DR. JAMES PETERSON

Student Union Presents New Courtship and Marriage Series

Dr. James A. Peterson, noted lecturer and chairman of the Sociology Department at the University of Southern California, will inaugurate the Jot Travis Union's new fall lecture series, "Mar. and Woman in Courtship and Marriage," on Sept. 27. Dr. Peterson, who has also held the post of chairman of the Marriage Counseling Training Program at USC since 1950, will speak on "The Revolution in the American Family."

Dr. Peterson is also a noted writer in the field of marriage education. His book, "Education for Marriage," which appeared in January, 1956, was hailed as one of the best in a crowded field and has been adopted by 100 of the nation's leading universities and colleges. Another of his books, "The Trouble with Women," written in collaboration with Dr. Eleanor Metheny of USC has been read in many American homes.

Dr. Peterson is the executive director of one of the outstanding family counseling clinics in the west. He also directs the marriage counseling program in three

Los Angeles clinics and is a consultant to a fourth.

General admission is one dollar, with season ticket holders admitted free. The discussion is being held in the Travis Lounge of the Student Union on the University of Nevada campus, and begins at 8 p.m. Free coffee will be served.

TGIF Party Today

Rusty Draper, popular recording star now appearing at Harolds Club in Reno, will be the featured personality at today's TGIF party to be held at 2:30 in the Travis Lounge of the Student Union Building.

Refreshments will be served at the party, sponsored by the Union Board. All students are invited to the free affair.

The TGIF, thank God it's Friday, party is part of the Student Union program designed to give students an opportunity to meet informally with each other.

Dave Cooper, Board president, promises more parties of this nature during the semester.

Shades of Past ... Constitution Stops ASUN Senate

Senate held its first meeting of the new school year Wednesday, and all the indications pointed to another one of those years.

The opening of the meeting was delayed for over 15 minutes because there were not enough senators present to make a quorum.

Following the reading of the minutes and the reports of Judy Morrison, ASUN second vice-president and Jinks Dabney, first vice-president, the senate turned its attention to the much discussed new ASUN constitution. The constitution was worked on for several months last year but final consideration was delayed until this semester.

Bill Isaeff, chairman of the steering committee, presented to senate a report from his committee recommending that senate not pass the new constitution, but rather approve amendments to the present one.

The report claimed that "The authors of the proposed constitution and by-laws were over zealous and have failed to include certain necessary provision for the adequate maintenance of student government at the University."

The report also pointed out that such action (not changing the constitution) will also put an end to the mistaken belief that senate cannot properly function without constantly rewriting its constitution every two or three years."

The senate moved to table the report and the constitution until the next meeting, to give the members of the senate time to consider.

Fraternity Rush Ends 160 Men Pledged

One of the largest rushes in recent years ended with 160 of the 200 rushees pledging the various fraternities.

With only three days of formal rush, Sigma Nu gathered the most pledges with 43. The ATO's and the SAE's pledged 35 apiece, while Lambda Chi Alpha got 23. Phi Sigma Kappa pledged 7 and Theta Chi, 3.

SIGMA NU

The following rushees pledged Sigma Nu: Kenneth J. Barrence, Riley M. Beckett, Norman E. Beesley, Tim Burris, Ronald J. Chadek, Joseph E. Chambers, Paul C. Christensen, Denis J. Colligan, Joseph A. All-Greek Dance Planned Saturday

"Greeks Present" is all-Greek dance scheduled for Saturday night at Hidden Valley Country Club at 9 p.m.

Big and little brothers and big and little sisters will go together. No dates will be permitted.

The dance will be semi-formal, and will provide an opportunity for all Greeks to mingle and meet each other. It is sponsored by the Interfraternity Council and the Panhellenic Council.

Although this is the first year for this dance, it is hoped it will become a yearly tradition.

Goldwater Breakfast

A buffet breakfast for the supporters of Sen. Barry Goldwater, GOP candidate for President, featuring Mike Goldwater, the senator's son, will be held Monday, September 28, at 7 a.m. in the Gordon Room of the Riverside Hotel. The cost per person will be $1.25. All interested University of Nevada students are invited to attend.

ROBERT HORTON, western regional director of Paul Laxalt's campaign for Senate, spoke on campus Tuesday night to approximately 50 student members of Nevadans for Laxalt. Jinks Dabney, ASUN first vice president, heads the organization.

EDITORIAL ARE FRATERNITIES OUT?

The death knell of the fraternity system can be heard very distinctly now. The system has outlived its usefulness, and fraternities and sororities will fold in increasing numbers throughout the United States and Canada in the coming years.

The above is typical of feelings expressed in such articles as "The Perils of Big Brotherhood," published in Look magazine last spring. But is this prediction an eventuality? Not in the opinion of many educators and fraternity members, both active and alumni.

On the factual side, 365 new chapters of men's and women's fraternities were chartered last year on college campuses. This is an indication that groups are meeting their responsibilities and are wanted on campuses.

Concerning academic standards the National Fraternity Council and National Panhellenic Council averages are above the all men's and women's averages. This is notably true at the University of Nevada. In the same line of reasoning, a higher percentage of fraternity members graduate.

In addition, as colleges and universities swell larger in size each year, the fraternity provides a society within a society which can give its members a sense of identity and an atmosphere in which they can realize their own potentialities. Through loyalty, discipline, responsibility, and close association with others of similar cultural background, the life of the college student can be enriched by fraternity membership.

The fraternity must guard against the possibility of becoming an isolated island, however, or the chapter's attitude will become similar to stagnant pool.

The role of the fraternity must adjust to changing student life. The era of the space age has placed an ever increasing emphasis on scholarship and excellence. The Dean of Men at the University of Oklahoma has said that there are three significant changes in student life: the student is developing a broader view, he exhibits a greater social conscience, and he is more serious about his academic life.

Social fraternities have an exciting challenge before them now as they face the problems which necessarily come with adjusting to the pace of the times. This challenge cannot be met by professing the ideals of brotherhood and high ideals while practicing the opposite, however, and this criticism has been levied with some justification at times. Because fraternities are composed of men, flaws will be a part of the organizations, but this is no reason for their abolishment.

The Greeks must take the opportunity that is afforded them to lead, not lag as the inevitable changes on the American campus progress. If they exhibit the ability to adjust to change while still upholding the enduring values their societies were founded upon, they will retain their potential for undisputed leadership in the campus situation and advance to a future that will exceed their past.

College Freckles

AS THE NEW school year begins and the older upperclassmen return with roving eyes for this year's "bubble-gum" set — we all tune in to the flapping mouths and wagging tongues which provide the material for this column, thanks to my big ears and your open mouths.

THOSE UNITS duffing off the altar this summer or trading freedom for security are SAE Larry Keys and Theta Sally Somer, DDD Molly McKinley and Tau Mike Killfoil, Mike Dimmett and Jackie Eitoven, Tri Delt Janie Holcomb and Snake Danny Foershler, SAE Bill Palmer and Pi Phi Margaret Taylor, Sigma Nu Tom Case and Theta Lynn Aguilar. Engaged are Phillis Goytino, Cris Gang, Kathy McKaig, Jean Breal, Tri Delt, and Tacy Hackstaff to Nevada grad Jose Avarez. Mental telepathy between the Banta twins gave Pi Phi Judy Wilson a ring and Theta Mary Lou MacKensie a pin. Tri Delt Diane Harwood and Sigma Nu Carl Feustch were also pinned this summer, along with Butch Brnikerhoff and Pat Parker.

COEDS KNOWING the suave bod of Bill (the Bald Eagle) Nichol森 must have noticed a new addition to his attire. He now sports a pair of shades (S.G.'s). From The Tail of The Herd

By Phil Herd

It is most likely that many of you have never read my column before (nor will again) because I have never written a column before (nor will again.)

The purpose of this column will be to add a little class to this newspaper, this university, the state, the nation, and the world. Before this school year has terminated, I will have convinced all of you that (1) fraternities and sororities should be abolished, (2) social drinking banned, (3) a nine o'clock curfew imposed on off campus independents, and (4) that Dennis Healy is a full blooded Englishman.

KNOW YOUR GRAD STUDENTS! "Who in the hell is Dennis Healy?" many of you might ask. Denny is one of the new faces on campus. He is a local man who graduated from the University of Notre Dame in the spring of 1964. He is here taking a few "500" courses to "rest my mind" pending a trip to Europe in February. Denny professes to be Irish (dyes his head green on St. Patrick's day), but actually is of choice English stock. His great-great-great grandfather sold Irish-Catholics as slaves in Liverpool during the reign of James II. Denny gets drunk at the Wal every Friday night and likes girls.

Thief strikes entrance to A.S.U.N. Bookstore! You know those shelves at the entrance to the bookstore where everyone leaves things while shopping so that he or she does not have to pay for them again. C'mon you know—the shelves right next to the dime hungry lockers with no locks on them. Well I left a nine dollar history book there the other day. When I returned the book was gone Please don't return the book, thief. I understand your plight. Your mommy probably didn't give you enough money to cover both fees AND books.

To park or not to park (your car). Caution automobile owners! Rumor has it that the campus police force, in co-operation with Elmer Briscoe and his gang, is launching an all out attack on students without parking permits who attempt to park within twenty-five miles of the university. Maybe I should break down and have an "A" stuck in my window. But it seems kind of stupid of me, if not rather embarrassing.

A one act play. The Cool One; Hey gang! Did the Wolf Pack lose its first game?

All: (singing): Yeah, yeah, yeah!

The Cool One (his voice cracking): Are we all cool and boss and neat?

All: Yeah, yeah, yeah!

The Cool One (tucking in his Tom Jones shirt): Let's hang Trachok in effigy and tell him to go back to Reno High School!

YUK!

Have you noticed that the girls are combing their hair this year? Maybe the watermelon shaped head is going out of style.

EFFIGY, n.; pl. ef-fi-gies. (L. effigies, effigia, a copy, image, likeness, from effingere; ex, out, and fingere, to form, fashion.) The image or likeness of a person; representation; portrait; a figure in sculpture or painting or on coins; especially a stuffed figure representing a person who has incurred hatred, commonly hanged or burned in public.

TAKE HEART sports fans, not all was lost over the weekend. The UNIVERSITY OF NEVADA BLACKJACK TEAM was victorious. In the first conflict of the season the team edged out the HORSESHOE DEALERS in the final minutes of play to win $7.50 to nothing. Starting players were: at first hand, Bud Olson (a returning letterman), at second hand, The Hawk, at third hand, Ted Marston, at fourth hand, yours truly, at fifth hand, Marc Ratner, and at sixth hand, Alan, Fingers, Craigmiles.

With the superb assistance of coach Rytta Badczek, who sent in plays from the bar and made double-down decisions, we were victorious. NEXT WEEK, number one ranked Harolds.

Have you ever eaten a Tom Jones Dinner? If not try it. All you need is food and your hands, aided by an unco-ordinated mouth. I tried it last night. It's more fun than it is nourishing but what isn't. (Last night on my way home I saw a couple doing something that wasn't at all nourishing but it looked as though they were having fun in the trees by the lake.)

Wear old clothes, napkins aren't allowed, and get the feel of your food.

Current Trends In Homemaking Told Next Week

"Modernizing Your Homemaking Ideas" is the title of a program planned by the University of Nevada School of Home Economics on Sept. 29, 8 p.m.; Sept. 30, 2:30 p.m., and Oct. 1, 8 p.m. It will feature demonstrations, exhibitions and discussion on current trends in decorating, building and home care.

Bob Robertson, of the Northern Nevada Home Builders Association, and Miss Alice Gaston, Assistant Professor of Home Economics, will lead the first of three segments, "What's To Come In Century 21", which will be a prelude of furnishings in the future.

The second segment, entitled "Update Your Decorating Ideas", will feature John Moulds Jr., an interior decorator from Sacramento State College.

Presenting the last portion of the program will be Marie Morgan, Washoe county home agent, Willa Huston, assistant home agent and member of the textile and equipment classes. Members of the class who will take part are: Carolyn Cadamortori, Lori Stern, Diane McHughes, June Heady, Leona Rawlins, Diane Johnson, Rochelle Parlenti, Irene Bunce, Judy Matley and Marjean Nelson. They will present ideas on furniture and floor care.

Admission to the program is free, but tickets are required. For tickets phone one of the three sponsors: Sierra Pacific Power Company (786-1551), Nevada Home Economics Association (329-4646) and Home Builders Association of Northern Nevada (329-4611).

Pick Up ID Cards

University student identification cards may be picked up in the Jot Travis lounge today and Monday from 9 a.m. till 5 p.m., according to Dean Basta, dean of student affairs.

I. D.'s not picked up by Monday evening may be obtained from the dean of men or the dean of women.

SPURS, women's campus honorary organization, held their first meeting of the year Tuesday night. The regular meeting was followed by a cake party.

Three Join ROTC Staff

Three new U.S. Army Officers have been assigned to the University as Reserve Officer Training Corps (ROTC) instructors.

They are Major John A. Halvorson, Captain Ralph M. Griscom and Captain Henry R. Frost.

Major Halvorson, M. S. III Instructor, recently returned from Vietnam where he served as an artillery adviser. A graduate of the University of Omaha and the Army's Command and General Staff College, Halvorson will be in charge of drill instruction for the Fall semester.

Captain Griscom, M. S. IV Instructor, recently returned from a tour of duty in Greenland, where he served as area engineer. A 1956 graduate of West Point, Griscom has been an engineer company commander in Germany. Captain Griscom received his Masters degree in civil engineering from Iowa State University in 1962.

Captain Frost, M. S. I Instructor, is a graduate of the University of Omaha. He was assigned to the University after completion of the signal corps career officers' course at Ft. Monmouth, New Jersey. Frost studied Chinese Mandarin at the Army Language School, and served in the Republic of Free China from 1961-1963.

V&T Railroad Collection Displayed

The Virginia and Truckee Railroad collection now featured in the main-floor showcase of the University Library contains approximately 200,000 pieces, which were donated by the Ogden Mills

Estate and Major Gordon A. Samson, president and vice-president and general manager of the railroad.

The collection, which is the largest known of the V & T railroad's history, was organized, designed and executed by Frederick C. Gale, a member of the Special Collections Department of the library.

Gale is featuring several documents, pictures, and ledgers in the exhibit, but the bulk of the information and material is being stored in the basement floor of the library to be separated into categories, so that the public may have easy access to it.

The history behind the V & T Railroad begins with Darius Mills, President of the Bank of California; William Ralston, founder of the Bank of California; and William Sharon, Manager of the Bank of California, who were responsible for the railroad's existence. It was constructed in 1869, and ran until June 1, 1950, when the company ceased operation. The first run from Virginia City to Carson City was built principally to carry ore from the mines. The idea of passenger travel was secondary and occurred much later, when passengers were required to ride on planks.

The entire collection includes dividend books, waybills, repair ledgers, passenger and freight account books, business and personal correspondence, detailed payroll vouchers, all of the disbandment papers, tickets, receipts, and wet letter presses.

Mr. Gale emphasized the fact that many gaps still remain in all areas of Nevada history, and he encourages everyone to look through his attic for old and significant documents or relics. Mr. Gale will appear on television to discuss the significance of this collection with the general public.

Exam Dates Changed for Ed. Majors

College seniors preparing to teach school may take the National Teacher Examination on four different test dates each year instead of one, Educational Testing Service announced today.

New dates set for the testing of prospective teachers are: December 12, 1964; and March 20, July 17, and October 2, 1965. The tests will be given at more than 550 locations in the 50 states, ETS said.

Scores on the National Teacher Examinations are used by many large school districts for employment of new teachers and by several states for certification or licensing of teachers. Some colleges require all seniors preparing to teach to take the examinations.

Lists of school systems which use the examination results are distributed to colleges by ETS, a nonprofit, educational organization which prepares and administers the examinations.

On each full day of testing, prospective teachers may take the Common Examinations, which measure the professional and general preparation of teachers, and one of 13 Teaching Area Examinations (formerly called Optional Examinations) which will measure mastery of the subject they expect to teach.

Prospective teachers should contact the school systems in which they seek employment, or their colleges, for specific advice on which examinations and on which dates they should be taken.

A Bulletin of Information containing registration forms, lists of test centers, and information about the examinations may be obtained from college placement officers, school personnel departments, or directly from National Teacher Examinations, Educational Testing Service, Princeton, New Jersey 08540.

ASUN Invites All Clubs for Parade

The ASUN invites all clubs to participate in the Activities Parade and asks that they contact the ASUN 2nd Vice-President Judy Morrison.

The Parade is designed to acquaint the students of the University with the various organizations on campus. Both old and new students are urged to stop by the Travis Lounge, Tuesday, Sept. 29, any time between noon and 5 p.m., where they will have the opportunity to talk to representatives from the clubs and sign up for the activities.

Fleischman Aggies Have Begun Resource Program

The Max C. Fleischmann college of agriculture has initiated a renewable resource program. The program will be a division of the plant science department and will include teaching, extension studies and research with a special emphasis on research for the first few years.

This information was made public by Mr. W. J. Whorton information specialist in charge of the agriculture information service.

Plans for a new building to house the department have already been submitted. The horseshoe shaped structure will cost approximately $350,000, and will be located near the agriculture mechanics building on the Valley Road Field Laboratory grounds.

The building itself will have 13,500 square feet of space to contain class rooms and offices. For flexibility, all interior non-supporting walls will be movable so that classroom size can fluctuate as desired.

Campus Dorms Again Filled To Brim For Fall

On-campus housing is again filled to capacity for the fall semester with all available living quarters being occupied, according to Bill Adams, director of housing.

Presently there are 652 students living in the residence halls with 156 students waiting for on-campus housing.

Residence halls presently house 260 male students and 392 female students.

On-campus housing for married couples is also filled to capacity with 40 units presently being occupied.

Adams stated that off-campus has been somewhat of a problem because many houses that were previously rented to college students have been sold for access for the new freeway.

Large Number Slows Grading Of English Placement Tests

"Six hundred and twenty people took the English Placement test this semester. Due to the lack of IBM scoring machinery all of these tests had to be hand scored," said Ben Echeverria, University Counselor and Foreign Student Advisor.

The English Placement Test (EPT) is administered to all Nevada High School students while they are still in their respective high schools, so this figure represents mostly out of state and transfer students, said Echeverria.

The main body of those taking the test did so on the regularly scheduled day, September 10. This group was 588 strong. On September 10 both the EPT and ACT (American College Test) were administered. September 15 a make-up exam was administered. Only 15 took EPT and 17 took ACT and, continued Echeverria, this was only the day before registration. All 620 people had to have their tests scored and their advisors assigned before registration day. Without the aid of mechanical scoring devices this must all be done by hand, said Echeverria.

Other than the three staff members about a dozen English Assistants aided in the scoring of these tests and deserve a lot of praise, said Echeverria.

"The day after the test many of those who took it wanted to know their scores and what English they could get into. Without mechanical scoring devices this was an impossibility. Many of them just don't realize the number of students we are dealing with so they get all ticked off if they can't get their scores."

Art Exhibit Given Warm Reception

The retrospective exhibition of Nevada artist Robert Cole Caples was well attended at its opening Sunday, September 20, according to Dr. Craig Sheppard, professor of art.

The initial show of the Centennial year is a joint project of the art department and the Jot Travis Student Union Board, and is open to university faculty, students, and the community.

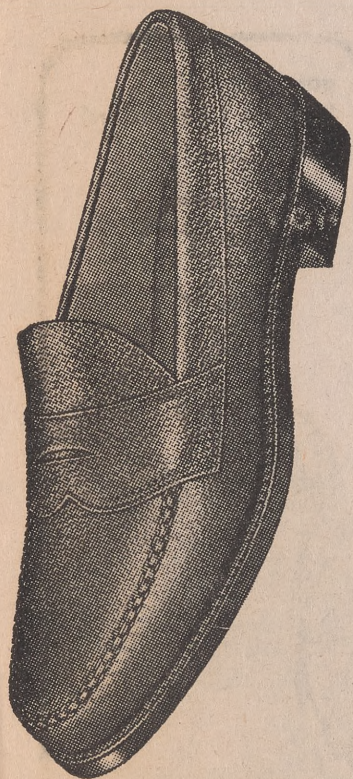

The collective 65 works, largely concerned with Nevada, and donated by local collectors and the artist, will be on view until 10 p.m. on weekdays and 2 to 4 p.m. on Sundays.

A descriptive catalogue of the life and works of Caples, written by Walter Van Tillberg Clark, will be available in the art department office.

From The End Of The Beach

By DOUG BRUCKNER

When a football team is beaten, 53-6, no one on the losing side is happy.

The administration isn't happy, the press isn't happy, and most of all the players and the coaches aren't happy. Saturday at Mackay Stadium the fans weren't happy either and they were doing their best to show it. As if they were sitting in Kezar Stadium, the wolves in the student bleachers went to work on their classmates on the field as soon as Long Beach State scored its first touchdown.

It was early in the game and after a shocking start the University of Nevada needed encouragement. The Wolf Pack might as well have been playing in Long Beach.

Some students, remembering past years when Dick Pinion and "Moose" Armuth led a rocking rooting section that cheered for Nevada, were shocked.

Then Sunday night, Nevada's loyal fans strung coach Dick Trachok up in effigy, apparently in an attempt at giving the team a further morale boost.

The team is lucky this week. It's going to be on the road.

HITS AND MISSES: Three of Nevada's future opponents were successful in their opening games . . . Santa Clara blanked the Cal Aggies, 12-0 . . . San Francisco State topped Cal Poly of San Luis Obispo, 14-7 . . . and Sacramento State dumped traditionally-tough Whittier, 3-0 . . . Willamette will be playing its first game against the Wolf Pack . . . The Salem, Ore., squad, thin on experience with only two seniors, lost to Nevada, 29-6, last season at Mackay Stadium . . . KBET Radio 1340 in Reno will air the Willamette game Saturday night at 8 . . . KBET is broadcasting all Wolf Pack games this season at home and on the road . . . Best spectator event this weekend is Harrah's Regatta at Lake Tahoe's South Shore . . . The massive unlimited hydroplanes run surprisingly close to shore and viewing is top notch . . . Finals are Sunday.

For those who feel like participating instead of just watching their sports this weekend, the "Outer Limits" party center across the road from the Branding Iron is rumored to be having a drinking contest Saturday night . . . The type of beverage hasn't been revealed yet, but sides are now being chosen . . . Some of Nevada high school's best footballers are playing on Bob Donlan and Bill (Rock) Daniel's freshman team . . . Among them Gino Martini (Sparks), Mike Sala (Reno) and Jack Byrom (Douglas) . . . Newell Heads Intramurals For 1964-65 Sports Schedule

The Director of Intramurals again this year is Mr. Lee Newell, who will also handle the Varsity wrestling team for the Wolf Pack this year. While the rest of the campus is slowly unlimbering its I.Q., the intramural program is getting under way this week with baseball on Clark Field.

Competition will also take place in 17 other sports during the rest of the year including: softball, tennis, golf, skiing, basketball, basketball free throw, cross country, volleyball, table tennis, wrestling, gymnastics, fencing, bowling, swimming and diving, badminton, track and field, and riflery.

Any male undergraduate, graduate student or faculty member may participate unless he has won a varsity letter or two junior college letters in the sport in which he wants to play.

The 1964-65 Intramural Program offers a revamped Administration and new point system.

A new Intramural Board has been created to advise the Intramural Director. It will be made up of one representative each from independents, dorms, managers council, and the interfraternity council. The point system will emphasize participation. A living group can enter as many teams as it wishes, but only one team can earn points for that living group. However, each team entered can accumulate participation points.

Nevada Chemist Host Symposium

Chemists from all corners of the nation will gather on the University of Nevada campus for a "Nevada Centennial Symposium" on Saturday, September 26.

The symposium will feature Professor Charles C. Price. Professor Price is the president-elect of the American Chemical Society. He is one of the country's best known chemists and comes from the University of Pennsylvania.

The one-day affair is being held as part of the State's centennial celebration. It is co-sponsored by the University of Nevada, the Desert Research Institute, and the Sacramento Section of the American Chemical Society.

The activities start at 10 a.m. with registration. The program will officially open at 1 p.m. with a welcoming speech by President Charles J. Armstrong. The afternoon activities will include three speeches and discussion periods.

Cross Country Team to Travel

Nevada opens its cross country track season this Saturday when it travels to Chico St. College to compete in the third annual Chico Invitational meet.

Coach Dick Dankworth will take a team of seven to the meet. Also invited to the 3-mile contest are the other five Far Western Conference schools, and Fresno State, Southern Oregon Univ., Oregon Technical Institute and the University of Pacific.

Dankworth's seven competitors will be selected from ten men who have turned out for the sport. The ten are: Greg Austin, a first year man with cross country experience gained as a member of last year's ski team; Tom Beardsley, a miler on the 1963 track squad; Skip Houk, a letterman who finished ninth at the Chico meet last fall; Tom Dye, a member of last year's track squad; Frank Lemus, a freshman with track experience at Sparks High School; Tex Mock, a letterman who ran in the Chico meet last year; Steve Regas, a junior transfer from the College of San Mateo; Jack Sandin, a freshman from Carmont High School in Belmont, Calif.; Mike Sorenson, a letterman who placed at last year's invitational; and Robert Sinnett, a member of last year's track and cross country teams.

Ski Team Try-Out

Varsity ski coach George Twardokins has called a meeting for all aspiring skiers in Room 101 of the New Gym at 6 p.m., today.

Anyone with sound racing experience and interest, whether or not he has previously contacted Twardokins, is welcome.

Wolf Pack Travels To Oregon For Clash With Bearcats

By LARRY FARR
Assistant Sports Editor

The University of Nevada Wolf Pack will be looking for their first victory of the 1964 football season this Saturday as they travel to Salem Oregon to face the Bearcats of Willamette University.

This will be the season opener for the host Bearcat team while it will be the second game of the season for the Wolf Pack as they dropped their season opener last week to Long Beach State, 53-6.

The Wolf Pack can expect to see a strong running team and the Wolf Pack defensive line should have its hands full trying to contain the Bearcat's strong running attack.

Returning to the Bearcat's backfield this season are Jack Deja and Walter Maze, both juniors and honorable mention All-Northwest Conference last season.

Jack Deja led the Bearcats in rushing last fall with a 1.4 yards-per-carry average, while Maze compiled a 5.8 yard-per-carry average in his freshman year.

Leading the "T" formation attack against the Wolf Pack will be veteran quarterback Jim Dombroski and rounding out the backfield for the Bearcats will be wingback Rod Allison.

The Willamette game will be the first of a series of four away games for the Wolf Pack.

The Wolf Pack's next home game will not be until October 24, Homecoming, when they will meet Humboldt State in a conference clash at Mackay Stadium.

Agriculture Picnic

A steak fry for all College of Agriculture students is scheduled for Oct. 3, at 3 p.m., at the University research farm. The charge will be 50 cents and transportation will be furnished.
