Though the identity of the 1963 MacKay Day Queen is still conjecture, smart Reno gamblers are placing their money on one sure bet. This year's royalty will become a teacher, barring unforeseen events.

Seven out of eight are good odds for any wager as each of the senior candidates are planning a teaching career after graduation from the University in June.

Voting for her highness will begin Monday evening at the mens' residences. Tuesday, open voting will follow for those who were not contacted the previous evening. The poll will be located in the Jot Travis Student Union. Judy Quanchi is supervising the balloting.

Joanie Gansberg, 22, of Delta Delta Delta is from Gardnerville. She is (38-26-40) studying English and loves all sports, but is particularly fond of horseback riding. Brown hair, brown eyes, and 5-6½, she is active in a number of University activities: ASUN historian, Aggie club and corresponding secretary for her sorority. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Chris Gansberg.

When asked for their measurements, our queens replied with such comments as "Nope,"

"It's been so long since I've looked," and "do you really have to have them?"

Some demanded to hear opposition's statistics before venturing their own estimates. Nevertheless, the facts were obtained, adding true "dimension" to Sagebrush reporting.

Kay Killfoil, White Pine Hall's (33-24-36) candidate, is a 21-year-old elementary education major. With brown hair and brown eyes, she stands 5-4 and spends her spare warm weather hours swimming. Inclement weather gives her a chance to practice piano playing, as she has done for many

Greek Dances Set Friday, Saturday

Spring formals are "in" this weekend as one fraternity and two sororities hold their annual dances.

Pi Beta Phi has set tonight as the date for its annual spring formal. It is scheduled to begin with dinner at 7 p. m. at the Hidden Valley country club. From 9 p. m. until midnight, the Pi Phi's will be twisting and doing the "South Bay" to the tunes of the Classics.

The women of Kappa Alpha Theta and their guests will also dine and dance this evening. Their spring formal is slated for the Lancer on the Mt. Rose highway. Dinner is at 7 p. m. and dancing will be from 9 p. m. until midnight to the music of Jan Savage.

Yell, Song Leaders, Rally Group Picked

Yell leaders, songleaders, and members of the re-activated rally committee have been chosen for the coming year.

Four men and two women make up the yell group.

Under a new policy set up by the Senate this spring, four of the yell leaders and the head yell leader must be males. They are Dick Pinion, head; Art Kess, Gary Nelson, Bill McGee, Donna Martin, and Judy Ziegler.

Newly-elected songleaders are

Mary Kay Gezlin, Marcia Oaks, and Kathleen Helsdon.

Rally committee members are Dick "Moose" Armuth, Leroy Goodman, Bill Pollard, Don Dallas, Cheryl Griffin, Laurie Stern, Paty Arnold, and Karry Devencenzi.

They were chosen by a sub-committee of the Senate steering committee with the hopes that re-organization of policies governing yell and songleaders would promote school spirit.

Larry Struve, ASUN second vice-president said there seemed to be a great deal of enthusiasm and spirit on the part of those who tried out.

Armstrong in Vegas

University Future Is Confab Topic

Dr. Charles J. Armstrong, University president, is in Las Vegas this morning to discuss the educational future of the University of Nevada in southern Nevada. He will be attending an all-day Educational Conference today at a Las Vegas strip hotel—the Sahara.

Saturday, he will attend a Clark county session of the Board of Regents.

All discussions will be on a purely educational stage, said Dr. Armstrong. He does not plan to comment on recent effigy-hangings or demonstrations by Nevada Southern students, he told the Sagebrush Wednesday.

Any discussion of the recent occurrences will be "incidental," he said.

Dr. Armstrong, a few weeks ago apologized to Gov. Grant Sawyer for his effigy-lynching at the hands of students at the Southern regional division. Discussion of student actions is not planned at this meeting, he said.

"What we have in mind is to try to explore . . . what kind of directions the University there (Las Vegas) can most effectively move in in the future," said Dr. Armstrong.

Meeting the University of Nevada's three-way responsibility to Nevadans — education, research and public service—involves adequate planning and financing, plus public understanding, he said.

He called public understanding of the University's future moves "essential."

He will attempt to develop a "better total understanding" of the University's future growth problems, and "the recognition of the fact that we can't confine our activities to any one section of the state," he said.

"We have a statewide job to do," reiterated Dr. Armstrong.

His topic, "The Idea of a University: Functions and Purposes," will be followed by an address from William D. Carlson, dean, southern regional division. Carlson will speak on "The Nevada Southern Campus: Problems and Prospects."

Another delegate from the main campus will be Neil Humphrey, University business manager. He will participate in a panel discussion on "The Financial Picture: Can We Afford a Good University?"

Awards Slated For WRA Feed

The annual Spaghetti Feed, sponsored by the Women's Recreation Association, will be held Monday, at 7 p. m. in the dining commons.

Awards will be given to winners of competitive events—basketball, bowling, table tennis, badminton and tennis, at the dinner.

Awards will also be given to participants in WRA sports on the basis of accumulated participation points. Winners will receive WRA pennants, and bronze, silver and gold cups.

A highlight of the awards presentation will be the announcement of next year's sports managers.

What's Good for the Independents

When is an Independent an Independent?

He is not too Independent, it seems when he lets members of the faculty tell him what name he may use or what regalia he may not employ in the organization of that group. In fact, when such a situation as this occurs it is not only his independence that is threatened, but that of all students from faculty control.

During the past semester, a situation has arisen which threatens to upset the system of student independence from faculty control. The problem, over whether Independents could be referred to as "GDI's," has seen some of the most ridiculous nit-picking that we have yet run into from the faculty.

When the Independent Council moved to the task of organizing the Independents last fall, it immediately seized upon the age-old symbol "GDI" as a means of identification. It ordered "GDI"-emblazoned sweatshirts, while some Independents stuck Gamma Delta Iota decals on their automobiles.

Originally, the term meant "g-d damn Independents," but it has been used for so many years that its meaning has mellowed to the point that Independents look to it with affection. It is no wonder that it was seized on as a means to inspire unity in the fledgling Independent movement.

Yet the term is not really good for the Independents, say a group of faculty members on the student-faculty relations subcommittee—a powerful little bunch that must OK constitutions of new student organizations. The faculty censors first forced the Independent Council to abandon its use of the term—then hauled the Sagebrush on the carpet. It would be much nicer, ran the consensus to call them "Indes."

Threatening to withhold approval of the "Organized Association of Independent Students," the group demanded that the Sagebrush cease referring to Independents as GDI's. A letter to this effect from the Independent president appeared in the paper a short time later—but not entirely voluntarily.

At the present date, the constitution has been approved by the committee and by Senate, and is now official. In view of the present situation, the blackmail threat—of withholding recognition from the Independents if the Sagebrush didn't change its policies—is removed.

So don't be surprised if you see the infamous initials pop up in the columns of this paper during the remainder of the semester—and after that beginning next fall. We never really have gone along with faculty control of student affairs, or of any outside control over newspapers. And we don't intend to begin now.

Letters to the Editor

Sagebrush Editor Should Think

Editor, the Sagebrush:

As a former student of the Southern Branch of the University of Nevada, and a permanent resident of Southern Nevada, I would like to express my personal views about your editorial of April 23.

I cannot understand your reasoning when you refer to "Nevada Southern" as a "danger", then remind your readers that "Nevada Southern" is a branch — a southern regional division — and nothing more. I believe everyone is aware that "Nevada Southern" is a branch of the University, and if there is any "danger" it is the fault of the University as a whole. There is no danger in the people of Las Vegas being determined to raise the position of the Southern Branch. The danger lies in the people of the entire State FAILING to support the University as a whole.

Why should either part do without library facilities? I believe the Board of Regents is aware that the Southern Nevada area is growing, that the population is more than double the Reno-Sparks area, and that the people of Southern Nevada pay more than sixty percent of the taxes. These taxes are not used just for Clark County. I am sure the legislature is aware of these things and will act accordingly in the next session as money becomes available.

It is nonsense to suggest that the Southern Branch be financed by Southern Nevada. In the first place because it is already financed for the most part by the people of Southern Nevada, and in the second place the Reno campus needs many improvements also and could ill afford to be involved in any "you pay your way and I'll pay mine" scheme. We all must pay our share for the equal benefit of both areas.

The students at Nevada Southern have been "noisy" as you put it, and that is their right. They are faced with the same prospect that I, and many of my friends were faced with. That is in order to graduate from the University, we must sell our homes, quit our jobs, leave our families and move to Reno for a semester. The expense of maintaining two homes or apartments, the emotional strain involved in leaving your family added to the economic strain of providing for yourself and your family after having to leave your job is difficult.

I cannot find much sympathy for your viewpoint as expressed in the editorial of April 23, however, I cannot believe that you were entirely sincere in your criticism because you offered no constructive solution to your own interpretation of the problems.

"Robbing Peter to pay Paul" is quite a description of the process involved in supporting our University. I believe that you pointed out quite clearly that the Southern Branch was merely a part of the University as a whole.

I believe that as the editor, you have a right, even more than a right you have an obligation to express your views as you see them and to form your own editorial policy. However, before you write the next editorial on this subject it might be wise to do a little research, talk to a few people from Southern Nevada, find a nice quiet place to sit down for a little while, then please — THINK!

Governor Sawyer Will Review Cadets In 26th Governor's Day Ceremony

Plans are being completed by the military department for the 26th annual Governor's Day. The colorful ceremonies will be held this year in Mackay Stadium on Thursday, May 9.

As has been the custom, this year's event will be open to the public. It will begin at 10 a. m., with a concert by the Sixth United States Army Band.

Distinguished military and civilian guests, University deans, and Dr. Charles J. Armstrong, University president, will join Gov. Grant Sawyer in reviewing the cadet corps and presenting awards to outstanding military cadets.

Included on the guest list will be Lt. Gen. John L. Ryan Jr., commanding general, Sixth US Army, and Maj. Gen. J. E. Theimer, commanding general, XV US Army Corps.

The most coveted award, the Governor's Medal, will be presented by Governor Sawyer to the ROTC cadet who has demonstrated exceptional proficiency in military training, observance of the rules of military courtesy and intelligent attention to duty.

Summer School Will Include Local Students

Junior and senior high school students in the Reno-Sparks area will have a chance to study in the University's summer school program. Courses in humanities and language arts including appreciation of poetry, prose, and current affairs will be given.

Journalistic training will be offered through a student publication, the "Sagebrush Junior." Radio work will aid speech training. Relaxation periods will be given an international emphasis with demonstrations of folk dancing from many countries.

"This program has received very commendable reports for the good results achieved with both average and above-average students," reports Dr. Henry Knapp, chairman of the department of secondary education.

Mrs. Gertrude Grimes of Sparks will direct activities. She will be assisted by graduate students in the College of Education.

Coeds May Enter Queen Contest

A search for a "National College Queen" is being conducted by a cosmetics manufacturer. The sponsors are looking for a girl who "most typically represents the American college girl."

To be eligible, a candidate must attend an accredited university, be between the ages of 17 and 22, and be single.

The women will be judged on scholastic ability, personality, campus activities, fashion and cosmetic sense, poise and attractiveness.

Regional finalists will win a trip to New York City. The queen will win $5000 worth of prizes including a sports car, and a trip to Europe.

Applications and further information are available from Penny Levin at White Pine hall, FA 3-9400 or at the Sagebrush office.

There were 2,544 bales of Christmas trees sold on public domain lands in 1960.

Sixteen Trophies Offered For Mackay Day Events

Traditional 19th century dress will again be the theme for the annual Mackay Day celebration, the 50th celebration in honor of benefactors of the University.

The first Mackay Days were "work-days" when all students pitched in and helped clean up the campus, but, Mackay Day today is a non-work holiday.

Many events are scheduled for this year's celebration, which begins Thursday, May 2, and continues through Saturday evening, May 4, ending with a costume dance.

Mackay Day opens with the annual assembly Thursday evening. The assembly is followed by traditional sorority open houses, with sorority women dressed as "belles" of the 1870's. Students are invited to visit the houses from 8-10 p. m.

Obstacle races for men and women students begin Friday's activities and a barbecue dinner in the dining commons will follow the races. Friday's events will be climaxed by a Sundowner-sponsored street dance.

Lt. Governor, Paul Laxalt will be guest speaker at a Mackay Day luncheon in the dining commons, opening Saturday's schedule.

The annual SAE-ATO Lawn Party will follow at Evans park, behind the SAE House. Mackay Day activities will end Saturday evening with the traditional Mackay Day Ball at Mathiesen's hall.

Sixteen trophies will be presented for winners of this year's Mackay Day events. One trophy will be presented to the Mackay Day Queen. Two trophies will be presented to the song team winners; and one each to the winning sorority and fraternity.

Two trophies will be given to obstacle race winners.

Five prizes will be given to winners of the beard contest, for the longest beard, the blackest, the reddest, the thickest, and the best-trimmed beard.

Two trophies will be given for the best and most authentic costume to one man and one woman.

A trophy will be presented to the fraternity with the largest percentage of beards, and one for the sorority with the greatest percentage of costumes.

Two dance trophies will be given, one to a fraternity and one to a sorority, each for top percentages of dance attendance.

Heading this year's Mackay Day committee is Tim Griffin, Alpha Tau Omega.

Tim Grant is chairman of the student-faculty golf meet, tentatively planned for the afternoon of Wednesday, May 1. The nine-hole meet will be held at the Washoe county golf course.

Other committee members include: Charles Burr, co-ordinator; Tom Seeliger and Jinx Dabney, Friday activities; Andy MacKenzie and Harry Culbert, beards; Tom Burns and Sharon Domanici, song teams; Mary Lynn Barnard, dance; Ted Marston, trophies; Jose Alvarez, publicity; Mary Rossolo and Judy Jeppson, luncheon; Susan Royer, corresponding secretary; Murial Ellis, recording secretary; Roy Enochson, art and decorations; and Judy Quanchi, queens.

A-V Machine Copies Documents; 'Zerex 914' Available to Students

By TOM HARVEY

Need extra copies of term papers or other documents?

A new machine, the Zerex 914, which will immediately reproduce on paper anything that will fit on its 9x14 inch plate, is now available for student use. The Zerex 914 is being rented from the Zerex Corporation by the Audio-visual department.

The 914, a desk-sized machine, can make an unlimited number of copies of almost anything. However, copies of pictures are not clear. The reproductions are permanent and are printed in high quality paper.

There is no chance of damaging the original, since it is a dry process. Nothing touches the material being copied but the light from the camera.

The Zerex process is a new and interesting one. An image of the original document or object is projected onto an electro-statically charged drum coated with a sensitive element called metallic selenium.

The drum is automatically sprinkled with a black powder which adheres to the dark portions of the image. Halftones are not picked up as clearly as full ones. The drum then rolls the powder onto an electrostatically charged piece of paper, where it is baked in place.

Service arrangements for use of the machine may be made by calling the Audio-Visual department or the Getchell Library circulation desk.

Elementary Math Offered in Summer

A course that will help elementary school mathematics teachers improve their instructional techniques will be offered in the University of Nevada's summer school program.

"The New Mathematics for Elementary School Teachers" will run from June 24 to August 2.

Materials and consultants will help teachers and future teachers become more familiar with the "new mathematics".

Students may obtain graduate credit if they qualify for it, and undergraduate credit if they do not. Early registration is advisable to be assured of a place in the class.

Nevada Students Urged to Aid 'K-O Polio' Drive

No need to be needled when you take Type III Sabin oral polio vaccine. You just swallow two drops of it on a lump of sugar.

University of Nevada students who squared off for Rounds 1 and 2 of the K. O. Polio fight last year will remember the routine.

It takes only a couple of minutes. You take your filled-out registration form to the K. O. Polio clinic and get your sugar cube with the vaccine on it. You'll have no more after effects than eating a piece of candy.

Round 3 of the K. O. Polio fight is scheduled for one day only — Sunday, May 5. As in the first two rounds, clinics will be set up all over the state.

The program is sponsored by the Nevada State Medical Association and local medical societies. The sponsors urge U of N students to join Nevadans in the third and final round at clinics nearest them, and thereby make Nevada the first state immune from polio.

Students under 21 must have permission from parents or guardians to take the vaccine. The sponsors are urging that out-of-town students arrange as soon as possible to get this permission so they'll be able to take advantage of the one-day, May 5 "K. O. Polio" go-round.

There's no charge for the vaccine, but a 50 cent per person donation is sought.

May 5 clinics will be conducted from 11 a. m. to 6 p. m. in the following Reno schools: Traner Junior high, Billingshurst Junior high, Dilworth Junior high, Otis Vaughn Junior high, Peavine Elementary, and Hunter Lake Elementary. A clinic will be held during the same hours at Sparks High School.

A Reno clinic also will be conducted at the State Building in downtown Reno from 1 to 7:30 p. m.

Alpha Zetas to Celebrate Recognition With Banquet

The Nevada chapter of Alpha Zeta, honorary agriculture fraternity, will celebrate its recognition as an official affiliate of the national AZ fraternity at an installation banquet to be held Saturday in the dining commons.

Guest speaker at the banquet, which will begin at 6:30 p. m., will be the high chancellor of the national Alpha Zeta fraternity, Dr. Louis L. Madsen of Washington State University.

"Alpha Zeta and Agricultural Leadership" will be the topic of Dr. Madsen's speech, which will be followed by a speech by Dr. Charles H. Seufferle, asst. dean of the College of Agriculture, on "Scholarship and the College of Agriculture."

Organized in 1959, the University of Nevada Alpha Zeta club has taken active part in campus activities such as Mackay Day, when it has constructed displays and demonstrated research methods related to the field of agriculture. Annual FFA meetings have found members of the club explaining University functions, careers in agriculture and scholarships to Nevada high school students.

The club's interest in world affairs has prompted them to sponsor a lecture series covering such subjects as "The European Common Market", "The World and

Library Had Meager Start

By MARGIE RUSSELL

The University of Nevada has had nine librarians and five libraries during the past seventy-seven years. From a meager beginning in 1886 with a $500 library room in Morrill hall, the university library building has become a $2,679,000 architectural dream.

In 1886, when the University was still called the State University of Nevada, the Board of Regents allotted $500 to furnish a school library. It was placed on the first floor of Morrill hall with Miss Hannah K. Clapp as librarian.

In the beginning the library housed various donated books and pamphlets but by 1892 it contained 3,312 volumes and over 2000 pamphlets. Money was always short. In the 1889-90 fiscal year, the library spent $58.65.

The first change came in 1897 when all volumes were moved to the basement of Morrill hall. There rooms were allotted to house 5,819 books and 3,892 pamphlets.

In 1901 Miss Clapp retired and was succeeded by four new librarians in six years. In 1907 Mr. J. D. Layman became head librarian and maintained the post until 1929. Serious discussion began in 1911 aimed at a new and fully equipped library.

In 1913 a new library was built at a cost of $10,000. Close to 30,000 volumes were moved into this building, which still stands as the Journalism building. After a few years, a mezzanine floor was added to cope with the expanding library but it became apparent that a newer and much larger building was needed.

For the next thirteen years, the campus waited for a better library building. In 1926 Walter E. Clark, president of the University at this time, persuaded W. A. Clark, Jr., of Butte, Montana, to build a memorial to his wife Alice, a native of Virginia City.

The memorial took the form of the Clark library building, now the Clark administration building.

It was to house $110,000 volumes and cost almost $250,000.

Mr. Layman then retired and Miss Thea C. Thompson was made acting librarian. Miss Thompson had the depression and the Second World War to cope with, but from 1929 to 1944 an average of 1157 volumes were added to the library each year.

In 1944 Miss Thompson retired and James Julian Hill succeeded her, staying with the University as Director of Libraries until 1961.

During this time the number of volumes increased from 68,144 to 150,190. In this same period the enrollment increased from the wartime low of 462 to 2555. Mr. Hill constantly pleaded for more money for salaries and books. By the end of 1956 the space problem in the library became so desperate that the Director requested space for 300 seats and 60,000 volumes outside the main building. In 1958, agricultural books were moved into the College of Agriculture.

On Jan. 9, 1960 ground-breaking ceremonies were held for the Noble H. Getchell Library. It was to provide space for 350,000 volumes and seating space for 1400 students.

An appropriation of $2,679,000 was granted for the building, and a special fund of $115,130 was allocated for the purchase of books and equipment. It was opened to the student body in 1962.

David W. Heron succeeded James J. Hill as Director of the University of Nevada libraries.

German Student Awarded Wilson Scholarship

A Woodrow Wilson scholarship for graduate study in sociology was awarded recently to German born university student Volkes Eisele. Eisele, who hails from Munster, Germany, first attended the University in the fall of 1962.

Before coming to the United States, Volkes attended the university at Munster in Germany. It was there that he met his wife, the former Judith Grafton, a 1960 graduate of the University of Nevada. She had been studying at the German university on a Fulbright scholarship.

Eisele who will graduate after the university summer session, plans to use his scholarship at the University of California at Berkeley.

Comparing American study with that in Germany, Eisele said German universities allow a student more academic freedom. Here, certain courses are a must.

He did say, however, that he admires "the great American system which allows a person, if he is industrious, to get scholarships and other assistance with his education."

"Class distinctions are more rigid in Europe than in America," he said.

Eisele plans to become an American citizen as soon as he becomes eligible.

Youthful Innkeeper Paces Italian Comedy, May 9-11

An Italian comedy, The Mistress of the Inn, will be presented in the Fine Arts building, May 9-11. The play was written by Carlo Goldoni, an outstanding playwright of the eighteenth century.

According to director Robert E. Strane, asst. prof. of speech and drama, the play takes place in an Inn operated by Mirandalina, an 18-year-old girl whose father has just died, leaving her in charge of the business.

Two guests in the Inn, a count and a marquis, compete for the love of Mirandalina. Like most of the aristocrats who have come to the Inn previously, the count and the marquis amuse themselves by fawning and swooning over Mirandalina, who is low born but very pert and charming.

A woman-hating cavalier, Ripafratta, is a recent guest at the Inn. Mirandalina is not used to men who don't succumb to her charms, and takes Ripafratta's hostility as a personal challenge.

She is determined to make the cavalier fall in love with her and, in a series of hilarious encounters, gradually brings the fierce woman-hater to his knees. At the end of the play, Ripafratta is a raging madman.

Mirandalina, however, decides to marry her "faithful servant" Fabrizio.

The count and the marquis congratulated her on her choice and leave in search of more adventure in another Inn. The cavalier, meanwhile, flees the stage cursing the treachery of women.

Michael Keenan plays the part of the count; Ron Gold is the marquis; Mario Balibrera has the part of the cavalier, Richard Pollman portrays Fabrizio; Kathy Francis is Mirandalina; Don Hackstaff is the cavalier's servant, and Jim Bernardi is the count's servant.

The author of the play, Goldoni, is considered by many to be the greatest Italian comic playwright of all time. Goldoni was adept at taking stock characters of the improvised farce of his time and making them into real flesh and blood characters.

Goldoni wrote over 300 plays.

Dormitories Host Spring Formal Saturday Night

"A De La" is the theme of a three-way spring formal to be held Saturday night, from 9 p. m. to 12 in the VFW hall.

White Pine, Manzanita and Artemisia halls will host the semi-formal dance. Balloon-filled pillars will make up the spring decorating theme. Music will be provided by Tom Lee and his band.

Suse Pror, Karen Bone and John Winn are co-chairman of the event. Chaperones will be Mr. and Mrs. Jack Spencer and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Campbell.

Residents of the three dorms are invited to a decorating party starting Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. The students will put up the decorations for the dance and will be served refreshments.

Guests for the spring formal are Mrs. Miriam Meyer, Elaine Mobley, dean of women and Roberta Barnes, asst. dean of women.

Feathered Friends Find Food, Home In Biology Dept.

By SUSIE RUSSELL

"Operation Rescue" is still underway, announced Dean of Women Elaine Mobley Tuesday after seeing to the safety of the five baby mallards pulled from Manzanita lake last week.

The ducks are now in good health and are completely happy in their new home, she said.

The ducks were rescued by Bill Smith, biology technician, and David Nyquist, graduate student in the biology department. The two rowed out and pulled the ducks to safety with a fishing net.

"This is one of the nicest things that has happened on our campus in many a year," said Dean Mobley. "Everyone is so interested in their progress."

Dean Mobley and Miss Roberta Barnes, asst. dean of women, found the ducks swimming on the lake without a mother, and asked Dr. Ira La Rivers of the biology department, if they would live without some type of protection.

He said he doubted it, and told Nyquist and Smith of the problem. The two pulled the ducks ashore and gave them temporary shelter in the basement of the biology department.

Dean Mobley purchased some baby chick starter mash and continued to feed the ducks.

Bill Smith gives all the credit for the saving of the ducks to Dean Mobley, and the Dean gives all the credit to the biology department.

The ducks are now living in a large fish tank, with its sides covered with aluminum to keep out the sight of humans.

"We don't want the ducks to grow accustomed to humans," said Smith.

"We will put them back on the lake when they are ready. Until that time, we are trying not to 'imprint' the sight of human beings on them."

Reno Stations Carry Campus News Broadcasts

"University of Nevada News" is now broadcast weekly on five local radio stations in the Reno area. The program, a weekly summary of University news is written and reported by students in a special radio newswriting class in the journalism department.

The stations carrying the newscast are KNEV, KBET, KOLO, KOH, and KONE.

Only two of the stations have scheduled the broadcast at regular times each week. They are KNEV, which plays it Thursday at 5 p. m. and KBET, which puts it on the air at 9:10 p. m. on Thursday.

College Bowl Team Has Busy Sked

A busy and fun-filled time awaits the four team members and one alternate who will fly to New York city in May to compete in the "College Bowl" TV quiz show.

The team and its coach, Dr. Harold Kirkpatrick, will leave for New York on May 17.

They will stay at the Waldorf-Astoria, and will include a Friday "night on the town", a Saturday sight seeing tour, and the theatre on their agenda.

Each person will be given $25 spending money per day, but their hotel bills will be subtracted from this sum.

Sunday morning, the team will report to the studio at 11 a. m. for a briefing by William Earl, moderator of the show. Lunch with the producer, Mr. John Clearly, will follow.

Team Selected

From 2-2:15 p. m., a one minute movie showing each campus will be run and the team captains will practice giving the 250 word narration that goes with it. The audio-visual department prepared the Nevada campus scenes.

The first real practice session will be held from 2:15-3:15. An hour break will follow and a dress rehearsal will be held from 4:15-4:45.

The show will be taped before a live audience from 5:30 to 6 p. m. Anyone wishing tickets may see Dean Basta. Alumni who live in New York are being urged to attend, he said.

Warm Ups

Final selection of the four team members who will compete on the nation-wide "College Bowl" TV quiz show has been concluded, announced Dr. Sam Basta, dean of students, Tuesday.

"We are quite pleased with the selection, and wish to thank the many people who helped us with the selection. We are sorry that all eight of the semi-finalists could not have been included", Basta said.

A formal statement will be issued Monday morning to announce the four team members and one alternate who will travel to New York on May 17.

Dr. Harold Kirkpatrick is the team advisor. He also served as moderator during the practice sessions held in recent weeks.

The eight semi-finalists appeared on television twice during the past week. They were on KOLO TV Sunday afternoon, and returned Wednesday night.

Last Friday they appeared in the dining commons for a practice run before a University audience.

On Sunday afternoon the eight contestants answered 48 questions correctly out of 57.

The two practice teams ended competition in a tie, with 24 correct answers on each side.

"The questions were slightly more difficult than those used on the national College Bowl," said Dr. Kirkpatrick.

"We hope to pitch the final four against a series of faculty members before we actually go to New York," he said.

The final sessions "will not be open to the public," said Dr. Kirkpatrick.

Baseball, Track Teams Meet Chico Saturday

Cinder Contest Set For Mackay Meet Tomorrow

By TOM DYE

Sagebrush Sports Staff

The powerful Nevada track squad, undefeated in dual meet action since 1959, will take on the Chico State Wildcats at Mackay Stadium tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 p. m. Nevada has pulverized four straight foes by lopsided scores this season.

Pack Coach Dankworth believes that Nevada will face several tough tests in individual events. However, Nevada's depth should give Nevada an easy victory.

Chico's star middle distance man Bill Schipper ran a 4:21 mile and a 1:56 half in a dual meet with Sacramento State and should give Nevada runners a good race in these events. Nevada will depend on Bud Forman, who has run 1:54.7 this season, Ron Lee, Sam Rutland, and Tom Beardsley to match Schipper in the 880 and the mile.

Chico also has a good pole vaulter in freshman George Cooley who has cleared over thirteen feet this season. Nevada has a quartet of pole vaulters who have cleared between 13' 6 and 14 feet this season in Jerry Bacigalupi, Ryan Melton, Bob Cleare and "Doc" Williams.

High jumper Bud Knock of the Wildcats has cleared 6' 2", but will have difficulty with Larry Moore and Duncan Edwards of Nevada both of whom have cleared 6' 5". Jay Edwards of Nevada has also cleared 6' 2". The Mackay Stadium record is 6' 5½" held by Johnny Mathis who competed for San Francisco State.

One of the most interesting races could be the 220. Joe Cook of the Chico Wildcats ran a 22.2 220 in poor weather. Fred Fralich and John Manke of Nevada have been running between 21.6 and 21.8 in this event during the season.

Pete Hanson of Chico ran a 9:52

Irelandmen Look For Sunny Skies In California

By GARY HOLGATE

Sagebrush Sports Staff

The Wolf Pack baseballers will travel to Chico State Saturday, for a third try at opening their part of the FWC race. The team has tried three times this season to play a conference game, but the weather nixed all three attempts.

Coach Bill Ireland has assigned Dennis Scott and Don Banta for the mound chores for Saturday's double-header. Scott has won four games without a defeat and has the top earned run average of the Wolf Pack hurlers. Banta is a 2-0 on the season.

The Nevadans split a non-conference double-header with the "Wildcats" earlier in the season at Moana Stadium winning the first game but dropping the nightcap. Coach Ireland juggled his lineup in the second contest to give his whole team more experience, but he probably will stick to the regular line-up for both ends of the twin-bill Saturday.

The Pack will take its 10 and 3 record and also its three game winning streak into the Chico contest. In their last three games, it took a doubleheader from Nevada Southern and whipped St. Mary's last week.

Remaining Schedule

April 27—Chico State (2) at Chico 3:00 p. m.

May 4—S. F. State (2) at San Francisco 1:00 p. m.

May 5 Santa Clara (1) at Santa Clara 1:00 p. m.

May 11—Sacramento State (2) at Sacramento

May 18—Cal Aggies (2) at Reno
The doubleheader with Humboldt State which was snowed out last Saturday will be made up in Redding, California but the date has not been set.

Coach Dankworth might have his trackmen run events that aren't their specialties such as having half milers running the mile and sprinters running the quarter, or vice versa. Next week the Nevada squad will take on the Sacramento State Hornets at Sacramento in what should be Nevada's stiffest test of the season.

'Take Five'

By JOHN FIRPO

Great day in the morning, the AWS judiciary council came through. Thanks to the efforts of prexy Mary Rossolo, gals on campus will get twelve o'clocks on Thursday night of Mackay weekend. Other extensions are currently being sought. It's really not surprising the rules have been given a little slack, especially in light of the way the Manzanita waterfowl have been carrying on all semester.

The Senior Greeks (graduating and non-graduating seven-year ones) held a sneak at Shakey's Monday night. Topic of those who could talk was what's planned between now and June 4th. According to sober sources, the Senior class committee has ordered enough champagne for the Senior Ball to satisfy the thirsts of 10-thousand Frenchmen.

The Shakey celebration went (flowed) along pretty well till midnight. All the gals seemed to be beating a path between the tables and the powder room for some odd reason, especially Linda Boerer (Gordy wasn't even there), Sheri Harwood, and Lee Ann Zimmerman (who complained the beer gave her a toothache.)

Overnights are in. The SAE's will be holding theirs at Strawberry Lodge. The Theta Chis will hold theirs at ? ? ?. Four frats will have their overnights May 11th—the weekend after Mackay Day. The Taus have Strawberry Lodge, the Snakes will be at Olympic Village in Squaw Valley, the Lambda Chi's are planning a dance for Hidden Valley C. C. and Phi Sigs travel to Topaz Lodge at Topaz Lake.

The Mackay Day committee has announced an unusual first for the traditional event. There's to be a tug-of-war contest over a mud-puddle at Idlewild Park between the CCUN and the Realist Alliance. Another match will pit Blue Key against the Sundowners.

Pi Beta Phi, White Pine and Manzanita, and the Thetas will have their Spring formals tonight. The Tri-Delts and Gamma Phis hold theirs on May 10th.

Married Monday night were Mike Mirabelli and Diane (Sam) Brown along with Andrea Douglas and Don Pahor. The new wives still live in White Pine hall.

Senior Barry Gagen and journalism student Judy Zagortz of Las Vegas announced their engagement and forthcoming June marriage. By the way (three weeks late) Vickie Snyder and Steve Flemming are pinned.

It may be coincidence but there's going to be a Square Dance Festival going on during Mackay Day at the Reno hi gym. Watch for the annual Coffin and Keys initiation raids coming soon. Four couples and one stag dancer in Marietta, Georgia, set a new twist record of 62 hours and 30 minutes. This fete replaces the 50-mile hike craze.

Since Mackay Day is only one column away, we interviewed several Campus cuties on their reactions to Nevada men wearing beards on dates. Here's the answers we got:

JUDY SCHMIDT: "They tickle when you kiss, but I believe once a season is enough".

BETTY WHELAN: "They're cool as long as they are long and not scratchy, otherwise you get whisker burns."

LYN JOHNSON: "After you're used to them they're not so repulsive."

JANIE HOLCOMB: (galfriend of SN Dan Forshler) "I'm sure glad Dan doesn't have one."

BARBARA PHILLIPS: "I love them . . . they feel so good on my face."

LEE ANN ZIMMERMAN: "I don't like them, I don't think men are handsome with them."

KATHY MCKAIG: "If my date wore one, I'd glue a Brillo soap pad to my face to get even."

KAREN McDONALD: "I wouldn't say because I had a terrible experience with a beard two weeks ago."

KAY LOTT: "I HATE and detest them."

JANIE THOMPSON: "I kinda like them, but if I don't know the guy very well I would definitely want it off."

LINDA KNOBBS: "FRANKLY I haven't been out necking with bearded men to know."

SALLY NEWPORT: (Editor's Note: Censored).

During Mackay Day festivities the Student Union has arranged for the appearance of Bud and Travis. Also in town during the wild west days will be the New Christy Minstrel Singers at Harolds Club's Seventh Floor. If you liked Peter Nero's performance last Thursday, he's got a new album out called "Hail the Conquering Nero". It's got "Midnight in Moscow", "Granada", "What Kind of Fool Am I?" and others on it. Dennis Day is now at the Nugget Circus room.
