

Joanne Pritchard Reigns

Independent Coed Chosen by Males As Mackay Queen

By DUNCAN KNOWLES

A lovely and energetic, guitar-strumming Fallon coed with a smile to melt John Mackay's statue reigns tonight as 1963 Mackay Day queen. Apparently Joanne Pritchard's charms have not been unnoticed by the majority of male students at the University who voted the off-campus Independent candidate onto this year's throne.

With pretty brown eyes and brown hair, and a 37-23-36 figure, Joanne is every inch a regal queen.

Her father, Rev. Joseph H. Pritchard of Fallon spoke for her family, "We're very glad for her." Janice, Jean and Judy, Joanne's sisters, and one brother, Joe, Jr., have given her many exciting moments between her younger years and her college days. Presently she is living with her twin sister, Janice, a nursing major, in an apartment near the University.

All the 1963 Mackay Day princesses are planning teaching careers, and Joanne, 22, is no exception. After graduation in June she can choose from offers received from Denver, Colo.; Portland, Ore., and others within Nevada. She is undecided as to which of these offers will bet her final OK.

Under the auspices of the World Council of Churches, Joanne spent three months in Europe during the summer of 1961 attending an ecumenical work camp. Two of the three months were spent near Glasgow, Scotland, while the third was devoted to travel in the continental European countries. As the round trip funds for traveling and living expenses were not provided by the Council, Joanne dropped a semester of study to raise the needed money. On her return she took a heavy burden of summer school courses to balance the deficit.

Her family in Fallon viewed her on television this week with other candidates and found it quite a thrill. "We've always been a pretty close family," said her father, "so the kids really enjoyed it."

Horseback riding and making her own clothes take up a good portion of Joanne's spare hours. What remains is left to strumming a guitar for "pure relaxation."

Costumes, Activities Usher in Three-Day Mackay Blast

By DOUG BRUCKNER

Mackay Day's roaring fiftieth anniversary staggers into its last two days with six big activities remaining for Nevada's celebrating students.

Male students are attending classes in wide-brimmed hats, and carrying ropes and guns. This year's Mackay Day committee has banned live and blank ammunition from the celebration, however.

Women will exhibit their needle and thread stylings in floor-length, 19th century style dresses, most of them designed by the women themselves.

A costume contest will be held this year, with entrants invited to sign up this morning between 8 a.m. and noon for the competition.

Obstacle races, formerly held on campus in the quad area and Mackay stadium, have been switched to Idlewild Park this year.

A committee headed by hard-working Jinx Dabney will supervise the 2 p.m. activities this afternoon which include a tug-of-war between the new members of Blue Key, a national honor fraternity, and the Sundowners, the University good fellowship group.

A hot dog feed will follow the races at 5 p.m., for all participants and spectators.

Friday evening the Sundowners, traditionally in the spirit of the Mackay Day activities, will sponsor a "Levi Formal" dance in the old gymnasium.

Last year this event was scheduled for a street near the campus, and labeled "The Mackay Day Street Dance." Unfortunately the cold and windy weather that helped dampen some Mackay enthusiasm forced the event's sponsors to move the dance into the old gym. The rustic location was so successful that the dance will be held in the same spot again this year.

Tomorrow at noon, days of long, tedious practice come to and end for the song teams who traditionally entertain at the Mackay Day luncheon in the new gym.

In addition to the song teams, Lt. Gov. Paul Laxalt will speak to the festively-clad audience on early-day legislatures.

After the luncheon, students will adjourn to the lawn next to the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity house for the SAE-ATO lawn party. The excitement starts at 3 p.m.

Members of the fraternities indicate that refreshments will be served.

The gala Mackay dance will end the celebration Saturday night at

Have One on Mackay

Sometimes, lost in the aura of festivities and fun we tend to lose the real meaning of Mackay Day. Fifty years ago some students on this campus set aside a day to honor one of Nevada's greatest benefactors, John Mackay.

As the special day has evolved, it has now taken on the meaning of song teams, the dance, drinking, and general hell-raising. The statue at the end of the quadrangle usually can be found (all for the sake of tradition) adorned with ladies undergarments or a coat of paint.

But the Mackay family, one of Nevada's greatest mining families, has endowed the University with countless dollars for studies in mining and other academic pursuits.

So perhaps in the midst of the fun, it might be a good idea to think of John Mackay or have a beer on him anyway.

ATO Tim Griffin Is Head Man Of 1963 Mackay Day Celebration

Tim Griffin, a 21-year-old junior from Carson City, is heading the 50th annual Mackay Day celebration.

The bearded president of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity and his committee have been working on the Mackay Day events since the beginning of this semester. "Things are progressing very well," says Griffin, "Friday's weather is our main concern right now."

A field day and barbecue at Idlewild Park is this year's new activity.

Larger than previous Mackay Day field days, this is the first time it has been held off campus.

"I am thankful to my committee and all the other people who have done so much to help me with the many aspects and activities of Mackay Day this year", said Griffin.

Elected "1961 Playboy", Griffin is a member of Blue Key, Sundowners, and served as sophomore class president.

Mackay Dance Ends Festivities

Amid hay wagons, buckboards, and piles of straw, the rip-roaring Nevada of the 1890's will come alive as bearded gentlemen and their ladies celebrate the 50th Mackay day at a Saturday night dance.

Chaperones will be Dr. and Mrs. William Miller, Maj. and Mrs. Edward Lawlor, Dean Elaine Mobley, and Dr. Arthur Hastings.

AWS hours have been extended until 2 a. m. for the special event.

Mary Lyn Barnard, chairman of the dance committee, said that tickets would be on sale in the student union until 2 p. m. today. Price is $1.25 per couple.

CCUN Backs Dance Class for Students

A move to generate interest in folk dancing on campus was made Thursday night as the Collegiate Council for the United Nations sponsors a dance method class for University students.

Under the supervision of Iona Mowrer, asst. prof. of physical education, students from "dance method" provided instruction in basic folk dancing routines, including polkas.

Dean Basta Remembers 'The Good Old Days,' Mackay Day, 1937

Rain was expected for the twenty-fifth Mackay Day on March 20, 1937, but that didn't hinder anyone's anticipation. Especially not Sam Basta's, Nevada sophomore and newly-elected president of the Sundowners.

This was to be his second Mackay Day, and he looked forward to it as much as the other 900 students on the University of Nevada campus did in 1937.

Times have changed since then, for instead of a three-day celebration for its benefactors, filled with parties, open houses, games, and speakers, it was a time for the annual Spring Cleanup. It was a time for good-fellowship and good will.

As Dean Basta remembers it, the day began at 8 a. m., with all male students registering their six-week beard growth. It was mandatory for all male students able to grow beards to do just that.

The percentage of bearded men from each living group were checked, and the winning group would receive a cup during the Forty-Niner's dance that evening.

At 8:30, there was a work check-in for all male students. The coeds prepared the lunches for the males and the rest of the workers. Dean Basta, along with his brothers from Alpha Tau Omega, were assigned the job of cleaning up the baseball field.

"You would have been amazed at how clean the entire campus looked after the Mackay Day clean-up," related Dean Basta. "It was a gay time, with a 100 per cent participation from the faculty and students. But a lot of work was accomplished, and we were all very proud of it."

At 11:30, the luncheon began in the gym. The committee in charge of the food had decided to do away with the mad, help-yourself service of previous years, and had instead decided to have box lunches. As Basta remembers, "the food was terrible, but it was fun."

After the luncheon, the song terms from the different living groups competed. The order in which they sang was determined by the Mackay Day queen. At the beginning of the luncheon, she drew names and numbers from a hat, and the teams sang in that order.

After the contest, a student body meeting was held.

The presentation of awards to outstanding students in athletics and publications was made. The nomination of candidates for student body president and AWS president followed.

Two teams of men chosen from many who had reported to the spring football practice competed in a football game after the student body meeting. The annual inter-class track meet followed the game.

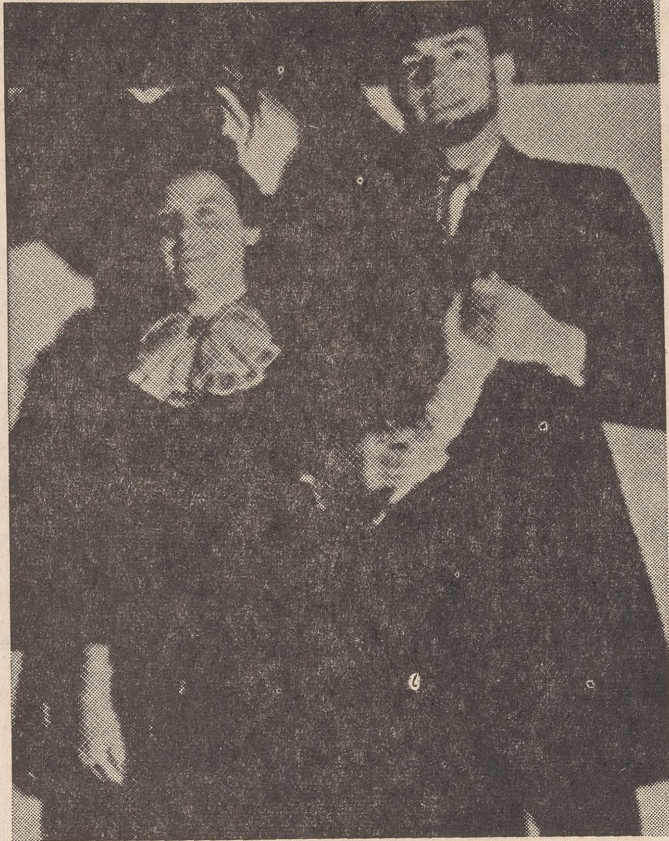

The twenty-fifth Mackay Day closed that evening with the Forty-Niner dance. Cups and prizes were given to the best, the blackest, and the reddest beards; the most typical costumes worn by the dancers, and to the winners of the song team contest.

Dean Basta received a prize that year for one of the best costumes. He came as Abraham Lincoln, and with his black beard and stove pipe hat, looked the part of the character in a very convincing way.

"Mackay Day in 1937 was a wonderful time. The spirit and the 100% participation of students and faculty in the clean-up is something I'll never forget.

The campus scene is different, with only 900 students attending the University that year," commented Basta.

"There was much more faculty-student feeling present in those days. But that was due to the difference in enrollment. I'll never forget Mackay Day then, but I'll also always remember this coming celebration; for as the years go by, people and things must change to suit the times and we are doing just that."

Coeds to Cover Up Legs in Gay 90's Fashions Today

By MIMI SKILLICORN

Nevada coeds will discard short skirts, knee socks, bermuda's and stretch pants, today to dress in the long, but ladylike, costumes of the days of Nevada pioneers.

Women who have previously been seen pacing the campus in above-the-knee dresses will don bustles and hoops, or wind up singing to the campus in a cage provided for the non-joiners.

Feminine costumes and male beards are Mackay customs on the Reno campus. While the men spend most of the Spring semester proving they really do shave, coeds and their mothers have been selecting patterns, choosing material and sewing endlessly on the long dresses.

Students strive for authentic dress, but on Mackay day one can find more variations than the pioneers probably ever saw.

Since 1913, when the first Mackay Day was celebrated, the dress of the college coed has changed a great deal.

In 1913, the typical college coed wore sweeping skirts that touched the ground. By 1919, coeds barely showed their ankles and did away with the waistline. The 'Roaring 20's' brought the discovery of the knee, the sunken chest, and abandonment of the waistline altogether.

Coeds during World War II shocked the nation by wearing slacks for the first time. Coeds at Nevada in the 1940's weren't with it if they failed to own several calf length dresses with tiny waists and round-toed high heels.

Thick white socks rolled below the ankle and full skirts, stuffed with as many petticoats as a woman could manage, transformed the coed into a little girl with big feet.

Next came the sack dress, accompanied by shouts of protest from the men. Finally, as waistlines reappeared, men began to stop shouting. Knees, busts, and legs reappeared on the modern American woman.

On the University campus today men will not see knees peaking from above bermuda sox. Instead university women will be dressed in long flowing dresses reminiscent of the late 1800's. Peeking from old-fashioned sun bonnets, however, one might see pixie haircuts, pony tails, and hair streaked blonde or red. Mackay Day regression is not total.

Activities Slated For Idlewild Park

Friday activities for Nevada's fiftieth Mackay Day will start at 2:30 p. m. today at Idlewild Park. Obstacle races, contests, and a barbecue highlight the day's activities.

The Activities Day trophies will be awarded to the male and female teams compiling the most points in the day's competition.

Fraternity, sorority, and independent teams will make up the competing groups. Group 1: KAT, SAE, SPE. Group 2: DDD, LXA, PSK. Group 3: PBP, ATO. Group 4: GPB, SN, TC. Group 5: "Indies".

The obstacle races run in this order:

1. Girl pushing peanut with nose to lake shore.
2. Boy swimming to middle of lake.
3. 4 boys on raft to edge of lake.
4. Girls riding on back of boy.
5. Boy running in gunny sack.
6. Girl skating.
7. Girl on tri-cycle.
8. Boy running.
9. Girls in three-legged race.
10. Boy brick walking.
11. Boys wheel-barreling.
12. Girl blindfolded through obstacles.
13. Boy with nose on bat, running around same.
14. Boy will find 1 brassiere, 1 girdle, 1 dress, 1 hat, and 1 pair of high heels to don and will proceed to finish line.

The barbecue at 4 p. m. will cost each weary contestant or on-looker $1.25.

'Take Five'

By JOHN FIRPO

Women here, women there, women just about everywhere. And in bermudas, shorts, short-shorts, and bikinis no less. The lawn around Manzanita looks like Fort Lauderdale on Easter vacation.

Blue Key's Project Mud's future will be announced tomorrow at the luncheon by Prexy Bob Blair. In the meantime, the waters of Manzanita have risen to the maximum level. The Blue Key new initiates painted the Tram a bright turquoise last week.

The men wearing the shiny gold "sheriff's deputy" badges are none other than the men's upperclass committee. The new lawmen are: Dick Pinion, Andy MacKenzie, Bill Mortenson, Tim Griffin, Harry Culbert, Tim Grant, Jim Bronson and yours truly. Their job this weekend is to "chaperone" events, dunk-Quad-crossers, and escort non-western dressed students and faculty to the Black Maria.

The fraternity with the most "hair" on campus is Alpha Tau Omega. The Taus, Lambda Chis and Sig Eps all had 50% or more of their members wearing beards. Meanwhile, Beard Chairmen Andy MacKenzie and Harry Culbert report that the four other frats, Sigma Nu, SAE, Phi Sigs, and Theta Chi, had percentages lower than 50%. Their averages might have been higher had the beard counters included "peach fuzz".

Today at 3:30, Vice-President Kenneth Young's (faculty) go up against the students in a volleyball game at Idlewild.

If any of you campus cuties want to earn some easy money and be on television at the same time, see Dick Ralley or Jim Bentley at KCRL Television. They're looking for three gals with cheerleading experience for a special kind of commercial.

Spring is surely here, it must be. There was a definite increase in fatalities the past week. Former Pi Phi Mackay Queen Joan Ruark announced her engagement and forthcoming marriage to former Manogue basketball star Jim Mequire. Miss Ruark is now the head of the girl's P. E. department at Wooster High.

GDI Lois Taylor and Tau Dave Bianchi announced their engagement. Theta Sue Whitaker and Tau Bruce Park are pinned. Also pinned were Pi Phi Kay Sorenson and Sigma Nu Mike Blakely.

The Pi Phis held their annual Spring formal at Hidden Valley Friday night. John Dolan was named their "Arrow Man". Dates there were Bill Green and Jane Elliot, Joel Glover and Cynthia Geyer (a chance for Joel?), Joe DeArrieta and Andrea Walker, Jinx Dabney and Virginia Frost, Tim Griffin and Pam Plath, Dennis Golden and Muriel Ellis, Dennis Farnessi and Penny White, Bill Lohse and Mimi Patrick, Joanne Denny and Charlie Bogue, Don Dalton and Karry Devencenzi, Charlie Steiner and Jackie Uhalde, Don Banta and Judy Wilson, Bob Alward and Barbara Coughlan, Ron Banta and Leslie Eastwood, Karen Branch and Rich Spalding, Jody Miller and Dennis Scott, Pat Plenn and John Dolon, Andy Gottelli and Margaret Coughlan. Wonder how many of these were the "thieves" that stole three-fourths of the table pieces at the exclusive country club.

Over the weekend, Danny Ferrier was seen having a good time with one Dick Weishaupt at the Fallon High Rodeo. No comment from date Wayne Kolledge except a rumor to the effect he's going to try his play-the-field tactics on one Lee Ann Zimmerman.

At the Theta formal, Russ Browne and Michele Maupin, Mary Lou McKenzie and Ron Bath, Kay Park and Tom Seeliger, Liz Rusk and Steve Turner, Kay Lott and Larry Petty, Diane McManus and Tom Cook, Carolyn Webster and Jack McGill, Lee Ann Zimmerman and John Murphy (both Zimmerman's and Webster's dates were visitors from Utah U.).

Freshman parachuter-coed Mary Garn may be joined by another Nevada gal — Suzi Royer — if the latter can wangle her parent's support.

The White Pine formal was held at the V. F. W. hall. Seen there were John Phillip and Marilyn Patterson, Jerry Schutz and Suzi Prior, Lance Sparks and Marsha Mooney, Roger Cornwall and Peggy Matson, Rick Glass and Judy Beckering, Larry Struve and Sharon Domenici, Duncan Knowles and Rodell Sharp, JoAnn Hargrave and Dennis Anastassatos. Two stags were "Indies" Dewey Kirkeeng and Dave Turner.

Campus Foes Square Off in Tug-of-War

By TOM HARVEY

If you are tired of the sometimes hot-headed and long-winded campus politicians you read about and listen to all year, why not hitch a ride down to Idlewild Park today at 3 p. m. and watch some of them meet the greatest pitfalls in their lives.

The event is the "First Annual Tug-of-War for Aspiring Campus Politicians." Pitted against one another will be the Sundowners and Blue Key; and the Realist Alliance and the Collegiate Council for the United Nations (CCUN). The competing teams will line up, each at its own end of a long rope, and each one on the opposite sides of a large mud pit.

The battles will probably be the last political skirmishes of the year. To start things off, the famed Sundowners, who can truthfully claim a "party" platform, and whose meeting place is the now controversial "Little Wal", will meet the members of Blue Key, which is often referred to as a national honorary fraternity "for good guys with blue blazers."

One or two of the contestants have divided interests, however, and this presents a problem.

As a member of both organizations, Andy MacKenzie was forced to make a hard decision. His final comment: "I will be representing the Sundowners, because they have done more for the University than any other group on this campus." When asked if that included Blue Key, he refrained from commenting.

The second event will be the Realist Alliance against the CCUN, two clubs that have been battling it out most of the year.

On the left side will be the CCUN, which has recently claimed that it is a non-political group made up of both supporters and opponents of the United Nations.

Trying to pull them over to the right-hand side will be members of the Realist Alliance, headed by its new president, Mike Hislop. Steve Miller, an originator of the Realist Alliance, had little to say about the match, but he did ask that we mention that only one member of the CCUN has been selected to appear on "College Bowl", while two members of the Realist Alliance won spots on the team. What this has to do with tug-of-war was not made clear.

Ex-Sagebrush Chief Visits Nevada Campus

Don Graydon, former editor of University of Nevada Sagebrush, paid a visit to the campus last weekend.

He is an information officer with the U. S. Army in Hawaii.

Upon discharge at Christmas, he expects to join the staff of the United Press International or a newspaper in the San Francisco Bay area.

U of N Benefactor Clarence Mackay Was Popular With Students

By SUE RUSSELL

Much has been written concerning the Mackay family, and about Clarence H. Mackay, the greatest benefactor the University has ever known. But little is mentioned about Mackay's actions when he appeared at various University celebrations.

In 1908, Clarence Mackay was kidnaped from President J. E. Stubb's home by nine University football players.

Mackay disappeared at exactly 7:30 p. m. on October 18, 1908.

At the home of the president of the University, a formal dinner was being given in honor of Clarence Mackay. The entire faculty was present and had just been seated at the table when the doorbell rang.

President Stubb, answering the door, was confronted with three men requesting a word with Mackay.

"Won't you step in a moment, please?" he asked.

"No, thank you, we just want to ask Mr. Mackay a question—won't take a minute," was the reply.

Suspiciously, President Stubb peered into the darkness from the porch and was certain that he saw five figures behind the pillars, but being a gracious host as well as a good president, he escorted Mackay to the door.

The porch door suddenly swung open and Clarence Mackay was lifted from his feet and taken out into the night, leaving the president open-mouthed in astonishment.

Much confusion followed in the presidential home. Everyone questioned President Stubb at once. Where had their guest of honor gone and why? The president, however, did not wish to commit himself. Several days later the intricate kidnaping plot was exposed to the public.

Much to the disappointment of the students of the University, the entertainment committee in charge of showing Mackay the University, the town, and a general good time, had neglected to include in their program any entertainment with the students.

Teas, formal dinners, luncheons and speeches comprised the program for the honored guest.

As a result, a self-appointed committee of football men decided that the only way to have Mackay to themselves was through kidnaping him.

Nine students waited outside the president's residence excitedly awaiting their opportunity. After they succeeded in getting Mackay to themselves they proceeded to show him the town in good western style.

Rumor is that Mackay didn't miss a thing and neither did the students.

The following year, Mackay again was involved with the students of the University; and again, it was an incident that the University officials did not plan.

As guest of honor at the University in 1909, Mackay and his wife were present to dedicate the new football field and stadium.

The Mackay's were scheduled to sit with the president and the faculty to watch the game between the Wolf Pack and a West Coast team.

However, Mackay's idea of enjoying a game was not that of being a dignitary. Escaping from his hosts, Mackay went to Lincoln hall, where students outfitted him in a sombrero, blue flannel shirt, and corduroys to make him "one of the boys."

With the help of the hall men, he learned the college yells and then went back to the game.

The entire stadium responded to his motions and with his actions, the Nevada-Barbarian football game started.

Mackay stood between two official university yell leaders, and helped the students to cheer the team of '09 to victory. Following the game, Mackay was initiated into T. H. P. O. fraternity, (later Sigma Alpha Epsilon) and attended a formal banquet.

Delegates Chosen For SDX Confab

A station wagon load of journalism majors representing the University of Nevada will attend the third annual regional conference of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism society, in San Diego, Calif., this weekend.

The delegates were chosen during a meeting last week of the undergraduate chapter of Sigma Delta Chi. Those named were John Bromley, Paul Boeyink, Charles Weisenfeld, and professors A. L. Higginbotham and Theodore Conover.

In other action taken by the group, Bruce Pozzi was named editor of the 1963-64 school directory. He succeeds John Firpo.

May 7 was the date set for the annual election of officers and initiation banquet. The banquet will be held at the Santa Fe hotel.

Brushfire Backs Poetry Reading

An experiment in fund-raising is part of an English Club move to sponsor prizes for the best contributions to the litereray magazine, "Brushfire."

The experiment will take the form of a concert poetry reading featuring three readers working on a unified theme. No more than 50 people will be admitted to each showing. Tickets may be obtained through English club members.

Prizes will be awarded for the best poem, short story, and best piece of artwork printed in the Brushfire, soon to appear on campus.

HOW TO SEE EUROPE FOR ONLY $300 A DAY: NO. 2

Last week we discussed England, the first stop on the tour of Europe that every American college student is going to make this summer. Today we will take up your next stop—France, or the Pearl of the Pacific, as it is generally called.

To get from England to France, one greases one's body and swims the English Channel. Similarly, to get from France to Spain, one greases one's body and slides down the Pyrenees. And, of course, to get from France to Switzerland, one greases one's body and wriggles through the Simplon Tunnel. Thus, as you can see, the most important single item to take to Europe is a valise full of grease.

No, I am wrong. The most important thing to take to Europe is a valise full of Marlboro Cigarettes—or at least as many as the customs regulations will allow. And if by chance you should run out of Marlboros in Europe, do not despair. That familiar red and white Marlboro package is as omnipresent in Europe as it is in all fifty of the United States. And it is the same superb cigarette you find at home—the same pure white filter, the same zestful, mellow blend of tobaccos preceding the filter. This gem of the tobacconist's art, this prodigy of cigarette engineering, was achieved by Marlboro's well-known research team—Fred Softpack and Walter Fliptop—and I, for one, am grateful.

He introduced shortness to France

But I digress. We were speaking of France—or the Serpent of the Nile, as it is popularly termed.

Let us first briefly sum up the history of France. The nation was discovered in 1066 by Madame Guillotine. There followed a series of costly wars with Schleswig-Holstein, the Cleveland Indians, and Jean Jacques Rousseau. Stability finally came to this troubled land with the coronation of Marshal Foch, who married Lorraine Alsace and had three children: Flopsy, Mopsy, and Charlemagne. This later became known as the Petit Trianon.

Marshal Foch—or the Boy Orator of the Platte, as he was affectionately called—was succeeded by Napoleon, who introduced shortness to France. Until Napoleon the French were the tallest nation in Europe. After Napoleon most Frenchmen were able to walk comfortably under card tables. This later became known as the Hunchback of Notre Dame.

Napoleon, after his defeat by Credit Mobilier, was exiled to Elba, where he made the famous statement, "Able was I ere I saw Elba." This sentence reads the same whether you spell it forward or backward. You can also spell Marlboro backward—Oroblam. Do not, however, try to smoke Marlboro backward because that undoes all the pleasure of the finest cigarette made.

After Napoleon's death the French people fell into a great fit of melancholy, known as the Louisiana Purchase. For over a century everyone sat around moping and refusing his food. This torpor was not lifted until Eiffel built his famous tower, which made everybody giggle so hard that today France is the gayest country in Europe.

Each night the colorful natives gather at sidewalk cafes and shout "Oo-la-la!" as Maurice Chevalier promenades down the Champs Elysees swinging his malacca cane. Then, tired but happy, everyone goes to the Louvre for bowls of onion soup.

The principal industry of France is cashing travellers checks. Well sir, I guess that's all you need to know about France. Next week we will visit the Land of the Midnight Sun—Spain.

At WRA 'Spaghetti Feed' Coeds Receive Athletic Awards

Individual and group awards were given to outstanding women in various recreational fields at the annual WRA spaghetti feed Monday.

"Swing into Spring" was the theme of this year's event, attended by nearly 300 women in the dining commons.

Rosemary Lituania, WRA president, received the Gothic "N" award, a special award which entitles the winner to a lifetime pass to all U of N athletic events. Criteria for the award include sportsmanship, 1,000 WRA points, high scholastic average and participation in other school activities.

The sophomore coed also received the Gold Cup, given to the person who has accumulated 1,000 or more WRA participation points.

The Silver Cup, (7550 points), was won by Jean Smith, and the Bronze Cup, (500 points), was awarded to Donna Gracik and Jean Smith.

Fifteen women received the WRA pennants, which goes to coeds with 250 WRA points. Winners were Yvette Borda, Annette Chadwell, Barbara Edgington, Ruth Friedhoff, Cheryl Griffin, Donna Gracik, Mary Ann Halley, Barbara Havens, Sandy Hay, Vickie Larcher, Joyce Long, Genine Marsh, Kay Park, Elfrena Sewell, and Ronda Wilson-Reid.

Kappa Alpha Theta copped the basketball trophy for the second straight year.

Wendy Rupp, Gloria Casci, Rosemary Lituania and Cecelia Molini won the bowling trophy.

The high average award for bowling points was a tie between Doris Fenili and Annette Chadwell. They both had a 145 point average.

Entertainment was provided by the women's dance production class, under the direction of Miss Edrie Ferdun, dance instructor.

Mistress of ceremonies was Lois Chanslor, past president of WRA.

Gov. Sawyer . . . Mackay Day Veteran

Gov. Grant Sawyer got thrown into Manzanita Lake on both of the Mackay Day celebrations he attended during the two years he spent here as a student in 1940-'41.

Sawyer, (the student) had trouble growing a beard. He had a luxurious growth on the right side of his face, but the whiskers grew so sparsely on the left side of his face that a beard was out of the question. Consequently, clean-shaven Grant Sawyer got dunked.

He considered Mackay Day one of the most exciting days of the year. "We all worked so hard to make the events of the day exciting and successful," he said.

Sawyer was president of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity while at the University. He was a member of the ATO song team on Mackay Day. "We lost," recalled Sawyer, adding, "I've never been able to carry a tune in my life."

Governor Sawyer will be unable to attend this year's Mackay Day festivities as he is in New York City.

Union Speaker Is Veteran of 86th Congress

Dr. Byron Johnson, scheduled to speak in a student Union-sponsored lecture Sunday, has a long and varied history in both public service and education. Johnson will speak on "Can We Disarm?" at 8 p.m.

Currently serving in the Agency for International Development, Johnson holds a Ph. D. from the University of Wisconsin and is an alumnus of the 86th Congress (second Colorado district).

A native of Chicago, Johnson did his undergraduate work at Wisconsin, and obtained his master's degree there also. He taught economics at Denver University from 1947-56, and served a term in the Colorado House of Representatives from 1955-56.

A member of Phi Kappa Phi and the United Church of Christ, Johnson is a former vice president of the Denver Area Council of Churches and the Denver Area Welfare Council.

A fiscal analyst in the Bureau of the Budget under FDR, he has authored several articles on economics and public affairs. Admission is free to students and faculty, but will cost the public one dollar a person.

Mackay Day Grows . . . and Grows

Fifty years ago Mackay Day was much different than it is now. It was a work day.

Since then it has grown from one day to three days; all play days.

What will Mackay Day be in the coming years?

Dr. Sam Basta, dean of students, would like to see Mackay Day combined with University of Nevada Week to make the celebration a week-long affair uniting the social and recreational side of the benefactor's day with the academic emphasis of University of Nevada Week.

"I would like to see the old traditions of Mackay Day combined with the latest innovations in learning," said the Dean of Student Affairs.

Plans are already on the drawing board to make next year's Mackay Day an intellectual and scholarly as well as party time for students.

The week-long celebration next year has been discussed by students as well as faculty members at a recent meeting with the vice-president of the University, Dr. Kenneth Young.

What was once Mackay Day, is now Mackay Week-end, and will be Mackay Week.

Could another fifty years bring a Mackay Month?

Trackmen Face Stiff Test in Sacramento

By TOM DYE

The University of Nevada track squad, which has crushed five straight opponents by lopsided scores, will face its stiffest test of the season in a triangular meet against Sacramento State and San Francisco State in Sacramento Saturday.

Sacramento State was the last team to defeat Nevada in dual meet or in tri-meet action back in 1959, when they veat the Wolf Pack 67 to 64.

Coach Dick Dankworth says that Sacramento has improved each week and has more depth than any team Nevada has faced. He also says that this meet could show how Nevada and Sacramento will fare in the conference meet, since these two teams are the leading contenders.

Sacramento and Nevada have both met San Francisco in track competition. Nevada outscored the Golden Gators 92-55. The Hornets downed Chico 95-45 and Nevada beat them 125-15. Sacramento State has consistently scored over 100 points against Far Western Conference opposition.

Although not considered a threat to win the meet, San Francisco has some top competitors who will cut heavily into the scoring.

Joe Becerra and Craig Spillman are two of San Francisco State's top distance men and gave Nevada stars Doug Ketron and Ron Lee some tough competition in a dual meet at San Francisco. Art Williams of Sacramento State has run around 4:20 this year in the mile and will be a threat in this event.

Some interesting duals could shape up in the weight events. Don Biagi of the Hornets has thrown the discus close to 160-feet and will face Alex Darnes, of Nevada, who has one of the best throws in the nation, with a 169-foot toss. Shot putter Jim 'O'Brien of NeNvada, who has a best mark of 51 ft. 4 in., will be up against a 52-foot shotputter in Parker of S. F. State.

Nevada Larry Smith will compete against Mel Ross in the javelin. Both have been consistently over 200 feet.

n the hop, step and jump, Steve Carnahan of the Hornets will jump against Brent Johnson, Nevada school-record holder. In dual meets last week, they each did around 44 feet.

Jake Reimers of Sacramento State will compete against sompomore Steve Holloway of Nevada in both the 330 intermediates and the 120 high hurdles. Reimers and Holloway are probably the top hurdlers in the conference.

The next competition for all three teams will be the Far Western Conference championship meet at Chico, California.

Top Campus Golfer Calls Game 'Heck of a Challenge'

"Golf is a heck of a challenge", says Mike Henderson, the number one man on the University of Nevada golf team and past president of the Block "N" Society.

Henderson, a native of Elko, is likely to be found at a golf course whenever the weather and his studies will allow it.

"Practice is the key to a successful golf game," he says. "Ninety percent of golf is confidence and concentration, and the olny way a golfer can develop these qualities is by practicing."

"I'm the only person I can hold accountable for my game," he says. "If I shoot a 78 one day and can best myself with a 77 the next time, it makes me feel like I've accomplished something."

Speaking with enthusiasm, Henderson says, "Competition is the key to anything I like. In golf I compete against yesterday's score, or a tough opponent, or a golf course."

"A certain amount of natural ability is also helpful," he continues. "Strong hands and legs and a sense of timing are needed."

He feels legs are very important. "In order to hit the long ball a golfer needs a strong push from the right leg in the swing," he explains.

Henderson, a wiry 155-pound Sigma Nu athlete with horned-rimmed glasses, says a good rule for a golfer to play by is "Good golf is the absence of bad shots". A golfer doesn't have to have at his command a large array of spectacular shots.

A golfer can be a top scorer if he can avoid making bad shots that cost him strokes. In fact, the only time a golfer really needs a spectacular shot is to compensate for a bad one."

The spectacular shot, according to Henderson, is the type that has to be shot straight up over a tree, or under a branch of one tree, around another and then curve onto the green.

In the past 21 years more than ten billion board feet of timber have been cut from the Oregon and California grant lands.

Taus Clinch Kinnear Cup

Alpha Tau Omega cinched the Kinnear and Bradshaw trophies Wednesday, with a 6-5 win over Sigma Alpha Epsilon in the finals of intramural baseball competition.

Ron Bath and Woody Barry handled the pitching for the winners. Bud Olsen was charged with the SAE loss.

The ATO's offense was sparked by the hitting of Ron Bath, Woody Berry, Tom Ross, and Ed (Gyp) Stanek.

The two remaining sports in intramural competition are golf and tennis which will be played during the remaining days of the semester.

Notes Disappear

An urgent lost-an-found notice has reached the Sagebrush from Anne Lewis, FA2-2669. Miss Lewis's red plastic binder, containing an entire course's worth of research on stuttering, disappeared from the student union Wednesday.

FOUR NEVADA runners cross the line in a hurdle race during the Intramural track meet in Mackay Stadium Monday. The ATO's and Sigma Nu's tied for the living group title in the cinderfest.

ATO, Sigma Nu Tie for Intramural Track Title

Alpha Tau Omega continued to hold its lead in the race for the Kinnear trophy as it managed to tie Sigma Nu for first place in the intramural track meet Monday in Mackay stadium.

Both ATO and Sigma Nu scored 28 points. Lambda Chi Alpha was third with 18, Artemisia hall scored 15 points, and Sigma Alpha Epsilon followed with eleven.

Points awarded in the Kinnear trophy race were given for only the top five teams. Sigma Nu and ATO each received 80, Lambda Chi was awarded 40 points; Artemisia, 20; and SAE, 10.

Thirteen events were held, with ATO, Sigma Nu, and Lambda Chi each scoring three firsts. The 70-yard high hurdles were run instead of the 120-yard event, and the 120-yard lows were run in place of the 330-yard intermediates.

Frosh Class Plans 'Coeducational' Game

A basketball game between freshman men and women is planned in the new gym for May 10 by the Freshman class committee. The forthcoming game was announced last week by Carl Fuetsch, freshman president.

It will be the first activity for a Class of '66 organization that is "finally organized," said Fuetsch.

The squads will consist of ten men and fifteen women. The reason for the imbalance lies in the fact that "the women will probably need more substitutes," according to Fuetsch.

Engineers Host Regional Contest

The annual student paper contest for region six of the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers is scheduled on the Reno campus for Saturday at 10 a. m. The contest will be held in the new Engineering-Mines building.

Allen Wilson, senior "EE" major, will represent the University of Nevada in the 12-school contest. Wilson's paper on "P-N Junction and Depletion Layer Determination by Selective Anodization" took first place in a campus contest last month. It later took a third place in the San Francisco region paper contest.

Judges will be: Charles Day, past vice president of district eight; Lewis Fussel, principal scientific executive of Edgerton, Gernshausen and Grier; and Ed Hulse, head of the electronics engineering

Sensational Sophomore to Pitch On Three-Day California Road Trip

The Wolf Pack batsmen travel to California today for the second week in a row to play three games over the weekend.

They will meet San Francisco State today and tomorrow in single games. They then travel to Santa Clara Sunday for a single game with the "Broncos."

Dennis Scott (5-0) will pitch the opener today against the "Golden Gators" and Don Banta (2-0) will start the second game tomorrow. In Sunday's game against Santa Clara, Don Collar (2-0) has been slated by Coach Bill Ireland for the starting assignment.

The San Francisco State series is a big one for the Pack. If the team can beat the "Gators" both games, they will be in good position in the conference race. The team now has a 1-1 record in the league after its split with Chico State last weekend.

Off the injury list for this weekend will be Jim Evans and Barry

McKinnon. Evans had a bout with his tonsils and had to have them removed, but he has been practicing this week and is expected to be ready for action today.

McKinnon, the team's home run leader, was hit in the jaw by a pitch in the first game of the twin-bill with Chico State last weekend. X-rays have revealed that his jaw is broken but the slugging outfielder is expected to be at full strength for the series with the "Gators".

Newman Club Gets Top Province Honors

Six members of the Nevada Newman club attended a meeting of the Central Pacific Province of Newman clubs in Sacramento last weekend.

Nevada delegates were John Pierotti, Bill Cowee, Anna Bucalari, Kent Maloney, Diane Salas and Russ Umbraco. Pierotti, who ended his term as province president at the meeting, received the "Mr. Newmanite" award at the conference.

Newman Picnic

Newman club members will hold their annual spring picnic at Bower's mansion Sunday. It will begin at noon. Open to all students, the picnic will feature hamburgers and refreshments, and a fifty-cent admission charge.

Taus, SAE's Host Lawn Function

In keeping with Mackay day tradition, the men of Alpha Tau Omega and Sigma Alpha Epsilon have again banded together to host the annual SAE-ATO "lawn party."

This year, the fraternity men plan to accommodate about 400 students, treating them to an afternoon of liquid refreshment and entertainment via a tape recording of the song teams. Each year the SAE's play a recording of the song teams during the afternoon of the lawn party.

The lawn party will begin immediately after the Mackay day uncheon, Saturday about 3 p. m. and will last until refreshments run out. The place is Evans Park directly behind the SAE house.
