Centennial Homecoming Set

Salute to Nevada's 100th Birthday

1964 CENTENNIAL HOMECOMING COMMITTEE

"Centennial Salute," the title for the 1964 homecoming, will be a combination of new ideas and old traditions, according to Ted Zaehring, this year's homecoming chairman.

Queen candidates have already been chosen by their respective living groups. Those contending for the homecoming queenship are:

Lynn Mackedon, Artemisia Hall
Margaret Lewis, Gamma Phi Beta
Leri Ludel, Manzanita Hall
Jill Freeman, Kappa Alpha Theta
Sherri Johnson, Juniper Hall
Diane DeReemer, Pi Beta Phi
Judy Walker, Delta Delta Delta
Chris Games, off-campus independent.

The eight coeds will be escorted to men's living groups for lunch and dinner next week by members of Blue Key.

Two or more living groups will work on one float this year, rather than on individual floats as in previous years. This should produce bigger and better floats for the homecoming parade.

Due to the postponement of the Centennial Operetta on October 21-23, and lack of an area large enough for the homecoming dance on Saturday night, the homecoming schedule is tentative:

Monday, October 19—Greek voting for Homecoming Queen.
Tuesday, October 20—Stan Getz, Joan Gilberto and Godfrey Catridge in concert, New Gym, 7 p.m.

Tuesday, October 20—Independent voting for Homecoming Queen in Student Union Building between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Thursday, October 22—To be announced.

Friday, October 23—Homecoming dance, Elks Club 9 p.m.

Saturday, October 24—Cross country race, 8 a.m. Homecoming Parade, 10 a.m. Homecoming game and presentation of awards 2 p.m.

French NATO Representative Explains DeGaulle Policies

France's argument that nuclear power control should be shared with America's allies was stressed by NATO's chief French delegate in a talk at the University of Nevada Tuesday night.

Pierre Emannuelli, representative to the NATO alliance from France, spoke on "France and the Atlantic Community" in the second talk of the University's Union Board lecture series.

"Naturally Europe is concerned about nuclear weapon control," said the Frenchman. "With America's wide range of commitments, it is feared she would not risk total war to aid a European nation which found itself in trouble."

Underlining France's independence from its allies, the NATO representative referred to French President Charles de Gaulle's current trip through Latin America.

"We have no ambition to take the United States' place in Latin America," said the delegate. "This tour is the best thing that could happen for the sake of both France and America. It is a vociferous challenge to Castro," he explained.

De Gaulle's goal is to strengthen traditional ties between Latin America and Europe. Despite the binds of the OAS, the South American nations have a strong link with Europe, Emannuelli said.

Taking a personal view of De Gaulle for a moment, the delegate asserted, "Many Europeans dislike De Gaulle and disagree with his policies, but most of them feel a little pride when he

Off-Campus GDIs Nominate Queen

There will be a meeting of off-campus Independent women students on Friday, Oct. 9, at 12 noon in the Sierra Room of the Student Union, according to Sue Moss, off-campus representative. The purpose of the meeting will be to select a Military Ball Queen candidate.

Home Economics Dept. Hosts 189 High School Girls Today

One-hundred-eighty-nine grade girls from seven Nevada counties and ten surrounding schools in California will be guests of honor at "A College Day in Home Economics" tomorrow October 10, 1964.

The program, sponsored by the Sarah Fleischmann School of Home Economics, will give the students an opportunity to learn about careers in home economics, become familiar with the University of Nevada and to learn about life on campus, according to Dr. Patricia A. Triple, professor of home economics and chairman of the program.

Mrs. Alfred Simonini, department manager in the I. Magnin and Company store in Palo Alto, California and a 1962 graduate of the Sarah Fleischmann School of Home Economics, will lecture during the first portion of the program on fashion merchandising. A film about other careers will also be shown.

Faculty members will then lead brief classes in housing, interior design, textiles, food research and child development. Demonstrations on amino acids and a child observation laboratory will be included in these classes.

Marriage Series

Dr. Louise Tyrer, Reno Gynecologist, will continue the Jot Travis Union's "Man and Woman in Courtship and Marriage" series this coming Sunday night, October 11, 1964. Dr. Tyrer will speak on the "Biological Aspect of Marriage".

Many people have questions about the physical possibilities and problems in married life. The lecture and discussion will try to answer these and other questions in such a manner as to appeal to married couples, brides-and-grooms to be, and those having questions in general. The lecture is not limited to married couples, but to all interested.

General admission is one dollar, with students, faculty, and season ticket holders admitted free. The discussion will be held in the Travis Lounge at the Student Union at 7:00 p.m.

Extra Holiday

Students of the University of Nevada will enjoy an extra day of vacation this month along with all the rest of the state.

The Governor has proclaimed Friday, October 30, a legal holiday so that all residents may take part in the weekend celebration of Nevada's centennial.

In keeping with the Governor's Proclamation, the University will observe that Friday as a holiday, a recent announcement from the office of President Armstrong stated.

The school holiday will be both for the Reno campus and the Las Vegas campus.

NEW COAT FOR OLD JOHN

NEW PAINT—A fresh coat of paint was given to the campus landmark over the weekend. The painters are still unknown.

Mackay Statue Painted

A new coat of paint adorns the statue of John Mackay for the first time this year. Late Friday or Saturday night some would-be Rembrandt who naturally wishes to remain anonymous, dumped a can of off white paint over the statue.

The statue, which stands in front of the Mackay School of Mines at the north end of the quad, receives one or more coats of paint each year.

John Mackay is a highly regarded figure on campus as he aided the U of N in its early years and started the Mackay School of Mines.

College Freckles

A CALM SETTLED over the University the first two eventful weeks of school. Perhaps students have taken up "booking" instead of "beering." (I doubt it.)

Danny Acuna provided the only romantic action of the week. The football hero said "I do" last Monday eve at 8:00.

Two weeks ago the S.A.E.'s held their initiation banquet at their old Santa Fe Hang-out. Along with the newly initiated neophytes, new Little Sisters of Minerva were also indoctrinated. Those carried home were Sue Rhodes, Serri Locke, Sandy Saviers, Michele Maupin, Sally Small, and Patti Lewis. Two celebrated figures seemed oblivious to any formal surroundings. Nevada Alum, Bill Adams, found support in a pledges arms while Little Sis Prexy, Karen Branch comfortably dozed in the Mapes Powder room for two and a half hours.

THE A.T.O pledges did not succeed in capturing their President and Pledge Trainer for the annual Bowery. At the same time, the actives avoided Social Probation at the dance. Two girls did not seem to adhere to the 20's flapper theme. Judi Grossenbach and Judy Norcott casually appeared in sweat shirts and levis. Was that the "grub" fashion in 1920?

THE LAMBDA CHI house turned from a fraternity meeting place to a reception hall last Saturday night. With two kegs of beer and many bottles of champagne, Barney Lujan and Mary Ann Parmenter were sent merrily on their honeymoon.

G.D.I. Chuck Gardner, candidate for Freshman class president lambasted the Greeks at the election rally last Tuesday. Was he looking for propositions or votes?????

Newly elected best dressed coed (?) Judy Schmidt did not live up to her title Monday night. Whoever heard of tapping for Sagens in BARE FEET . . .

THE STUDENT Union Board went en masse down to Los Angeles last weekend. I guess they went down for meetings of some sort. However, the only meeting seemed to be that of Troy Donahue. If this is any example of a BOARD meeting maybe they could hold the next one in Winnemucca to give the boys a treat.

EXPRESSION OF THE WEEK
 "Shake it off and take a lap."

From The Tail Of The Hurd

From Phil Hurd

WALKING NORTHWARD through the center of our quaint little campus, we stop and stare aghast, as we behold a miracle of modern architecture, a palace of stupendous grandeur, the Library. Inside this marvelous building is a cool and carefully filtered atmosphere. On the mezzanine we find beautifully sculptured doors, a replica of those fashioned by one of the great masters.

On the street floor, one sees a collection of finely engraved silver from our own state, Nevada. The building is surrounded by lush gardens and even has well kept foliage and a crystal pool on the inside. But don't do downstairs. For there you will see three "paintings" which in the midst of all this beauty is very likely to turn your stomach. Granted there are some attractive colors; but they are slopped and blended nonsensically into what are called "abstractions". They would look great down on "Green Street" or in some opium den, but in a library? This is Reno, not North Beach.

IT'S WORLD SERIES time again, the C.B.S. Yankees vs the St. Louis Cardinals. The Redbirds will win in six games and show old Walter Cronkite that money isn't everything. Remember when Professors at least used to apologize for not dismissing class so we could go see the games?

THE OTHER DAY at about 2:15 in the afternoon the somber quiet of the Humanities building was pierced by the cries of an infant child. Prof. Harvey (one of the controversial figures in the English department), commented, "I wonder what English professor he was talking to."

AS LONG AS WE are quoting people, Jim Haas (campus intellectual) had this to say, "All of my professors are tin gods who guide their lives by expediency and you can quote me on that." Three's a mouthful for ya. Put that in your pipe and smoke it.

Sign in the TUB coffee shop says, "Famous, University of Nevada, Poor Boy Sandwiches." A freshman girl asked me if these were the official sandwiches that we were all supposed to eat. I told her to go ahead and have a hamburger if she really wanted one. She said, "You know, I bet they just put that sign there so more people would buy Poor Boy sandwiches." You know, I bet they did too.

I AM NOT SURE that you can get your "Bury Goldwater" bumper strips from the Campus Young Republican group; but I'll probably find out whether you can or not. In your heart you know he's right, but maybe a little too far right.

The Military Department had 100% participation in the United Fund Drive. There are over 1500 students in the Military Department. They contributed $82.00. That's almost six cents apiece! Congratulations men!

SORRY GIRLS, no more dates by telephone. However you can arrange for a personal interview by calling Pierre at FA-2-3345.

Words From The John

The reason for the existence of newspapers, be they college semi-weeklies or metropolitan dailies, is to be a source of information and an instrument by which opinions may be expressed. The opinions expressed in them may not be oppular or reasonable, indeed they may be in diametric opposition of all that is generally assumed to be good and fine, but they are the opinions of the one who took the time to express them and get them printed in the newspaper. By the very right they who formed those opinions have the right to be heard, unpopular or not.

Certain demonstrations against the opinions of certain staff members of the Sagebrush of the University of Nevada's football team indicate to me that the participants of those certain demonstrations feel that their opinions are not being heard.

I personally feel that these opinions should be heard so I hereby offer the space which my column occupies to any member of the athletic department or the football team who would care to express an opinion. I will make this an open offer that may be prevailed upon from now on.

There is no room here for good losers and nice guys finish last.

The University is growing enrollment wise and is not finance wise. A number of problems have arisen because of this, for example: I was walking by a classroom about a week ago and happened to glance in. The room looked like Yankee Stadium during the world series, students were lining the walls, sitting on the floor, hanging from the ceiling, and were stuffed into every conceivable spot in the room. The class was one of Dr. Kirkpatrick's European History sections. No one prof, should have 97 people in a class. Granted Dr. Kirkpatrick is an interesting lecturer but that doesn't account for that many students. Lack of enough staff enters into the picture also. The lack of professors stems partially from the lack of funds within the department and the University. Such classes are not beneficial to the student and are unfair to the professor. I am not taking up any cause to ease Dr. Kirkpatrick's work load; just using him as an example. The same situation exists in the Department of English and many other departments of the University.

GO OUT AND MEET BOB DAVIS AND JIM GURKIE. Get to know your fellow students, girls. They are anxious to meet you. They are both actually millionaires, (you all know of Davis Aluminun and Gurkie Investments) and just love to throw parties. (This is a limited time offer.)

WATCH OUT for that fellow in the sof-fee shop or you may not notice him. The fellow I am talking about is the one who sneaks up to your table and throws a dirty rag from the refuse can on your table and begins to scrub violently until he spills your coffee, stashes your last cigarette, and knocks your books on the floor and throws your sandwich away. Then he, as quietly as he came, goes.

Advanced ROTC to Get Revamping Soon

By JIM BAKER
Staff Writer

The Congress has passed and sent to President Johnson for signature the long-delayed "ROTC Revitalization Act." Colonel Robert L. Gundlach, professor of military science, stated that such an Act would consist of three major parts.

Immediate features of significant benefit to Advance Course students include:

1. Advance course monthly pay checks will be increased from $27 to $40. This is paid throughout the years from September of the junior year until completion of the senior year of ROTC, a period of approximately 20 months.
 1. Summer camp pay is increased from approximately $78 to $111.15.
 3. A $300 uniform allowance will be paid to all graduated upon being commissioned. Previously this allowance was paid to Reserve officers only.
 4. Monthly payments will be retroactive from the time of the President's signature until receipt of the first pay checks.
- Eventual or long-range features will include many other significant benefits and improvements. A new two-year Senior ROTC program which would consist of two summer camps is included in the Act, a short summer camp in place of the present Basic Course and the present six-week summer camp. This would permit transferees from junior colleges to earn an Army commission through the ROTC program.

A four-year program similar to the existing program to include an aviation program where ROTC cadets could earn a commission as well as qualify as Army Aviators was also included in the Act. Voluntary or required participation in ROTC would be decided by the University. Scholarships, consisting of tuition and books as well as $50 monthly would be given to qualified ROTC students.

During the remainder of the school year, the Department of Defense and the Department of the Army will develop regulations pertaining to these long-range features for consideration by this and the 250 other institutions with Army Senior ROTC programs.

Then, during the next school year, 1965-66, the Regents will decide, after coordinating with Department of the Army, how the various features of the new program will be applied on the University of Nevada campus.

"There is no doubt that the fall of 1966 will see our ROTC program at the University of Nevada wearing a significant new look," Colonel Gundlach said.

KUNR-Radio To Resume Newscasts

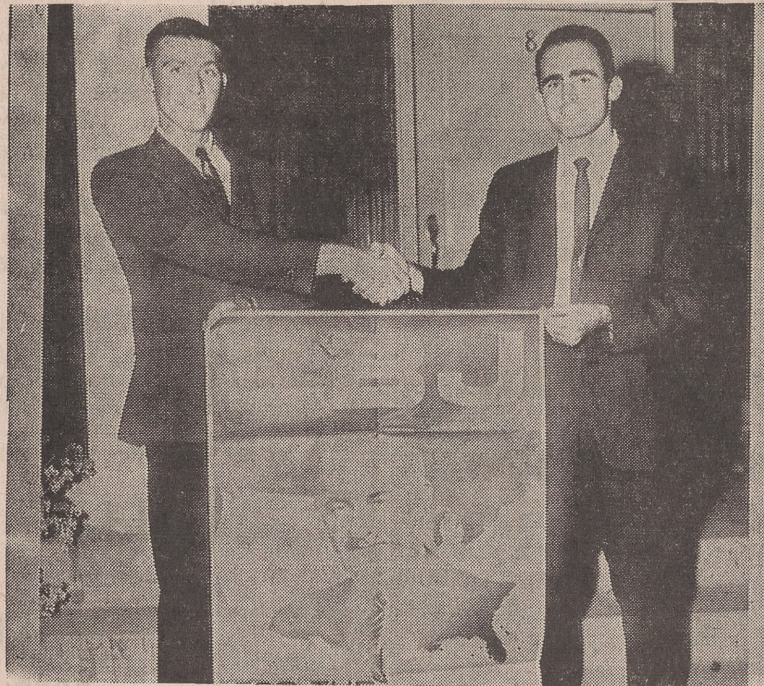

For the second consecutive year KUNR, the University of Nevada campus FM radio station, is broadcasting a series of five to ten minute newscasts every Monday through Friday at 7 p.m.

The newscasters are Bruce Pozzi, Frank Deleplane, Linda Chambers, Ron Gamba, Jim Maire and Bob Adams. All are students in Journalism 311, Radio and Television News Writing and Editing. Under the direction of Professor LaRue Gilleland, they gather, write, and broadcast the news.

According to Professor Gilleland, the staff strives for emphasis on campus educational and cultural news. KUNR is often the only place where the average listener may obtain the news, Professor Gilleland noted, because it gives extensive coverage radio and television stations and newspapers cover little or not at all.

CARS NEEDED

1960 or later models of convertibles are urgently needed for the homecoming parade on October 24. Anyone who is interested in participating should call Sky Schaff at 322-9302 after 4 p.m.

Sagens Get New Members; Sorority Tappings Add Five

Sagens, the upper class women's honorary organization, tapped five new members last Monday, October 5, at the four sorority houses.

New members are Cheryl Sawyer, Elfrena Sewell, Cathy Landers, Kathy Wick, and Mary Jane Reich. Women who are not affiliated with a sorority were invited to dinner at several of the sorority houses in order to take part in the tapping ceremony.

Sagens' membership is chosen on a basis of leadership, citizenship, service, and scholarship. Women are required to have 2.5 or better averages.

Fraternities to Honor Pledges, Dances Slated This Weekend

Lambda Chi Alpha, Phi Sigma Kappa, and Sigma Nu will hold their annual pledge dances this weekend. Alpha Tau Omega and Theta Chi held their dances last weekend, while Sigma Alpha Epsilon will hold its pledge dance next weekend.

The Phi Sigs will head for Rosemount Lodge tonight, where their semi-formal dance will be held from 9-12 p.m. The seven pledges gained during formal rush and the five picked-up during informal will be the honored guests. Larry Bennett, social chairman, expects about 45 couples to attend.

Lambda Chi Alpha will go to Rosemount tomorrow, also in a semi-formal affair from 9-12 p.m. About 60 couples are expected to go, honoring 30 of the new pledges.

Sigma Nu will honor its pledges tonight at the Garden Room of the Riverside. This will be the largest pledge dance, with 48 pledges attending. This is also semi-formal, and is scheduled from 9-12 p.m.

Alpha Tau Omega held its Bowery Dance at the VFW Hall last Friday. President Paul Weir attended the dance, after spending a day at the Dayton Jail at the mercy of some pledges. Weir escaped in Carson City.

Theta Chi also held its dance last weekend, on Saturday. Their members traveled to Sutcliffe's, on the shores of Pyramid Lake. This was a "sweatshirt" dance, with about 25 couples attending. The Theta Chis will also honor their pledges again in November, when they hold their annual Pirate Dance.

Sundowner Shoot

The Sundowners will hold a Turkey Shoot this afternoon at 3 p.m. on Juniper Hill Rd. according to a Sundowner spokesman. This will be the first in a series of turkey shoots.

Directional signs to the shooting area will be set up on California Ave. off of South Virginia. Refreshments will be served. The entrance fee is $1.

CCUN Meeting Thursday To Discuss Name Change

"We want to meet you" is the theme of the next CCUN (International club) meeting. This will be the first general business meeting this semester.

Among the things to be discussed will be the changing of the club's name back to the International Club, their affiliation with the national chapter and the distribution of the calendar of coming events.

The main function of the International Club is to give both foreign and local students a chance to share their views on international affairs and thus create an understanding of each other's homeland. The club also tries to help the foreign students adjust to their new and unfamiliar surroundings here in America.

Some of the annual activities are the sale of UNICEF Christmas cards and collecting books for Asian students. In the near future the club plans to have a trip to Virginia City and a Squaw Valley skating party.

This first meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. this Thursday (October 8) in the Nevada East-West Room of the Student Union.

UCLA Hosts College Unions

Conclave Attended by TUB

The regional meeting of the Association of College Unions, held last Thursday through Saturday at the UCLA campus in Los Angeles, was well represented by students and faculty on the University of Nevada Student Union Board.

Clark Santini, past Student Union Board president, was the key speaker at the convention of union board members from all the Western states. His talk, "An Introduction to College Union Programs — A Temple of Escape," condemned the student union competition with education rather than its supplementary value for education. Santini also pointed out the growth of facilities of student unions in the Western state colleges, but pointed out that this was the only apparent growth.

Of the ten representatives from Nevada, Tony Oxborrow and Susan Anderson also gained recognition at the regional convention. Oxborrow was a nominee for the vice-presidency of the convention, and Miss Anderson was selected Newsletter Editor for the entire region.

The program of events for the three-day convention included prominent guest speakers, campus tours, panel discussions, and an exhibit under the direction of Dr. Craig Sheppard of the University of Nevada Art Department.

Other representatives from Nevada were Robert L. Kersey, director of Travis Student Union; Dave Cooper, Student Union president; Steve Gomes, Karen Gibbs, Keith Stephens and Kathy Migliaccio.

New Scholarships Available For Nevada Indian Students

Twenty scholarships for American Indian students are available for the first time this year. Dr. Robert A. McQueen, chairman of the scholarships and prizes committee, announced that the scholarship is for students of at least one-quarter Indian parentage who are Nevada residents. According to Dr. McQueen only four students received the scholarship this year at the Reno campus.

The scholarships were made available by a measure passed by the Board of Regents during the summer. They consist of a registration fee waiver for each qualified student. The proposal also called for an additional $150 per semester for those students living outside the local area. This would help pay room and board.

This section is to be put into effect in the fall of 1965, pending legislative approval and appropriation of funds. The scholarship may run for a minimum of four years provided the student keeps a good scholastic standing.

Dr. Fred Anderson, University regent, sponsored the measure, which was passed unanimously.

The scholarships were made available for two reasons, according to Dr. Anderson. The first reason is to provide financial help to students who may need it. The availability of this scholarship may "make all the difference" whether some Indian students will be able to attend, Dr. Anderson said.

Secondly it "provides encouragement for these students to attend the University where they will be competing with the people with whom they will have to compete in life." Dr. Anderson called this "a significant step to increase Nevada Indian enrollment." He said the Indian enrollment in the University has in the past been proportionately very low.

Students interested in the scholarships should obtain applications from Dr. McQueen's office in Morrill Hall. The completed applications, including grade point averages, should be returned to Dr. McQueen before registration next semester.

Wolf Pack Faces Montana

Nevada Tackles 4th Rated Team

The Wolf Pack takes on powerful Montana State tomorrow afternoon at 2 p.m. on the Bobcats' field and it appears to be another rough game for the Nevada squad.

Montana, who is ranked fourth in the nation among small colleges, has 16 returning lettermen headed by returning halfback, Dan Sundling, and quarterback, Ray Foley. Sundling averages six yards a carry and Foley is an accurate passer.

The Montana eleven may have some trouble in the line except for Terry Albrecht and Bob Hampton who are bringing their experience to the interior of the forward wall.

Last year Montana State defeated Nevada 41 to 13 and ended with a 6-3 season.

A repeat of last year's score is not indicated as the Wolf Pack seems to be shaping up after a slow beginning. Nevada lost its last game against Santa Barbara by a scant 14 points.

... Frenchman

The NATO representative, speaking at an interview preceding his speech, made some controversial comments on the American way of life.

"Conformity is killing American culture," was the way he put it.

"I like America. I have many American friends, and my sister is an American citizen, but I don't like the American way of life," he announced.

The Frenchman said he was looking forward to a tour of Reno.

"This town is a well-known curiosity to the French," he said. "In France it takes between one and two years to get a divorce, and then it isn't easy. We have no such thing as grounds of 'mental Cruelty' or 'mutual consent.'"

He referred to Reno's six weeks divorce period saying, "Of course, your divorce rate is four times higher here."

Nevada Seeks San Jose Upset At Invitational

The University of Nevada, fresh from an upset victory over Chico State, will venture this weekend to Sacramento for the annual Sacramento State Invitational Cross Country Meet.

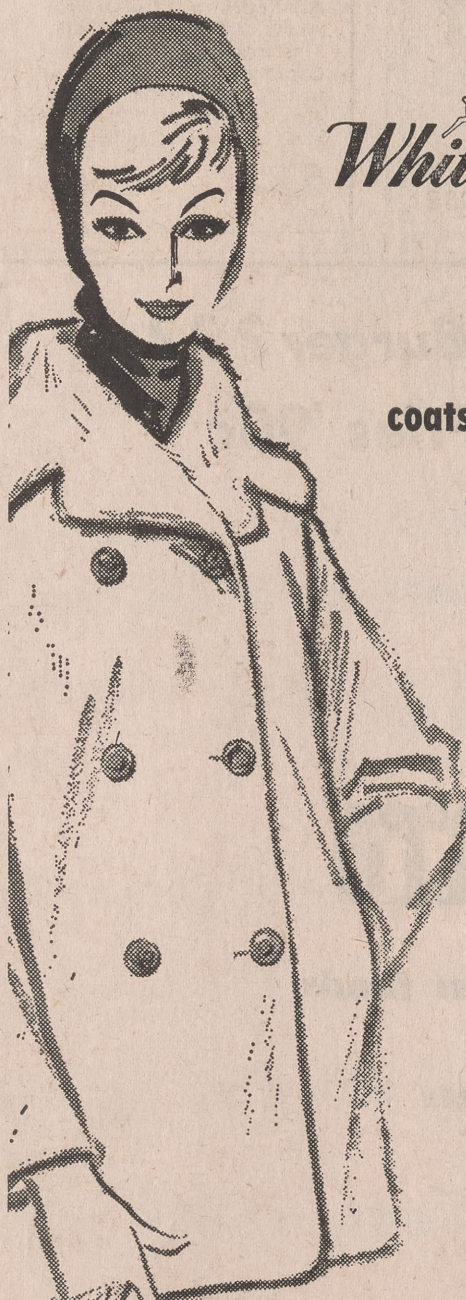

This Saturday's meet will host some of the most powerful cross country squads in the nation. Participating this year will be: San Jose State College, which has been the NCAA cross country champion many times in recent years; Stanford University; the University of California at Berkeley; the Santa Clara Youth Village; the Golden Gate Track Club; and all the northern California colleges, including all of the F.W.C. schools.

Nevada coach Dick Dankworth says this meet will "undoubtedly be the toughest of the year." He expects that San Jose will again be the team to beat.

Dankworth noted much improvement last weekend but also stated that the rate of improvement would have to continue if Nevada were to have any hope of challenging F.W.C. favorite, Sacramento State for the conference crown.
