New 'Secret' Group Set Up To Investigate Coffin And Keys

By HAMPTON YOUNG
Political Editor

The Coffin and Keys issue has gone underground. According to Steve Gomes, Jinks Dabney, and Nelle Maxey and Karen Bone there was a meeting of students concerned with a possible investigation of the "Keys."

Dabney, ex-president of Coffin and Keys and debater, said he gave the group information on the Coffin and Keys "gag rule," which has been a subject of controversy. He also maintained that Coffin and Keys went against debate on the allotment issue, and explained why.

Bue he would not reveal who was at the investigative group's meeting.

NOTHING MUCH

Gomes explained that he was at the Thursday night meeting and "nothing much was discussed." He said the investigative group is planning to meet with Dean Irwin and hold another meeting Saturday morning. He was not at the second two meetings, and says he doesn't know what went on.

Gomes said the group didn't want to see the Coffin and Keys issue dropped and will probably carry the controversy over to next semester.

Gomes will present the information he has gathered to Dean Irwin. He will not be active in the investigative group as he has too much schoolwork to do and will not be here next semester.

SHOULDN'T DROP

"Senate shouldn't have dropped the Coffin and Keys investigation," said Gomes. "Most people didn't vote on the question I spoke about when I presented my stand on the issue at the last Senate meeting."

"I didn't communicate correctly," he said.

Nelle Maxey said she was only at the Thursday night meeting and was unaware of what went on at the Saturday meeting.

Karen Bone said the group was planning tactics but refused to elaborate. She referred Sagebrush reporters to Jinks Dabney, Bill Maupin or Nelle Maxey.

TUB Fee Raise Proposal Killed

Ten per cent of the student body hit the polls Thursday to squelch a possible $2.50 raise in student union fees, which would have been raised from five dollars to $7.50.

According to Chuck Murphy, senior men's senator-at-large, the vote was 192 to 106 against the fee raise. Approximately 6.5 per cent of the student body voted against the raise and 3.5 per cent for it.

Ninety per cent of the students abstained.

Keith Stephens, vice president and financial director of the student union board, said that the board will now have to curtail its program in some respects.

"Now we know what we can do. We wanted to know the outcome so we could plan for next year," he said.

Due to some unfortunate losses with special events programs and increasing maintenance costs, the board found itself in debt this year.

Although the deficit has been curtailed through a Board of Regents loan, the union board wanted more money to continue bringing top-name entertainment to students.

New Maturity Group To Meet Tomorrow

The first Wednesday meeting of the newly organized Maturity Group will be held on the University of Nevada campus tomorrow at noon in the Tahoe Room of the Student Union.

The organization, geared to fellowship among, "more mature men and women", will include people who are feeling a sense of isolation from the mainstream of campus life.

Persons eligible for the group must be at least 25 years of age.

NSU Students, Regents In Controversy Over Allotment

By TOM DYE

Managing Editor

A controversy between Nevada Southern students and the University of Nevada Board of Regents flared over the weekend but apparently has subsided.

Fifteen hundred students were rumored to be ready to march down the "strip" in Las Vegas because they feel they have received unjust and unfair treatment.

Tom Hribar, newly-elected student body president of the southern branch of the University, says the NSU students are unhappy because of a three-year delay in the construction of a new dormitory and dining commons facility.

However, Las Vegas Regent Dick Ronzone said the Southern students appear to be well-satisfied after the University regents explained the dormitory delay at a Saturday meeting.

"We told the students that it was not lack of interest on the Regents part, but the delay is due to other circumstances," says Ronzone.

University President Charles Armstrong says the building is being financed by the Housing and Home Finance Agency—and nothing moves quickly through these channels.

COMMUNICATION NEEDED

Hribar says that better communication is needed between the Board of Regents and the NSU student body to explain delays in building.

Late in April, student leaders from the Las Vegas campus were contemplating taking legal action against the Board of Regents.

They felt the Board should be "reapportioned" so Nevada Southern would receive better representation. This idea died at a student-faculty conference.

Several of the students complained that Nevada Southern was being exploited by both the State Legislature and the Regents, it was reported by the NSU student newspaper the Rebel Yell.

Student president Hribar warned Saturday that the situation was ready to boil over.

"At no time did I suggest that the Nevada Southern students demonstrate," says Hribar, "but I said a demonstration might take place if the situation didn't change."

Regent Dr. Fred M. Anderson blasted the critics of the dormitory delay. "They don't know what they're talking about," says Anderson. "No effort has been made by them to obtain all the facts."

ANDERSON UNHAPPY

Anderson is especially unhappy with the Clark County School Board. The Board claims that President Armstrong does not recognize the needs of Nevada Southern.

One of the critics on the Clark Board, Helen Cannon, says the curriculum should be expanded at the Las Vegas campus.

President Armstrong says that the state legislature has not appropriated enough money to finance all the needed programs at NSU. He says there is no alternative but to cut back on programs.

During the regent's meeting in Las Vegas a $9.4 million university operating budget was approved for 1965-66. This is an 18.6 per cent increase in the budget. This compares to a 27 per cent increase in student enrollment.

The regents wanted a 43 per cent budget increase from the legislature—but the budget was slashed by Governor Sawyer and in committee.

Senate President Moschetti States His Program Ideas For Next Year

Nick Moschetti, newly-elected president of Senate, will attempt to institute a little more overall campus spirit next year.

During the summer he will be working on initiating new programs. He is considering setting up an executive committee consisting of the heads of the various Senate committees which former ASUN President Keith Lee started.

Moschetti wants to get the living groups and colleges together to promote better school vitality. A game attendance contest of some sort is one idea to prompt school spirit.

He particularly expressed hope to get the "Greeks" closer to school spirit.

Moschetti doubts that the Coffin and Keys issue will be coming up before Senate this year. There is only one more meeting, but he says it may start up again next semester.

"The next Senate session will have little business to conduct," he said. One issue which may present itself is an attempt by Bill Isaeff to regain his seat as Business Senator.

Isaeff relinquished the seat when he ran for first vice-president and not for the seat he held last year.

Crusading Southern Nevadans Don't Check On Facts

Hot-headed students and uninformed educators are making a farce of Nevada's universities. They have publicly attacked University President Armstrong and the Board of Regents, accusing them of neglect.

They charge the regents have exploited the Nevada Southern campus, and that the current lag in building expansion and growth of a graduate program is the fault of the regents.

No university can have ivy-covered walls overnight. NSU is only about 10 years old. The Reno campus, which could use more ivy, is 100 years old.

Both campuses are growing and need money. The legislature cut the already-skimpy budget and the regents are having a rough time meeting existing needs. They know these needs because that is their job.

But many Nevada Southern students and Las Vegas educators think they have a better view of the situation. They can only see the southernmost tip of Nevada. So they want to reapportion the Board of Regents, and criticize Armstrong.

It was under Armstrong's administration that their University took shape. They had only temporary quarters when he took office. Since then he has lobbied legislators and traveled around the state pleading the cause of a growing University, Nevada Southern in particular.

Our sister University's student leaders visited the campus and legislature while the regents' budget was being argued and cut. They could see the lack of funds was not the administration's fault but they didn't bother to relate the situation to their student body.

Armstrong explained the reason for a delay in the dining hall and dormitory building — a finance agency was holding it up, but bids would go out in June. A demonstration protesting the administration won't speed it up.

Why don't they look at what they do have? A new radiological health facility and library for example. They are also breaking ground for a new social sciences building. And they are only 10 years old, situated in a relatively new community whose emphasis, unfortunately, is not on education.

Nevada Southern just received four-year accreditation—now they want a graduate program, which takes years and reputation to set up. The students and faculty will have to build their own reputation, and destructive criticism won't help.

More buildings will come for both campuses when student bodies and faculties prove to the state that they deserve them by displaying understanding and responsibility — so lacking in Nevada Southern's recent crusade.

'What's In A Label?'

By Don L. McCaughey

In our modern age of labels, many people are confused as to which label is most appropriate for them. Below is a self-evaluating quiz with the three most common views of contemporary problems. Read each one carefully and then rank yourself. If you feel all or most of the solutions are much too simple for the issues presented, then you are probably an intellectual—which is considered in some circles to be un-American.

1. Viet-nam.

- a. Left—Peace at any price.
- b. Moderate—Follow the President's policy of military intervention until negotiations can be established.
- c. Right—Use the A-bomb on the dirty Commies.

2. Recognition of Red China.

- a. Left—Immediate recognition.
- b. Moderate—Unofficial relations and recognition when authentic, free elections are held.
- c. Right—Use the A-bomb on the dirty Commies.

3. Disposition of convicted criminals.

- a. Left—Do away with prisons and establish psychiatric clinics.
- b. Moderate—Modern prisons with large psychiatric staffs.
- c. Right—Cut off their hands.

4. Sex-education.

- a. Left—Start in the 2nd grade.
- b. Moderate—Start in high school.
- c. Right—Let 'em learn the way I did, from restroom walls.

5. The United Nations.

- a. Left—Lacks authority, should be made into a world government.

- b. Moderate—Needs modification to return it to its original status.
- c. Right—Who let all them foreigners into the country without quotas anyway?

6. Re-apportionment.

- a. Left—Each man, one vote of equal effect.
- b. Moderate—Re-organization along population base, but retention of minority representation.
- c. Right—Impeach Earl Warren and the whole damn pinko Supreme Court.

7. Civil rights.

- a. Left—Complete civil rights—Now!
- b. Moderate—Equality, but with a recognition it can't be done overnight.
- c. Right—"Some of my best friends . . ."

8. Cuba.

- a. Left—We have no business interfering with the internal affairs of another sovereign nation.
- b. Moderate—Continue to support anti-Castro forces.
- c. Right—Use the A-bomb on the dirty Commies.

9. Barry Goldwater.

- a. Left—That war-monger should stay retired.
- b. Moderate—Barry who?
- c. Right—Like Christ, he was crucified by an ignorant public, but shall rise again.

10. Russia.

- a. Left—Co-existence and trade.
- b. Moderate—Co-existence, but with a very wary eye.
- c. Right—Use the A-bomb on the dirty Commies.

Letter to the Editor

Congratulations

Editor, the Sagebrush:

I have just received your April 29th publication which featured Mackay Day articles and a cover picture of this year's very pretty queen, Carolyn Webster.

I want to congratulate her, as well as Larry Stiff and the students in general for a celebration which, from all reports, was carried out in the traditionally successful manner.

JILL BLACK

P.S. I was graduated, true — but not married, as you stated—that was Judy.

Detar Asks

Editor, the Sagebrush:

Regarding some of my former and current efforts to oppose the criminal communist conspiracy, isn't it strange that whenever these efforts wound the communists the liberal professors bleed? Hmmm—

Journalism Students Awarded During Annual Breakfast

Nearly 125 students and professional journalists gathered for the annual Awards Breakfast of the University journalism department Sunday morning in the Student Union.

Certificate and cash awards were presented to Nevada journalism students for achievement in scholarship and skill. New scholarship donations were also announced.

Warren Lerude, Sigma Delta Chi professional chapter president, said a $100 scholarship would be awarded a journalism student on behalf of the Northern Nevada SDX chapter.

AUCTION MONEY

Walt McKenzie, Legislative press corp representative, announced that the capitol correspondents had raised $360 for the scholarship fund. It will be called the Mark Twain scholarship because the money was obtained at an auction during the annual "Third House" lampoon.

The annual breakfast and most awards are sponsored by Kennecott Copper Corp. of Nevada. Notable Nevada journalists representing all news and advertising media were present.

The Command of the News award went to Sig Rogich, who scored highest on current events tests given throughout the year. The Sigma Delta Chi award to the top graduating scholar went to Mimi LaPlant.

CLASS ACHIEVEMENT

Awards for class achievement went to Bruce Pozzi, for a special radio report; Mike Smithwick, for top sports story; Michele Fuetsch for best news and feature stories; and Linda Chambers for the best editorial. Best news photograph award went to Bob Alward.

The Robert E. Petrini Memorial Cup, presented to a male journalism student with outstanding ability was presented to Jim Maine. Tim Ennor received a $500 scholarship from the Crown-Zellerbach Foundation.

Prof. A. L. Higginbotham, journalism department chairman, initiated three members into Kappa Tau Alpha, national society honoring scholarship in journalism. Senior Mimi LaPlant; Frank Johnson, Nevada State Journal assistant managing editor; and Thomas S. Wilson, local advertising agency owner were granted membership into the organization.

Ingersoll, Chaffin Comment On 1st Senate

"I think it was very successful for the first meeting," said ASUN President Mike Ingersoll, commenting on the first legally constituted gathering of the new ASUN Senate.

Ingersoll said it did not go as smoothly as it could have, "due partially to my own parliamentary inexperience," he stated.

He also said when the Senate appointments are made and the new Senators orient themselves, business will be conducted much more smoothly.

"I would like to compliment Senate for its active interest shown the first meeting, as exemplified in their interest and attention to the Finance and Publications Board's reports," he added.

In regards to the Senate votes defeating two proposals to investigate Coffin and Keys, Ingersoll says the Senate took the action it deemed best under the circumstances.

"It appeared the reason they took such action was the apparent lack of a definite conflict of interests or factual, documented evidence showing misconduct by the organization," he said.

ASUN First Vice - President Bill Chaffin agreed with Ingersoll about the Senate meeting.

"It was a little shakey for the first meeting, but, Senate accomplished a lot for its first meeting," Chaffin said.

His reaction to the Senate move not to investigate Coffin and Keys was, "satisfaction that Senate finally reached an understanding concerning the organization."

He also expressed the belief that this year's Senate has the potential to "continue the fine work done by last year's body."

Nevada ROTC Cadets Ready For 28th Annual Governor's Day Thurs.

By GARTH OLDHAM

Tradition will be observed this week as the University of Nevada and its Reserve Officers Training Corps brigade pay honor to the governor of Nevada, Grant Sawyer.

Dr. Charles J. Armstrong, president of the University, has proclaimed May 13 to be the University's 28th annual Governor's Day.

This year's ceremony, to start Thursday morning in Mackay Stadium, will find Governor Grant Sawyer, Dr. Armstrong, and other academic, civic and military leaders presenting awards, decorations and prizes to cadets who have distinguished themselves throughout the year.

ARMED FORCES

This year Governor's Day is being held in conjunction with Armed Forces Day, and each branch of the service will be represented.

Festivities will actually begin today, when the U.S. Sixth Army Band will present a concert at 4:45 p.m. in the Dining Commons. The Presidio based band will also perform tomorrow morning at 11:45 in front of Jot Travis Student Union.

"The Soldier — Key to Landpower" display will be presented in the Student Union today through Thursday. A Nike Hercules missile with crew and a Civil Defense static presentation will also be on display to guests in the main parking area between Mackay Stadium and the University gymnasium.

THURSDAY ACTIVITY

Thursday's events begin at 10 a.m. in Mackay Stadium with the Sixth Army Band in concert. Following the concert, the Presidians, the Sixth Army marching unit also from the Presidio in San Francisco, will perform. The Sierra Guardsmen, the Nevada brigade's marching unit and Governor Sawyer's personal honor guard will follow the Presidians.

The main event of the ceremony, which is the largest military ceremony in Nevada, will be the cadet brigade review, which will begin at 11:15 a.m. During the review outstanding ROTC cadets will receive local and national awards.

The Presentation of the Governor's Medal by Governor Sawyer to the University of Nevada cadet who contributed the most to Army ROTC on the Nevada campus during the past year will highlight the awards.

PASS IN REVIEW

Other highlights will include a pass in review by a provisional battalion made up of Marine, Navy and Air Force platoons from the regular service.

Army, Navy, Air National Guard, and Air Force aircraft will present fly-bys. Col. Robert L. Gundlach, Professor of Military Service, stated that the famed Blue Angels might also perform. The University's Sky Divers will present a free-fall demonstration into Mackay Stadium.

Col. Gundlach, who has been the person most responsible for improvement of the ROTC program on campus, said Governor's Day has become the most colorful military event in the state of Nevada.

MORE SPECTACULAR

"This year it will be even more spectacular as we are adding a salute to the entire armed forces as part of the event and having greater participation in the area of special activities," Col. Gundlach continued.

President Armstrong has excused all military students from their 10 and 11 a.m. classes on Thursday and all students from their 11 a.m. classes.

Following the ceremonies in Mackay Stadium the distinguished male guests will be honored by a luncheon given by President Armstrong in the Holiday Hotel. Wives of the guests will also be honored at a luncheon.

'A Go-Go' Night Is Scheduled For Sat.

A Heart Fund - sponsored, "A Go-Go Night" will be featured Saturday at 8:30 p.m. at the Rosemont Lodge.

The come-as-you-are affair will include entertainment by the "Mods", "The Gamblers", Bobby Herron, Richard Dyer Bennett, and Michele Sheppard and Donna Burner.

Proceeds from the event will go to help fight heart disease.

Drinks and some A-Go-Go girls to teach different dance steps will highlight the evening.

Admission is $2 per person.

Wolf Pack Triumphs In FWC Track Showdown

By JOHN UTT
Sports Editor

The University of Nevada Wolf Pack rode to its fifth straight Far Western Conference track title by upsetting the favorite Sacramento State Hornets 85-61 in Sacramento this weekend.

Following Sacramento with 37 points were the Cal Aggies, Hayward State with 33, Chico State 21, San Francisco State 14, Humboldt State 4 and Sonoma State had a zero.

Sacramento title hopes were crushed when it failed to win five events it had counted on heavily for first-place points. The Hornets dropped the baton and failed to finish in the 440 relay, lost their broad jump when Houston Williamson's leap of 23 feet, 6 1/2 inches on Friday in the qualifying heats was not bettered and dropped the 100, 200 and 440 yard dashes.

BURRELL LEADS

Leading the Silver and Blue was junior standout Otis Burrell, who set a new FWC record of seven feet three-quarter inches in the high jump and took the 120 yard high hurdles in a modern record time of 14.4 seconds. This ties the old mark.

Williamson, besides winning the broad jump, placed second in the 100-yard dash in 9.7 seconds, finishing just barely behind Marshall Watwood of the Cal Aggies who also ran the distance in 9.7 seconds. Both times equalled the modern FWC record for that event.

Distance runner Paul McCarthy set a new FWC mark with a time of 4:14.4 seconds in the mile run. Sacramento State had held their distance star Bert Nichols out of the 880 so he could concentrate on the mile. But the stocky Esteban Valle of the Wolf Pack set a blistering pace that wore Nichols out in the early part of the race. In the final hundred yards McCarthy's final kick sped him past the field, led by Valle, to win. Valle finished second and Nichols fifth, four seconds behind the leader.

DARNES SETS MARK

Alex Darnes set a new FWC mark in the discus with a heave of 172 feet and freshman Alan Lansdon took the pole vault with a vault of 14 feet 3 inches to round out the first places for the Silver and Blue.

In all there were eleven records which were equalled or bettered in the meet. These were:

A time of 41.8 in the 440 relay

by Hayward State, new FWC record; old record 42.9, Sacramento State, 1964.

The 440-yard run in a time of 47.6 by Calvin King of Hayward State, new FWC record; old record 48.7, Bob Rusk, Nevada, 1963.

The 100-yard dash in 9.7 seconds by Marshall Watwood, Cal Aggies, and Houston Williamson, Nevada, equals modern FWC records.

The time of 14.4 seconds in 120 high hurdles by Otis Burrell, Nevada, ties all-time FWC record; breaks modern record, 14.7, Travis Hatcher, Chico State, 1960.

The time of 37.5 in 330 intermediate hurdles by Jake Reimers, Sacramento State, new FWC record; old record, 38.0, Steve Holloway, Nevada, 1963.

DARNES HURLS

Time of 3:15.7 in mile relay by Sacramento State, new FWC record; old record, 3:18.3, Nevada, 1964.

A distance of 57 feet five and one-half inches in shotput by Hank Pfrehm, Cal Aggies, new FWC record; old record, 57 feet three inches, Pfrehm, 1964.

A new distance of 172 feet in the discus by Alex Darnes, Nevada, new FWC record; old record, 167 feet two and one-half inches, Darnes, 1963.

A distance of 50.7 feet in triple jump by Henry Lawson, Sacramento State, new FWC record; old record, 49 feet, Lawson, 1964.

A height of 7 and three-quarter inches in high jump by Otis Burrell, Nevada, new FWC record; old record, 6 feet 8 and one-eighth inches, Walter Marty, Fresno State, 1932.

A time of 4 minutes 14.2 seconds in mile run by Don McCarthy of Nevada, new FWC record; old record, 4:14.3, Pete Darnell, Cal Aggies, 1960.

Hulse Writes Text Book About Nevada History

"The Nevada Adventure" is the name of a recently published textbook by University of Nevada history professor Dr. James W. Hulse.

Hulse's book traces the history of Nevada from its primitive beginnings to today's atomic era.

The book is aimed at junior high school students. Dr. Hulse says it is not intended to be a scholarly dissertation but is supposed to be interesting to students.

Dr. Hulse says the textbook is a combination of original research and work that was done before. He says that more research still needs to be done in the field of Nevada history.

The book took about two years for Dr. Hulse to write. He says he finished it in the Fall and it was published by the University of Nevada press this weekend and is now available.

"My field is European history," says Dr. Hulse, "I wrote this book on the side and really enjoyed it."

Dr. Hulse believes "The Nevada Adventure," is one of the first texts to deal with Nevada in the atomic age.

The author is a 1952 journalism graduate of the University of Nevada. For five years he worked as a political writer for the Nevada State Journal.

In 1962, he received his Ph.D in history from Stanford University.

Psych. Frat Meets

Jerry Cinani, president of the newly-formed Nevada chapter of the Psi Chi honorary psychology fraternity, announced that a taped presentation of a recent symposium entitled, "Behaviorism and Phenomenalism," will be given in the Travis Lounge on Thursday evening at 7. All interested students, faculty and staff are invited to come.

The symposium was held at Rice University. The two tapes presented are by B. F. Skinner, entitled "Behaviorism at 50" and by Carl R. Rogers, entitled "Toward a Science of the Person."

Nevada Coed 6th In Gymnastic Test

Donna Carlson of the University of Nevada women's gymnastic team placed sixth in the uneven parallel bars and eighth in side horse vaulting at the Western Regional Women's Gymnastics Championship held in Las Vegas.

The meet was held May 1. This was Miss Carlson's first year of instruction and competition. Coach Lee Newell was pleased with her performance, and stated that she missed fifth place in the uneven parallel bar competition by .03 of a point.

Nineteen contestants were entered in four women's events for those aged 16 and older. Several of the women had seven years of experience. After watching a warm-up earlier on the day of competition, Newell said that he did not expect Miss Carlson to do better than eleventh in the unevens.

"As it turned out, Donna went through without a miss, and four of the better girls missed important difficult moves," said Newell.

This was the last meet of the year for the women's team. Newell says that next year's team will be stronger, with several gymnasts coming up from Reno High School. "We also have several sophomores who have unusual talent," stated Newell.

Tennis Finals To S. F. State; Pack Finishes Seventh

Fulfilling their role as favorite, San Francisco State won the 1965 Far Western Conference Tennis Championship at Davis Friday and Saturday. Nevada finished seventh, with three teams tied for second.

Bad weather hampered the Pack's practices this year. The results and final point scoring are as follows:

FINAL POINT STANDINGS

San Francisco State 7-0, Cal State 5-2, Sacramento State 5-2, Humboldt State 5-2, Sonoma State 2-5, Cal Aggies 2-5, Nevada 1-6, Chico State 1-6.

Nevada Saturday Results—Bob Ril (HS) def. Al Pierce (N) 6-1, 6-1; Mick Miller and Dennis Oakes (HS) def. John Young and Jack Raycraft (N) 6-1, 5-7, 6-1; Dan Aldrich and Don Stephenson (CA) def. Dave Chism and Jim Roulias (N) 6-0, 6-3.

Toy & Company Humiliate Cal Aggies To Clinch Second

Nevada finished Far Western Conference Baseball play by smashing the Cal Aggies 5-2 and 20-5 Saturday in a double header at Davis. The Pack was led by Owen Toy, who collected 6 for 8 in the two games at the plate. He ran his conference batting average to .647.

The University of Nevada has a good chance of hosting the District 8 NCAA Baseball playoffs. A previous win over league-leading Sacramento State also helped the chances of holding the championships in Reno.

Dan Keller pitched the Pack to victory in the first game, with help from the Nevada batmen, who came through with nine hits. Nub Stauffer homered for Nevada with nobody on in the seventh inning.

Keller allowed four hits and struck out 12 Aggies. He relied on a fast ball and a slider.

The Cal Aggies were swamped in the second game, as Nevada blasted 21 hits and 20 runs. The heavy Nevada batting established modern Nevada records for the most runs and hits.

Owen Toy collected two triples and two singles to retain his FWC lead in hitting. Rod Mathisen and Barry McKinnon both homered in the second game.

Nine runs in the fourth inning halted the Aggies before they could get started. Jim Nelson of Nevada picked up the win.

A MESSAGE TO ROTC COLLEGE MEN

IF YOU'VE GOT WHAT IT TAKES TO BE AN ARMY OFFICER,
STAY IN THE ROTC

Being an Army officer is a challenge. Officers must be leaders... able to take responsibility... get important jobs done.

It isn't easy to win a commission as an Army officer. But if you are taking the Basic Course in ROTC you're well on your way—provided you can measure up to the high standards required for admission to the Advanced Course.

As a student in one of the 247 colleges and universities offering senior ROTC training, you are in a privileged group. There's no better way for any college man to get the training and skills needed to be an Army officer than through the on-campus program created specifically for that purpose—ROTC. Here you learn to be a leader... to develop the qualities that add a vital plus to your academic training... qualities that will pay off for the rest of your life in whatever career you choose to follow.

There are other advantages too. Pay, at the rate of $40 per month during the Advanced Course plus allowances for summer training and travel. Fellowship and social activity. The chance to work with modern Army equipment, and perhaps to qualify for Army flight training if it is offered at your school. And then gold bars and a commission as an Army officer.

Why not talk to your Professor of Military Science now. Let him know you're interested in signing up for the Advanced Course. Then if you are offered an opportunity to join, don't pass it up. It's the program that's best for you... and best for your country.

If you're good enough to be an Army officer, don't settle for less.

AWS Council Approves Hour Changes Wednesday

Associated Women Student's Council approved several changes to the A.W.S. Hours for Women Wednesday.

If a woman is not able to sign herself out before 8 p.m., she must call the housemother or resident assistant, who will be able to sign her out.

Special extensions may be taken only upon approval of the housemother. It has been added that "those students having special extensions must return to their residences immediately after the conclusion of the event. In no case shall a special extension extend beyond midnight Sunday through Thursday."

When a woman returns to Reno from a vacation or an overnight, she must sign in immediately on her card and in the overnight book. If she plans to leave again that evening, she must sign out again. The residence halls will also provide a special sign-in sheet upon return from vacations.

During vacations, the hours have been extended to 2 a.m. on weekends, whereas they were 1 a.m. for all women.

During a "campus," no girl may receive a telephone call unless she has the approval of the

New Nurse Head States Her Plans

Nancy Johnson, newly elected National President of the Student Nurses Association said Sunday she didn't have any new plans for the organization, but to build up programs initiated in the past.

Miss Johnson said her main duty as National President is to act as a co-ordinator between other chapters of the Student Nurse Organization.

"This will include", said Miss Johnson, "going to the two Executive Board meetings of the Student Nurses in either New York or Washington D.C., and to be the guest speaker at the different state conventions."

She added, "the recruitment of members is the most important part of my position, and this includes the encouragement of minority groups to join the National Student Nurses."

Miss Johnson was recently elected to her position at the National Convention of Student Nurses held in San Francisco last week.

Dance Style Concert Set

A Dance Concert, featuring representative samples of various dance styles and traditions currently found in the American theatre, will be presented May 21 and 22.

The concert is being sponsored by the Physical Education department and will feature not only student performers, but some guest appearances by local artists including students from the Reno Ballet Arts Academy and the Ballet Renon, a community dance group.

This is the second such dance concert sponsored by the P.E. department according to Miss Edrie Ferdun, director for the event. The concert will be held in the Church Fine Arts Theatre. General admission is $1.25, students and children $.75, and University students with I.D. cards will be admitted free.

hall vice-president or the sorority housemanager.

In the past, failure to sign in or out properly resulted in a one-night weekend campus. Next year, the penalty will be a one week-night campus taken within one week.

Nevada Jr. Given Purina Scholarship

Neil Walter Christensen, University junior, has been selected to receive the Ralston Purina Scholarship Award for 1965-66, according to an announcement made in St. Louis by Dr. R. C. Eaton, Director of Public Relations of Ralston Purina Company.

The Purina Scholarship amounts to $500. It is awarded each year to an outstanding Junior in the state universities and land-grant colleges in each of the 50 states, and in three Canadian agricultural colleges and one in Puerto Rico.

Winners are selected at each college by a faculty Scholarship Committee on the basis of their scholastic record, leadership, character, ambition in agriculture and eligibility for financial assistance.

Gorrell Back From Italy

Dr. Robert Gorrell, chairman of the English department, recently returned from a four-day conference of authors held in Rome, Italy.

Dr. Gorrell discussed projects for combining new rhetoric and grammar concepts in secondary and high schools, mainly with Professor Paul Roberts. Professor Roberts lives in Rome and is in charge of the development of a new program of the teaching of English in Italian schools. He also taught on this campus in the summer of 1962.

"The new project," stated Dr. Gorrell, "is the result of work that I have been doing with new approaches to rhetoric and Roberts to grammar." He said further that he has been working on his portion of the project for about a year.

Student Art Show To Begin Saturday

A student art exhibit will be featured Saturday in the Church Fine Arts Building and the Student Union Travis Lounge.

The art presentation will include works from students in every college of the University of Nevada. Prints, drawings, sculptures, and paintings will be featured.

Senators May Lose Posts Due To Technicality

A senator in business and a senior from education may lose their seats due to a possible violation of the ASUN constitution.

According to Bill Isaeff, former business senator and a candidate for first vice president in the last election, the constitution requires an independent from each college with more than one senate seat.

There are no independent senators in the college of business or education.

According to Kent Folgate, chief justice of the Student Judicial Council, the council has handed down a decision stating that one senator from both education and business were unconstitutionally elected.

Folgate said that ASUN President Mike Ingersoll was to read the decision to Senate last week. Instead, Ingersoll questions the council's interpretation and wants them to reconsider it.

The council will meet this afternoon to do so.

Isaeff said he petitioned the council four weeks ago claiming the election was in violation of the constitution. He requested the court to rename two senators.

Previously, Isaeff said, if no independents ran for the seat assured him, Senate would nominate one. "That's how I got my seat," Isaeff said.

Larry Struve, former ASUN first vice president, sought him out to run for the seat after last year's elections.

Isaeff claims this established a precedent, but Senate didn't seek anyone out this year.

Isaeff says he has received no communication concerning his petition. He says that he may not file for the seat if it becomes vacant. He has spoken with a couple of interested business majors, one of which may file.

Laxalt To Address Final YR Meeting

The campus Young Republicans will host Lieutenant Governor Paul Laxalt at the final meeting of the year for the group.

Thursday's meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. in room 103 of the Frandsen Humanities Building.
