Dabney Again Raps Coffin And Keys

By HAMPTON YOUNG
Political Editor

"Straight, direct testimony is the only way to confirm the charges made against Coffin and Keys" says Jinks Dabney, former ASUN vice president and former president of Coffin and Keys.

Dabney maintains it is difficult to prove anything concerning this group. A member will reveal nothing for the group is secret. "We're battling student big wheels and faculty members," he says.

He and some other students are preparing affidavits and testimony to present to the Student Affairs Board, which will investigate the secret organization, according to Dabney.

TO WOMEN'S GROUP

Dabney has gone to the four sororities and Juniper Hall to present the charges that have been brought against Coffin and Keys.

Last week, Dabney met twice with students to formulate the method of presenting facts to the Affairs Board.

Dabney told the women's group why he resigned from Coffin and Keys, why he is opposing them, why the group is different from sorority or fraternity, and how the group has influenced specific things.

ONE-TIME MEMBER

A member of the group for 10 months, Dabney says until the debate problem came up he didn't realize that there was anything wrong with the organization.

But when he was in the minority on the debate allotment, he was asked to go along with the overall opinion and fight debate. This didn't set well with him and he resigned to support debate, says Dabney.

When he left Coffin and Keys Dabney said, "If you don't bother me I won't bother you." He said no word to anybody for three days, he maintains.

NASTY CALLS

But in those three days, Dabney says he received nasty phone calls and a threat from Jim Baker. He doesn't think Baker threatened him as a representative of the Coffin and Keys group however, but as an individual.

Nevertheless, the threat was there and Dabney says he figured he didn't owe Coffin and Keys anything. He opened up to debate and the controversy, which had already been starting, opened up.

Dabney says Coffin and Keys definitely swayed the vote on the debate veto and cornered senators attempting to influence them.

RULE EXISTS

The "gag rule," or oath, does exist, says Dabney. There is a transfer of allegiance which impedes freedom of speech everywhere else, he says.

Dabney says the group does not need 13 advisors. He says faculty members are taking part in student affairs, yet no one knows about it by virtue of the secret nature of the group.

He also objects to all of the student leaders meeting in secrecy, establishing policy and telling no one of their decisions. "If Coffin and Keys is supposed to be for students, why is there no student representation? Why isn't it out in the open, he says?"

Speech Students Will Meet Experts

Students in speech pathology and audiology will have an opportunity to meet a group of experts in these fields this summer.

The Second Annual High Sierra Mountain Adventure is a summer session program from June 14 to July 24.

Special guests for the program this year will be Dr. Hayes A. Newby, director of the speech pathology and audiology division at Stanford University; Dr. John Wiley, speech pathologist and audiologist from the Nebraska Psychiatric Institute; Mr. Vincent Knaut, audiologist from Indiana University; Dr. John Brophy and Dr. Joseph Elia, otologists; and William Morris, hearing-aid audiologist from Reno.

A demonstration clinic will be held with the cooperation of the Nevada Society for Crippled Children and Adults.

Board Accepts Printing Contract For 1965 Sagebrush

Publications Board met yesterday and accepted the proposed contract from Western Printers and Ted Marston Sr., to continue printing the Sagebrush next year.

The board also announced the location of the annual Publications Board banquet, to be held this year at Trader Vic's on Tuesday, May 18th.

Three faculty professors were nominated as advisors for next year. These include professor LaRue Gilleland of the journalism department, Dr. John Morrison, English department, and Dr. Wilson Adams from the business administration department.

UNIVERSITY SOPHOMORE Mary Margaret Heitmann receives roses and congratulations from Nevada Governor Sawyer on being named this year's Miss Reno. She will now compete in the Miss Nevada contest.

Miss Reno Started Career In Movies At Age Two

By Tom Dye
Managing Editor

Nevada coed Mary Margaret Heitman will attempt to add another honor to her collection when she tries for the Miss Nevada title June 12 in Reno's Centennial Coliseum.

The 19-year-old sophomore won the right to represent Reno in the Miss Nevada contest after winning the Miss Reno competition three weeks ago.

The St. Louis native was presented the key to the city by Mayor Hugo Quilici because of her efforts in the pageant. She also made an appearance at the Elks Club—her first as the official Miss Reno. The Elks are sponsoring Miss Heitmann.

OPERA FINALIST

Earlier in the semester, Miss Heitmann won the Metropolitan Opera Regional semi-finals and placed high in the finals in Los Angeles.

In order to prepare for the Miss Nevada competition, Miss Heitmann is dieting, exercising, preparing her music, as well as going to school and working at the front desk of the Riverside Hotel.

Miss Heitmann's career started at an early age. When she was two-years-old she signed an Allied Artist Contract to appear in the movies as a child star.

ACTED WITH COMEDIANS

For ten years she was in movies with such noted comedians as Bob Hope, the Marx Brothers and many others.

Because of a disagreement with the studio, she terminated the contract at the age of 12.

"I regret leaving Allied Artists," says Miss Heitmann, "because I was established as a child star. Now I have to establish myself all over again."

After her movie career, Miss Heitmann moved to Las Vegas with her parents.

ON TELEVISION

"I had two television shows while I was there," and made guest appearances on other TV programs," says Miss Heitmann.

She says her programs consisted of interviews and talent demonstrations. She also sang on her programs.

The brown-haired, blue-eyed coed appeared in several dramatic productions after coming to Nevada last year. She was in "The Lady's Not for Burning," "Volpone," and the "March Hare."

Miss Heitmann is a member of the Campus Players and the University singers.

REALLY SURPRISED

What is Miss Heitmann's reaction to her success this semester? "I was really surprised at being named Miss Reno," she says. "It didn't really hit me until the next day. It is a real honor."

"In a way I'm glad I left the movies," says the new Miss Reno, "because I came to Nevada and have had many wonderful opportunities."

In addition to acting and singing, Miss Heitmann, also cooks, sews, rides, and participates in various water sports.

Rogers Resigns Engineer Post On June First

University Engineer James D. Rogers is resigning his post because he is "not happy on the job." Rogers will be replaced by Edward L. Pine on June 1.

"I did not feel I could effectively do the job any longer," says Rogers, "my recommendations were not being followed."

Rogers has been at Nevada during the what he calls "the expansion period." He was instrumental in developing the master plan for University building and expansion. He came to Nevada in 1956.

Pine resigned his post as President of Isbell Construction. He is a member of the Washoe County School Board and was State Highway Engineer in 1959-60.

University of Nevada graduate, Pine also studied Sanitary Engineering at the University of Washington. During World War I he was with the Engineer Corps in the South Pacific helping to build air bases.

Pine is also a Director of the Security National Bank and on the YMCA Board of Directors.

The incoming Engineer attended high school in Carson City and Mineral County.

Pine's salary as University Engineer has been set at $15,746.

Judicial Council Should Consider Validity Of ASUN Election Law

The Student Judicial Council met Tuesday to reconsider a very important issue — if two Senators should lose their seats because of a ASUN constitutional provision.

There was no quorum. Only three persons out of five met and at least four were needed to take any action. Annette Domina and Keith Stephens did not attend.

The newly recognized third branch of the ASUN has already decided that one senator from those colleges with more than one senator allotted must be unaffiliated.

It did so under the amendment to the ASUN constitution which was approved in the recent elections. Students gave it interpretive powers over this same constitution. The power to interpret the presently enacted laws that rule our government include the right to pass on the constitutionality of such laws. It is an implied power.

The judicial council at its next meeting is going to follow precedential procedure on a national level by having a hearing, letting both sides present their arguments and then handing down opinions and a decision. The argument for the removal of the senators will be that the law is stated and must be honored. The senators whose seats are at stake will argue that the law as stated is vague and unconstitutional.

If judicial council is going to live up to its obligations under the new amendment to the Constitution it must pass on the legality of the law and not merely throw the whole mess back in Senate's lap.

Reason dictates that the argument by the present senators from the College of Business is the most valid. Why should the first senator, if there is more than one, be unaffiliated? This is clearly a violation of the 14th Amendment to the United States Constitution which guarantees equal protection to all individuals under the law. It is clearly discrimination against those who are affiliated. But, are they the majority or the minority?

This brings into light the vagueness of the word affiliated. Every person who is a member of the student body, DeMolay, the DAR, the Mickey Mouse Club, a campus living group, be it Greek or Independent, or the French Club is affiliated. Affiliation means association, association with something.

In order to be qualified for office, a student must file his candidacy two weeks before the election in the office of the student body president. He thereby serves notice to the public that he wishes to compete for this office. One of the cardinal tenets of our democracy is the organized competition for public office between its citizens. Is it democratic to deny this competition for office in a specified number of senate seats every year?

No independents filed for these offices. If a person shows absolutely no interest in running for an office, is it right to thrust its responsibilities on him, who didn't want them in the first place? That rejects the purpose and effectiveness of government, any government.

The only answer is a judicial council decision recommending a general student body vote on the question in next fall's general elections based on a decision that the section is unconstitutional. JOHN UTT.

Editor Criticized

Editor, the Sagebrush;

A person who is motivated to take action on a particular issue is a "hothead"—when such a person acts without delay he is better known as an "immature hothead" or, perhaps, an "uninformed hothead". It never occurs to those who are so free with such titles that possibly they don't have the capabilities of comprehending a situation as well as a hothead or even have the depth of character to experience motivation.

NSU "hotheads" don't need political balls to comprehend the politics of a State university that is reliant on the so-called judgment of a legislature whose policymaking is oriented to favor sparsely populated areas such as the northern half of this State.

NSU is not growing as it should—its growth is being stifled, and as a result, the people who are sincerely concerned about its growth have become quite discontent.

The Reno campus is well established and can be content to expand and improve as the need requires with no great sense of urgency.

NSU wants desperately to be able to meet the educational demands of the community as well as out-of-state applicants—but, such demands cannot be met with inadequate facilities, staff and budget. The very fact that it is a young university is all the more reason to see that it receives a little extra help in its initial surge towards a reasonable degree of functional stability such as the Reno campus has attained.

I can't help but feel that it is a backward way of thinking to imply that NSU should grow at a rate comparable to that of the Reno campus—if our editor is unaware of the need for more and better schools I suggest some fact checking on his part.

Furthermore, should our editor someday become wise in her ways, I hope she realizes that the Sagebrush was not intended to serve her as a means for directing insolent remarks at educators from any university.

Letter to the Editor

Vote on C and K?

Editor, the Sagebrush:

As a student of this University who has become disgusted with the indeterminate action of the campus on the Coffin and Keys issue, I offer a suggestion to solve the issue and a challenge to both its proponents and opponents to accept my proposal and settle the issue.

I suggest a student vote on "C and K", before the end of school, which would give the entire student body a chance to decide the issue. If "C and K" is voted down, then Mr. Lee, Mr. Ingersoll, Mr. Folgate, and the other members should abolish the group completely.

If "C and K" is not voted down, then Mr. Dabney, Mr. Gomes, Miss Bone, and their group should forget their opposition to the group. Having such a student vote, now before finals, may seem impossible, but it can be done, and I feel it should be done.

Revised Quiz Reply

Editor, the Sagebrush:

This letter is written in answer to Mr. McCaughey's article 'What's In A Label.' It can easily be seen that either he does know very much about his subject matter or that the article was meant to be humorous. I do hope that it was the latter as I hate to see someone make a fool of themselves. I would imagine Mr. McCaughey considers himself a moderate, but from the "slant" of the article it appears that he is left of middle. I am enclosing a revised quiz that is a little bit closer to the truth.

I do hope that you can find the room to print this as I have all room to print this as have always felt that this paper shows both sides of the picture.

Stiff Thanks

Editor, the Sagebrush:

I would like to thank everyone who assisted me during the recent Mackay Day celebration, especially the Mackay Day Committee and the living groups. All the people I worked with were most cooperative and helpful. Without them and their hard work with few remunerations except their desire to help the University, we would have had no Mackay Day at all.

Nevada Debaters Grab Three Wins In Three Separate Debate Tourneys

The University of Nevada Debate team scored three victories in three tournaments completed last week.

In wrapping up the titles of the Montana Big Sky Invitational Tournament, the Lassen Community Collegiate Tournament and the Pacific Forensic League Tournament, the Nevada debate squad garnered 13 trophies.

In the Montana tournament Nevada entered four teams, two of which made the semi-finals. Larry Semenza and John Echeverria were undefeated going into the final round. In the preliminary rounds they had defeated teams from the University of Utah, Brigham Young University, Utah State University, the University of Washington, Gonzaga and North Dakota State.

FIRST LOSS

However, in the final round Nevada was beaten by a team from the University of Montana, a team they had overcome earlier. Echeverria and Semenza's showing earned them third place in the tournament.

The winning team for the Wolf Pack was made up of Barbara Hines and Max Steinheimer. The two Silver and Blue debaters defeated teams from Oregon State, Brigham Young University, the University of Idaho, Idaho State University and the University of New Mexico.

Going into the final they had been beaten in one preliminary round by the University of Washington. They defeated teams representing the University of South Dakota and Montana to win first place in the tournament.

VERY PROUD

In commenting on Nevada's showing at the Montana tourney, Debate coach Ken Mosier said, "There were over 50 colleges from 14 states at that tournament and I'm very proud of our showing. Echeverria and Semenza's showing was remarkable because they're both novice debaters. This was Echeverria's first major tournament and Semenza's fourth."

Mosier also praised the Nevada women's team of Sheila Locke and Janet Jehl who reached the quarter-finals in the women's competition before being eliminated.

MORE PLACING

Besides placing in the team competition, Steinheimer and Semenza made the finals of the extemporaneous speaking competition, and Barbara Hines placed third in the oratory category.

The Lassen tourney drew eight nearby schools including five teams entered by the University of Nevada. All five of the Silver and Blue squads placed either first or second. Winning were the teams of Rick Madsen and Jim Crane and tying them was the duo of George Standerfer and Doug Leonard.

Finishing in a three-way tie for second place were the teams of Joe Belose and John Boswell; Bob Erickson and John Duty; and Steve Kopels and Jack Knox.

OLDEST LEAGUE

In the Pacific Forensic League tourney, which is the oldest forensic league in the West, hosted by Humboldt State of Arcata, California, the team of Max Steinheimer and Ken Muller won first place in team competition.

Steinheimer also placed third in the extemporaneous speaking and Muller took second in the after dinner category.

Practical Physics, France, Displayed In Student Union

The Jot Travis Student Union has filled its display cases with a practical physics display and a colorful display on France.

The physics display, located in the north wing of the union, was arranged by Ruth Frazier, associate professor of the physics department.

A three-fold display, the first part of it explains the use of special labs where students apply practical knowledge. A demonstration of a current-carrying wire in a magnetic field shows how force is produced to move a wire.

The second part pertains to research carried on by students and faculty members in the physics department. The press of a button shows a crystal structure on a screen.

The final part of the display explains and shows how meteorologists predict the weather from cloud formations.

New ideas in an old setting is the theme of the French display located in the lobby of the union. Arranged by the French club, the display includes several books by modern French authors as well as new and old French paintings and postcards.

Council Will Meet Today On Election

The Student Judicial Council will meet Tuesday to consider a disciplinary case and reconsider a decision they handed down concerning the number of independent senators in a college.

The council previously said that one senator from both business and education were unconstitutionally elected.

According to the ASUN Constitution, one senator from each college must be unaffiliated. But last year few independents ran for a Senate seat, and the Judicial Council interpreted the constitution to read the first senator from any college with more than two senators must be unaffiliated.

No independents ran for the business or education seats this year, but Bill Isaeff, former business Senator, filed a petition to the Judicial Board claiming the election was unconstitutional.

The judges handed down a decision supporting this petition, but the council has been asked to reconsider it by Mike Ingersoll, ASUN president.

The Student Judicial Council met last week to consider both problems but didn't have a quorum.

Loan Deadlines

The deadline for filing for the National Defense Student Loans for the fall and spring semesters of 1965-66 is August 1, 1965.

For the summer session of 1965, the deadline is May 15.

Those who wish to apply must contact the office of Financial Affairs in the Clark Administration Building.

ON UNIVERSITY LEVEL

Nevada Campus Holds Annual Teenage Opportunity Program

Youthful faces will be seen again on campus this summer, as high school and junior high school students participate in the locally-sponsored Teenage Opportunity Program.

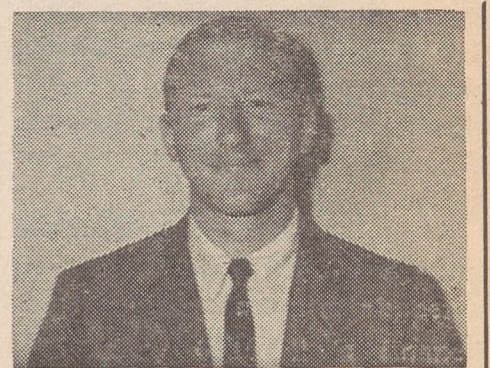

In its second year, the program allows students aged 14 through 17 to work with experts in their interest field or to audit specific University-level courses.

Through $125 scholarship grants made possible by private donations, students who show maturity and a serious interest in a particular field, be it auto mechanics or nuclear physics, are able to get early experience in that field.

The majority of the 97 students enrolled in the program this year are auditing classes on the Nevada campus. Although they receive no credit for these classes, there have been several instances of students being allowed credit when they finally enter the University of Nevada.

The Teenage Opportunity Program was originally the idea of Dr. George B. Maxey of the Desert Research Institute. Committee members supervising program management are: Mrs. Charles Stout, Mrs. Arnold Tiehm, Mrs. Pat Willis, Proctor Hug, Sr., and Dr. William O'Brien.

Governor Sawyer Addresses Journalists

By BOB ALWARD

Governor Grant Sawyer spoke on campus this week on the relationship between the government and the press. He spoke to members of Professor A. L. Higginbotham's press and society class.

Governor Sawyer noted that the people who are making news are natural adversaries of the people charged with reporting the news. This position, according to the governor, is a healthy one for this is one of the few checks that the public, through the newspaper, has on government.

Often, government officials are surrounded by persons who are in total agreement with that official's point of view or philosophy. As a result, officials seldom have the opportunity to learn of the public's view on any given subject.

AVOID SECRECY

The Governor felt that a relationship on a confidential level between a government official and the press was one which should be avoided. This particular relationship places hardships on both press members and governmental heads. Matters discussed in confidence are hard to keep from the public.

It is a reporters responsibility to report all that is pertinent. Confidential reports thus make it awkward to report a clouded situation of a confidential nature.

Governor Sawyer stated that during his public career he had been treated fairly by members of the press. Reporters had not tried to take advantage of getting information from neither his wife or daughter.

CAPITOL PROBLEMS

Problems arise in reporting news of the state legislature in

Carson City, he said. There are many times when important concurrent meetings must be covered by a reporter. It is impossible for any one reporter to do so. Thus, a news pool has been created by the various reporters for the pooling of all news stories received during the legislature.

There arises, however, a distinct problem from such pooling. When a story is filed, it is picked up by other pool members and sent to their individual newspapers, radio and television stations. If an error is present in the original news story, it is picked up by all newsmen and thus magnified. Such problems are common during the hectic days when the legislature is meeting.

The Governor was accompanied by Chris Schaller, public relations head for the employment security department.

NDEA Summer English Institute For Teachers To Be Held Here June 21

The University of Nevada NDEA Summer English Institute for elementary, junior high, and secondary school teachers of English will be held for six weeks beginning June 21 through July 31, for fifty selected teachers.

The institute is to be possible through the support of the National Defense Education Act and with the cooperation of the U.S. Office of Education. Its purpose is to increase the "proficiency of participants in the study of English language and literature."

The institute staff from Nevada consists of Director, Dr. Robert Gorrell; Associate Director, Dr. David W. Hettich; Literature, Walter Van Tilburg

Clark; and Language, Dr. Charlton Laird.

The summer program for participants will center on three courses: English 311, Applied Linguistics; English 321, Principles of Expository Writing and English 323, Principles of Literary Analysis.

Twice a week, afternoon workshops will consider applications of classroom teaching materials to teaching. The students may earn six hours of graduate credit for the courses, not applicable toward an advance degree at Nevada.

The participants will stay in the dormitories, and the dining commons will be available for all meals except Sundays.

The show will star University singer Bobby Heron and folksingers Michele Sheppard, Donna

Burner, Don Truell and Bruce Menke.

"The Cix", headed by Gil Folk, will play for dancing while about four "a go-go" girls, led by Kathy Heldson, teach University students the newest steps.

Proceeds from the come-as-you-are evening will be donated to the Heart Fund.

Press Club Elects Its New Officers

New officers were elected and an outing was planned for Idlewild Park at a meeting of the University of Nevada press club this week.

Hampton Young was elected president of the journalism society. The 22-year-old junior succeeds Susan Anderson as head of the group.

Other officers elected were Tim Anderson, vice-president; and Marcia Rushmer as secretary-treasurer.

The outing has been scheduled for Wednesday May 19, at 5 p.m. All journalism majors are invited to attend.

Homecoming Committee Holds Meeting

The 1965 Homecoming Committee held its first meeting Tuesday of this week. It discussed problems and outlined the proposed schedule for the four days' activities.

Two major problems that have arisen are scheduling entertainment and establishing reservations for the Homecoming dance.

"We want to have good entertainment," said Homecoming chairman Dave Russell, "but getting money for it may be a problem." Russell noted that scheduling will be handled by the Student Union Board or if need be in conjunction with the Student Union Board and Finance Control Board.

BIG NAME HOPES

"We are hoping to get a big name group scheduled," said Russell, "and with both Student Union Board and the Finance Control Board working on the problem, we should get good results."

Another problem is establishing the location for the Homecoming dance. "Hidden Valley has another activity scheduled that night, and the Elks Club is hesitant about scheduling University activities," said Russell.

"In the past there has been a little trouble with drunken students, however we are submitting an application this week and should receive an answer soon," said Russell.

ALTERNATE LOCATIONS

As an alternate the Homecoming committee will submit an application to the Reno Fair and Recreation Board to use the Centennial Coliseum.

The Homecoming Committee also reviewed the schedule of events proposed for the four day celebration:

Wednesday, October 27, the all-school rally will be held from 7:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. On Thursday, either the Wolves Frolic or the Home Coming entertainment will be scheduled, depending upon when entertainment can be scheduled. Friday will be the alternate night for the Wolves Frolic or entertainment.

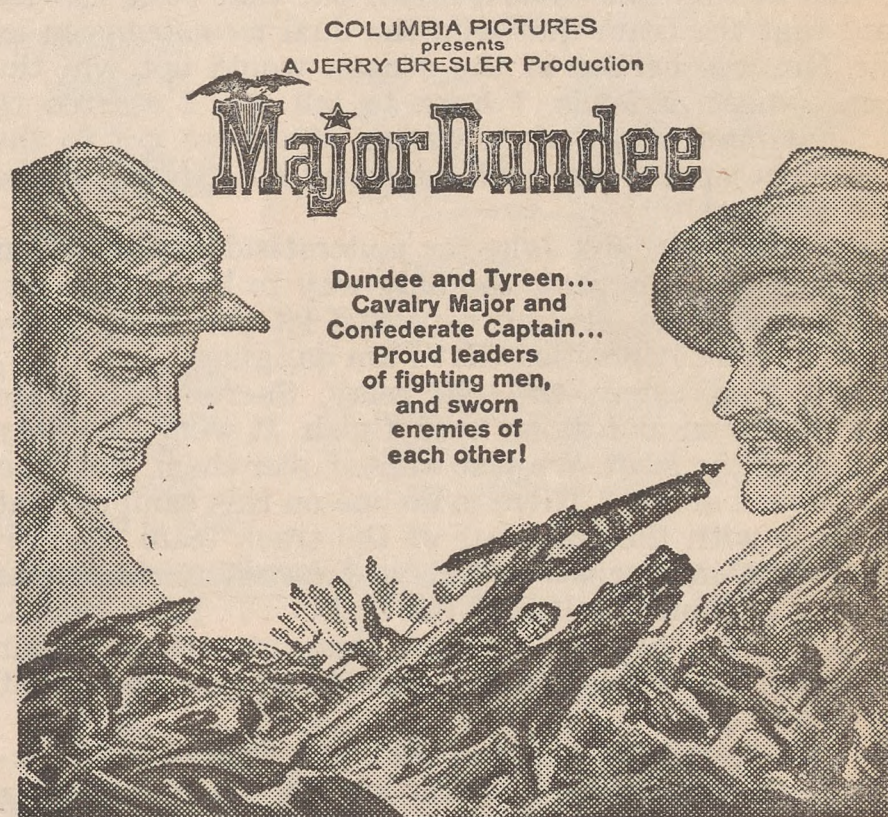

Saturday will include a full day of activities beginning with the cross country race at 8 a.m. The Homecoming parade will begin at 10 a.m., with the Homecoming football game following at 2 p.m. There will be open house from 7 p.m. until 8 p.m. with the Homecoming dance following at 9 p.m. and lasting until 1 a.m.

NEW COMMITTEE

Before adjourning, Chairman Dave Russell introduced the members of the 1965 Homecoming Committee. Joe Beloso is the general coordinator, Mike Smithwick, Jim Baker and Calvin Reed are in charge of publicity, Dave Diedrichson is rally chairman, Jeff Reeves is halftime chairman, Marvin Murphy is awards chairman, Craig Howard is chairman of the Homecoming dance, Mike Stephenson is chairman of the parade, Mike Jackson is float chairman, Danny Anderson is in charge of the cross country race, Ginny Gilbert is queen chairman, Sheri Burroughs is the corresponding secretary, Marti Fetzer is committee secretary, Sig Rogich is in charge of entertainment, and LeRoy Getchell is finance chairman.

The committee is scheduled to meet again before finals.

THE ARMCHAIR QUARTERBACK

By JOHN UTT

ANYONE GOT A RAKE? I'd kinda like to scrape the well-deserved buffalo omelet off my vericose face. Cheeee!! I must be sitting too long in one place, I have sure been coming up with some stagnant ideas. My gift for prophetic intuition amazes me. But, I did it. Your dear ol' ignorant Armchair predicted Sacramento State to win the FWC track title in his column two weeks ago. And it's high time I atone for it by a little journalistic masocism via a severe verbal flailing.

That meet in Sacramento was really something else. Your erstwhile Student Body President Mike Ingersoll and I piled into my miserable excuse for a Volkswagen last Friday and headed for Sacramento. We made it safely but exhausted (We took turns pedaling. I got stuck doing most of it because Ingersoll had trouble getting his feet on the pedals) and promptly headed for the greasiest club in Sacramento. The band had page boy haircuts (Ingersoll still swears the drummer winked at him) and we relaxed contemplating the next day's meet. We both concluded that if Houston had a good day and the relay team could come through we would win and went back to our motel.

The next morning offered the best weather one could want for a track meet and, after talking Ingersoll out of going back to the club to look for the drummer, we headed for the meet.

It was at this time that I found out that Jake Lawlor had said that the team that won the dual meet between us and the Hornets earlier in the season would not win the conference meet. Friends, I hope to tell you I started to sweat. That man is not often wrong. When we got to the meet we went up and sat with Jake and Dr. Broten of the P.E. Department.

I here want to thank Jake for understanding that when you're young and ignorant, the only way to handle the situation is to give you enough rope and let you hang yourself. You are hereby notified that I am dangling.

In the first event, the 440 relay, Sacramento State dropped the baton and didn't even finish. It went that way for the rest of the meet. We just walked over them. But, you want to know a secret? There is no one on this campus that agreed more with that member of the track team that remarked to me in retrospect, "Hey, John. Why don't you take a copy of your SAGEBRUSH and . . . more than I. Here's to ya'. I'm happy to oblige. Congratulations to our 1965 Champs. The whole school is proud and glad and I'm at the top of the list.

The golf team didn't do too well, but they're all freshmen except for two and we should have a powerhouse in a couple of years under weekend Coach Spencer. One member did distinguish himself in the conference finals last week in Sacramento, however. It seems that after the matches were over some of the team headed for one of the grease clubs and one young duffer was hustling quite a honey until her husband came in and took a dim view of the proceedings. Exit, with extreme vigor, one golfer cautiously replacing his divots all the way.

Owen Toy is awaiting the word from the powers that be that he is the official 1965 National Collegiate Batting champion. Owen set a new FWC batting record with a .660 average for the league games. His average that is up for the title is .548 for all the games this year.

It looks like he's a sure bet for the crown and if he does win, will receive an all-expense paid trip to the World Series.

NCAA Tourney Scheduled For Reno, May 21

The 1965 National Collegiate Athletic Association District 8 Baseball Tournament will be held here in Reno on May 21 and 22.

The Western Regional Tournament will be between the University of Nevada, Chapman College, Sacramento State College and Pepperdine. It will be held in Moana Stadium.

Sacramento State who won this same tourney last year is the reigning Far Western Conference champion. Nevada was invited because of the quality of its team, not the season's record. Pepperdine and Chapman were invited because of their outstanding season's records.

Pepperdine's list of victims includes the University of Southern California, UCLA and the University of San Diego. They are 1-1 against Chapman this season.

Chapman has also beaten USC. They are returning to the tournament for the second straight year.

The winner of this tournament will be the regional champions and will go no farther in tournament play. Next year the winner of this tourney will travel to the NCAA small college world series, to be held in Arkansas.

The first game will be played Friday May 21, at 1 p.m. and will pit Sacramento State against Chapman. The nightcap will be played at 7 p.m. and will have Nevada vs. Pepperdine. The consolation game will be Saturday at 1 p.m. and the championship tilt will be at 7 p.m.

FWC Champion Nevada Will Compete In NCAA

After winning the Far Western Conference Track Championships in Sacramento last weekend, the Wolf Pack will travel in faster company today and tomorrow when they compete in the National Collegiate Athletic Association College Division Championships at Hayward, California.

The meet will bring together 19 of the best small colleges on the Pacific Coast. Included in these are Sacramento State, Cal Aggies, Humboldt State, San Francisco State, Cal State at Hayward, Chico State, Cal Poly at San Louis Obispo, Cal Poly at Pomona, Chapman College, Clairmont-Mudd, Cal State at Fullerton, Fresno State, Long Beach State, Pomona College, University of Redlands, the University of California at Santa Barbara, University of San Francisco and San Fernando Valley State.

Nevada will be handicapped by the loss of Al Lansdon in the pole vault. Freshmen are not eligible to compete in this, an NCAA sponsored meet. Lansdon won the FWC pole vault competition last week in Sacramento, clearing 14 feet 3 inches.

Nevada has done "reasonably well in this meet in the past," stated Coach Dankworth. The Pack won this meet in 1962 and placed second in 1963.

Nevada will be represented by the same squad that won the conference meet, including Otis Burrell, Alex Darnes, Houston Williamson, Ryan Melton, Don McCarthy, Jose Esteban Valle, Dick McCoy and Otis Roberson.

Wolf Pack Closes Season Against Visiting Rebels

The University of Nevada baseball team will close out regular season tonight and tomorrow against the Rebels of Nevada Southern.

The games will be played at Moana Stadium. The first game will begin at 7 p.m. tonight and the windup of the series will be at 1 o'clock tomorrow.

These two contests will fan the rivalry that is building between the Reno and Las Vegas branches of the University. Both squads are termed by their coaches,

"The best in our history." NSU's season record is 14-9 and includes victories over Arizona State University at Flagstaff, the University of Wyoming and the University of California at Riverside.

The battle will take on a more personal note due to the friendship of both coaches. Both Nevada coach Bill Ireland and Rebel mentor Chub Drakulich grew up in McGill, at one time a hotbed of baseball in the state. They were teammates in sandlot ball and played together all the way through college under Jake Lawlor here at the University.

Coach Ireland has two senior pitchers on the team and plans to start both of them in their final appearances for the Silver and Blue.

On the mound Friday night will be Wolf Pack Ace Dan Keller. He will be opposed by the best the Rebels have, left-hander Bruce Bearman. Bearman's record is an impressive 8-2 so far.

Saturday afternoon will find Dennis Scott on the mound for the Silver and Blue and either Steve Overstreet, 2-3 or Lee Syphus, 4-5, for the Rebels.

The Rebels leading hitter is Bruce Lane who is batting .365.

ATO Trackmen Squeak Past SN For Intramural Cinder Victory

The ATO track team made it nine intramurals so far this year as it swept to victory in Mackay Stadium Wednesday afternoon, defeating the Sigma Nus and Independents in the intramural track meet 61-60-55.

The 880 relay was the last and deciding event of the afternoon. Going into that event the score was Sigma Nu 54, ATO 53, Independents 47. The ATO quartet won followed by the Independents and the Sigma Nu foursome ending the meet.

The meet Wednesday was a result of a rescheduling because of bad weather the previous week. Going into today's competition the ATOs led with 26 points.

There were two double winners in the meet, Holiday and Pike of the Sigma Nu squad. Pike won both the 120 high and 120 low hurdles and Holiday took the 100 yard dash and the 220.

The first three finishers of the other events were:

440 dash—Afflick, Independents, Batt ATO; Nursement, ATO

880 dash—Dye, Independents, Schaff SAE, Dee Sigma Nu

The University political science department was honored last week at the Northern California Political Science Association's seventeenth annual meeting. The department became the first institution outside of California to become a member.

Dr. Eleanore Bushnell, chairman of the Political Science department, Stanley Pearl, Larry Pippin, and Professor Elmer Rusco attended the conference at University of San Francisco after Nevada's department was invited to become the fifty-third university to be a member. ed, and Dr. Bushnell was asked to sit at the head table at the luncheon in addition to being named a member of the executive council.

The conference discussed the "New Trends In The Study Of Political Science", concentrating on the areas of "Ethno-Centrism And The Study Of African Politics: A Black And White Problem" and "Radicalism In American Politics". One of the speakers included Professor Gabriel A. Almond, president-elect of the American Political Science Association and Executive Head, Department of Political Science, Stanford University.
