

Board to Ponder Frat Mother Proposal

University officials think fraternities need house mothers. Fraternity men and their alumni think they don't. The Board of Regents, who will decide, have not yet made commitment. But the matter is under study.

A delegation of fraternity men opposed the house mother plan presented by Dr. Kenneth E. Young, executive vice-president and Dr. Sam M. Basta, dean of student affairs.

Alumni president and Washoe County Assemblyman Coe Swobe led the opposing delegation. He was accompanied by Lou Spitz, director of the State Department of Motor Vehicles.

A rule adopted in 1962 to become effective with the start of the 1964-65 year, requires fraternities to have house mothers. Sigma Alpha Epsilon already has one.

Swobe presented a petition to the Regents signed by fraternity alumni in the Reno area asking that the requirement be dropped. "This is the beginning of the end of fraternities," said Swobe. Expense for house mother salaries and living quarters would be more than fraternities could manage, he added.

INDIRECT ATTACK

He called the house mother regulation an indirect attack by some people to abolish fraternities. There is no real need for house mothers on the Reno campus. "There has been no act or acts by fraternities to incur such a measure," Swobe noted.

Spitz added, "Junior" has left home. He's now a man and is capable of self-government.

"Fraternity men have risen to the responsibilities required of them," Swobe continued. Grades of fraternity men are above average, initiation ceremonies have been abandoned at fraternities and are now devoted to "Work Weeks" of community service. Resolutions to abolish discriminatory clauses of membership have been made at all fraternities, said Swobe.

Swobe also pointed out alumni now supervise the houses, oversee general operations, and "put a hand on a student's shoulder."

LIABLE FOR STUDENTS

University officials said they believe the University is legally liable for all students living in approved housing. "Fraternities are approved housing," said Basta. "But they lack the supervision given to students under 21 in the dorms."

"A hand on a student's shoulder can be strangling or influencing," he added.

Basta and Young agreed the regulation was not an action toward abolishment of fraternities.

Young said the one fraternity, SAE, with a house mother "does not seem to be in financial difficulty."

Campus Carny Begins Feb. 12

On-campus activities for the 24th annual Winter Carnival begin Wednesday, February 12, with a winter fashion show and end the following Saturday night at the Sno-Ball. All other action will be "up on the hill."

A new twist to this year's fashion show may be male models, according to Britta Halvorsen, coordinator. The majority of the models will be the Winter Carnival princess candidates who will start showing the latest in winter wear at 4 p.m. in the new lounge of the TUB.

BURR DIRECTS DECORATING

Living group decoration judging will follow the fashion show from 6-7 p.m. Chairman Chuck Burr announced that the groups must follow the "Centennial In The Snow" theme and keep within a $50 budget. Decorations must be two-dimensional and not more than 10 by 12 feet in size.

Building together are Alpha Tau Omega and Gamma Phi Beta; Delta Delta Delta, Phi Sigma Kappa; and Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Kappa Alpha Theta and Sigma Nu; Pi Beta Phi, Lambda Chi Alpha, and Theta Chi; Manzanita Hall and Lincoln Hall; and White Pine Hall with Juniper

Hall. Decoration themes are due February 7, at 5 p.m. and building starts February 9.

Sorority and women's dormitory open houses are scheduled for Wednesday night from 8 to 11 under the direction of Sharon Domenici. Recorded music, dancing, and refreshments will greet the visitors.

Senator Barry Goldwater, fighting for the presidential nomination, appears on campus Thursday night at 8 in the new gym. His talk will be sponsored by the Student Union, coordinated by Bud Olsen.

Visiting skiers will be honored Friday night, the 14th, with a spaghetti feed in the Stein's Hof Brau at 6:30.

BROTHERS FOUR FEATURED

The Brothers Four will entertain at the Sno-Sho Friday night at 8 in the new gym. The popular folksingers are fraternity brothers from the University of Washington.

The Winter Carnival Snow Princess will be crowned during the Sno-Sho intermission by Jinks Dabney, Carnival chairman. The princess candidates will be escorted on stage by Blue Key men. Karyn Branch is in charge of the show and Judy Schmidt is princess coordinator.

Saturday's slate includes the Skiers Banquet, tentatively set for 6:30 at the Mapes; and the Sno-Ball, from 9-12 at the Elks Lodge. For $2, a couple can dance to the music of Harry Massoth and choose between five bars and eight bartenders. John Gascue is handling the banquet. Mary Lou MacKenzie and Joel Glover are in charge of the dance.

White Caps Drive For New Members

Sagers, the Nevada underclass service organization, is on a drive for new members. Any freshman or sophomore male with a 2.0 average is urged to attend a meeting Tuesday, February 4 at 7:30 p.m. in room 210 Ross Hall.

Around 70 underclassmen now belong to the organization. Sagers are the white-capped men who help with registration, usher at Homecoming games, and other big events on campus.

Dave Gardiner is president; Ted Zaehring, vice-president; Tony Oxborrow, treasurer; Charlie Steiner, secretary; and Jinks Dabney, Blue Key advisor.

Gardiner, FA 2-4347 or Zaehring, 358-8060 can supply further information.

Protest Planned For B. Goldwater

A "gentle protest" against Arizona Senator Barry Goldwater is being organized on campus for his appearance here Thursday, February 13.

Goldwater, who will speak in the New Gym, is sponsored by the Travis Student Union Board. He is often labeled as a "fanatical conservative" and is a declared candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

Anyone interested in organized picketing should contact Steve Gomes at FA 3-8328.

Gomes said the demonstrating will be "nothing fanatical". He explained it is "just freedom of expression against Goldwater's ideas. Goldwater typifies a reaction against progress in a progressive world. It's progress in reverse."

'The Dipper' Is Out One More Season

For the second year running, Nevada's star basketball player Bill (the Dipper) Robinson has failed to make his grades and has been declared scholastically ineligible for the remainder of the school year. This was the announcement made by the University's athletic department last week.

The 6-5 junior center from Kansas City, Kans., sat out the second half of last season because of the same problems.

The high scoring Robinson, who leaves the squad with a 22-point-per-game average for 11 games, was replaced by Bill Nicholson. The 6-5 Nicholson, also a Kansan, hails from Great Bend.

Nicholson has started four games for the Wolves at center, including the last three. In last Monday night's victory over Nevada Southern University, he erased doubts that he could handle the job by scoring 23 points and grabbing 16 rebounds.

ALL - FWC CENTER

In his freshman year, Robinson was selected on the All Far-Western Conference team as center. "The Dipper" averaged about 17 points a game in this first season. Last year he was scoring at a rate of nearly 25 per game before he was dropped from the squad.

Rumors have it that the former Pack star is en route to Los Angeles where he plans to catch on with a Negro barnstorming team.

An addition colorful guard Gerald Rogers didn't return to school this semester because of financial difficulties. The loss of Rogers leaves only 10 players left on Coach Jack Spencer's squad.

Students Can Give To Special Funds

A table will be set up on the main floor of the Student Union for those who wish to make donations to the Bob Hale or John F. Kennedy Memorial Funds next week.

Keith Lee, student co-ordinator for the Fleischmann Book Fund Drive said $44.50 was collected for the Kennedy Fund during registration. $700.00 has been donated for the Hale Fund by friends of the 21-year-old student who was killed two days after Kennedy's assassination.

Co-ed Dorm Criticized By University Regents

A proposal which would bring a co-educational dormitory to the Las Vegas campus of the University of Nevada received sharp criticism from the Board of Regents last Saturday.

"I want it clearly understood I disapprove of such living facility," Regent Proctor Hug Jr. stated. Molly Magee and Dr. Juanita White added, "Me, too."

However the architects plans for the co-ed dorm were approved by board and given to the building committee for further study. The structure would house 60 men and 60 women.

LIMITED TO ONE

"We are forced into the situation because it will mean more economical land use and more economical construction," University President Charles J. Armstrong said. "If we had more than one dorm, we could have one for men and one for women. However, we are limited to building only one facility."

Archie Grant, chairman of the Regents, said "We are stuck with it for the time being."

The building is awaiting Federal Housing approval. To secure federal grants for construction, the dorm-dining commons

"We need the maximum flexibility possible," Grant said.

BOYS, GIRLS DIFFER

"Living requirements for boys and girls are different," said Mrs. Magee. "I hope the facilities acceptable for girls can be added if the dorm is converted." President Armstrong noted the dormitory must meet certain requirements which this joint facility satisfies.

The Nevada State Assembly approved a bill allowing the University to build one large dormitory instead of two separate facilities. The bill passed 33 to 1 last week. Kinsley dissented. He said, "Several sessions back we tried to separate the sheep from the goats and eventually we did. Now we are throwing the boys back in the same dormitory with the girls."

to be constructed on the Reno campus which the legislative assembly approved last week may not be a co-ed dorm.

The plans for a large dorm to house over 560 students could be for all men or all women. "The board must make the decision," he said, "and they have not done so yet."

REGISTRATION crowds were routed through the new gym Wednesday with shorter lines and less conflicts than usual. Although most students signed up Wednesday, some are still coming in.

THE PODIUM

by JAMES BENESCH
Guest Columnist

The University of Nevada lies in the center of a desert, which is not just sand but also personality. This place seems to flourish like an oasis, which depends on certain natural springs. The springs for this place are continually replenished by educators from everywhere. Like most oases, that which grows here as intellectual achievement flourishes very abundantly and is very strong. This oasis is continually expanding as individuals apply modern technology to the resources of this area. But the effects of these individuals are necessarily energetic and consequential, so that those who do not apply themselves here may feel that they are left out of the action. These people also form a reaction to the progress and try to repress it rather than direct it.

This is the objection then: that people who will not try to keep up with the progress this University is making act detrimentally to the growth of intellectual achievement. A hypothetical solution to this objection is as follows: Individuals with an ideas at all about providing this University with a more intellectual atmosphere make their ideas known in any way that they can, meaning they write letters to the editor, they bring up honest criticism to the people who influence their lives, they talk about those things which they fit themselves where they are most needed.

This University needs more people who are willing to work for what they believe is necessary to make this a more culturally oriented place. These people need to match their energies against each task. They should keep their minds open to consider any disciplined solution to their problems. Their problems should be centered around the highest ideals they admire in their friends within the University Community. The work habits of well disciplined professors should be imitated in true esteem of their efforts.

The most important consideration to this condition is that decisions must be made immediately, even if it means taking a chance. These decisions should be intelligent and unemotional. But the ability to act depends on the courage to make these decisions on the basis of any evidence, which almost always seems to be incomplete. This perhaps seems an impossible task, but there are those energetic individuals who have gone a long way toward mastering it. Their discipline can serve to help others who are willing to go to the trouble to identify with them through their activities.

A good example of such identification would be in the case of FORUM, a new opinion journal on campus. The people who are most closely related to FORUM are very energetic and well disciplined, so that if any person wanted, he could begin by offering his energies to this publication. This is unique because both the individual and the FORUM are young and could grow together.

If an individual decided that he wanted a place to hang around and not necessarily commit himself to anything, then perhaps the newly opened basement of the Wolf Den is the place he should frequent, because this establishment is mainly dedicated to furthering Academic Ideals through discussion, by means of a relaxing atmosphere.

There are a myriad of ways by which each individual can do his part to help make this University a place where education is dynamically carried out. But the only justification of this ideal is that each individual benefits only as much as he is willing to put forth in every conceivable way. Each student has an obligation to himself to follow a course similar to the one that has just been outlined certainly others will benefit from his actions, but he will have a right to expect to benefit from their's too.

No one really knows what he will do with his life until he commits himself to some course of action, and out of this will grow any number of alternatives, the best of which may be had according to his efforts. Each and every individual will determine his own status in life. If anyone becomes satisfied with an animal existence, then chances are that is what he will live.

House Motherdom Doom May Not Be Such Horror

Fraternity men don't realize what they are missing by not having house mothers. For one thing, as it is now at Nevada, private fraternity matters are not communicated to other fraternities through loyal brothers. A house mother would be more than glad to do this via another fraternity mother.

A shrill voice to shriek at the man who comes into the house with dirty feet or slams the door might remind him of home.

He would also be saved from catching cold because he could not run around the living room in his underwear. She would also nag at him if he got in too late or got drunk, or cussed at the dinner table (or any other time).

The benefits of a house mother are too many to mention. What woman at one time or other doesn't dream of spending her life in the ATO or Sigma Nu house with a captivated audience of men.

What mother-complexed female wouldn't like to have all the Lambda Chi's or SAE's to call son? What Theta Chi or Phi Sig wouldn't like to have a house mother to tell his trouble to.

Housemotherdom, ah sweet bliss! For a nominal fee (besides room and board) fraternity men can have a community mother to keep them good little boys.

Co-ed Dormitory Plan Fuss Over Nothing At All

All of the fuss over building a coeducational dorm on the Las Vegas and possibly the Reno campus is absolutely ridiculous. If men and women were to share rooms, perhaps concern would be justified, but this is highly unlikely.

In terms of money, not a great deal could be saved by building one dormitory rather than two. Maintenance and supervision would be greatly reduced though.

Evidently the concern stems from the fear that the men and women will misbehave. If there is a will there is a way. If students are going to misbehave they will do it with or without a co-ed dormitory.

It seems like a fine plan. There are other colleges throughout the country which have such structures. Pomona is one example. It doesn't seem to have created any extraordinary problems anywhere else.

It sounds bad for the University to have men and women living under the same roof. But certainly something could be devised to keep the men and women separated under that same roof.

LETTERS

Doesn't Like P.R.

Editor, the Sagebrush:

While I am sure that your editorial of January 10th, titled "ASUN Goofs on Assassination," was well-intentioned, your statement that a message of sympathy would have been good public relations for the ASUN and the University shows the poorest taste your writing has ever displayed. It amazes me that you should suggest our using this tragedy in order to glean a little publicity for ourselves.

As of the rest of your editorial, it has come to my attention that a message of sympathy was in fact sent to Mrs. Kennedy. Its failure to be noted in the newspaper was probably due to the good judgment of the Public Relations Committee in not allowing it to become a vehicle for publicity.

Thus with all due respect, it seems that the cause of responsible journalism on this campus will better be served in the future if you will obtain the facts before making such unfounded and ill-advised comments.

LARRY HUTCHINGS

ASUN Sympathy Sent

Editor, the Sagebrush:

Before you jumped to conclusions you should have contacted the Public Relations Committee regarding to whether or not we sent a sympathy message to Mrs. Kennedy. The answer is yes; we did send her a sympathy card and a Christmas card, but no answers have been received as yet.

We also sent President Johnson a Christmas card and best wishes for his term in office. I have received a thank you note from President Johnson and it will be posted in the Student Union at the beginning of next semester.

Reveals Plaque Plans

Editor, The Sagebrush:

I would like to make a few comments in regard to your editorial of Friday, January 10, 1964. Within a few days of President Kennedy's assassination, Clark Santini—Student Union Board President, Larry Struve—ASUN 1st Vice-President, and I met to discuss the possibility of doing something on behalf of the student body in memoriam of the late President.

Rather than the renaming of some campus landmark, we were searching for something meaningful in terms of President Kennedy's concern with United States education, the academic community, and the challenge facing the present generation of students.

From one of President Kennedy's addresses we have taken a few words which we believe express the spirit of the late President would have hoped to have live on after his death. On February 12th the plaque on which these words appear will be presented to the University of Nevada on behalf of the student body. We feel that this is the appropriate way for the student body to pay tribute to the late President.

Senate Does Things

Editor, The Sagebrush:

I agree that it was an oversight on the University's part not to have sent a message of sympathy to Mrs. John F. Kennedy on the death of her husband but it does not warrant such attack on the ASUN officials and the senate. To imply that a "do-nothing" policy has been followed by the University's student government is uncalled for.

The ASUN senate has maintained a policy of efficiency and thoroughness. The much debated (Continued on Page 10)

Benny Lee Coplan assumed the duties of radio-television specialist in the College of Agriculture. His appointment was approved by the Board of Regents.

The new specialist's primary educational programs for use on radio and television, assisting other staff members in the development of visual teaching duties will be the production of aids, and educational film production.

Coplan is a graduate of the University of Illinois. He majored in agricultural communications specializing in radio and television. At Illinois, Coplan served as student assistant radio-television specialist in the Agricultural Information Department.

He is a member of Sigma Delta Chi, the American Association of Agricultural College Editors, and Radio-Television Farm Directors Association of the Northwest.

Lambda Chi Elects Jack Tedford As New President

Jack Tedford was elected '64 president of Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity last Monday night. He is a junior from Fallon majoring in pre-dental. Tedford has served as treasurer and pledge trainer for Lambda Chi and is past president of the Nevada Christian Fellowship.

Other officers elected Monday night are: Jinks Dabney, vice-president; Charles Steiner, secretary; Gary Nelson, rush chairman; Roger Cornwall, social chairman; Bob Teglia, pledge trainer; Jon Culbert, rituals; Leroy Getchell, treasurer; and Ken Oakberg, alumni adviser.

Edward Scripps III, head of Scripps - Howard newspaper chain, was graduated from the University of Nevada in 1952 with a degree in journalism.

THE INNER MAN

College is fun and frolic and fulfillment—except for one melancholy omission: we don't get to enjoy Mom's home cooking. (In my own undergraduate days, curiously enough, I did not undergo this deprivation; my mother, a noted cross-country runner, was never home long enough to cook a meal until her legs gave out last Arbor Day.)

But most of us arrive at college with fond gastric memories of Mom's nourishing delicacies, and we are inclined now and then to heave great racking sighs as we contemplate the steam tables in the campus cafeteria. Take, for an extreme example, the case of Finster Sigafos.

Finster, a freshman at one of our great Eastern universities (Oregon State) came to college accustomed to home cooking of a kind and quantity enjoyed by very few. Until entering college, Finster had lived all his life in Europe, where his father was an eminent fugitive from justice. Finster's mother, a natural born cook, was mistress of the haute cuisine of a dozen countries, and Finster grew up living and eating in the Continental manner.

He arose each morning at ten and breakfasted lightly on figs,

My mother was a noted cross country runner hot chocolate, and brioche. (It is interesting to note, incidentally, that brioche was named after its inventor, perhaps the greatest of all French bakers, Jean-Claude Brioche (1634-1921). M. Brioche, as we all know, also invented croissants, French toast, and—in a curious departure—the electric razor. Other immortal names in the history of breadstuffs are the German, Otto Pumpernickel (1509-1848) who invented pumpernickel and thus became known to posterity as The Iron Chancellor; the two Americans, William Cullen Raisin (1066-1812) and Walter Rye (1931-1932) who collaborated on the invention of raisin rye; and, of course, Hans Christian Andersen (1805-1875) who invented Danish pastry.)

But I digress. Finster, I say, breakfasted lightly at ten a.m. At eleven a.m. his Mom brought him his elevenses. At twelve she brought him his twelveses. At 1:30 she served his lunch: first a clear broth; then a fish course (porgy and bass); then an omelette; then the main course—either a saddle of lamb, an eye of sirloin, or a glass of chicken fat; then a salad of escarole; and finally a lemon soufflé.

At three p.m. Mom served Finster low tea, at five p.m. high tea, and at ten p.m. dinner—first a bowl of petite marmite (she trapped the marmites herself); then a fish course (wounded trout); then an omelette of turtle eggs; then the main course—either duck with orange or a basin of farina; then a salad of unborn chicory; and finally a caramel mousse.

And then Finster went off to college, which reminds me of Marlboro Cigarettes. (Actually it doesn't remind me of Marlboro Cigarettes at all, but the makers of Marlboro pay me to write this column and they are inclined to get surly if I fail to mention their product. Mind you, I don't object to mentioning their product—no sir, not one bit. Marlboro's flavor is flavorful, the filter filters, the soft pack is soft, the Flip-Top box flips, and the tattoo is optional. Marlboros are available wherever cigarettes are sold in all fifty states of the Union. Next time you're in the U.S.A., try a pack.)

But I digress. We were speaking of Finster Sigafos who went from Continental dining to dormitory feeding. So whenever you feel sorry for yourself, think of Finster, for it always lifts the heart to know somebody is worse off than you are.

© 1964 Max Shulman

We, the makers of Marlboro, can't say whether European food beats ours, but this we believe: America's cigarettes lead the whole world. And this we further believe: among America's cigarettes, Marlboros are the finest.

Engineer Dean Named To Board

James T. Anderson, Dean of the College of Engineering, was elected a member of the Executive Board of the Pacific Southwest Section of the American Society of Engineering during the society's last meeting at Santa Clara University.

Anderson is also the author of a paper accepted by the "Journal of Space and Rockets" recently, titled "Calculation of Transient Temperatures for Solid Propellant Rocket Nozzles." It concerns calculated temperatures of heat transfer inside rocket nozzles, similar to the Polaris, after they have been fired.

Shriners Give $500 To ROTC For Awards

Andre Stienne, potentate, and Elmer Whitby, past potentate, of the Kerak Temple of the Shrine, Reno, have announced that a $200 and a $300 prize will be awarded annually to two outstanding Army ROTC Cadets at the University of Nevada.

Basis for awarding both prizes are: academic achievement in military subjects, demonstrated leadership ability, and need, where applicable.

Colonel Robert L. Gundlach, PMS, will nominate two candidates to Stienne, who will make the final decision, and will present the awards at the Annual Governor's Day Parade held each May on the University campus.

"The action upon the part of the Kerak Shrine once again demonstrates this organization's continuous support of Army ROTC and the University of Nevada," said Col. Gundlach. "In past years, annual medals have been awarded for military proficiency to MS I and MS II cadets. These monetary prizes now provide even more tangible support."

Solo Actor To Appear Downtown

Philip Hanson, solo Shakespearean actor, will present a reading of "Villians and Fools," on Saturday, Feb. 8, in the downtown State building.

The performance is scheduled for 8 p. m.

In "Villians and Fools" Hanson plays 25 of Shakespeare's famous and infamous characters, including Richard III, Iago, Edmund, and Falstaff.

The actor is a 15 year veteran of over 35 Shakespearean productions. He carries 30 complete roles in his memory in addition to the 145 characters he plays in his repertory of six shows.

Admission to Hanson's performance is by Artist-Lecturer Series season ticket, or $2.25 for individual admission. University students with current I. D. cards will be admitted free, but there will be a $1 charge for other students and children.

This is the fourth presentation of the Artist - Lecture Series. Next on the schedule of performances is singer Carolyn Stanford, followed by pianist Samuel Lipman.

The series is sponsored by the Public Occasions Board, the ASUN and the Jot Travis Union.

THE BELL TELEPHONE COMPANIES SALUTE: HENRY McHALE

In just a short seven months, Henry McHale (M.B.A., 1962) has moved up in responsibility and status to his present position of office manager at Pacific Telephone.

According to Henry, "The company seemed willing to give me a chance to prove myself right away." Henry's intuitive business sense and initiative mark him as a man on the move. He started out as a supervisor, became business office manager of a residence section, and just recently was made public office manager of the Sacramento area.

Much of his success can be attributed to the many ideas he has recommended for improving the efficiency of operations. As a dynamic business, telephone communications requires an alertness to the needs of a constantly growing market. Henry has demonstrated this talent, admirably.

Henry McHale, like many young men, is impatient to make things happen for his company and himself. There are few places where such restlessness is more welcomed or rewarded than in the fast-growing telephone business.

Rifle Team To Participate In 10-Range Matches

This year's Varsity Rifle Team will take part in 10 range matches as well as the National Rifle Association Inter-Collegiate Postal Match. The team will travel twice to the University of California at Berkeley for matches, once to Utah State University, Logan, Utah, and will host the 9th Annual Nevada Invitational in Reno March 20 and 21.

On Jan. 9 a composite team competed in the Sagebrush League which will be held in the Rifle Range on the next six Thursdays.

J Dept Gets $1,000

The Reader's Digest Foundation has given the University of Nevada's journalism department a check for $1,000. In the past the sum has been $400 annually.

Department Chairman A. L. Higginbotham said the money will be used for students' research and travel.

J Prof Published In SDX Magazine

Prof. A. L. Higginbotham, chairman of the University's department of journalism, is one of the featured writers in the December issue of "The Quill," the official magazine of Sigma Delta Chi, national professional men's journalism society.

Prof. Higginbotham, also the national vice-president for undergraduate affairs of Sigma Delta Chi, outlines the basic principles behind journalism as a profession.

In his article, "What Is This Thing Called Journalism," he states that journalism can be practiced on many levels, depending on the individual. Some make it merely an occupation, while others, the more dedicated journalists, make it their profession—a career or vocation.

Journalism concerns itself with the welfare of society in which it serves; and knowledge, understanding and a liberal education are necessary for it to understand that society.

Free Expression License

Prof. Higginbotham writes that journalism must be dedicated to the service of mankind, and to do this in a democratic society it must be able to control its own actions without restrictions from the state. Coupled with a moral responsibility to the people, this license for free expression must keep the public informed of governmental activities so they may act in the best way to operate and preserve the American democratic society.

He closes the article by stating that journalism "is the only vocation protected specifically by the Constitution of the United States and that of every state. It is truly the first freedom. All others depend upon it.

"It is essential in the basic principles of social and political democracy. Men can govern themselves . . . if they have the information and understanding on which to base their judgments. Journalists furnish these facts and points of view which make democracy work. This is the highest type of professional practice.

"Journalism is not only, for most practitioners, a profession, it is the most important one to the American way of life."

YWCA Members Back From Confab With New Ideas

What happens when a hundred and fifty mature, searching student minds confront a half dozen of today's most perplexing problems in a stimulating setting on the shores of the Pacific? Four University women who attended the YMCA-YWCA sponsored conference at Asilomar, California, during the Christmas holidays returned "breathless and with stars in their eyes", as one co-ed described her reaction to the experience.

Ruthie Friedhoff, president of the campus YWCA, accompanied by Yvette Hash, Judy Hunt, and Ann Foley, spent five days at the conference in company with students from colleges and universities in California and Hawaii, examining the conference theme, "Demands for Significant Action".

Four ROTC Cadets Get U.S. Army Commissions

Four University of Nevada students received commissions in the United States Army in ceremonies recently held in the office of Col. Robert L. Gundlach. They were Jim Smith, Jim Gaumer, Dennis Golden, and Dave Small.

Lt. Smith, a graduate in the College of Arts and Science, majored in mathematics. While at the University, he was a member of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity, President of Gamma Delta, Lutheran Church campus group and was active in the University of Nevada Cadet Officers Club. He is a Distinguished Military Graduate and received a Regular Army commission in the Artillery Branch.

Lt. Smith and his wife, the former Karma L. Anderson, of Reno, will initially report to Fort Bliss, Texas, to the United States Air Defense School.

Lt. Gaumer, of Red Bluff, Calif., majored in Civil Engineering. While at the University, he was a president of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity and was active in campus Young Republicans, American Society of Civil Engineering, and UNCOC. During the last semester he was the 1st Battalion Adjutant of the ROTC Brigade. He was commissioned in the Corps of Engineers.

Lt. Gaumer's initial assignment will be at the United States Army Engineer School, Ft. Belvoir, Virginia.

Lt. Dennis Golden, of Cedarville, Calif., was graduated with a major in journalism. While at the University, he was a member of Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity where he was vice president and House Manager. He was active in a number of campus organizations, freshman class committee, J. V. football team, soccer team, Newman club, Coffin and Keys, Press club, Art club, and UNCOC. He was also secretary of Inter-fraternity Council and advertising manager and staff member of the Sagebrush. In addition to being the Intelligence Officer and Public Information Officer of the ROTC Brigade, he also was editor of "Battleborn," an annual newspaper published by the Brigade.

Lt. Golden was commissioned in the Infantry Branch and his initial assignment will be the Lt. Small, a graduate in the college of arts and science, majored in biology. While at the University, he was a member of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity, and was active on the Ski Team, and in the Block "N" Society, Biology club, and UNCOC. During the last semester he was Commanding Officer of Company "F" of the ROTC Brigade.

Lt. Small was commissioned in the Infantry Branch. His wife, the former Lorraine Pride of Reno, will accompany him to his initial assignment, the United States Army Infantry School, Ft. Benning, Georgia.

Bird Society Being Formed

Nevada chapter of the National Audubon Society is now being organized under the supervision of Dr. Fred Ryser, associate professor of biology.

The local chapter, which will be host to the national president, Carl Buchheister, at its February meeting, will include members from Fallon, Carson City and nearby California communities as well as those of the Reno-Sparks area.

The national society, in addition to giving teachers and children information about natural history, provides more than a million acres of sanctuaries for birds. It cooperates with the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, state conservation services and private organizations in furthering conservation methods.

The group has been called "one of the largest, most active and most conservative of American organizations engaged in preserving wildlife and its living space."

The aims of the local organization will be to educate children about birds, provide hobbies for adults and promote conservation and the study of nature. Field trips may eventually be planned.

Nevada Professor Receives Grant

Dr. John B. Rogan, associate professor of chemistry, has been awarded a $20,800 research grant by the American Chemical Society, Petroleum Research Fund.

The grant will be used for research involving the synthesis of a series of organic compounds and the study of their reaction rates and products. It is believed that these compounds have an extremely high degree of reactivity and that their reaction products will differ from those predicted by older theories.

Dr. Rogan is a graduate of the University of Wyoming. He received his Ph. D. from the University of California at Berkeley in 1955.

Dr. David J. MacDonald, assistant professor of chemistry, also received a research grant from the American Chemical Society, Petroleum Research Fund this fall.

CYR Meet Thursday

Campus Young Republicans will meet next Thursday evening at 7 in the faculty dining room to discuss plans for the February 13 visit of Senator Barry Goldwater. The presidential hopeful will speak in the new gym the evening of the 13th.

Top UPI Correspondent Is First Scripps Lecturer

Robert C. Miller, 1938 Nevada graduate, and now roving world correspondent for United Press International, will present the first Scripps Lecture in Journalism on Tuesday, Feb. 4, at 8 p.m. in the Jot Travis Student Union building.

Miller's topic will be "America's Lost Cause in Asia."

SCRIPPS GRANT

This lecture is part of the annual Scripps Grant of $1,000 to the journalism department, made by E. W. Scripps II, University journalism graduate, and vice president of Scripps - Howard Newspapers.

The grant will also be used for scholarships, awards, research, publications, and for student activities, said Professor A. L. Higginbotham, chairman of the journalism department.

Master of ceremonies for the lecture program will be Gerald Higgins, journalism senior. E. W. Scripps will introduce the program and President Charles J. Armstrong will welcome the annual Scripps Lecture to the campus.

Also scheduled is an expression of appreciation of journalism students for the grant and the lectureship by John Bromley, president, University Chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, on behalf of the journalism student-body.

A question period, and an informal coffee hour will follow the program.

TOP WIRE CORRESPONDENT

Miller is a 1938 University of Nevada Journalism graduate and has been with United Press International ever since. He is today the wire service's top roving foreign correspondent and has covered the hot news spots throughout the world during his career.

He has recently returned from the Far East, and is ready to report how the United States interests are coming along in that part of the world.

His talk will be followed by a question and answer period.

In his career, Miller has covered some of the top news stories in the world, including the Guadalcanal campaign and the invasion of Europe on the Normandy beaches in World War II, the Nuremberg trials, trouble in the Middle and Far East, Africa, Asia, and Europe at various times.

SCRIPPS IS NEVADA GRAD

Scripps is a 1952 journalism graduate of the University of Nevada, and has worked on newspapers in California and Colorado and with the United Press International in Washington, D. C.

He is vice president of Scripps-Howard Newspapers and is a member of the three man board of the E. W. Scripps trust.

One of his chief activities these days is serving as chairman of the luncheons of the National Press Club in Washington D. C. and arranging for the appearance at them of the great and near great throughout the world when they come to Washington to confer with the President of the United States.

J Grad Appointed As Press Assistant

Dwight Dyer, graduate of the journalism department of the University of Nevada has been appointed press secretary to Senator Alan Bible. He will replace Alan Jarlson, former Las Vegas Sun newsman, who resigned from the senator's staff last year.

At present Dyer is news director of KCRL television station in Reno. He will assume his duties in Bible's Washington office in February.

After he graduated from the University of Nevada in 1957, Dyer was employed in the San Francisco bureau of the Associated Press. He was placed in charge of the first Carson City bureau of the wire service in 1959.

In 1961 he became chief of the Reno bureau of the Associated Press.

Dyer is active in the professional journalistic society, Sigma Delta Chi.

Squaw Valley Scene Of Skating Party

CCUM members will travel to Squaw Valley tonight for a skating party. All students are invited to attend and must meet at Morrill Hall at 6:30 p.m. Skates can be rented at Squaw Valley.

Emphasis Placed On Grades Not Knowledge, Subject

Too much emphasis is placed on grades, Dr. Thomas Tucker told the Carson City Rotary Club, early this month. As a result, subject matter and knowledge are not enough of the primary purpose of training good citizens by the American educational systems.

Tucker, chairman of school administration spoke on the topic "What is a Good Education?" It could have just as well have been "What is a Good Citizen," said Tucker. However, "we are not teaching as if the answer was the same — nor is our educational program geared to the point where the answer would be the same.

"I feel present day education with its strong emphasis on acquisition of subject matter knowledge is not resulting in developing young men and women holding deep concern about what I call permanent values," he said.

He said he would like to see an "insatiable desire on the part of parents for the best qualified teachers to staff our classrooms."

Gal Shooters To Host Invitational Meet

Nevada's women rifle team will compete in a Nevada invitational match on the Reno campus March 20 and 21, according to M/Sgt. Robert H. Maxey of the military science department.

Seeking spots on the Nevada team are: Judy Crowell, Sylvia Hansell, Carol Galaski, Joyce Hoffman, Barbara Mote, Jody Thompson, Dana Stafford, and Donna Carlson.

Dislike Food? Eat Out!

Foreign students, eight to ten in number, who protested dining commons food because it does not include enough rice, which they are accustomed to eating, may eat elsewhere, said the Board of Regents last Saturday.

Most of the protesting students were from the Far East and India. They notified the Regents that their basic diet is rice. They said they preferred to eat at a downtown restaurant because the University's menu usually lacks rice.

"I can sympathize with them," said Regent Ray Germaine, "I have trouble eating in the commons myself."

RAISE RENT

Neil Humphrey, University business manager recommended that the students who choose not to eat all meals at the dining commons be charged a 25 percent increase on their dormitory rent.

"The rent a semester is now $100," he said. "I think it should be raised to $125 a semester to take care of some of the loss of revenue in the dining commons." The Regents agreed.

Molly Magee, Regent from Austin explained the students were probably homesick for their native foods and want to eat downtown where they can get such foods.

Sundowners Pick First Sweetheart

Sundowners, noted tradition-setters at the University, have a new one in the planning. The Men of the Rail will choose the first Sundowner Sweetheart at the first annual Sundowner Valentine Dance next Friday night.

Ten freshmen women are vying for the new title; Barbara Barnica, Joanne Bates, Carolyn Cottrell, Peggy Crumley, Michele Fuetch, Kris Games, Vicki Geertsema, Jane McCarthy, Sue Sonderegger, and Lana Strosnider. The winner will be chosen by unanimous vote of members and announced at 11 during the dance. A bouquet of roses will be presented to the sweetheart and she will reign over the dance.

The Valentine dance will follow the Chico State game from 9-12 in the old gym. "The Surfers" will play for dancing, according to Herb Stathes, dance coordinator.

PACK CAN WIN WITHOUT ROBINSON

After learning that Bill (the Dipper) Robinson was ineligible to play the second semester, many people felt that Nevada's chances to win the FWC championship were non-existent.

However, if Nevada continues to play the way they did against Nevada Southern, the Pack may very well walk off with the conference title.

There is no doubt that the Wolves will miss Robinson. He was one of the most exciting players that Nevada ever had. There were people who said that the Dipper lacked desire and did not fulfill his potential. This may be true, but in the clutch Robinson was usually great. One of his most notable performances was against USF in his sophomore year when he outplayed the Dons' great Ollie Johnson to give Nevada an upset win.

Rival players and coaches were high in praise of the big center. Miami's coach described Robinson as a "great shot and a rebounding fool," USF players said that the Dipper was the best center they faced all of last year—including Stanford's great Tom Dose.

Despite all this, Nevada can win without its big gun. The Pack seemed to play more as a team against Nevada Southern and had a well balanced scoring attack. Three players hit 19 or more points against the Southerners and the Wolves hit on 47 per cent of their field goal attempts.

Bill Nicholson is the man Coach Spencer has picked to fill the Dipper's shoes and thus far he seems to be doing a good job of it. Nicholson seemed to be unsure of himself at the beginning of the season and was on second string. This may be partly due to the fact that he did not play college ball last season.

Nicholson appears to be gaining more confidence every game. He has scored more points in the last three games than he did in the first ten. In the Nevada Southern game he hit on 10 out of 21 field goal attempts and made 23 points. He also pulled down 16 rebounds. I doubt the Dipper could have done any better.

Nevada's two guards Bob Donlan and Mike Olivas are deadly outside shooters and Nap Montgomery and Harlan Heward are excellent rebounders. With a little luck the Pack could go all the way.

STEPPE GETS STEPPED ON

Silas Steppe, Nevada Southern's star center, came to Reno with a fabulous basketball reputation. He barely left with his life.

From what I heard Steppe was supposed to be the equal of such Reno star visitors as Miami's Rich Barry, USF's Ollie Johnson, and Creighton's Paul Silas. Somehow I don't think Steppe measured up.

Johnson had an off night two years ago against the Pack but still scored 24 points. He is currently third in the nation in field goal percentage. Barry, the nation's fourth leading scorer, netted 27 against the Pack and led his team to an 81-78 victory. Silas destroyed the Wolves with his shooting and rebounding. He dumped in 30 points and pulled down countless rebounds. He leads the nation in this department.

Steppe was an honorable mention choice for small college All-American honors last season. Along with Gary Tapper and Bob Moon he was supposed to be Southern's big gun. He was reputed to be one of the finest basketball players in the Southern California area. However, Nevada's virtually unknown Bill Nicholson covered big Steppe like a human blanket and he scored only three points.

Steppe wasn't the only one who had a bad night. Tapper and Moon were averaging about 17 points each but they fell far short of this. Nevada's Heward and Montgomery made sure they didn't score very much.

The Rebels three top guns managed to score only 15 points. Moon scored three and Tapper managed to hit 9 points.

Undoubtedly, they are better players than they showed against Nevada. However, none of them is the equal of Johnson, Silas, or Barry—or even Bill Robinson.

Chico Loses; Nevada Now FWC Leader

The Chico St. Wildcats, who were rolling along in first place in the Far Western Conference, stumbled last Tuesday at Arcata, Calif., where they lost to Humboldt St. 61-51.

Nevada moved into first place even though they were idle in conference play last week. The Pack has a 2-0 record in league play.

With the victory, the Lumberjacks tied Chico for second place. The Wildcats and 'Jacks, who both have identical 3-1 league records, clash at Chico tomorrow night.

This weekend Nevada will be on the road, playing cellar-dwelling San Francisco St. and California St. The next weekend, February 7 and 8, the Pack has two big ones at home, against Chico and Humboldt.

Pack Wins Second FWC Game; Loses to Portland State Twice

The Nevada basketball team barely defeated Sacramento State over semester break to stretch their FWC record to 2-0. The Pack also lost twice to Portland during the interval.

Mike Olivas was the hero of Nevada's 67-65 win over Sacramento St. in the California city. Olivas hit three key charity tosses in the last 14 seconds to give the Pack the come-from-behind victory.

The Hornets built up a substantial 35-32 lead at halftime and increased their advantage to 44-32 with 16 minutes remaining in the contest.

Nevada used a tight defense to close the deficit to 56-50. Harlan Heward led the Pack's defensive effort that forced the Hornets to make costly errors in the closing minutes.

ROBINSON LEADS SCORING

Heward and Nap Montgomery were tigers on the backboard, pulling down 12 each. Bill Robinson, playing in his last game, was the Wolves' top scorer with 20 points.

Olivas contributed 15 points to the Pack's cause and Montgomery and guard Bob Donlan were in double figures with 13 and 10 points respectively.

The Portland Pilots defeated the Pack by scores of 76-66 and 107-74. The games were played in the Oregon city.

The Pilots jumped off to a 16-3 lead and staved off the Wolf Pack's attempted comeback in the first game. Nevada managed to close the gap to eight points twice but the Portland team led 42-29 at halftime.

Portland's Tom Nichols led the offensive effort with 34 points. Nichols hit most of his points on jump shots from the corners. Three other Portland players hit in double figures to give the tough Pilots the win. Portland hit at a 49 per cent field goal pace while the Pack only scored at a 38 per cent clip.

SPENCERMEN HUSTLED

Despite the loss Jack Spencer had high praise for his team saying that they "hustled all the way."

Nevada's record dropped to 4-10 as the Pilots crushed them the second night by 30 points.

Sweet Revenge: Pack Dumps Rebels

Nevada Boxers Face Wildcats

The talent-laden University of Nevada boxing team will see its first action tomorrow night against Chico State in the New Gym. The boxing match will start at 8 p. m.

Coach Jimmie Olivas has four lettermen returning from his last year's successful team. Skip Houk, Jim Evans, Larry Williamson, and Dave Stix give Olivas the nucleus of a potentially great team.

Olivas says that he will probably go with the following against Chico: Larry Williamson, 126 pounds; Chuck Breese, 132; Bob Duillo, 139; Skip Houk, 147; Dave Stix, 156; Jeff Olivas, 165; Joe Curry, 175 and either Jimmy Evans or Dale Landon, heavyweight.

Competition is particularly spirited for the light heavyweight position. John Gaynor, Rich Lespade and Mike Smithwick are all battling Curry for the job. John McSweeney is also in the running for the 156 or 165 pound position.

CHICO FELL LAST YEAR

Last season, the Pack met Chico twice and fought them to a draw the first time and edged out the Wildcat's ringmen in the second match. Nevada's foursome of Stix, Houk, Evans, and Williamson all won victories to ensure Nevada's triumph in the second match.

Probably Nevada's top performance last season was their victory in the California Intercollegiate Boxing Tournament. The Wolf Pack boxing team did not lose any matches last season.

Following the Chico match, Coach Olivas plans to enter a team in the Novice tournament at Chico on February 8. After that, the Pack team will face the California Golden Bears in Reno on February 14.

LARRY WILLIAMSON

Nevada, Sonoma St. Draw In Wrestling

The University of Nevada wrestling team opened its 1964 schedule with a practice match 16-16 tie against Sonoma St. at the New Gym January 17.

The Pack grapplers, competing in wrestling for the first time since the early 1940's, won four matches and lost four, one by forfeit when they couldn't enter a heavyweight.

Wins were posted by Gene Duck (191), Jock Echave (177), Ken Miller (167), and John Rogers (157).

A crowd of nearly 200 enthusiastic fans watched the Wolf Pack's first of four scheduled exhibitions.

Next match for the Nevadans will be Friday, February 7, at Sonoma.

Skiers Compete Minus Three Stars In Governor's Cup

The Nevada ski team will see action this weekend in the Governor's Cup Race at Donner Ski Ranch and Squaw Valley. The meet will start today and end Sunday.

The Nevada squad has two new star performers to bolster its chances. However, the team has also lost three of its top skiers due to various reasons.

Lane Monroe, a four-way star from Reno, was injured Tuesday in a jumping accident and will be unable to compete for a week or more.

The Pack has also lost Bud Sorenson, a dependable four-way performer, due to scholastic reasons. Nevada's top cross-country skier Mike Brunetto has withdrawn from school to accept a ski job in Sun Valley, Idaho.

NORWEGIAN JOINS TEAM

Nevada should still have a powerful ski team because of two recent additions. Arne Nossun, a 20-year-old exchange student from Trondheim, Norway, has enrolled for the second semester. Nossun is outstanding in the Nordic events and is the sixth ranked jumper in Norway.

Gary McCoy from Mammoth Mountain will also compete for the Pack this semester. McCoy nearly made the 1964 Olympic ski team. He will be the Pack's top skier in both the giant slalom and the slalom Friday and Saturday at the Donner Ski Ranch.

The Wolves were beaten in their last encounter by Sierra College in the Northern California Invitational Ski meet at Squaw Valley.

Two Norwegian skiers, Thor Mjoen and Helge Ronnestad, won two events each to lead Sierra College to victory.

Sierra College compiled 390.7 points to take team honors, Nevada followed with 364.8, Chico State scored 350.5, and College of the Siskiyou was fourth with 146.3.

FRESHMAN AGEЕ OUTSTANDING

Freshman Dennis Agee of Nevada was outstanding in the slalom and downhill, placing third in both events. Chris Mazzola also did well and placed fourth in the downhill.

Spirited Wolves Ramble

By TIM ANDERSON
Associate Sports Editor

Nevada's spirited Wolf Pack cagers capitalized on a great team effort and Nevada Southern's mistakes to clobber the Rebels, 83-70, last Monday evening at the New Gym.

With the victory, the North-erners evened up the three-year-old series at three wins apiece in Nevada's version of the "civil war." At the same time the Pack atoned for an earlier season loss to the Rebels in Las Vegas.

The Silver and Blue, to the delight of a near capacity crowd, broke a close game open with about 13 minutes remaining in the first half. From a 13-9 lead the Wolves opened up a commanding 23-11 lead with about six minutes remaining and went on to a 38-17 halftime advantage.

NEVADA GUARDS HOT

Incredible shooting by Nevada guards Bob Donlan, who earned 22 points, and Mike Olivas, who tallied 19, kept the winners out of reach all evening, particularly in the first half. Center Bill Nicholson took game honors with 23 points, hitting on nearly 50 per cent from the floor.

Nevada's overall defense, including yeoman-like board work by frontliners Nicholson, Harlan Heward, and Nap Montgomery, also enabled the host team to race to their big lead.

Nicholson, proving to be a more than adequate replacement for the departed Bill Robinson, was especially effective on defense as he held NSU's top scorer, the "great" Silas Stepp, to a mere three points.

The Rebels three big men, Stepp, Gary Tapper, and Bob Moon, contributed a paltry 15 points between them. Before the contest, they were averaging about 17 points per game apiece.

REBELS BEAT THEMSELVES

The Ed Gregory - coached Southerners, who had established themselves as one of the top small college teams on the Pacific Coast, helped to beat themselves in the first half by throwing the ball away at least half a dozen times. Nevada's pressing defense seemed to unnerve the losers.

The Scarlet and Grey came back in the second half, and with the help of reserves, outscored the Pack 53-45. But by then it was too late, and the Wolves' early bulge proved to be decisive.

Montgomery, Nevada's consistent sophomore scorer, added 13 to the winners' cause. Nicholson's 23 big points 15 in the second half was a season high for the 6-5 pivot man.

Rebel reserves Bill Davis and Ray Demman each scored 10 points to share NSU's scoring honors. All of their scoring came in the second half. The ineffective Stepp sat out most of the last half.

PACK LOOKS TO FWC

The highly partisan crowd cheered enthusiastically as the Wolf Pack tuned up for the key conference games in the San Francisco Bay Area this weekend. The Silver and Blue play the Gators of San Francisco St. Friday and the Pioneers of California St. Saturday.

Coach Jack Spencer said he was particularly pleased with his squad's tremendous team effort against NSU.

Library To Sell Books For 25c

The Getchell Library will hold a book sale on Wednesday, February 12, between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m., in Room 40, on the ground floor of the Library building. Between 3,000 and 4,000 books will be offered to students, faculty, and staff, for .25 per volume. All sales will be strictly for cash. The room may be reached via the front ground floor entrance to the building, next to the offices of the Desert Research Institute.

BULLETIN

Two of the Wolf Pack's outstanding prospects will not be boxing this semester. Both were counted upon heavily for the upcoming season.

Bob Duillo, the Pack's number one boxer in the 139-pound division, was declared scholastically ineligible for the second semester. Nevada will also be without the services of Jeff Olivas who failed to meet the entrance requirements. Olivas boxes in the 165-pound division.

Rebels May Join New Conference

A new athletic conference may be formed and Nevada Southern could be one of the teams.

A spokesman for the College of Southern Utah said that several schools in Utah, Nevada, Arizona, and New Mexico were being contacted about joining.

Book Drive Effort Nearly $15 Thousand

Over $14,731 in contributions from business, industry, and persons throughout Nevada has been received by the University Library Matching Book Fund drive.

The first $5,000 received for the Fund has been matched by the Max C. Fleischmann Foundation of Nevada, bringing the total to over $20,000.

The matching book fund drive, with a goal of $100,000, is a result of an offer by the Fleischmann Foundation to grant $2 to the University Library for every $1 raised through public subscription up to a total grant by the foundation of $200,000.

Co-sponsors of the book fund drive are the Friends of the University Library and the Alumni Association and the ASUN, in cooperation with the University.

STARTED IN DECEMBER

First phase of the drive started in December 1963 when the business and industry solicitation committee of the drive, headed by Bell Telephone general manager, Paul Garwood, began to recruit the assistance of business leaders for contributions from their own firms.

The main phase of the campaign will be directed towards the general public, said Clark J. Guild Jr., of the Friends, co-chairman of the drive. "We want to make the people of northern Nevada aware of the Fleischmann offer and what this offer and their help can do in raising money to buy sorely needed books for the library."

Brochures describing the purpose of the Matching Book Fund Drive will be mailed to over 6,000 members of the Alumni Association," said Milton Sharp, co-chairman of the drive.

"Colleges at the University such as engineering, agriculture, business, and mines have also sent letters and brochures to their alumni urging contributions to the fund."

OVER 100 CONTRIBUTIONS

So far over 100 persons in northern Nevada have made contributions to the book drive.

The University has shown its enthusiasm for the book drive through several benefit dances by campus groups, donations by Phi Alpha Theta and Sigma Tau, the John F. Kennedy Memorial Fund, sponsored by the political science department, a benefit concert by the music department, and by donations from many of the faculty and staff.

In addition to the main book fund, there are several memorial funds to which contributions can be made. All money received by these funds will be matched by the Fleischmann Foundation under the terms of their original offer.

Contributions can also be made to the Library General Gifts Fund, and the Friends of the Library Fund.

Keith Lee, junior student, is coordinating the student part of book drive activities, and Dr. Harold Kirkpatrick, assistant dean of Arts and Science, is in charge of faculty participating in the drive.

Business and industrial firms who have contributed to the drive include: Bell Telephone Co. of Nevada, Reno Newspapers Inc., First National Bank of Nevada, Sierra Pacific Power Co., Anaconda Copper Co., Kennecott Copper Corp., and Titanium Metals Co.

"Through the gifts of business and industry we have reached the first part of our goal in the book fund drive," said University President Charles J. Armstrong. "Now with the help of the people of northern Nevada we can begin to remedy the shortage of books in the library. Success in the drive will not only provide books, but will also express our gratitude to the Fleischmann Foundation for all it has done for the university in the past."

Seniors Learn of Career Opportunities

Career opportunities for graduating seniors will be abundant in the coming months. The Sagebrush will publish a list of firms conducting interviews and the dates. Further information may be obtained from the Graduate Placement Office, room 104 Clark Administration.

Registration with the Placement Office is mandatory before arrangements can be made for an interview.

University President Charles J. Armstrong has officially proclaimed Tuesday, February 4 as Federal Careers Day in recognition to the staff of Federal consultants who will be on campus to discuss opportunities in government work.

Pack Travels To Bay Area This Weekend

The Wolf Pack will have its work cut out for them when they face the defending Far Western Conference Champions, The San Francisco State Golden Gators. Nevada plays the Gators tonight at 8 in the Bay City. The following night the Pack takes on Cal State at Hayward.

The Gators have a veteran team but have been unfortunate thus far in Far Western Conference play. They have lost three FWC games by a total of four points. S. F. State has an overall record of three wins and 13 losses. Their most recent defeat was at the hands of USF by a score of 74-47.

Six lettermen are returning from the Gators last years team that won the Conference title with a record of 11-1.

Brad Duggan an all FWC choice at forward head S. F. States returning veterans. Duggan scored 467 points and averaged 17.3 points a game. He also gathered in 219 rebounds.

Bill Nocetti is State's top guard. He scored 175 points during the 1962-63 season. Six foot five inch forward Mahlon Harmon will start at forward. He was the Gators second leading rebounder last season with a total of 107. Other starters will probably be 6-7 Mike Ryan at center and 5-9 Dave Roberts. Ryan is currently seventh leading scorer in the FWC.

Despite their graduation losses Cal State, Nevada's Saturday night opponent, seems to be doing all right in FWC play.

Thus far this season the Pioneers are 2-2 in conference play and have an overall record of 4-12.

Two of Cal State's top returning stars are Gary Rodgers and Bob Wonder. Rodgers scored 116 points and grabbed 175 rebounds during the 1962-63 season. Wonder is the next best returning scorer with 79 points. The Pioneers also have guard Pat Wenhlan and forward Joe Fucey returning. Nevada must also cope with transfer student Larry Scott, who is 6-5.

Cal State has lost eight lettermen from their last year's team that compiled a 5-7 record last season in the FWC.

Now that Bill Robinson is gone, Bob Donlan is the Pack' top scorer with a 14 point average. Forward Nap Montgomery is the second leading scorer with a 12 point average. Mike Olivas is averaging 9.3 a game. Bill Nicholson follows with 7.9, and Harlan Heward is averaging an even 7.0 a game.

Wolf Den Basement Is New 'Cabaret'

A new college cabaret has opened near the University in the basement of the Wolf Den on the corner of 9th and Virginia.

Senior Jim Benesch is managing the student night club which will be open Friday, Saturday, and Sunday nights from 4 p.m. to 7 p.m.

The senate took action on the delicate matter of University policy, specifically concerning club recognition. The result is a better understanding between the ASUN senate and University officials. An official communique sent by President Armstrong to the senators referred to student suggestions on club recognition as well as other matters. The "Meet the President" panel discussion was another result. It was the first time such a meeting had been set up on campus.

The ASUN senate has been functioning as an effective instrument of student government. It will continue in this way to take part in the responsibility of running an efficient and well regulated university.

ing the student night club which will be open Friday, Saturday, and Sunday nights from 4 p.m. to 7 p.m.

The basement room will feature dancing, chess, art from Geno's, 5c coffee, sandwiches, soda fountain, and an atmosphere highlighted by pseudo-stained glass windows. Impromptu entertainment will be furnished by University students.

A contest "to name the place" is in the planning. Tentative judges are Dave Cooper, Mary Rossolo, Jim Acheson, Larry Struve, and Pat Rogero.

Benesch says that the new spot has opened because the Student Union is closed on Saturdays and Sundays.

Confab Held On Campus

The Nevada State Motel Association will hold a workshop and convention March 1, 2, and 3, on the Nevada campus.

Statewide Services and the College of Business Administration are cooperating in arranging the program.

The workshop, with an expected attendance of 175 motel owners and operators from all over state, will cover subjects of specific interest to the motel business.

Some of the matters to be considered are the business outlook, law and the motel, promotion, salesmanship and advertising, economic development in Nevada, personnel and business management, exterior landscaping and lighting, and tax matters relating to motel operation.

Also featured during the three day meeting will be exhibits by general chairman of the planning committee group.

Yearbook Pics Still Being Taken

Yearbook pictures for Lincoln and White Pine halls will be taken next week February 3 through 8. Members of each group are urged to have their pictures taken at this time.

The following week, February 11 through 16, pictures for off campus independents will be taken.

Proofs of the pictures will be available the day after they are taken. Each person should pick them up at Gene Christensen Studio and then make their selection as quickly as possible and return the proofs to the photographer.
