Wolfpack Looking For First Win Against Cal. Davis

The University of Nevada's football team, weakened by the loss of quarterback Allan Crawford, will be looking for its first win of the season against the Aggies from Davis tonight.

The Aggies are looking forward to the game with enthusiasm after their 39-0 win over the University of California at Riverside last week. The Aggie coaches feel the team is up for the game and that the momentum they have gained from their win last week will help them beat Nevada.

The Aggies do not have a very impressive record since they have

JAKE LAWLOR, Nevada Athletic Director, spoke to the members of Senate Wednesday night about the recent Senate vote taking an estimated $3,000 from the athletic fund.

Senate Agrees To Cut Expenditures

The ASUN senate, meeting for the first time in four weeks, voted to end ASUN financing of ASUN banquets Wednesday evening.

The action came following a report by ASUN first vice president, Jinks Dabney.

Dabney's report concerned the spending of ASUN money for banquets through out the year. The report stated, "Over the past three years, an average amount of $543.61 has been budgeted for committee banquets per year of the three major celebrations and the ASUN two executive boards."

It continued, "Personally, I can see no valid justification for these banquets, and I cannot in my own mind honestly advocate the continuance of such enormous expenditures of student money."

The banquets referred to in the report were the Homecoming, Winter Carnival, and Mackay Day committee banquets, and the annual banquets of the Publications Board and the Finance Control Board.

The senate also passed a resolution regarding the procedure to be used in the transfer of ASUN funds from one department to another. This action came after Dr. Art Broten and Jack Lawlor of the athletic department spoke to the senate about the recent senate vote to give the University band 50 cents from the six dollars presently given for intercollegiate athletics.

Both Broten and Lawlor told the senators that such transfers should take into consideration the biennial budgets of University departments.

The new policy set forth in the resolution states "In future actions, where there is a transfer of funds between two or more departments, the senate shall invite representatives of the departments in question to appear to discuss the transfer."

Other senate business included reports from the ASUN first and second vice presidents, and a discussion of the election of a new men's senator at large at the next meeting.

Model U.N. Delegation

On Wednesday evening, Nov. 11, at 7:30 p.m. a meeting will be held in the Truckee Room of the Student Union to organize a delegation for the coming Model United Nations conference.

The University of Nevada has participated in the Model United Nations of the Far West for two years now. In 1962 it sent a two man delegation to San Jose representing Iceland. Last year seven students plus a faculty advisor formed a delegation representing Ethiopia at the MUN session in Seattle, Washington.

Univ. President Armstrong to Conduct Tour

University of Nevada President, Charles J. Armstrong, will speak to service clubs and other groups throughout Nevada, starting Monday, Nov. 16 in Lovelock.

Dr. Armstrong's two-month tour will take him to more than 17 Nevada communities. The tour is intended to acquaint Nevadans with the university's complex role in higher education.

A 30-minute color slide presentation, entitled "Your University of Nevada, Present and Future" will be shown in each community.

The slide presentation shows student activity from classroom to recreation, and progress of university research and public service programs on the Reno and Las Vegas campuses.

Included in the presentation is a description of the university's $21.8 million budget request to the legislature for the 1965-67 biennium.

Dr. Armstrong is in his seventh year as president of the University of Nevada. He came to Nevada from the presidency of Pacific University in Oregon.

As an administrator, Dr. Armstrong has won wide national recognition in the education world.

Beyond Fringe Tickets Go On Sale

Tickets go on sale today in the Union Board offices for the one night performance of the satirical comedy, "Beyond the Fringe", which will be presented in the University gym November 13 at 8 p.m.

The performance is being sponsored by the Student Union Board as a special attraction of the second annual Jot Travis weekend celebration.

The entire play is a series of short humorous sketches acted out by only four performers, Robert Cessna, Donald Cullen, Joel Faliani and Patrick Horgan.

They poke fun at everything from the atom bomb to sex and the movies.

Written by four young Englishmen almost three years ago, "Beyond the Frings" was first presented at the West End theater in London. It ran in New York for two years.

While in New York it was voted a special award for excellence by the Drama Critics Circle.

Tickets for the play will be $1, $2, $3 and $4 and can be bought in the Student Union or reserved by calling 323-2081.

Student Judicial Council Explains Policy

The Student Judicial Council was formed to encourage student participation and responsibility in regard to standards and conduct.

If a student is charged with conduct unbecoming a University student he has the choice of allowing his case to go before the Dean of Men or requesting a hearing before the Student Judicial Council.

If the case goes before the Dean of Men the decision is final with appeal being allowed only through the President of the University. The situation is different.

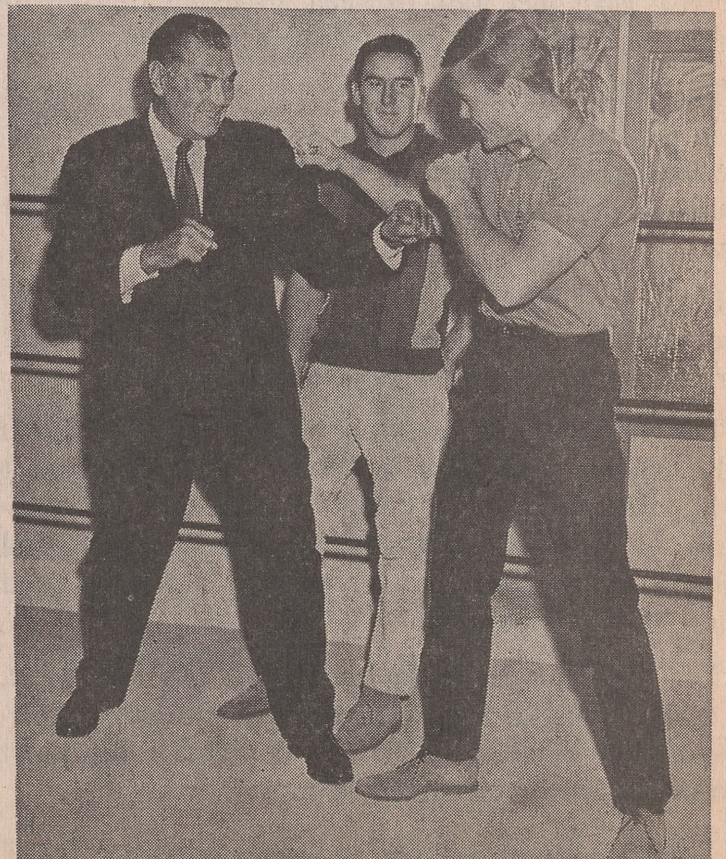

There the student will face a regular hearing before his peers with recommendations being applied in the following manner: acquittal, warning, probation, suspension, or dismissal from the University.

The recommendation goes to the Dean of Men's office where it is either approved or rejected. If the decision is rejected by the Dean of Men then the case will go before the Faculty Disciplinary Committee.

Students should be reminded that it is their privilege to bring cases before the Judicial Council, and if anyone has any questions the members of the Council would be glad to answer them.

THE 1964 SENATE ELECTION

The final outcome of the 1964 Nevada senate race is still unclear, but we can be assured of one thing.

The contribution of University of Nevada students was of major importance to both candidates. Regardless of who finally wins the contest, the students of Nevada can and should be proud of their many hours of hard work.

The responsibility of citizenship should never be taken lightly, and those students who worked so long and hard for the senatorial candidates, as well as for other candidates for political offices deserve gratitude and congratulations from us all.

THE COLLEGE RAT RACE

The hectic pace of modern American life has made itself felt on college campuses throughout the United States. At the University of Nevada many students are caught up in the hurried current to get nowhere fast.

Many students who flunk out of school do so because they cannot keep up with the pace. Deans and counselors agree that students need to stop and meditate. Dean Sam Basta is concerned about this problem. He feels the whole higher education system needs to be closely examined and new values decided upon.

Grade have become so increasingly important in college life. Too many students are concerned with getting A's and B's rather than gaining any real knowledge. This mad hassle for grade points does not give the student time to reflect upon what he learns. He is so busy studying other's ideas that he has no time to develop his own personal philosophy.

How can anyone know what he wants out of life unless he stops to think about it? Too many times, students decide what goals they want to reach, struggle frantically to get there only to find it wasn't what they wanted after all.

The college student of today seems to feel that because life in the big cold world is moving along at such a fast pace that he too must keep up. Yet if given serious thought, it becomes apparent that just the opposite should be the case.

In the complex world of today, it becomes increasingly more necessary for tomorrow's leaders to "sit on a quiet river bank" and objectively view his situation.

The big problem at hand is now to get this point across to the majority of the students. For it is the majority that fall into this class, because today's student thrives on conformity. He is expected to come to college, make good grades, learn the least amount possible and get a good paying job after graduation.

The real solution to this problem is two fold. First, the student must become an individual with his own personal philosophy of life. "Dare to be different, but don't be peculiar," is the way Dean Basta puts it.

Secondly, the administration should employ a bigger staff of counselors that will go to the students wherever they live or congregate. Students should be counseled and cautioned to go through school at a slower, more relaxed pace. — JIM MAINE.

College Freckles

CARSON CITY was last weekend's playground for University of Nevada students. The Old Globe was the popular recreation area, but instead of swinging on swings and climbing on jungle jims, people were fighting a losing battle over standing space and the much needed beer. The Neanderthals, Rick Glass, Paul Justi, Jim Rimbey, and Walt Brown, solved the space problems by retreating to the front lawn of the Governor's mansion for their playtime.

LARRY FELESINA'S house was the roosting nest for many horny chickens and roosters both Friday and Saturday nights. With a gobble, gobble here and cluck cluck there . . . etc. Dayton seemed to be the Saturday afternoon "hot spot" with Tom Bean as host. It didn't seem to be hot enough for Barry MacKinnon as he brought a squaw blanket along to keep the flies away??

WHILE SOME were nesting at Larry's others were at Sandy Weis's Lightning W ranch. Lt. Governor Paul Laxalt was guest of honor. He kept warm by circulating while students kept warm "beering."

In spite of all the talk about Tom Jones dinners Lenn Mackedon and Jo Landa did not talk about one, they actively participated in one at Kerry Hannifan's house. The stiff, formal evening planned did not seem quite up their ally so they went down the back ally and now have a cleaning bill to pay.

LARRY WILLIAMSON started the weekend early at a little get-together given by Buddy Forman. Although he won't remember much of the night's happenings, Lani Powell will have bruises to keep her memory alive for months. Dance much Lani???

Although no strings were tied this weekend, one, was broken. The SAE lions were not strong enough to keep Mary Solaro and Ed Vichina together.

From The Tail Of The Hurd

From Phil Hurd

As you know, the FORUM came out Tuesday. Let's take a look at it.

The cover entreats to us, "Don't touch off atomic bombs in my back yard!" I guess that's what it means; I don't like A-bombs either.

Turn the page and you will find a politically oriented column by Steve Gomes, a well written editorial too I might add. But a few pages on, Rick Matson attacks Mike Sloan for his equally well written, political editorials. Mr. Matson quotes the Southern Nevada equivalent of Mad Magazine, as accusing the U. of N. of "racial bias". I don't think the southern scandal sheet's accusations are worthy of answer. Matson calls Stan Getz a "poor substitute" for Bob Hope. Apparently he did not see Stan Getz. Further on in his poorly written essay, he asks that Sloan "leave chicken selling to the Sundowners; I just want to know . . ." God only knows what he means by this. . .

Wait a minute now; there were good things in the FORUM too. Mary White criticized the noisemakers in the Library. Something should be done about the noise; it's getting out of hand. Miss White referred to the "paintings" in the Library as "aspects of the cultural world." Doubtless she meant the word "culture" in a biological sense, you know, like a 'culture' of mold or some smelly bacteria.

We the "captive audience", got some more political views from Pat McGee, which is alright as long as the Sagebrush doesn't indulge in such things.

Finally after an enlightening, poignant article from Prof. Herman, we were treated to photographs, first of a puppy dog, then a kitty cat, then another little furry thing, and lastly a little girl. FORUM Staff, this little girl, cute as she is, is not a "little animal"; she is a human being.

A MONEY MAKIN' PROPOSITION

How'dja like t'win five dollars and at the same time see an article of your own appear in the immortal pages of the Sagebrush? Here's what you do. Write an essay about as long as this column, which either criticizes or praises fraternities and sororities. Send it to me at 1180 Kelly, Reno. I will judge them and provide prize money. There will be two winners: one against frats and sororities and one pro. The winning essays will be printed in the space of this column. The winners names will not be made public if this is what the winners want.

YAHOOOOO JOHNSON!

No One Asked Me, But . . .

By Sig Rogich

Elections are over now and the sigh of relief is evident in many students and faculty members at the University of Nevada. Today however, I received an invitation from Democratic headquarters stating, "The Conservative Liberal Party announces that you have been selected as our candidate for Bathtub Ring supervisor. Please be able to speak on 'Rings in the Bathtub — Show Us We're Clean,' at the Campaign fund raising dinner. Donation is $100 per plate. Last names A through B bring meat, potatoes; C through Z bring booze."

I wonder what they like to drink???

The most important day of 1964 was election day. And here we are in an institution that stresses education. So what could be more important than seeing who is going to run the United States? I would think that if the school board were to give us a holiday, Wednesday would have been that day. But instead it was a typical school day and many students found themselves studying for midterms instead of watching election returns. If officials could, in one day, teach the student as much as was shown on every television network, my hat is off to them. But then we'll be sure to have our annual Manzanita Lake holiday to celebrate the arrival of two new ducks at the University of Nevada. Guaranteed To Happen . . .

The Wolf Pack will not play in the Rose Bowl this year . . .

An ardent Goldwater supporter will swear that he predicted a Johnson landslide . . .

Lincoln Hall will erect a monument to that individual who writes the most letters to the editor of the Sagebrush . . .

The Dodgers will win the pennant in 1965 . . .

Now that Hubert Humphrey is in the White House, the Vice-President of United States will once again accept the role of the invisible man . . .

The Wolf Pack will be strong this year in basketball, but will find the going tough at the first of the season . . .

Stevie K. and Annie L. will get married . . .

The Wolf Pack will defeat Chico State . . .

Notre Dame will lose to Iowa or S.C. . . .

Someone will ask if the Electoral College is in the Ivy League . . .

The Baltimore Colts will go undefeated the remainder of the season . . .

At least one campus group will have plans to clean out Manzanita Lake . . .

Senator Howard Cannon will say that he knew the people of Nevada would stick by him . . .

Whatever happened to folk singing? No one can say that it is gone, but it is certainly not what it was at this time last. The boom is gone, and I wonder what is next in store for us . . .

Around The Campus...

Chamber Singers

The University of Nevada Chamber Singers and Ensemble will present a Centennial concert in Nixon Hall in Winnemucca Friday, November 20, at 8 p.m.

Under the direction of Dr. W. Keith Macy, chairman of the music department, the group will present Marc-Antoine Charpentier's oratorio, "In Nativitatem Domini Nistri Jesu Christi Canticum" and Robinson's cantata, "Lonesome Train." Yoko Abe, a graduate student, will play a violin sonata accompanied by Dr. Chaloff at the piano.

The seven members of the group will leave Reno in the afternoon and will spend the night in Winnemucca.

United Fund

The campus United Fund Drive is over the top. This year's returns are estimated to be 125 per cent of the goal. The goal was lowered this week to "a more reasonable figure," according to Dr. Wayne Martin, who is in charge of the fund. The new quota was set at 20 per cent.

The original quota was $7,500, a total increase of 50 per cent over last year's $5,000 goal.

The employees of the University have gone well over their $6,000 mark. The final report on the actual moneys collected will be published in a report letter to the employees next week.

Yuletide Feast

The music department's Yuletide feast on December 16 will feature traditional Christmas decorations, Christmas music and an authentic Christmas menu.

The Madrigal Singers and the Recorder Choir will present the entertainment.

Reservations may be obtained through the music department. The tickets will be adults $2.70, children $1.35, and student $1.25.

Bushes For Building

Evergreen bushes are slated for the improvement of the looks of the Journalism building. Work has been in progress for some time now in an effort to get the shrubs into the ground before the first big freeze.

Inferior soil that surrounded the Journalism building has been replaced with a better grade.

Herb Pruess, university nurseryman, stated, "We're just going to put in some evergreens and perhaps some ground cover. Higginbotham has been saying for years that the Journalism building is the only permanent building on campus with nothing growing around it. Well, we're finally getting around to do something about it."

Alpha Zeta

Alpha Zeta, honorary agriculture fraternity, will be improving its College's facilities and earning money at the same time this weekend, by painting the fence posts on the University Farms.

This project is being undertaken to finance a planned Christmas party with the women of Eta Epsilon, the honorary home economics society. Any money left over from the party will be used to send Alpha Zeta's delegate to its annual convention next summer.

Nursing News

One senior and one junior have been selected by the Orvis School of Nursing to participate in the flag ceremony at the opening today of the Nevada State Nurses Association annual convention at the Elks Club.

Pat Dinan and Connie Biglin will help to open the convention.

Yearbook Pictures

Time has been reserved for the off campus men and women to have their pictures for the Artemisia at the Pied Piper Studio on North Virginia Street between Tiny's Motel and the Coed Lodge.

The dates for the men are November 13, 16, 17, 18, between the hours of 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. Prices are $1.00 per sitting. The men should wear a white shirt and the women a white blouse. Dependent Women will be November 19, 20, 23, 24, 25.

Dean Weems Elected

Dr. Robert C. Weems, Jr., Dean of the College of Business Administration at the University of Nevada, was recently re-elected to another five-year term on the board of trustees of the Educational Institute of the American Hotel and Motel Association. The board consists of nine presidents or vice-presidents of large hotel chains, eight hotel owner-managers, and five university educators.

For the past three years, Dean Weems has been chairman of the projects and programs committee of the Educational Institute of AH&MA, and will continue in this capacity.

The Educational Institute conducts all of the educational programs of the American Hotel and Motel Association, which includes classrooms, home study, and conferences. Dean Weems was one of the founders of the Institute and has been a member of its board of trustees since 1951.

Press Club

A talk by Dr. Harold L. Kirkpatrick, Assistant Dean of the College of Arts and Science, was the highlight of the first Press Club meeting in the Jot Travis Student Union Card Lounge last Wednesday.

Dr. Kirkpatrick's talk, "Underground Propaganda," told about his World War II experiences as the editor of an underground newspaper in Nazi-held concentration camps.

The purpose of the Press Club, which is open to all journalism students, is to acquaint journalism students with each other and to welcome new members to the department, said Susan Anderson, president.

Nevada Southern

A dormitory and dining commons will be built on the campus at Nevada Southern University and will be open by the summer of 1965, said Neil Humphrey, vice president of finance of the University Board of Regents. The announcement was made that on December 19, $818,000 worth of revenue bonds will be available for sale.

The dormitory will house 50 men and 50 women and the dining commons, located near the dormitory, will have a seating capacity of 150 students.

The dining commons will be built in a circular form. This design will be along the same lines as the circular library on that campus.

The Housing and Home Finance agency, a division of the Federal Government, is backing this project.

ASUN Club Deadline

The following ASUN clubs did not submit their annual reports by the deadline (November 3), and it is assumed that they do not intend to be active during the 1964-1965 college year:

Athletic: Block N Society;
Departmental: Aggie Club; AIEE; ASCE; Chemistry Club; DNA (Biology Club); Delta Sigma Pi; Student Nurses' Association.

Honorary: AED; Beta Gamma Sigma; Kappa Kappa Psi; Omicron Delta Epsilon; Psi Chi; Phi Epsilon Kappa; Pi Mu Epsilon; Pi Sigma Alpha; Sigma Delta Chi; Sigma Tau; Sigma Pi Sigma; Sigma Sigma Kappa; Tau Beta Sigma;

Religious: Canterbury Society; Nevada Christian Fellowship;
Other: Chess Club; Chinese Students' Organization; Paideia; Ski Club; Young Democrats.

In the event that any of these clubs still wish to be active, they are requested to file their reports WITHIN ONE WEEK with the ASUN Second Vice-President. Those failing to do so will immediately lose all privileges accorded to recognized clubs.

Club report forms are available in the office of the ASUN Second Vice-President and in the main ASUN office.

Educational T.V.

An educational television station has been proposed as a future project of the University of Nevada by Dr. Patrick Kelly, director of the general university extension program.

The program, which would cost $3 million over a ten-year period, would set up microwave stations at Reno, Las Vegas and Elko. The station, which could be viewed on regular television sets, would be of use in elementary, secondary, and adult education.

Dr. Kelly stated further that Nevada is eligible for $562,000 of $32 million available in federal funds for such projects. Since this amount is insufficient, the program calls for financial aid from the state legislature. Once approved by the legislators, it would take from one year to 18 months to get the station under way.

Dr. Kelly has submitted a report on the proposed educational television station to Dr. Charles Armstrong, president of the university. The report is based partly on a study made by Communications Associates Inc., of Reno.

Sexual Emotions Released With Modern Skate Board

By JOHN MILLER
Staff Reporter

The biggest form of group entertainment to reach campus since the last Sundowners beer-bust, is the ubiquitous skate board. It can be purchased for $3.50 in any department store or constructed with a two foot section of pine board and one roller-skate, provided the aspirant surf skater possesses average manual dexterity.

Originally designed for the juvenile set, active surfers found these skate boards handy in helping to retain polish on their skill whenever adverse weather or financial problems prevented actual participation in the sport of surfing. Persons who wish to find out what they are missing because of surf inaccessibility or who are just plain afraid to risk injury and death on the "high rollers", find satisfaction they crave in navigating the little "infernal machines" down ribbons of sloping concrete.

Residents of Juniper and Manzanita halls and their guests have been spending afternoons terrorizing hapless pedestrians along the sidewalk out in front of their dorms. The skaters also pursue their sport in the halls of their living quarters. So far, reported injuries are negative (both surfer and pedestrian). This status quo is sure to be upset soon.

One surfing buff recently proceeded south on past the water causeway feeding Manzanita Lake, his predetermined stopping place. North Virginia has the unnerving characteristics of having its severest slope at the stoplight intersection with 9th Street.

By the time the intrepid surfer was fifty feet from the curb, he found that his only alternative was to jump. He did. Authorities estimated his speed, at that time, to be about 20 MPH, which is plenty fast on a skate board. He then made physical contact with the sign that identifies the property on which it rests as the University of Nevada.

The surfer sat up and began feeling various parts of his anatomy apprehensively. The skate board continued into the intersection, scooted under a west-board car, emerged unscathed, careened on downhill and came to rest in the vicinity of the Coed Motel after caroming off two parked cars. Concerned onlookers gave the surfer a brief check-over, recovered his skate board for him, and deemed him uninjured and able to continue.

The sporting faction of the Delta Delta Delta sorority recently purchased a slightly used skate board from a battered twelve-year-old boy who was trying to make a down payment on a new bicycle. Tri Delt Margy Ashworth stated that her sorority sisters have become a group of "stand-uppers". They stand up for classes, meals, et cetera.

Several psychology majors have offered theories as to why the sudden blossoming of skate boards on campus. One such major stated that this is a form of diversification to take the student's mind off midsemester terrors that are about to be made manifest.

For example, he said, in the middle ages people staged wild dancing parties that lasted for days and in more sinister instances, staged public hangings and burnings. All of this was to remove everyone's mind from the terrors that the black plague held for all of them. If it were not skate boards, he said, it would be such things as painting Mackay's statue blue, panty raids, or an unruly group scribbling "ATO FOREVER" on the backs of the SAE lion statuery.

A second authority, who is an advocate of Freud, stated this is merely a form of releasing pent up sexual emotions, as is the dance called "The Surf". Also that the participants of surf-skating and surf-dancing are trying to identify themselves with the virile and athletic surfing set. He further stated that surf skating should be accepted on campus by the public as a harmless form of collegiate insanity, as was live goldfish swallowing.

Dean Weems Attends Confab

Dr. Robert C. Weems, Dean of the College of Business Administration, will attend an annual meeting with western business administrators on November 12 and 13 at San Diego State College.

As the University of Nevada's representative to the Pacific Southwestern Conference of Business Administrators, Dr. Weems will meet with the heads of collegiate level colleges, schools, and departments of business administration from Arizona, California, and Nevada. The PSCBA is a regional organization of the American Association of Collegiate Schools of Business Administration.

The topics of the conference are: "The Role of Behavioral Sciences in the Business Administration Program"; "Effective Use of Mathematics and Computers in the Instructional Program"; and "Organization for Expanded Programs in Business Administration." The speakers for these topics are representatives from California and Arizona schools.

Madrigal Chamber Set on Campus

In place of the proposed Centennial Opera, which was to have toured various Nevada towns, the Madrigal Chamber Singers will present a Centennial Concert in Winnemucca on November 20.

The concert, which will be held in Nixon Hall, will consist of two group selections and a sonata. The Madrigal Chamber Singers will perform "Charpentier Oratorio" and "Lonesome Train" by Earl Robbins.

House Placed On Probation For One Year

The Interfraternity council voted unanimously Tuesday night to place the men of Alpha Tau Omega on social probation for a one-year school period.

The action stemmed from the recent painting of Sigma Phi Kappa fraternity in which the paint used was traced to the ATO house.

To insure the future, IFC decided to add a clause in probation stating that any further destruction by ATO would result in the loss of pledging privileges for one year. The Taus are now forbidden to have any social functions including dances or parties of any kind. This will include the Christmas and Spring formals.

Houses present at the meeting included Alpha Tau Omega, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Theta Chi, Sigma Nu, and Phi Sigma Kappa. Lambda Chi Alpha did not appear for the meeting.

It was also agreed unanimously that ATO pay for all damages to the Phi Sig house.

Sigma Nu Winner

The Sigma Nus won the intramural baseball championship for the year by defeating the Taus 3-1.

Bob Newmeyer pitched the Snakes to the victory. Newmeyer hurled a one hitter to stop the Taus. This was the first game in which the Taus did not have an easy time.

New Budget Seen On Nevada Campuses

The 1965-67 budget as approved by the board of regents represents a 42% increase over the 1963-65 biennial budget of $15.5 million. The budget calls for a state general fund appropriation of $18.3 million, or 45% more than the $12.6 million appropriated from the state during the present biennium.

The University of Nevada expects to change an average total enrollment on both campuses of 7,340 for the fall semesters of 1965-66. This compares to an average of 5,350 for the fall semesters of 1963-64.

Nev. Womens Field Hockey Competition Set Again This Year

The W.R.A. field hockey team will see a lot of action today and Saturday when it plays Wooster High School and Chico State College.

Mackay Stadium will be the site for the game with Wooster, which will be played at 3:45 today. This will be the third game between these two teams. In previous games, each team had one win.

Tomorrow, the W.R.A. field hockey team will be one of five schools participating in a sports day at Chico State College. Besides taking part in the competition, the players will see a demonstration on field hockey by the Northern California Field Hockey Association.

Members of the University of Nevada team are: Darlene Reafs, Alice Cate, Paula Phillips, Donna Salvagorini, Kathy Leonard, Carla Rost, Georgia Stewart, Pat Mintonberger, Kris Games, Phyllis Teipner, Pat Pearman, Ellen Mowrer, Frances Spikes and Sandy Talley. The coach for the team is Dr. Janet Felshin, assistant professor of health, physical education and recreation.

18 Volleyball Teams Compete

Eighteen teams are now competing for the volleyball championship this year, as compared with a total of seven teams last year. Competition opened last night with nine games played:

Teams from the Independents, White Pine Hall, Lambda Chi Alpha, Alpha Tau Omega, SAE, Phi Sigma Kappa, Theta Chi, and the University staff will be trying to unseat last year's champions, the Sigma Nu house.

Because most houses are entering two teams or more, it is necessary to divide the teams into three leagues. Only one team from each house can be counted as a "point team" in the overall intramural competition.

Frosh Football Team Ends Season Against Cal. Aggies

The University of Nevada Freshman football team winds up their season today against the Cal Aggie Freshmen in Davis. The game will be played at 2 p.m. and will be a warm up for the varsity game later in the evening.

Coaches Bob Donlan, Dick Pinion and Bill Daniels have done a fine job with the Frosh team this year. The Frosh are in the midst of having a winning season which will be the first winning season for a Nevada Freshman team in six years.

The little Wolves will be putting their two win and one loss record up against that of the Aggies record of one win and four defeats. The Aggies have had a few injuries this year that have crippled the team.

The Aggies have had a rough time scoring this year and will probably have an extremely only beaten Riverside and the hapless Chico State Wildcats. The Aggies have lost to Santa Clara, Whittier College, U of Cal at Santa Barbara, and San Francisco State. Their record is now 2 and 4.

The Cal Aggies, like the Wolf Pack, are suffering from injuries but not from their key men. The loss of Crawford will be the biggest asset for the Aggies. Nevada will feel the loss of Crawford especially in their passing game. This will force the Pack to stay on the ground and rely on Dan Acuna and Bob Heron to carry the load.

rough time against the fine Nevada defense. Defense standouts such as Geno Martini, Dave Diedrickson and Mike Sala will put the stopper on the Aggie running game.

Delta Sigma Phi Dance Scheduled

The annual Delta Sigma Phi dance will be held from 9-2 p.m. Saturday, November 14, at the Lancer. Delta Sigma Phi is the national business fraternity.

The Rose Queen of Delta Sigma Phi will be crowned during the dance. The queen candidates are Valerie Gobel, Artemisia Hall; Cheryl Griffin, Kappa Alpha Theta; Judy Martin, Juniper Hall; Toni Poloni, Delta Delta Delta; Camille Richards, Off Campus Independent; Ann Willis, Gamma Phi Beta; Mary White, Pi Beta Phi.

A picture of the winning Rose Queen candidate will be sent to the national Delta Sigma Phi offices. A national Rose Queen will be selected from the Candidates of each local chapter of the fraternity.

The Wolverines will provide the music for the semi-formal dance. Tickets are $2 per couple and may be bought from any Delta Sigma Phi member or pledge.
