambda Chis, once beaten, are trying to stay alive in the double-elimination tourney. Second and third games will be played, if necessary, to decide the contest.

Events left to be completed are: bowling, skiing, track, baseball, tennis (double).

Spencer Becomes New Golf Coach

Jack Spencer, varsity basketball coach, is the man to see if you are a reasonably talented golf enthusiast. He replaces Dick Trachok this spring as varsity golf mentor.

Last season, Trachok's boys split the season with a three win-three loss score. The Wolf Pack golfers also captured fourth spot in the seven-team FWC tournament, staged at the close of the regular season.

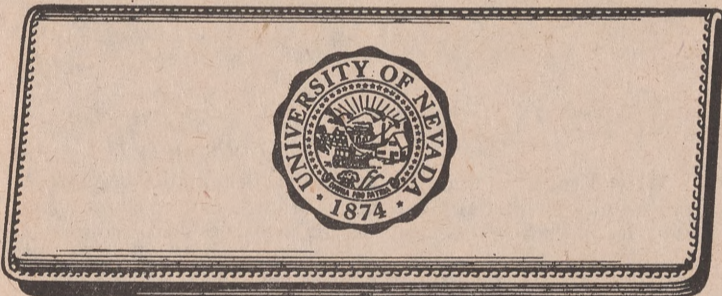

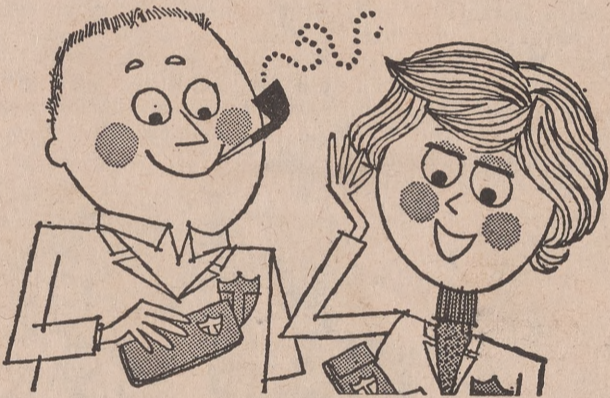

Spencer will have three returning lettermen — Mike Henderson, Mike Knight, and Paul Freitag—to build this year's squad around. Don Stoker, Trachok's number one shooter, and Tim Grant will not return.

Free Lunch Slated For Skiers, Packers

Free lunch will be provided for members of all teams, those packing snow, and all officials on Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, Feb. 8-10 at Sky Tavern.

Danny Ferrier, Winter Carnival lunch chairman, said that Spurs, sophomore women's service group, will serve. She expects to feed about 100 each day.

Probation Suspended After Council Hearing

Two men involved in the Dec. 14 printing of a leaflet attacking the Realist Alliance have been placed on disciplinary probation following a Student Judicial Council hearing Jan. 10.

But Dr. Sam Basta, dean of students, eased the penalty when he recommended suspension of probation for Dale Donathan and Dave Herrmann. The two were charged with violation of the Regents' policy on use of University facilities.

"The policy simply states that no literature, other than programs, may be distributed free or sold in connection with meetings or events on campus without permission obtained in advance," said Jim Hathorn, dean of men.

Donathan said he and Herrmann had no intention of carrying the matter any further.

"The final decision was fair and just," he said.

The pair made no move, however, to retract statements made in the leaflet, published by the "Student Movement for Real Issues."

Dr. John DeTar, Reno physician, demanded the pair retract statements made about him in a letter to the pair Jan. 17. He asked for another poster, and a retraction in the Sagebrush.

He said the statements did "infinite harm to my name and reputation," and set a Jan. 21 deadline for action by the pair. The deadline was extended, however, by attorney Joseph Kay, in view of final examinations.

Kay was indefinite as to further actions, but said a conference might be arranged with an attorney representing one, or both, of the men.

Sno-Ball Tickets Now Available

Tickets for the 1963 Winter Carnival "Sno-Ball" are now on sale in the ASUN bookstore at a cost of two dollars-per couple.

The Sno-Ball, climaxing Carnival social activities, will be held Saturday from 9-12 p. m. at Mathisen's hall. Music will be provided by "The Classics."

Decorations and dance attendance trophies will be awarded at the 11 p. m. intermission, with dance attendance being checked until 10 p. m.

Chaperones will be Dr. and Mrs. John Morrison, and Dr. and Mrs. Rodney V. Conner. Dance chairman is Judy Morrison.

CCA Sponsors Film On Mixed Marriages

"One Love — Two Conflicting Faiths," was the title of a film shown by the Campus Christian Association at its Sunday night meeting. The film dealt with a specific marriage between persons of conflicting religious beliefs.

Also attending were members of Canterbury club, Catholic priests, and Episcopalian priests. Discussion groups held individual sessions following the film, and gathered afterwards for a synopsis.

Solons to Hear Exemption Plan Wednesday Night

A Wisconsin student movement to push for federal income tax exemptions for University and college students will come before the ASUN senate at its Wednesday night meeting. It will be the first senate meeting since December.

The movement, which originated at the Milwaukee Institute of Technology, calls for tax exemptions of up to $1,800; $2,400; and $3,000 for part-time regular, and married students respectively.

The movement, already approved by four university student governments, is being brought to the attention of other student groups around the nation.

Other business to come before Senate will include the report on compulsory ROTC at Nevada, a proposed honor code, senate attendance, and library books.

Tour Meeting Wednesday Night

A meeting for prospective European student travelers is scheduled for Wednesday at 8 p. m. in the Faculty dining commons.

Professor Douglas Mitchell, director of the "Europe, 1963" tour this summer, and Mr. Vernon Durkee Jr., of Durkee Travel Bureau, will meet with interested students to discuss costs, answer questions, and show slides taken on previous trips.

A student from the 1962 summer tour will be on hand to address the group.

ASCE Skeds Series Of Spring Movies

A series of 24 films, dealing primarily with engineering and related sciences, will be shown by the American Society of Civil Engineers each Wednesday during the spring semester.

The movies, starting at 12 noon, will be shown in room 213, Palmer engineering building. A few will deal with sports, but most will be along scientific lines, such as "Miracle Bridge over the Mackinac," and "Mr. Withers Stops the Clock."

Students Have Towing Problems; Cite Lack of On-Campus Parking

By JUDY BLACK

Registration day fees were hiked by ten dollars for nearly a dozen students this semester.

Early Wednesday afternoon, while regular fees were being collected by the University, the Reno police department was making the best of a lucky find.

Several cars parked on College Drive and Hillside Drive, most of them for the brief time it takes to complete registration, were tagged and towed away at ten bucks a throw.

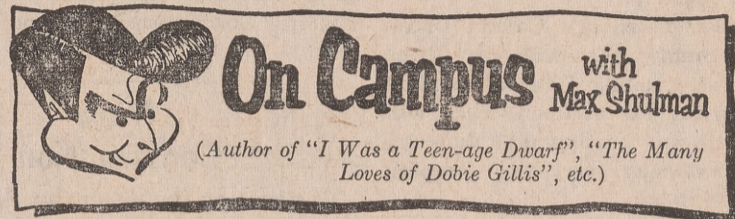

The inadequate on-campus parking situation was recently worsened by placement of "No Parking" signs along the east side of Virginia Street adjacent to campus.

Other adjacent parking is curtailed to two hours.

Students voicing parking-scarcity complaints at the Second Street station were grudgingly consoled by the desk sergeant, who blamed the problem in part on the lack of on-campus parking.

Congress authorized the retention of five percent of the timber on the Chippewa Indian Reservation for conservation purposes.

INFERIORITY CAN BE FUN

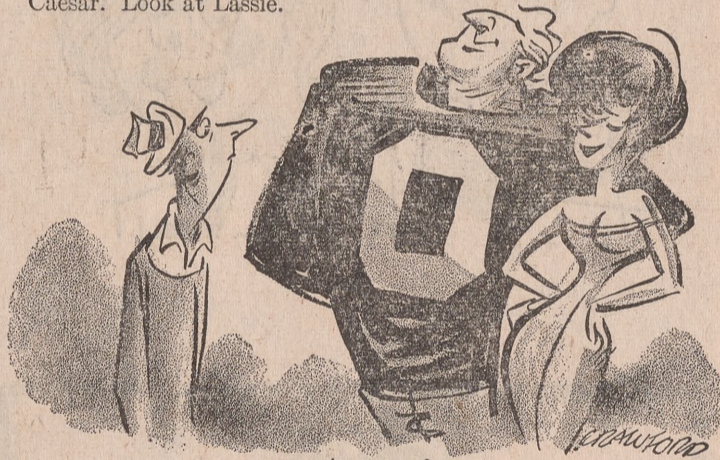

The second gravest problem confronting college students today is inferiority feelings. (The first gravest problem is of course, the recent outbreak of moult among sorority house canaries.) Let us today look into the causes of inferiority feelings and their possible cures.

Psychologists divide inferiority feelings into three principal categories:

1. Physical inferiority.
2. Mental inferiority.
3. Financial inferiority.

(A few say there is also a fourth category: ichthyological inferiority—a feeling that other people have prettier fish—but I believe this is common only along the coasts and in the Great Lakes area.)

Let us start with the feeling of physical inferiority, perhaps the easiest to understand. Naturally we are inclined to feel inferior to the brawny football captain or the beautiful homecoming queen. But we should not. Look at all the people, neither brawny nor beautiful, who have made their marks in the world. Look at Napoleon. Look at Socrates. Look at Caesar. Look at Lassie.

We are inclined to feel inferior

What I mean is that you can't always tell what's inside a package by looking at the outside. (Sometimes, of course, you can. Take Marlboro Cigarettes, for example. Just one glance at that jolly red-and-white package—so bright and pert—so neat but not gaudy—so perfectly in place whether you are at a formal dinner or a beach picnic—so invariably correct for any time, clime, or condition—one look, I say, at this paragon of packs and you know it has to contain cigarettes of absolute perfection. And you are right! That pure white Marlboro filter, that fine, flavorful blend of Marlboro tobaccos, will give you a smoke to make the welkin ring, whatever that is. So those of you who have just been sitting and admiring your Marlboro packs since the beginning of the semester, why don't you open a pack and light one? Light a cigarette, I mean—not the package. Then you can settle back and smoke your Marlboro and, at the same time, continue to gaze rapturously at the pack. Thus you will be twice as happy as you are if that is possible.)

But I digress. Let us turn now to the second category—mental inferiority. A lot of people think they are dumber than other people. This is not so. It must be remembered that there are different kinds of intelligence. Take, for instance, the classic case of the Sigafoos brothers, Claude and Sturbridge, students at Wake Forest. It was always assumed that Claude was the more intelligent just because he knew more than Sturbridge about the arts, the sciences, the social sciences, the humanities, and like that. Sturbridge, on the other hand, was ten times smarter than Claude when it came to tying granny knots. But no matter; everybody looked down on "Stupid Sturbridge," as they called him and looked up at "Clever Claude," as they called him. But who do you think turned out to be the smart one when their granny almost got loose and ran away? You guessed it—good old Stupid Sturbridge.

We arrive now at the final category, financial inferiority. One way to deal with this condition is to increase your income. You can, for example, become a fence. Or you can pose for a life class, if your college is well heated.

But a better way to handle financial inferiority is to accept it philosophically. Look on the bright side of poverty. True, others may have more money than you have, but look at all the things you have that they don't—debts, for instance, and hunger cramps.

And what about friendship? You don't need money to have friends, and let me tell you something, good people: the older you get the more you will realize that nothing is so precious as friendship, and the richest man in the world is the one with the most money.

PROF. DOUGLAS MITCHELL

Assistant Professor of Languages, University of Nevada

SAIL FROM NEW YORK JUNE 26

72 DAYS . . . $1245

SS GROOTE BEER

Students at University of Nevada

(Ages 18-30)

Will have an opportunity to visit Europe with a young professor from the University who has lived, travelled, and studied in Europe extensively during the last 12 years. Best of all is the fact that the 72-day tour, which covers most of Western Europe, is again so very moderate in cost.

In addition to his extensive travels within Europe, Prof. Mitchell speaks fluently, most of the major European languages, to include French, German, Italian, and the Scandinavian languages.

Arrangements for this tour will be under the direction of Durkee Travel Bureau, Inc., using the services of Hilton Tours, specialists in European Student Travel.
