The Minority Report

By Mike Sloan

In Tuesday's column I mentioned a good many people who has been my friends and who I will miss after I leave the University of Nevada.

Today I would like to round out the list by paying special thanks to Kent "The Hawk" Folgate, who has been a friend without comparison.

The Hawk, a legend in his own time, has contributed more time and effort in the losing war to make me a man than anyone else.

Another person who receives my special thanks is Jean Pagni, AWS president. I have only known Jean for the past few months, but in that time I have come to count on her as a close friend. Because of her ever-present good spirits and her devotion to her work, I affectionately dub Jean the "Happy Warrior."

Enough, I have plagued all of you too long already. Good luck and may the "Bird of Paradise" be kind to you all.

ASUN Cabinet Hears Report

The ASUN Cabinet, under the direction of Student Body President Keith Lee, met Tuesday and heard a report by Winter Carnival Chairman Roger Cornwall on the progress his committee is making.

The cabinet is composed of all ASUN officers and committee chairmen, the four class presidents, and the presidents of IFC, AWS, Independent Council, and Pan-Hellenic Council.

A written evaluation by each member of the cabinet, stating the purpose, responsibilities, duties, and powers of office of their individual jobs was requested by President Lee. This evaluation would be submitted to the new Chancellor so that he could gain a better understanding of the conduct and purposes of student government on this campus.

President Lee also reported the expansion and continuation of the High School Relations Program to the cabinet.

University Campus Too Small; Administration Seeks Land

The university administration is attempting to increase the physical size of the Reno campus, according to Neil Humphrey, vice-president in charge of finance. This will enable the university to have additional space, when it needs it, for the master plan of expansion.

This expansion is being attempted with non-appropriated or borrowed money. In April of 1964 Attorney General Harvey Dickerson approved of the University Regents acquiring land with borrowed money if they had means available to retire the mortgage.

Some of the property that is presently being sought by the Regents is that property east of the campus north and west of Evans Avenue, the land and buildings north of the old cemetery; and more of the property surrounding the old cemetery west of North Virginia Street.

Part of the property in the St. Alberts complex has already been acquired by the University. "The school was to be vacated by the first of January, but because they are still in it, the University is renting to them," said Humphrey. "The rent is $1,055 per month, and their plans indicate they will be out of it by February at the latest, so they will only have to pay one month's rent," said Humphrey.

They had planned to be out during the Christmas vacation, but building delays on their new school in northwest Reno have forced a postponement.

The money obtained as rent, Humphrey said, goes into the general University fund.

Cash Housing Payments To Be Made In Morrill Hall Office

All students wishing to make cash payments for housing, dining commons meal tickets, and University Village rent will now take such business to the accounting office in Morrill Hall.

These payments were formerly made at the office of Auxiliary Enterprises, located in the Student Union building. The change, which became effective January 4, was announced by Shirley Morgan, assistant to the director of Auxiliary Enterprises. According to Mrs. Morgan, the only money handled by her office will be rent on the guest rooms in the Union. However, students who lose their meal tickets will report to the Union office to get replacements.

Mrs. Morgan also said the deadline for handing in housing contracts for the spring semester is January 15. Unless students file their housing applications early they cannot be assured of receiving their choice of rooms and roommates.

Plans Complete

Stewart Construction Set For Summer

Plans for the long-awaited Stewart Social Science Building are now in the final stages. Pending the acceptance of a construction bid, the building is expected to be under construction by the summer of 1965.

The one and a half million dollar building will be located at the north end of the field in what is now Mackay Stadium. It will contain the departments of journalism, sociology, anthropology, political science, psychology, and history.

The purpose of the building will be to unify the now scattered departments and to allow for expansion in both administrative and classroom facilities, as well as new laboratory facilities.

New facilities for the journalism department, which will be located on the ground floor, will be an advertising layout room, photo workshop, typography laboratory, radio-TV laboratory, and a display lobby, as well as administrative offices and classrooms.

The first floor will be occupied by the history and political science departments. It will consist of extensive offices and classrooms. The political science department is now scattered throughout the Home Economics Building.

The second floor will house the anthropology and sociology departments' offices and classrooms, as well as a counseling center for the psychology department and various laboratories. Sociology and Anthropology departments are presently located in the Education Building and the Physical Plant behind the Mackay School of Mines.

Additional offices and classrooms of the psychology department, which is presently located in Morrill Hall, will constitute the third floor.

The brick building was designed to complement and yet remain in keeping with the architectural style of other buildings on campus, stated University Engineer, James Rogers. Vertical planes in front of the windows will cut down the heat gain from the sun and cut glare.

The building should be completed by the summer of 1967, if construction is begun when expected.

Only a limited amount of tickets to the Winter Carnival Sno Ball will be made available this year, according to Roger Cornwall, Carnival chairman.

Preparations are underway for the University of Nevada's 25th annual Winter Carnival, "Silver Wonderland."

The 20-member Winter Carnival committee, under the chairmanship of Roger Cornwall, has slated a traditional week of events, as follows:

SCHEDULE

Sunday, Feb. 7, 7 p.m., Torchlight Parade at Sky Tavern.

Wednesday, Feb. 10, 8 p.m., Sno Show, Gym.

Thursday, 7 p.m., Fashion Show, TUB Lounge; 8 p.m., sorority open house.

Friday, Feb. 12, 1 p.m., Cross Country race—6 p.m., Spaghetti Feed, Stein; 9 p.m., Sno Ball, Hidden Valley.

Saturday, 10 a.m., Downhill race; 1 p.m., Slalom; 7 p.m., Skier's Banquet, Mapes Hotel.

Sunday, Feb. 14, 10 a.m., Powder Puff Derby; 1 p.m., Flag Raising, Sky Tavern; 4:30 p.m., Awards Presentation, Sky Tavern.

Competition in carnival is not limited solely to Nevada and out-of-state ski teams — one of eight lovely campus contestants will be chosen to reign over the Sno Ball and the ensuing festivities.

Those chosen by their living groups as Carnival Princesses are Bobbie Watne, of Tri-Delta; Tina Condron, Theta; Sharon Kalkowski, Gamma Phi; Pam Sargent, Pi Phi; Barbara Isabella, Juniper Hall; Judy Weisaupt, Artemesia Hall, and Janice Webb, Manzanita Hall.

Queen contestants will also model in the Thursday evening fashion show, featuring campus, ski and date-time fashions.

EDITORIAL FIELD DAY

Blue Key's Operation Mud "Field Day" will start at noon and will continue throughout the day. The project, part of the plan to clean up Manzanita Lake needs the support of each and every member of the student body.

Many students may complain that the Field Day conflicts with last minute studying for finals. However, we think everyone can spare at least one hour to help make this campus a little more attractive.

As citizens of the University, students, faculty members and staff personnel have a responsibility to support a project that improves our University. At times, and unfortunately all too often, we take this responsibility too lightly.

Good citizenship demands that all of us who have a little free time today should lend a hand to the Operation Mud "Field Day."

It's our University, help make it beautiful!

HOME MEANS NEVADA

The University of Nevada is often laughed off as a back woods school for cowboys, or if not that, some equally uncomplimentary remark.

Many high school students around the state have no desire to attend the U of N because they believe it is a poor

There's nothing wrong with the University of Nevada. In fact, it has more right than most other schools. It's time that we stand up for the University.

If we, as students, don't support Nevada, how can we expect anyone else to.

University. In Southern Nevada this feeling is especially strong.

As students of the University we all have a responsibility to help break down this untrue opinion. Many times Nevada students appear to be over-apologetic about attending the U of N.

From The Tail Of The Hurd

By Phil Hurd

THE NEXT TIME that any of you work for a newspaper, be sure that you know when the next issue is coming out. I didn't know there was going to be a Friday issue until Wednesday afternoon — and deadline for this column.

Now, without further adieu, let's plunge into a frank discussion of sex and lust and perverted ideals. Not much more can be said about the Brushfire controversy that has not already been said.

There is one statement, however, that Miss Garwood made over the radio that has bugged the hell out of me ever since. When asked by the trembling commentator about the "trash" in last year's Brushfire she said that there just wasn't that much written anymore about "tulips and butterflies." It seems to me that a hell of a lot lies between set down for their own sake.

SEX, being a major element in most human lives, certainly has its place in literature. But its purpose there should be more than for merely causing the author to drool on his typewriter. Furthermore, anyone wishing to glorify a degree of morality completely in contrast with that of a predominantly Christian (or at least somewhat religious) society should seek a private publisher to do so. Maybe you'll change the whole country Judy; but 'cha can't use their money t'do it wif.)

Whew, after that last paragraph, evah-bawdy's gonna call me Moses. Hallelujah brothah!

NOW, LET'S DWELL ON SUBJECTS of much deeper interest to all of us. I have it on the best of authority that all the faculty members of the English Department are going out tonight to get blasted — shame on them. They are supposed to set fine examples for our pure, little, uncorrupted minds. (Whoops — still sound like Moses.)

Students Choose Best J-Stories

Senior journalism students at the University of Nevada used judgment parallel to that of the Associated Press and United Press International in their selection of the top news stories of 1964.

In a recent poll taken in upper division journalism classes, seniors chose as top news stories for 1964, Khrushchev's removal as Soviet leader, President Johnson's landslide election, and the passage of the civil rights act as law. The same three stories were chosen as the top three news stories for 1964 by Associated Press and United Press International.

The selection made by the wire services was based on voting by the department chairmen of journalism schools throughout the nation. They were not known to Nevada students until after their selection had been made.

Professor A. L. Higginbotham, chairman of the journalism department, said, "This is just one indication of the quality of students we have this year and of their potential as newsmen."

Nevada Campus Resembles Swamp

Due to the snow and rain of the past two weeks the unpaved roads and parking lots of the campus have acquired a surface which resembles the quicksand and quagmires of Okefenokee swamp.

Anyone who has trudged through the mire in back of the Mackay School of Mines or who has hesitated to leave his car in the parking lot west of the gym for fear it might sink up to the windows, will appreciate the efforts of the men of Buildings and Grounds.

On Tuesday the crew began hauling in truckloads of decomposed granite from the university's own stockpile. They supplemented this with commercially supplied gravel. These two materials help to turn the muck back into parking lots and roads.

The problem is not new according to John Sala, superintendent of buildings and grounds. He said the situation was much worse a few years ago when the parking lots at the gym and the college of agriculture were not paved. The big expense this year has been the ice-melting chemicals used on university streets. Sala noted that his office has already used more of the chemicals than in the previous five years.

"OF HONEY, READY?" "Hey, you guys, look at us. Look, you guys!"

College of the Future Soon

The possibility of completing an entire undergraduate career — from registration to bachelor's degree — without ever attending classes will be offered 75 U.S. college freshmen next September.

The experiment — underwritten by a $325,000 grant from the Ford Foundation — will be launched at three liberal arts colleges: Alleghany, (Pa.), Colorado College and Lake Forest (Ill.).

A national selection committee will pick 25 students from the freshman class at each college for the program. All will be talented students with accelerated high school preparation.

The chosen undergraduates will then pursue their first degrees through faculty-guided independent study, free of usually required courses, class attendance, grades and credits.

Each student will have, however, a faculty advisor in the role of preceptor, critic and guide.

Each will also have special access to visiting scholars, lecturers, and artists.

The unique departure is intended to allow academic freedom of movement for able undergraduates comparable to that permitted talented students in U.S. secondary schools, a foundation vice-president, Clarence H. Fause, explained.

"Secondary school programs that permit talented students to advance at their own pace and assume intellectual initiative are now part and parcel of better school systems throughout the country," he said. "But, too often undergraduates at universities are prevented from making the most of their talents by the rigidities of traditional curricula and course requirements."

At the end of the second year the 75 students will be examined by committees of outside educators on their basic liberal education at that stage.

U of N Blood Bank Drive Begins

The University Blood Bank, open to all faculty, staff and students, will again be recruiting volunteers during the pre-registration period, says Dr. Sam Basta, dean of student affairs.

The men's campus organization, Circle K, will be manning the tables which will be located in the gym during the pre-registration, to pass out the sign-up cards and to get some recruits.

Mary E. Johnson, registered nurse-supervisor of the student health services, confirmed Dr. Basta's estimation that approximately 200 people were on the rolls as volunteers should a crisis occur where a number of volunteers would be needed. Mrs. Johnson said, however, "We have never been called to provide a volunteer, but we keep the list of the names of donors because it doesn't mean we will not be called some day."

"Since this service was begun some years ago," said Mrs. Johnson, "some of the people have graduated, quit school, changed their names and other things so that they could not be reached. But each semester we get additional names, so if needed we will have plenty."

The blood bank was begun a few years ago when a faculty member needed a great deal of blood and some faculty members responded to this need. Since then, the blood bank has been enlarged to include all members of the university family.

All university members are urged to sign-up for this blood

Year's Second Play Tryouts Start

Tryouts for the University Theatre's next production, "The Playboy of the Western World," will be held tonight at 7 p.m. and tomorrow at 3 and 7 p.m.

Professor Robert Ericson, director of the play, emphasized that tryouts are open to any university student. He stated that no preference is given to speech or theatre majors and that he prefers to cast as many new people as possible rather than use the same actors again and again.

"The Playboy of the Western World" is a comedy by John Millington Synge. It has been called one of the two or three finest plays of this century.

It is set in rural Ireland at the turn of the century, and its humor and language are typically Irish.

donation plan, Dr. Basta said. When a person signs up, "it doesn't mean he will need to rush down to the blood bank on South Wells Avenue and donate a pint. Quite the contrary, only his name is taken and put on file until time of need.

Almost anyone can donate blood, but those who have or who have had jaundice, malaria, hemophilia, Leukemia, hepatitis, ulcers, tuberculosis, cancer, or cardiovascular disease, definitely cannot donate.

If a prospective donor is not yet 21 he must get written permission from his parents or guardian.

CASH PAID FOR BOOKS

Used textbooks fall into three groups. The following categories determine the price at which the bookstore may purchase a used book:

1. Current copyright books that have been selected for the next semester and there is an inadequate supply in the bookstore. These books are worth 50 per cent of the current new price.

2. Current copyright books that are no longer in use at the University of Nevada, or have not been definitely selected by the instructor. These books can be sold to a wholesale book jobber. The ASUN Bookstore acts as an agent and can pay cash to the student for these books at the jobber's catalog price. These books are shipped from the campus for use on other college campuses. The price paid cannot be too high as the jobber has considerable expense involved in shipping, warehousing, and selling of these books. Too, the wholesaler faces a risk of not selling them at all.

3. The third group includes old editions, out of print and similar titles which are no longer in demand, and have little or no value.

College Youth Become Cleanliness Conscious, Take 33-Hour Showers

A new fad is sweeping the nation's colleges and universities—taking showers.

As nearly as anybody can tell, Steven Sher started it at American International College in Springfield, Mass., when a student took a 15 hour 41 minute dousing to establish a record for the world's longest shower bath.

Needless to say, no institution that prided itself as a citadel of higher education could long ignore such a challenge, and within days the gauntlet was picked up by Bob Pemberton at the University of Kentucky, who spent 16 hours washing himself to bring the title to Lexington.

It didn't stay there long. A Yale University law student took an 18 hour sprinkling for the glory of the Eli.

The University of Kentucky wasn't about to bow to the Ivy League, however. Into the storm—literally—lept Larry Denham, an 18-year-old freshman who brought the title back to his school with a 24 hour soaking that saw nearly 2,000 gallons of water poured over his hide.

University officials—nervously eyeing the water meter—were hard put to explain the new phenomenon, but apparently most of them were quietly hoping that it would go the way of goldfish swallowing, bed pushing, and telephone booth packing.

It well might. As Denham was emerging from his ordeal, Garry Boogs, another Kentucky freshman brushed his teeth for 10½ hours to establish world's mark.

But for Kentucky, it was too good to last. Just as a university official was saying that if the fad establish some regulations" (to stave off the threat of drought no doubt), a stunned nation learned that a sophomore at Berkeley had brought the record to the University of California with a drenching that lasted 33 hours 33 minutes and 33 seconds.

The new world's champion (whose name is not worth mentioning, for a new champion will almost certainly be crowned before we can remember it) said that he did not feel he has unjustly deprived the university of its water pressure, since he takes showers so rarely.

"They must owe me at least 33 hours worth," he said. The new man of the hour said he performed his feat "because it is there." When pressed on the point, he told a reporter that "cleanliness was next to Godliness."

University of California President Clark Kerr, whose 83,000 student university has set all sorts of records recently, did not comment. One report, totally unconfirmed, however, said the nationally known educator was last seen staring mournfully at the Los Angeles Aqueduct and weeping softly into his utility bill.

This is the first column of this year. With a little luck and a lot of reader-patience it should become regular.

THE UNIVERSITY would be making a mistake were it to drop the Far Western Conference and go immediately into a conference of a higher caliber. My reasons are that the teams Nevada could field would not be up to the par of the other schools in a conference such as the Big Sky since they have been giving grants-in-aid for some time and we would just be starting such a program. It would seem that Nevada would be better going independent for at least two years so that our teams could build up to the level of the conference competition.

High-scoring Larry Moore has also scored at the altar. Larry recently married the former Mary Ann Sumpter.

THE WOLF PACK basketball squad shows promise of repeating as Far Western Conference champs. With forwards Nap Montgomery and Larry Moore hitting at the pace they are going, and center Bill Nicholson regaining his touch, Nevada will have a high-scoring front line. It will be shorter than most in the FWC but both Montgomery and Moore are able to jump with just about anybody. Mike Oliv- as has a good outside shot and is the smartest player on the team. Frank Bruno has shown a lot of hustle and a set shot that he hardly ever misses. On the bench are reserves Tom Andreason and Bob Schebler who have both performed well when needed. Schebler filled Nicholson's place well against NSU. Also capable of coming off the bench and burning the basket is Joe DeBise. He hit for 20 points against Utah State.

Nevada's newest sport, wrestling, has started off the season with two crushing victories. The grapplers defeated Sonoma State 33-6 and Hayward State 35-10. Coach Lee Newell must receive a lot of credit for the outstanding job he has done in such a short time.

I WOULD LIKE to urge people to try to see tthe Frosh basketball team play. They are undefeated and against Cal Davis they rolled over the taller Farmers. Leading the squad in scoring is Rex Jensen, a former all-stater from Moapa Valley. Guard Jerry Martin has excited the crowd with his ball handling and passing and in the Aggie game showed he could score with ease as well. Forward Kevin Ulrich is consistent and has a good shot. Tall center Dennis Reynolds has been hauling in the rebounds at the average of 13 a game. The other starting guard is Jim Whisman from Sparks who is steady on offense.

Nicholson a Top Pack Hoopster

Bill Nicholson, last year a little All-American honorable mention winner, is again holding down the center position for the Wolf Pack cagers.

Nicholson was bothered in the early part of the season by an ankle injury received before the first game.

He is 21 years old and a native of Great Bend, Kansas. He was all-conference in basketball his senior year in high school. He went to the University of Arizona for a semester. He did not play ball there but he made the Dean's list with a 3.64 average.

Nicholson is a junior and is majoring in finance.

Pack Boxers 2nd At Chico

University of Nevada novice boxers won three bouts, tied two, and lost three to take second place in the annual Novice Boxing Tournament held at Chico State College last Friday night.

In team results, Chico State took first place with 5½ team points. Nevada was second with 4 points. The University of California was third with 3 points, and Stanford was fourth with 2 points. Chico State had the largest team and its win record was the same as Nevada's. They were able to compile more points however.

California's team was strong but had only five boxers and could not win enough points. Stanford University was weak with only one of its 6 boxers winning.

Nevada was led by Mike Smithwick, a light-heavy weight, who scored a first round technical knockout over Gerald Magnuson of Stanford. Jim Wright, Nevada's 147 pounder, scored a unanimous decision over Tim Rogers of California, and heavy-weight Ben Blinn of Nevada de- cisioned Walt Cunningham of California.

Tony Schueller and Riley Beckett, Nevada's 165 pounders, both battled to draws with their Chico State opponents. Losses went to Gary Parsons, 147 pounds, by a TKO, Wayne Britten, 165 pounds, by a split decision, and to Mike Parman, 172 pounds, who lost by a close split decision.

Coach Jim Olivias said he was proud of the team as a whole and will probably move a few boys up to Varsity.
