No Baccalaureate Service Planned For June Graduation

Commencement exercises for approximately 450 University of Nevada graduates on June 12, 1965, will for the first time in years lack the traditional Baccalaureate sermon.

Graduates who received their degrees in September, 1964, or January, 1965, may also take part in the commencement exercises.

Following the trend of many American universities, the University of Nevada Commencement Committee abolished the ceremony because of time and denominational religious interests.

Dr. Jack H. Shirley, director of commencement, stated that the time involved for University officials to participate in commencement exercises at both the Reno branch of the University and the Nevada Southern branch demanded shorter ceremonies for each.

NON-DENOMINATIONAL

"The committee also felt," stated Dr. Shirley, "that most churches would provide for sermons directed to college graduates, thus relieving the problem of a non-denominational Baccalaureate service."

Commencement exercises will begin at 2 p.m. in the gymnasium, with procession formations of graduating seniors at 1:30 p.m. After the invocation and the welcome by University President Dr. Charles J. Armstrong, the Commencement speaker will be introduced. The name of the speaker has not yet been revealed.

The announcement of academic honors will be made by Dr. Robert McQueen and the civic oath will be administered by Nevada Supreme Court Justice Gordon R. Thompson. Colonel Robert L. Gundlach, chairman of the military department, will then administer the oath of office to graduates being commissioned.

BURR ANNOUNCES

Senior Class President Chuck Burr will announce the undergraduate degrees, followed by announcements of graduate and honorary degrees.

The graduation tea, sponsored by the University Alumni Association, will be held on the first floor of the Noble Getchell Library at 4:20 p.m. following the ceremonies.

Seniors may obtain previously ordered caps and gowns in the Jot Travis Student Union Bookstore on Thursday or Friday, June 10 or 11. All caps and gowns must be returned to the Travis Lounge immediately following commencement or prior to 6 p.m. in order for graduates to obtain their diplomas.

The commencement exercises will be open to the public and tickets will not be needed as in previous years.

Coffin And Keys President Wier Apologizes For Picture Mistake

Paul Wier, president of Coffin and Keys said Wednesday the Artemisia was in error in printing Jinks Dabney's picture as a member of the organization.

Wier said he was sorry for Mr. Dabney's sake and the organization owed him an apology.

The error, said Wier, was not the fault of Artemisia editor Joyce Freeman, because the pictures were sent in and the error could not be changed.

Dabney earlier said he wanted no part of the organization and resigned as an active member.

Earlier, however, he asked editor Freeman to call Salt Lake City, Utah and insert his picture as President of Coffin and Keys.

The long distance phone calls were an additional expense to the Artemisia staff and the students of the University of Nevada, said Miss Freeman.

Wier also said those students who wish to have their year books corrected could contact any member of Coffin and Keys and the picture would be blotted out.

Leadership Talks Given At Tahoe

The annual student leadership conference, scheduled for June 4th and 5th at Lake Tahoe will feature talks by University President Charles Armstrong and Dr. William Miller of the University speech department.

Registration will begin at noon on June 4th and end the next day at the same time.

ASUN President, Mike Ingersoll said 120 invitations have been sent out for the two-day event.

He also said the University of Nevada alumni association has donated $100 for steaks on Friday afternoon.

The conference will include discussions from standing to special committees.

Old and new ASUN officers have been invited, and Ingersoll said he expects more invitations will be sent.

Outstanding Seniors Picked For 1965 By Sagebrush Staff

In keeping with tradition initiated by last year's Sagebrush editor Pat Rogero, the Sagebrush staff has elected 11 outstanding seniors to be recognized as leaders and workers during the past few years on campus.

These seniors have been singled out from a field of 20 nominees to be commended for their service to the students of the University. Ten were to be chosen, but a voting tie gave the honor to 11.

The Sagebrush staff feels these are the persons who have not just held important positions, but have worked extra hours on their jobs for the betterment of the University.

They have taken on tasks and responsibilities "above and beyond the call of duty." Therefore the Sagebrush wishes to award these students with the annual "Leaders of the Year" citation.

Honored are:

Kent Folgate, chief justice and Sagebrush business manager, who has worked to make the Student Judicial Council more powerful than ever before and has served on the ASUN Publications Board in a commendable, watchful way.

Judith Garwood, Brushfire editor and Nevada's College Bowl captain, who has spent two semesters fighting for the continuance of the ASUN literary magazine and living down the criticism heaped on last year's publication. Her product, we feel, was worthy of the battle.

Steve Gomes, Forum editor and TUB worker, who has shown persistence in standing up for his beliefs in the interest of the University. He served well as Forum editor and worked many long hours on the Union board with no thought of personal glory.

Keith Lee, ASUN president, for his efforts to maintain a strong student government and his leadership in Senate. Lee worked particularly hard on continuing and expanding the high school recruitment program in the state, besides his outstanding service on various ASUN boards.

Judith Morrison, ASUN second vice-president, who has done an efficient job of coordinating campus activities for both semesters. Her campus calendar has been a guide to socially and culturally orientated students.

Chuck Burr, senior class president, who has spent his last year ordering announcements and measuring for caps and gowns, besides getting his committee together for planning this year's Senior Ball.

Dave Cooper, who has served as TUB president, first Forum editor and College Bowl contestant, worked to organize the Student Union, and made the idea of a campus opinion magazine a reality at Nevada, despite strong opposition.

Art Kess, Blue Key president, who mobilized "Operation Mud" and made sure Manzanita was cleaned and an island built. He is also honored for over-all support of ASUN activity.

Jean Pagni, AWS president, who took on the thankless task of leading the women of the University. She handled her job diplomatically and was always available to hash out coed grievances.

Mike Griffin, Homecoming Chairman, who coordinated one of the University's three big activities with capability not witnessed since. Griffin has also been a "doer" in many organizations and on various committees connected with the University.

Camille Richards, ASUN secretary, who spent endless hours typing letters for the ASUN and recording meetings of various student committees. Her job and cooperation was instrumental in efficient student government.

Annual Art Show In Progress Here

The Church Fine Arts Building is the setting for the 19th Annual Student Art Show, being held through the end of this semester. Included in the show are oil paintings, sculpture, charcoal sketches, and india ink drawings. Students have assigned prices to their work ranging from $5 to "Gutless Commemors: La Partii", an oil painting by Roy Enchson priced at $350.

Throughout the art show, students were uninhibited with their use of colors; most of the paintings are bold in content.

Many Won't Graduate Due To Lack Of Study

NAME WITHHELD BY REQUEST

As finals come and go this semester, there are some who will not be with us next year. There are those who will graduate, those who for some reason go to another school or do not go to school at all by their own choice, and then there are those who will be asked by the University of Nevada not to return because of academic reasons.

This letter is written expressly to those few who will flunk out of school after this semester because they are down too many grade points. Get used to that word — flunk, because people will be using it when they refer to the reason you are no longer a college student.

The main point of this letter is, however, to encourage those who do flunk out, not to lose hope. I know of what I speak. I have flunked out of college twice and when I came back the last time, was down 50 grade points. Since that time, however, I have struggled back and am now about 50 grade points up.

The main thing to do during the year or the semester you must remain away from school is to first of all assess your field of study. Perhaps, as it was in my case, you are simply in the wrong field and should consider something else.

Too often students, as I myself did after the first time I flunked out, try to make good in the field they have already failed in and find themselves again on the outside looking in. Chances are if you failed once in a field, you will do so again, unless you have acquired a great desire for that subject during your time away from school.

It is best to seek professional counseling and also to talk to people in many fields and above all, read widely in many subjects to find if you have any interest in them.

I personally do not go along with the idea that some people are not able to make it through college. It simply takes desire, will power and interest.

There is much advice I could give, that worked in my case, but may not in other particular cases. Besides, everyone you know will give you advice. However, I think the main thing to do is to be honest with yourself. Look back over the past semesters and try to figure out exactly why you failed. Because no matter what excuses you may come up with for the benefit of your parents and others, the fact remains that it is entirely your own fault for flunking out. So be honest in your own mind and figure out what went wrong.

Above all, just because of this one failure, you should not resign yourself to not getting a college education. However, I would also add, not to attempt school again until you are certain of your field of interest and certain that you are ready to become a serious student rather than having only good times.

This public service message has been presented by one who knows. I'll be leaving the University this year, but this time in the honorable way of graduation. Like they say, "If I can make, anyone can."

Sagebrush Final Recommends Many Changes, Gives Thanks To Staff

This is it. The last issue of this year's Sagebrush and our last chance to say anything. Recommendations and commendations are too numerous to include in this limited space, but we include the more important ones.

First, we'd like to see the student body eliminate that section of the constitution which requires at least one senator from each college to be unaffiliated. This is unworkable and unnecessary in the running of our student government.

Second, we support voluntary ROTC at Nevada. The administration should research the feasibility of such a program and ban the present compulsory program, not too popular with men on this campus. We are an academic institution, not an Army training camp.

Third, students from Nevada Southern and Reno should get together to petition the Governor and legislature for a more liberal budget. The intra-University bickering should stop and action should be taken to those who control the purse strings.

Fourth, Reno students should not be expected to pay more than five dollars for Student Union fees. The Union is in trouble because of their own faulty budgeting. They can manage on existing and incoming fees if they cut down programming and concentrate on student preference.

Fifth, we want to thank those who have seen us through this semester, particularly the Publications Board who handled our "suit" quite easily. And also members of the journalism department for receiving our calls at all hours and attending board meetings in an advisory capacity. Their legal help and moral support added incentive to our publication cause.

Now, tribute to the great editorial staff who worked into the wee hours of the morning to bring this campus 29 of the best Sagebrushes ever published. Fortunately, you'll find most of them in the journalism basement next semester.

The big four are Sig Rogich, who served as this year's assistant editor, and will be Sagebrush editor from now on; Tom Dye, our anchor man as managing editor; Hampton Young, political editor and columnist who wrote many good features on the side; and John Utt, sports editor, who doubled as news investigator and reporter.

Thank you.

Finals Are Here And Students Awake

A solitary reflection in the full-length, spotless mirror. A forlorn speck of dust is swiped clean from the scarred, aged length of bar that has seen many a University student's elbow by the normally jovial bartender.

Glasses impeccable, beer tap inactive, the Little Wal witnesses few, if any, students during the apex of the school semester.

"I'm on the wagon for an entire week," proudly says one student. "These are the times that try men's souls," says another.

Final examination week turns the serious student grave and the not-so-serious student frantically resolute. It is the week of reckoning; the accumulated learning of 15 weeks must be concentrated into five or six concise, comprehensive and fiendishly Herculean tests.

College hangouts suffer, far-away parents receive no letters, and the No-Doze corporation flourishes. Cigarettes are inhaled by the carton. 24-hour radio stations receive new early-morning ratings and the University's light bill in the living groups multiplies twofold.

"Happiness is a quiet library," one astute librarian was once overheard to utter. But the library, normally a common meeting ground for lovers, English majors and the social elite, sees its average low roar raised to a fever pitch on "make it, or break it" week.

The low-slung multi-million dollar complex, commonly known as Getchell Library, is packed to overflowing while students enjoy or suffer through its "liberalized" hours on the advent of finals.

Students suffer, librarians painfully tolerate and professors, slaphazard arbitrators of grades, gleefully meditate, "Poe-like" between objective or essay exams.

"Briefly outline the growth of America from 1776 to present, eccentuating the effect of communism, socialism, women's suffrage, the Depression, World War I and II. McCarthyism, the Civil War, Civil Rights, conservation, Tom Paine, Charlie Schulzism and anything else that you might feel is important," might be the first of a ten-question history exam.

True or False: "The Civil Rights movement, as it has been prognosticated by Martin Luther King, winner of the Nobel Peace Prize, and accentuated by Governor of Alabama George Wallace, has been a highly successful endeavor to retain the "all men are created equal" clause of the Declaration of Independence and yet, although slavery is no longer common, has been highly unsuccessful in that it is not recognized by the Ku Klux Klan; but allows for the fact that to "err is human."

Good luck, kiddies. . .

RENO FIREMEN rushed to campus twice Wednesday—but there was no smoke.

False Alarms Ring Twice

The Reno Fire Department paid two visits to the University of Nevada Wednesday night — one at 7:30 and one at 9:30. Both trips were to the Sarah Fleischmann Home Economics Buildings and both were false alarms.

The alarm on the second floor cried "Wolf" twice when coeds, living in the building as part of an upper division home ec course, accidentally upset the device.

Reports at the two-hour intervals were that the women were carrying furniture to the second floor lounge area. Some of the paraphernalia bumped the wall box.

Women say they were hosting an oriental style dinner and borrowed screens and lamps from the second floor to give effect to their production. The folding screens apparently were too bulky to control all the way up the stairs.

The coeds wish to remain anonymous. The local fire department doesn't like to talk about the incident either.

Deans Answer Coed's Charges On Housing

By HAMPTON YOUNG
Political Editor

"She should have come to the people directly involved in the situation before she went ahead with her article," stated Assistant Dean of Women Roberta Barnes.

Dean Barnes was referring to Mary White, Forum editor, who wrote a column for the Sagebrush lambasting a proposal to squeeze 500 women in student housing next year.

"There should be no more than two students in each room, and we no longer have the extra furniture to put in the rooms," she said.

STAND ON TWO

Dean of Women Elaine Mobley said, "Two girls to room—we've been standing on this," in denying the rumor. She said that Mary White never managed to get any of the facts.

Both women said there will be an estimated 500 women seeking housing next year as compared to the 388 in women's housing now.

Dean Mobley said they are trying to get a new resident hall up as soon as possible, but proposed Nye Hall won't be completed until the fall of 1966 or 1967.

"We don't have a solution for next year's out-of-staters, but our staff is working full time on it," said Dean Barnes.

SUBMIT REPORT

She said that they have submitted a report to President Armstrong showing various alternatives, but nothing definite has been decided.

Approved off-campus housing would be permissible, but there is none in the area. Barnes said approved off-campus housing would require a supervisor or someone responsible such as on-campus housing provides.

Dean Barnes said that notices were circulated throughout the women's halls explaining conditions would not be overcrowded next year. "We didn't want them to be worried during finals needlessly," she said.

Petitions Circulate Against Compulsory Campus ROTC

By SIG ROGICH
Assistant Editor

Some 200 University of Nevada student and faculty have signed a petition against compulsory ROTC at the University of Nevada, it was learned Wednesday night.

The anti-compulsory ROTC drive, started by University of Nevada junior Stan Mitchell and Dr. Erling Skorpen, of the philosophy department, came after an earlier planned Governor's Day demonstration was called off at the last moment.

The students had planned to carry posters protesting compulsory ROTC at Nevada.

Dr. Skorpen said earlier he, "learned that a faculty committee intended to study compulsory ROTC and make recommendations to the University President and the Board of Regents." He then decided, "it would be wise to call the demonstration off."

Skorpen said he was misinformed and thought a faculty committee which was studying compulsory ROTC would meet again this semester but he later learned they would not meet again until next fall.

Sagebrush Managing Editor, Tom Dye supported the anti-compulsory ROTC drive in an editorial in the May 18th issue of the student publication.

The petition reads, "Dear President Armstrong and Dr. Anderson:

We the undersigned students of the University of Nevada respectfully and earnestly petition you to give serious consideration to ending compulsory in favor of voluntary ROTC at the University of Nevada as soon as possible."

Supporters of the petition expect many more students to support the maneuver to end compulsory ROTC at the University.

University Student Travels Free To Copenhagen Soon

A University of Nevada student who was crippled in an automobile accident four years ago will be leaving in a month for an all-expense-paid trip to the Disabled American's Conference in Denmark.

"I was quite shocked to hear the news," says Dick Hall, a native of Ely, Nevada. I consider it quite an honor to be selected for the trip.

Hall was chosen for the trip by the Nevada Society for Crippled Children and Adults (the Easter Seal Society).

The sophomore architecture major will spend three weeks at the conference. He will attend various official meetings as well as tour scenic spots in the country.

On the itinerary is a trip to Hans Christian Anderson's home and to Elsinore Castle which is the scene of Shakespeare's Hamlet. Hall will also attend the Nordic Youth Congress and the Danish celebration of the American Fourth of July.

Also at the conference will be 53 other disabled Americans from all U. S. states and territories.

The group will assemble June 22 at the Denmark Pavilion of the New York World's Fair prior to leaving via Scandinavian Airlines.

Hall's travel expenses inside the United States are being paid for by businessmen and organizations from Ely. His travel expenses outside the U. S. are being paid by the City of Copenhagen in Denmark.

The Nevada student is impressed by all of the preparations and says it should be quite an educational experience.

Hall was an athlete before his accident. He swam and competed in diving. He says it was "not as hard as one might think" to adjust to his new situation.

This will probably be Hall's last semester at Nevada. Since the University does not have an architecture program, Hall will enroll at Utah State next semester to continue his studies.

Resigning Engineer Cites Campus Building Defects

By TOM DYE
Managing Editor

University Engineer James D. Rogers cites faulty construction as well as inadequate inspection by the State Planning Board as two of the reasons he is resigning the post he has held since 1956.

Rogers' resignation will take effect July 1. Edward L. Pine, former president of Isbell Construction company will take over as engineer.

Rogers was unhappy with several facets of the Scrugham Engineering Building and the Getchell Library—which have been constructed within the last two years. He says that the State Planning Board has failed to adequately inspect these buildings. He feels that there is a lack of communication between his office and the Planning Board.

Other reasons for quitting are given by the engineer. He says that there was an excess work load and too small an engineering staff.

HELP PINE

"I think Pine will do a good job," says Rogers, "I hope I can help him by bringing to light the problems of University planning."

Three main flaws were found by Rogers in the Getchell Library. He says the brick landings are defective and the epoxy material on the floors is faulty. He also claims the air conditioning system in the building is faulty.

Rogers says the specifications laid out in the drawings are not complied with. In the case of the Engineering Building, he is unhappy with noise made by the ventilating system. In addition, he says the mechanical and electrical requirements are not complied with.

Head of the State Planning Board, Len Hancock, admits there are problems but denies many of the accusations which Rogers makes about the buildings.

Seniors Plan Final Dance

The Senior Class Committee under the direction of President Chuck Burr is finalizing plans for the annual Senior Class Ball.

The farewell party is to be held at the Hidden Valley Country Club and will be from 9 p.m. until midnight on June 5, 1965.

The Ball is open to all scholastic and social seniors. There will be a gate crew to check names and see that only seniors and their dates are admitted.

Music will be provided by Paul Jones and his orchestra.

The senior gift for 1965 will be a bench to be placed in front of the new field house to be constructed this fall. It will cost approximately $300.

All seniors who have ordered announcements of their graduation and have not picked them up can do so at the ASUN office in the Student Union building.

Members of the committee are: Burr, Camille Richards, Judy Morrison, Judy Wilson, Judy Schmidt, Dolores Dunning, Marty Hawkins, Joe Mayer, Herb Nichols, Buddy Shaw and Fred Williams.

LANDINGS APPROVED

Hancock says the brick landings in the library were approved by the Board of Regents, the architect and the Planning Board. He says the faulty bricks can be replaced.

He denies there is any problem with the epoxy material. "The humidifier was in operation when the University accepted the building," says Hancock. He also says the ventilating system is in accordance with the architect's plans.

One of Rogers other charges concerns the electrical and mechanical systems in both buildings. He says that material was left out or substituted and added in smaller quantities in constructing these systems.

The incoming University Engineer, Pine, says he has no plans as yet for the University. He says he will find out what the Board of Regents wants and will study the problems thoroughly.

During Rogers' stay at Nevada, $25 million worth of construction was done at the University. He was here during what he terms the "expansion era."

SNCC Philosophy Viewed By Time, Maxey

"What is Snick?" is a question often heard on campus in the past few months. The controversy first arose when a group of students banded together here a few months ago under the banner of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee and petitioned the ASUN Senate for recognition.

Since that time the group has been attacked from some quarters, most notably the Young Republicans on campus and the local chapter of the John Birch Society on the grounds of Communist affiliations.

The guiding philosophy of the national organization, were described in an article which recently appeared in Time Magazine.

WARREN ANSWERS

Time reported that Novelist Robert Penn Warren interviewed two of the hierarchy of the group and came up with more answers concerning the group than anyone else up to now has done.

Warren interviewed Harlem-born Bob Moses who, "is probably the most battle-scarred of all Snickers." In his efforts to register Negro voters in Mississippi, he has been beaten, burned, stabbed and shot at: he is now so hardened to it all that he can take a snooze in a car that is being chased by red-necks."

The guiding philosophy of Moses, the article said, is not that of Hazel, Marx or Lenin but of philosopher Albert Camus, who teaches a form of rebellion that never loses sight of individual values.

Warren then interviewed Stokely Carmichael, a 23-year old native of Trinidad who came to the U.S. and was raised in Harlem. In his high school days, Carmichael was a "doctrinal socialist." To his mind, class warfare does not entirely explain the sit-in demonstrations. "I realized that a lot of kids weren't talking about what I thought they would be talking about. They said, simply, 'We have the right to human dignity,'"

In commenting on the article and philosophies of the two men, Nelle Maxey, local president of the Friends of SNCC chapter on campus, remarked,

"It was one of the better articles I have seen in national publications."

It (Moses' philosophy) is fine and is good. It is his philosophy and the philosophy of many people in the organization, but not necessarily the guiding philosophy of the national organization."

"Since SNCC is essentially a non-membership organization we have a number of people who join for a divergent number of reasons and motivations. They join for their own reasons and not for the fact that we have any guiding or professed philosophy."

"The organization is growing very rapidly and the numbers of people who join bring up the problem of too many philosophies. We have people in the national organization whose beliefs range from the far left to the far right. But, this problem will be handled within the organization."

Miss Maxey also felt that that contained in the philosophy of Camus, "were some pretty good things. But, he missed one essential point, a feeling of brotherly love that permeates the movement."

NOT CAMPUS

She, herself, does not adopt Camus' philosophy.

"I would choose a less cynical philosophy regarding my involvement in the movement."

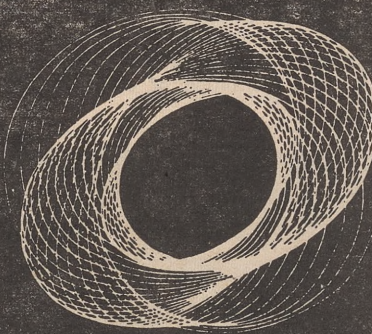

The plans of the local chapter are unknown at this time. There was speculation that the Reno group would send some volunteers to work in the South this summer, but this proved unfounded."

"We got a letter from the national organization in Atlanta, Georgia which said that they were no longer asking for men and women from the North. This is due to the uprising of the college students in the Southern Universities and the Negroes. It is felt that the local people would understand the problem of the area better," said Miss Maxey.

She said some Nevada students may go to Washington D.C. in June to lobby and support the Freedom Democratic Party, however. The Freedom Democratic Party is seeking to unseat several Southern congressmen because it claims they were illegally elected.

CASH PAID FOR BOOKS

Used textbooks fall into three groups. The following categories determine the price at which the bookstore may purchase a used book:

1. Current copyright books that have been selected for the next semester and there is an inadequate supply in the bookstore. These books are worth 50 per cent of the current new price.
2. Current copyright books that are no longer in use at the University of Nevada, or have not been definitely selected by the instructor. These books can be sold to a wholesale book jobber. The ASUN Bookstore acts as an agent and can pay cash to the student for these books at the jobber's catalog price. These books are shipped from the campus for use on other college campuses. The price paid cannot be too high as the jobber has considerable expense involved in shipping, warehousing, and selling of these books. Too, the wholesaler faces a risk of not selling them at all.

3. The third group includes old editions, out of print and similar titles which are no longer in demand, and have little or no value.

Senate Approves Council's Solon Seat Amendments

By JOHN UTT

The ASUN Senate struggled through its second meeting Wednesday night with five of its own absent due to the recent Judicial Council action which removed them from office.

The biggest order of business for the student legislative body was the approval of the recommendations of the Judicial Council which proposed two amendments to the ASUN Constitution which stated:

"The Senate shall be composed of one representative from each recognized social fraternity and sorority on the campus, it being understood that such recognition be granted by the President of the University; one unaffiliated representative from each of the dormitories; each college shall have at least one representative elected by the students within the college, the college representation to be based on a plurality basis of two-hundred students, the first representative from the colleges is to be unaffiliated only if an unaffiliated student files for said office, the other representative can be either unaffiliated or affiliated; the ASUN President, AWS President, four Senators-at-Large, one Student Union Board representative."

The second amendment stated: "College Senators shall be elected at the ASUN election; that they be elected for one year; any person who desires to run, must file with the ASUN President's office two weeks prior to the primary election."

The council also recommended that there be a special election in September to fill the five vacated seats following a special election held to ratify the two amendments.

The Senate approved these proposals with two alterations. The wording of the last part of the first amendment is to read:

"The first representative from the colleges if there is more than one Senator is to be unaffiliated only if an unaffiliated student files for said office. . . ."

Library Schedule

The University library will extend hours for final exams week.

The schedule will remain the same through the 28th of May. On Saturday, May 29th, the library will open at 9 a.m. and remain open until 1 a.m. in the evening.

On Sunday, May 30th, it will open at 2 p.m. and close at p.m.

Memorial Day will see the library open on the regular school schedule, from 8 a.m. to 11 p.m. This will remain the same until Wednesday, June 3rd at which time the summer schedule will go into effect with the library staying open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

in approving the recommendations of the Student Judicial Council, Chief Justice Kent Folgate said:

"This approval and Senate's acquiescence to the fact that the council has the power under the ASUN Constitution to rescind any unconstitutional actions of ASUN officers, officials or agents makes the Judicial Council an effective third branch of ASUN government which it has not been in the past."

Also the election to fill the vacated seats will be held in conjunction with the general elections on October 6th of next school term.

The special election to ratify the amendments will still be held in September.

Other business which was passed by Senate was a $.50 allotment out of the Athletic Department allotment from the present $17.50 student fees to finance a marching band, the Finance Control and Publications Boards' minutes and the approval of the ASUN standing committees.

Awards Presented At Spaghetti Feed

Trophies, modern dance and spaghetti highlighted this week's Women's Recreation Association annual award dinner in the dining commons.

The WRA Spaghetti Feed was dedicated to Dr. Janet Felshin and Miss Edrie Ferdun "in recognition and appreciation for their services to the Women's Recreation Association," said Elfrena Sewell, president.

Modern Dance numbers provided entertainment for the Women's dinner. Dancing were Betty Martin, Barbara Creps, Hazel Silber, Lani Lane and Kathy Helsdon.

Basketball trophy was awarded to Juniper Hall. Kappa Alpha Theta was tops in bowling. Cheryl Russell received the highest bowling average and Marilyn Breckenridge was best in tennis.

The WRA Participation Trophy was awarded to the women of Pi Beta Phi.

The top "Gothic N" award went to Elfrena Sewell. The gold cup was awarded to Jill Walker. Joyce Hoffman and Vicki Larcher each received silver cups.

Bronze cup trophies were won by Pat Christinson, Cynthia Geyer, Ginny Gilbert, Judy Grossenbach, Kathy Leonard, Carla Rost and Phyllis Teipner.

Pennants were given to Donna Carlson, Lola Bankoffier, Kitty Foote, Bonnie Johnson, Janie Katzman, Pat Miltenberger, Carla Rost, Cheryl Russell, Sophie Sheppard, Sharon Smith, Frances Spikes and Mary Ann Turria.

Dinner co-chairman Judy Grossenbach served as mistress of ceremonies. Judy Stewart was also co-chairman.

Sheppard Art In California

A water color by Dr. J. Craig Sheppard, professor in the Art Department, is on display in a regional Drawing Society exhibit at the California Palace of Legion of Honor in San Francisco.

Dr. Sheppard's painting, titled "Figure at the Arches," was loaned to the show by the Freingarten Gallery in Los Angeles.

The exhibit contains works by 89 artists from Arizona, California, Hawaii, Nevada, Oregon and Washington.

The Drawing Society was founded by a group of collectors, scholars and art enthusiasts in 1960 who feel that drawing is of basic importance to the visual arts, and who recognize a need to encourage drawing and the collection and exhibition of drawings.

Phoenix Repeats 'Fantasticks' Act

Nevada's production of the "Fantasticks" is past, but the actors are still answering a few command performances.

Dave Phoenix, who played The Man Who Dies, did it again this week on "Corporal Bob's Adventure Theatre" at a local television station.

Bob Drews, who acts in the corporal capacity, saw the performance and asked some playere to appear on his program. "I had to have that death scene," he said.

Binkie Thompson, who played a Mother in the University production, is scheduled to make a few appearances on the late evening television show.

1965 Brushfire Receives Acclaim By Student Leaders

In what is termed, "excellent" and "very enjoyable" the literary publication, Brushfire, that received so much criticism just nine months ago, is now available on campus.

The overall opinion by members of the Publication Board of the magazine is one of approval and enjoyment.

Chuck Murphy, senior men's senator at large and a member of the board called the Brushfire, "very good, and very enjoyable, liked it very well."

Mike Ingersoll, also a member of the board as ASUN president, called the publication, "excellent".

"Very good, and a large improvement over last year" was the comment from Artemisia editor Joyce Freeman.

Kent Folgate, Sagebrush business manager called the publication one that was, "very commendable". Folgate earlier in the year called the 1964 issue of the magazine "approaching pornography".

Judith Garwood, editor of the Brushfire and assistant editor of the 1964 issue said she is very pleased and happy with the outcome of the publication.

"There are always a few changes that people want to see done, but overall I am very happy with the magazine."

Miss Garwood says students may pick up returned manuscripts in the Brushfire box in room 106 of the Frandsen Humanities Building.

The Brushfire is available to students and faculty in the ASUN Bookstore and the English department office.

Cadets Honored Last Week

The University of Nevada military department honored Governor Grant Sawyer and outstanding military cadets Thursday during the 28th annual Governor's Day celebration in Mackay Stadium.

Ceremonies included precision drill by the University of Nevada's Sierra Guardsmen and the Presidians, a special unit of the Sixth Army Honor Guard from San Francisco. Marching and music was provided by the Sixth Army Band and the U. of N. Band. A sky-diving exhibition by members of the university's Sky Divers Club was made, as well as a fly-over by military aircraft.

PARRISH HONORED

The Governor's Medal, presented by Governor Sawyer to the senior cadet who has shown outstanding leadership and proficiency in ROTC, was awarded to Robert D. Parrish.

One of the most decorated cadets in the history of Governor's Day, Cadet Col. Parrish was also the recipient of three other awards. He was awarded the President's Medal for receiving the highest rating at summer camp, the Superior Senior Cadet Decoration, and the American Ordnance Association Gold Scholarship Key Award.

The Superior Cadet Awards, presented by Major General Roy E. Lassetter, Jr., Commanding General of XV Army Corps, went to Cadet Lt. Bernard D. Ferrari, Cadet Sergeant Gerry A. Roberts, and Cadet Corporal Deems C. Watkins.

THE ARMCHAIR QUARTERBACK Nevada Top Athletes Picked

By SIG ROGICH

The University of Nevada ski team has competed against National and Olympic skiers in Colorado and Washington during the 1964 season.

But University of Nevada skiing coach George Twardokens feels, "Nevada is not that great a team and never has been." Yet in a national meet against Olympic contenders in Colorado, Lane Monroe finished 10th in the slalom.

This might be some indication of what the ski team could do if it were properly coached, by a ski coach, with faith, in the team he is supposed to be a part of.

Twardokens said earlier, "we don't have Olympic prospects on our team." Certainly Monroe proved someone doesn't know what he's talking about.

Twardokens, known best for his fencing ability, said, "If we started to recruit, many of the boys on the present team who are local boys, wouldn't make the team." Perhaps Mr. Twardokens is unaware that of the eight members of the traveling team, two of these are, "local boys."

Practice is essential for a winner, regardless of the sport. The University of Colorado meet was a good indication of what practice can do. The Colorado team was injury prone from the beginning. Jimmy Huega, Colorado Olympic skiing star from Tahoe City was injured for both Alpine events. And the jumping team had to compete with only one member, as the others were injured. It's a good thing the other members were injured. One man beat our entire team, and the Colorado skiers finished above the game Wolf Pack from Nevada.

They, however, practice. This might be a good idea for the Nevada team. But to practice, the team must have someone to lead them, someone to arrange practice schedules, and someone to add encouragement. What it really needs is a coach who would do these things.

Many of the Nevada skiers claim Twardokens, "kills the spirit among the men on the team."

For example, Twardokens reported recently to a downtown paper that, "Nevada would not import foreign skiers to build the team as other schools do, even Arne Nossum, the Northern exchange student was brought here by another coach to be used as an example."

If this doesn't break an individual's spirit, perhaps Twardokens isn't familiar with personal emotions.

And after the Nevada ski coach made this statement to the papers, he later asked skier Nossum, to, "look into things in Norway to try to find a Nordic skier."

Surely the cost can't be too high. The University of Nevada isn't paying a cent for room and board for Nossum. A fraternity at the University of Nevada agreed to pay these expenses. And there are other living groups that have expressed an interest in sponsoring skiing stars at the University.

One of the so-called, "local boys" not skiing at Nevada is Jimmy Heuga. Heuga won a bronze medal in the Olympics, something no other American had ever done in the slalom.

University of Colorado ski coach who is also United States Olympic coach called the potential at Nevada great. The Colorado mentor said, "If Nevada would develop the program on a basis that would get the support of the surrounding areas, they would have a top flight ski team."

Nevada has the facilities. The school is located in an area closer to many top ranked skiing schools, but they have yet to take advantage of it.

Arne Nossum may be another good example of what practice can do. The Nordic star, and member of the team that doesn't have "any Olympic prospects" finished 8th in the nation in Washington and 6th in a meet in Colorado. These meets had the best skiers in the United States competing. Many are from other countries.

Nevadans will remember onetime ski coach Chelton Leonard and what he did for the University of Nevada. Not only did he coach the ski team, but he had the respect of the members who gave all they had for him.

Nevada athletic officials claim the school can't go "big-time or national" in any of its sports. Yet track coach Dick Dankworth showed what hustle can do. This small institution hosts the top ranked high-jumper in the United States.

Perhaps this should serve as an example of what can be done if the desire is there. Perhaps it should serve as an example of what those individuals who are competing for themselves and their University should expect. Nothing too much. Merely faith in them from the coach.

Indeed the coach has the right to say what he thinks and feels. Or does he when the team and the reputation of the University is at stake? People who are in such a position have to refrain. Or so I have been led to believe in the past.

We need someone who will actually coach the Nevada skiers.

Otis Burrell, a 21-year-old transfer student from Los Angeles Junior College, has been named as the Athlete of the Year for 1964-65 by the Sagebrush.

Burrell is currently rated second in the United States in the high jump with a mark of 7' 3/4".

Earlier in the year he finished second to world record holder Valery Brumel of Russia in the Cow Palace in San Francisco with a jump of 7'. Brumel also jumped the same height but had fewer misses.

He has also placed second in the high jump at Drake Relays in Des Moines, Iowa, and won that event at a meet at the Los Angeles Coliseum last weekend.

Burrell holds the FWC mark at 7' 3/4", the 120 high hurdle mark in the FWC with a time of 14.4 seconds and the Nevada school and Mackay Stadium records in the high jump.

The other outstanding athletes in their various sports are:

Football — Al McDaniels. McDaniels played outstanding defensive football for the Wolf Pack all season at halfback and the one time he started on offense, against Chico State, he led the Wolf Pack to their lone victory of the year.

Basketball — Nap Montgomery. Nap led the Wolf Pack basketball to a successful season for coach Jack Spencer. He led the Far Western Conference in rebounding and was fifth in scoring.

Baseball — Owen Toy. Toy is still waiting official notice that he is the leading hitter in the United States in college baseball. He also set an all-time FWC record in hitting. He is only a freshman.

Boxing — Dale Landon. Landon was the California Intercollegiate Boxing Conference champion in the heavyweight division this past year. He won eight fights and lost none. On occasion opposing coaches refused to put anyone in the ring with him. He was named Athlete of the Month by the Sierra Nevada Sportswriters and Broadcasters for February.

Skiing — Lane Monroe. Monroe finished his third year of competition on the slopes this year with his finest effort to date. He won the Skimeister Trophy for the best performance in four events at the 1965 Winter Carnival and placed in the NCAA finals.

Georgeson Picked Outstanding Boxer At Boxing Banquet

Welterweight Bill Georgeson was chosen the outstanding boxer on the University of Nevada boxing team and was awarded the Dick Taylor Memorial Plaque at a banquet at the Circus Room of the Sparks Nugget Monday night.

Heavyweight Dale Landon was awarded the Jamie Dominici Memorial Trophy as the most improved boxer on the squad.

The banquet was held to honor the boxing squad, and was attended by many local sportsmen.

Jimmy Durante personally met the boxing squad after his performance was over. Durante said that he had had one fight in his youth, and that his famous proboscis was fractured.

Members of the boxing squad who placed second in conference despite its inexperience are Landon, Georgeson, Bob Hall, Mike Smithwick, Gary Parsons, Roy Hansen, Dave Widmer, Gordon Browning, Chuck Breese, Mike Parman, Riley Beckett and Tony Scheuller. Landon, Georgeson and Parman were all conference winners.

The banquet was sponsored by Bill Stremmel and Charles Gepford. Also attending were Mills Lane, former outstanding Nevada boxer, Sammy Macias, another former Nevada boxer; and John and Hiney Cooper.

Track Star McCoy Chosen PSK Head

The Phi Sigs have elected NCAA Pacific Coast Regional Track winner Dick McCoy as their president for the next year. McCoy holds the Nevada record in the 220-yard dash.

The sprinter was also selected as Greek of the year at the Theta Chi Greek Festival.

The other officers of Phi Sigma Kappa for next year include Chuck Manes, vice-president; Bryan Cobb, secretary; and Mike Walters, treasurer.

Wolf Pack Nine Prepares For NCAA Baseball Tourney Here

The 1965 National Collegiate Athletic Association District 8 Baseball Tournament will start this afternoon in Reno, hosted by the University of Nevada Wolf Pack.

The Western Regional Tournament will be between the University of Nevada, Chapman College, Sacramento State College and Pepperdine. It will be held in Moana Stadium.

Sacramento State, who won this same tourney last year is the reigning Far Western Conference champion this season lost one game, this was to Nevada.

Nevada was invited because of the quality of its team, not the season's record. Pepperdine and Chapman were invited because of their outstanding season's records.

Pepperdine's list of victims includes the University of Southern California, UCLA and the University of San Diego. They are 1-1 against Chapman this season. On the basis of their record they must rank as the pre-tourney favorite.

Chapman has also beaten top competition including the Spartans of NSC. They are returning to the tournament for the second straight year.

The winner of this tournament will be the regional champions and will go no farther in tournament play. Next year the winner of this tourney will travel to the NSAA small college world series, to be held in Arkansas.

The first game will start at 1 p.m. and will pit Sacramento State against Chapman. The nightcap will start at 7 p.m. and will feature Nevada vs. Pepperdine. The consolation game will be tomorrow at 1 p.m. and the championship tilt will be at 7.

Coach Bill Ireland will be faced with the handicap of the loss of two key players in the Wolf Pack attack, outfielder Owen Toy and first-baseman Barry McKinnon.

Toy is the leading hitter on the team at .510 and is awaiting notification of his being the leading collegiate hitter in the country. Toy is a freshman and therefore cannot compete in any tournament sponsored by the NCAA.

McKinnon will miss the tourney because he has received three previous varsity letters and has thereby used up his eligibility according to NCAA regulations.

Dance Production Features Wide Style, Theme Range

By MARY GRUIDL

A single spotlight shone on the stage of the Church Fine Arts Theatre as two leotard-clad dancers rehearsed the duet sequence of "A Tale of Integration", one of the compositions included in the Dance Concert to be given tonight and Saturday.

The rehearsal only previewed bits and pieces of the various costumes that will be used in the wide range of dance styles and themes in the concert.

The production, which will begin at 8 p.m., is sponsored by the Physical Education Department and features not only student performers but some guest appearances by local artists, including students from the Reno Ballet Arts Academy and the Ballet Renon, a community dance group.

The concert includes "The Dancing Class" choreographed by Edrie Ferdun, assistant professor of health physical education and recreation. This composition is a dance parody on dancing classes. It features dancers Carole Odum, Susie Brown and Edrie Ferdun.

HAIKU DANCE

An arrangement of Haiku poetry and dance titled "Translation" will be danced by Kathi Helsdon, Jane Hartzog, Karen Smith and Edrie Ferdun. Linda Lawson will provide musical accompaniment for the dances and Dr. Janet Felshin, associate professor of health, physical education and recreation will narrate. The choreography for this dance was done by each of the respective dancers.

"Folly Is An Endless Maze" is an abstract modern dance set to jazz. It was choreographed by Barbara Creps, a sophomore modern dance major. Miss Creps performs it together with Betty Martin, Jackie Wagner, Jackie Ziegler, Manya Christensen and Vicki Geertsema.

A Reno High School student, Florence Sobrio, will dance Carol Emery's interpretation of the famed Anna Pavlova's dying swan in a short number called "The Swan".

The story of "The Pied Piper," choreographed by Mrs. Beth Laminaire, will be enacted by Martha Hernandez, Mary Laurence, Ann Culver, Noreen Nash, Frank Dziurda, Howard Hoffman, and Jill Freeman.

POP ART

The "pop art" contribution to the concert is Dr. Felshin's composition, "Take An Italian To Dinner" done by Welford "Bugs" Walton and Dale Record.

A jazz composition to the music from "Goldfinger" will be danced by Kathi Helsdon, Lani Lane and Hazel Silber.

Three ballet numbers will be included. The first by Carol Emery, is a choreographic work to the music of Stravinsky. It will be performed by Ballet Renon.

The Reno Ballet Arts Company will present two short ballets, Les Sylphides, and an original composition by Archalee Correll entitled "Harlequinade".

Barbara Creps will present two more of her works in the concert, "My favorite Things" which she will perform alone, and "Two By Two" in which she will be joined by Betty Martin.

MODERN DANCES

A modern dance composition called "The Insane" will feature dancers Dale Record, Judy Garwood, Sue Chism and Edrie Ferdun.

"A Tale of Integration" will be the final composition in the concert. The choreography was done by Dale Record, a senior modern dance major, assisted by Edrie Ferdun and Sue Chism, a former member of the San Francisco Ballet Company.

COLONEL ROBERT L. GUNDLACH, professor of military science, is awarded the 3rd Oak Leaf Cluster to the Army Commendation Medal at the 28th Annual Governor's Day held at the University. The award was presented by Major General Roy Lassetter, Jr., Commanding General XV U.S. Army Corps. The Commendation Medal was received for meritorious service at the University of Nevada during the period 17 July 1961 to 13 May 1965. In part the citation read as follows: "Colonel Gundlach's dedication and loyalty to XV U.S. Army Corps, enhanced by leadership in the civilian community, has contributed to the continuity and success of the ROTC program at the University of Nevada."

Military Awards Given In Ceremony

Military cadets of the ROTC program were rewarded for their service to the department and the university in a ceremony Tuesday on Clark Field.

Colonel Robert L. Gundlach, professor of military science, made the presentations.

Association of the U.S. Army awards went to Robert O. Adams and Charles B. Seifers. Philip C. Hanifan was awarded the Armed Forces Communications and Electronics award, and William C. Guss was the recipient of the National Rifle Association award.

The Reserve Officer Association awarded gold, silver, and bronze medals to John Fujii, Richard J. Ruby, and William F. Mann, respectively.

The Association of the US Army Military History award went to Steven J. Dawson. William Chaffin received the Mcvin Matorian. Clure Trophy, and the PMS Trophy went to Larry G. Bennett.

The Kerak Temple gold, silver, and bronze medals went to Allen K. Terkildsen, Richard D. McFarlane, and Charles L. Tates respectively.

In recognition of Mackay Day, prizes were given to the following cadets for having the best beards in their respective companies: Lee J. Kaufman, Carl Ritterby, Joe Greenstein, Ken Harrison, Mike Slagle, and Mer-

New Social Calendar Deadline Is June 3

The deadline for any club or organization to schedule events or meetings on the school social calendar for the fall semester of 1965 will be June 3rd, announced Michon Maupin, ASUN 2nd vice-president in charge of clubs and activities.

Miss Maupin said entries can be left on her desk or put under the door if the office is closed. Her office is in the Jot Travis Student Union Building.

Nevada Prof Goes To N.Y.

Dr. Ernest G. Palola, director of university institutional research and assistant professor of sociology and psychology, will be leaving the University at the end of the semester to accept a position at State University College at Cortland, New York.

At SUCC he will be assisting the president as director of institutional planning and also will be an associate professor of sociology.

Part of the work he will be doing at SUCC will be developing an academic master plan for the college, which like many other schools in New York, is making the transition from normal schools to liberal arts. Next fall the school will be accepting its first group of students under the liberal arts program.

Dr. Palola, joined the staff at the University in 1963 after teaching at the University of Washington. He received his M. S. and B. S. in psychology there and also his doctorate in sociology.

The president at the college where he will be working is the former executive vice-president of the University of Nevada, Dr. Kenneth E. Young. Dr. Young was inaugurated as president Wednesday. Regent Molly Magee presented the University at the inauguration.

Committee Set For Carillons

ASUN President Mike Ingersoll has appointed a committee to make permanent selections of the songs for the Carillon Bells in the bell-tower of Morrill Hall.

The selections are supposed to reflect campus events such as Winter Carnival, Homecoming, Mackay Day and the seasons of the year.

The committee will be composed of students, one faculty advisor and a member of the music department.

Committee members are: Michon Maupin, ASUN 2nd Vice-President, chairman; Harriet King, Rally Committee; Mike Casey, Arts and Science Senator; Dr. Otto W. Sadovsky of the Language department, and Dr. John L. Carrico of the music department.

Also on the committee is Blue Key Pledge Class President Mike Stephenson. Blue Key is in charge of bell maintenance.

Sandwich Bar Set

A sandwich bar in each of the dorms Sunday night will be the first project for the newly selected Spurs.

The sandwich bar, featuring various kinds of sandwiches, will be in each of the dorms at 9 p.m. Sunday May 23. The sandwiches will be sold for 25 cents each.

According to Kathie Goodish, Spurs president, the sandwich bar is to both raise money for Spurs and to break the monotony of studying for the students.

Loans Available

The deadline for National Defense Student Loans and Nurses Training Loans for the 1965 fall and spring semesters is August 1.

Regular students classified as either freshman, sophomore, junior or senior with a grade point of at least 2.1 are eligible to borrow up to $500 per semester, $1000 per year, or $5000 for the college career.

The loans are payable after graduation.

Opera Staged '65 Artemisia On Weekend Ready Now

An opera workshop will be presented tonight and tomorrow night under the sponsorship of the University music department. "Bastein and Bastienna", a one act opera by Mozart, and "The Medium", an American two-act opera, will be presented by students from a music class.

This is the first time an opera workshop on this campus has presented an opera in its entirety, according to Mr. Jerald Reynolds, director of the workshop.

The workshop will be held in the education auditorium at 8 p.m. General admission is $1.50, students and children $.75, and University students with I.D. cards will be admitted free.

This year's Artemisia, edited by Joyce Freeman, has been dedicated to Dean of Women Elaine Mobley in recognition of her many years of service to the University.

The 1964-65 ASUN annuals are now being distributed in the book store. They will be handed out from now until Tuesday, May 25.

Students who have attended school both semesters and paid the $17.50 fee will get the Artemisia free if I.D. cards are presented.

Those who have attended and paid for only one semester may buy a book for $3.50. Anyone else may buy a book for $7.50.

Sundowners Host NCAA Rally Today

The University of Nevada Sundowners will host a pre-baseball tournament rally today just beyond Horsemen's Park.

The rally will honor the Wolf Pack baseball team which is hosting the NCAA Regional Coast Playoff this weekend in Moana Stadium.

Everyone is invited. Refreshments will be served.

No C & K Charges Received Yet

The Friday, May 14 issue of the Sagebrush reported the charges against Coffin and Keys would appear before the Student Affairs Board no later than Monday, in an earlier statement by Jim Dabney to the Sagebrush.

Dr. Kathryn H. Duffy, associate professor of business law and real estate, and chairman of the Student Affairs Board, said Thursday the charges had never been received by the board.

"It was stated I would have the matter on my desk no later than Monday. When it didn't show up, I thought perhaps it would be there the next day. I still haven't received anything on the matter."

Dr. Duffy said it would be difficult to study the matter now, with only three more days of school left in the semester.
