Dr. Bettler, Mountaineer And Physicist, Is Rock Climber

Widely known mountaineer and research physicist, Dr. Philip C. Bettler, is the only member of the American Alpine Club in the State of Nevada. Working with a grant from the Air Force, he is doing his research with the Desert Research Institute on the "Field Emission Study of Surface Migration of Refractory Metals".

Dr. Bettler has taught mountaineering and rock climbing on the campus for the past three years. Dr. Richard Sill and he were forced to give the class up this year because of their research, physics classes, and conservation work with the Sierra Club.

Dr. Bettler is one of 500 climbers in the United States to belong to the Alpine Club. The expedition which climbed Mt. Everest in 1962 was supported by

Model UN Meet Held Here Today

The opening meeting of the Model United Nations will be held today at 3 p.m. in the Tahoe Room of the Jot Travis Student Union.

The seminar type meetings will include an objective investigation of both the United Nations and a member country.

Culmination of the meetings will be held during a main conference to be hosted by Stanford University next spring in San Francisco.

At each annual conference, over 100 colleges and universities take part, with each representing a United Nations Member Nation.

All interested persons unable to attend the meeting should contact Alerie Shinavar of the political science department. No particular qualifications are necessary.

Student Is Third Highest In Exam

Jack Curtis, senior political science major at the University of Nevada, scored the third highest grade nationally in an Ohio State University political science exam, it was announced this week.

The exam, given to 154 students in the United States, was administered to establish norms for a correspondence course to be offered by the U.S. Armed Forces Institute (USAFI).

Another Nevada student, Mrs. Beverly Hug Sharp, scored the fifth highest grade nationally. Four of the nine Nevada students taking the test placed above the 93.5 percentile in the examination on contemporary Latin America.

the Alpine club and many of the members belonged.

Dr. Bettler began his climbing while at M.I.T. with the Appalachian Mountain Climbing Club. He moved west for better climbing and while teaching at The University of California at Berkeley he made several difficult climbs in Yosemite.

In 1950 he was with a party which made several first ascents on peaks in British Columbia. The main peak in the area of Mt. Waddington, 13,260 feet high, was their goal. Although it had been climbed twice they wanted to climb it by the untried east face.

Dr. Bettler made initial first climbs in Southern California also. Joining the University staff here in 1961, he has kept up with his climbing and is interested in helping young people who would like to learn how to climb.

Asked the time honored question, "Why do you climb mountains?" he said, "To me it is just something that I wanted to do."

Elections To Roll With 19 In Running

The fall election bandwagon is rolling with 19 candidates in the running. The fall primary will be held on Wednesday, October 6, with the general election following a week later on Wednesday, October 13.

Candidates for the office of Freshman Class President are: William Waller, a Phi Sig; Mike Koizumi, an ATO; Roger Diedrichsen, an SAE; and Sigma Nu Thomas Myers.

Senior Class presidential hopefuls are: SAE Jim Baker, ATO Bennie-Ferrari, and SN Hank Williams.

Vying for the College of Business senatorial seats are: Bill Isaef, an Independent; Riley Beckett, a Sigma Nu; and two more Independents, Bruce Stephenson and Ernie Spaulding.

Sheila Dwyer, a Phi Phi; Ronda Wilson-Reid, a Tri-Delt and Barbara Cooper, an Independent, are running for the College of Education's senatorial seats. Three seats are available.

Neither of the senatorial races will have a primary.

Candidates for the office of freshman AWS Representative are: Susan Nelson, a Theta; Kay Barrett, a Tri-Delt and Delores Barcellos, a Pi Phi.

There will be no primary for the office of Off-Campus Independent AWS Representative. Candidates are Chris Garos and Melinda Anne Dallas.

Const. Change At Publication Board Meeting

The University of Nevada Publication's Board re-instated Dr. John W. Morrison, of the English department as faculty advisor at its first meeting of the year Wednesday night.

The board unanimously voted to change the Board constitution allowing a member of the faculty to serve more than two consecutive years as advisor. This will be the third consecutive year as advisor for Dr. Morrison.

Committee reports indicated that all the student publications were in good financial shape.

The board also accepted a proposal by Artemisia Business Manager, Frenie Sewell, by which the Artemisia editor would receive one-sixth of the yearly profits.

Sewell said the added incentive would cut overall costs for the year for the school annual.

The new proposal to go into effect this year, must be okayed by the ASUN Finance Control Board.

In other action, the board appointed a committee, headed by Sagebrush Business Manager, Marc Ratner to study the possibility of having a campus dark room.

Higginbotham Says Increasing Costs Are Newspaper Problems

Professor A. L. Higginbotham, chairman of the journalism department of the University of Nevada, blamed many of the problems of today's metropolitan newspapers on increasing costs in a televised interview Tuesday.

Appearing on the local news feature program, KCRL Reports, Professor Higginbotham noted that "... increasing costs of metropolitan journalism results in the consolidation of printing and publishing facilities throughout the nation."

"There are 24 major cities in the country today that have competing daily papers, completely independent of each other, setting type and printing in the same plant."

Bonnell Calls New Independent Mess Misunderstanding

By HAMPTON YOUNG
Assistant Editor

"It was just a friendly misunderstanding," according to Art Bonnell, president of the OAS (Organization for the Associated Independent Students). Bonnell was referring to the argument which arose between the Independents over the OAS constitution last week. A meeting to iron out differences was held Tuesday evening.

During the first meeting hot words arose and it was motioned the present constitution be dumped and the president impeached.

But according to Michon Maupin, ASUN second vice president, the motions were illegal under the present OAS constitution. Since it is the only recognized constitution, things must be accomplished through the framework of that constitution.

It was decided in the Tuesday meeting to simply rewrite the present constitution and submit it to Senate for approval. According to Bob Weise, chairman of the constitution revision committee, the OAS constitution is pretty ambiguous. "The purpose, under Article I, says nothing," he commented.

The new constitution, which should be finished in three weeks, must be submitted to the OAS and given one week consideration, said Weise.

A move to revise the constitution was voted on before and after the illegal move to nullify the constitution. Weise said the first movement was valid.

Dr. Joseph Lintz, faculty advisor to the OAS, was consulted, and it was decided the Independents had one of two choices: either go ahead with a new group, submit a new constitution to Senate and ask that the old be withdrawn, or revise the present OAS constitution.

Weise said the former choice would create too many problems. Bonnell said there should never be two independent groups in conflict with one another.

Members of the constitutional revision committee are: Larry Brendiman, Paul Baidwan, Steve Peek, John Lloyd, Art Bonnell, Cherie Miller, Susy Romeo and Jim Emerson.

Bonnell said there would be another press release Monday concerning the conflict.

'Eternal Retour' Is French Film

"Eternal Retour" is the second movie in the series of French film presentations at the University of Nevada to be shown Thursday, September 30, at 7:30 p.m. in room 101 of the Scrugham Engineering - Mines building.

Jean Marais and Madeleine Solagne are cast in the principal roles of this adaptation of the legend of Tristan and Isolde, set in modern times. Jean Cocteau wrote the screen play, while Jean Delannoy is the editor.

There is no charge for the series. It is being sponsored by the university's department of foreign languages in cooperation with the Alliance Francaise de Reno. The public is invited.

Recognition Forms Now Available

Student organization report forms are now available in the office of the ASUN second vice president. These forms must be filled out and returned to that office before October 15. Also to be filed with the organization report form is a current constitution and a membership list.

Organizations which fail to file these items are subject to having their recognition revoked announced ASUN Second Vice-President, Michon Maupin.

Lettermen Appear Here October 5th

The Lettermen in Concert will present Tony Butala, Jim Pike, and Bob Engemann October 5 in the new gym. These young men have already appeared at more than 350 colleges throughout the United States. This will be their first performance at the University of Nevada.

Tickets are on sale in the Travis Union Building, Room 104. Prices are $2, $2.50, and $3. The program will begin at 8 p.m. Doors will open at 7:30 p.m.

Selections will include "Granada," "Seventh Dawn Theme," "Days of Wine and Roses," "Hey Look Me Over," plus many others. Format of the program will also encompass a variety of moods.

Activities Muled

Several organizations were represented at the annual Activities Parade held in the Jot Travis Lounge Tuesday, September 28. The purpose of the parade was to give the new students a chance to join the varied clubs and organizations on the University of Nevada campus.

Taking part in the parade were: Circle K, WRA, International Club, SNEA, the Campus Christian Association, the Nevada Folk Club, and the Newman Club.

Independents Should Be Independent Organizational Problem Is Chaotic

Should an Independent unite, or should an Independent remain independent? Dissension among Independents lately and in the past would seem to indicate the latter.

The present OAIS (Organization for the Associated Independent Students) was formed in the fall of 1962. Reaction to the newly formed body was exuberant. Any unaffiliated student in good standing, whether he likes it or not, is a member.

The OAIS Executive Council was formed as a guiding body over the group. It is somewhat similar to the Interfraternity Council which guides over-all fraternity policy. Four representatives from each dorm and four off-campus representatives are on the executive council.

Interest ran high, things were rolling along smoothly until — as the first president of the OAIS, Doug Bruckner, put it — “the movement stalled.” On the eve of the group’s ratifying of the constitution over 100 interested students participated in a massive meeting in the dining commons.

Mass quibbling ensued. As Bruckner put it, “Drafting stalled the movement. It hasn’t been going since.” The long and drawn out meeting accomplished little or nothing.

The present constitution was eventually approved and approximately 10 people thereafter did all the work involved to run the organization.

A small contingent of interested Independents last week realized the movement was stalled. Placing the blame on the present constitution, they sought to have it voided. Meeting opposition, it then sought to impeach OAIS President Art Bonnell.

A splitting of the Independents was threatened. Quibbling again has slowed the movement down, although the upheaval has created some limited new interest among Independents.

That good old standby, a constitution revisal, is hoped to be the cure-all. But can a new constitution create interest in an Independent?

It is well nigh impossible to convince, coerce or plead an Independent into running for any Senate position. Their own representative body, the OAIS, cannot function well or without dissension.

As an Independent I am interested in seeing the OAIS get on its feet. But after witnessing past performances, it is doubtful that I will ever see more than a minute handful of interested Independents.

French Table Arranged At Nevada

A linguistic lunch hour has been arranged by the Department of Foreign Languages. This hour, known as French Table, will be an informal session led by one of the faculty members of the French department.

Every week interested students may bring their lunches and participate in the French discussions.

First year students’ French Table is to be held in room 218 every Tuesday at 12 o’clock. Mrs. Paule C. Fricke will lead the discussions.

Mr. Constant Prassinis will head the second year Table, which will be held every Monday at noon. The place for this discussion has not been announced.

Third year French Table will be held on Wednesdays in room 218 at noon, and will be headed by Dr. Enreid U. Bertalot.

What’s New, Pussycat?

TURKEYS TURKEYS EVERYWHERE: The social season was initiated into full swing last weekend with the Sundowner “Turkey Shoot” (where, as one Sundowner put it, “everywhere got nailed”) and the Sundowner Dance Friday night, AND the SAE Lawn Dance Saturday night — while the younger set wiggled and bounced at the armory, the oldsters were down taking in the activity at the Wal; SOME PEOPLE NEVER LEARN: ATO “Gomer” really had his hands full trying to take care of two girls at once . . . . Tri-Delt pledge Zoe Ann Catalano and SN Joe Beloso were out gazing at the stars during the dance? Oh, come on . . . . Seen jeep-hunting (?) after a spree at the Wal were Tri-Delt Mary Solaro and SAE’s John Glenn and Joe Greenstein—they didn’t find any jeeps, but they picked up some yellow blinker signs . . . . The Greek god of the Sagebrush office participated in a minor battle at the Mt. Olympus Armory—bravo! Mr. Rogich! . . . . On the subject of FRESHMEN GIRLS: the upperclassmen should take some “hustling” lessons from them—they’re really experts in action . . . .

WHO DUNNIT? Once upon a time last week a bucket of water was balanced in the doorway of SAE Jud Clark’s room. Long after bedtime at the SAE house (who am I trying to kid?) a voice could be heard in the hall, “Jud, telephone.” As poor Jud innocently opened the door—Viola!!—Swimming, anyone? . . . . Theta pledge Cici Christian celebrated her birthday with a BANG Thursday night—how she felt Friday was something else . . . .

“WHAAAAAAAAAAAA, I’M A GERBER’S BABY”: SN Bill “Gerber” Chaffin has really lost weight—you’re looking good there, old boy. From what I understand you have some new lines for the girls, and out of the 26 lines No. 12 really packs the action—good luck! . . . . HEARTBREAKING NEWS: SAE Fred Noonan and his beloved Mildred are parting—CONSOLATION: SAE John Utter and Vette are still inseparable (Mildred and Vette are cycles) . . . .

MONKEYTIME: Some senior girls have organized the “Monkey Club”, and their meeting place is the Chocolate Pit—they can’t be serious: Seniors would never meet at an ice cream parlor—the Wal . . . . or Shakey’s maybe . . . .

FATALITIES, as announced Monday night, included the engagement of Gamma Phi Romy Johnson to Ken Stender, and the pinning of Pi Phi Ginny Gilbert to SN Tom Cahill—congrats . . . . HATS OFF AGAIN: to the Theta Chi pledges for their serenade at the Tri-Delt house Monday night . . . .

MORE “MUSH MUSH”: Theta Michon-Maupin decided to cut down on liquid refreshment after an ATO date sneak, or so she said—the next night she was at Shakey’s “hookin’ em up” and playing Cardinal Puff and Thumper with a group of fellow seniors . . . . Speaking of the 3.8 Maupins; they have the brains when it comes to studies, but one could certainly use some driving lessons—right, Ernie? . . . .

TAKE HEED ALL YE SENIORS: AWS President, Robin Schoff has been setting a good example for all University women by sitting in the Wal and Shakey’s sipping ginger ale and coke—that-a-girl, Rah-rah! . . . .

THE MORNING AFTER THE NIGHT BEFORE: Not many looked too bright-eyed at the Tri-Delt-Lambda Chi social Saturday morning before the game—gee, I wonder why . . . . A WORD TO THE WISE: Those who hang “undies” out of windows, Lin Hyland, do not go unpunished . . . . PLANNING AHEAD: SAE Mike Smithwick has been getting in practice for the SAE Indian Dance in November by dating a 250 lb. squaw—ugh . . . . MILTON LOVES BUNNY . . . . We sure do miss George Nulty’s “playboy” ambulance—but due to mechanical difficulties . . . . WAS MY FACE RED! Embarrassed much Saturday night, Mr. Corkern? Next time lock the door . . . .

Bill Nicholson was so overwhelmed by my last column that he sent me a “lovely” bouquet—I’m touched . . . . Greetings to Greta.

Quorum Plus One

By MARILYN JONES

This guy came up to me while I was supervising the hanging of campaign posters on the quonset huts and asked me for my autograph. He said, “Can I have your autograph?”

Being very surprised, I said, “Wow, am I ever surprised.” Then I told him how sorry I was when I dropped a poster on his big toe because I was so surprised.

The next day I found out that I had signed a fee-waiver card concerning the Carillon Bells. If the Registrar’s office doesn’t have my autograph, then the Dean does.

A girl, carrying a plaid clipboard with a piece of purple paper on it, asked me if I would like to sign a petition for the removal of the dining commons. She said that it hadn’t yet been decided whether they would use dynamite or a small bomb. Anyway, she looked like she was suffering from malnutrition, so I signed it.

I was getting a coke in the snack bar when I bumped into this fellow I know who slapped me on the back and said “Congratulations”

I removed my chin from the ice, untangled my right fist from the coke machine faucet, and said “Why did you slap me on the back?” “I just wanted to Congratulate you,” he said.

“Thank you very much,” I said, contemplating my cold chin.

“Aren’t you going to ask why?” he asked.

“Yeah,” I replied.

“Well, since you insist,” he insisted. “I am now in the running for an ASUN office, and when I get in, I shall be representing you, as an ASUN member, and I would like to take this opportunity to express . . . .”

“Certainly,” I said, “time is a relative thing. As a matter of fact, I was just reading Shakespeare’s theory on the relativity of Time and Space. Have you read it?”

“Of course,” he replied, and left me standing there rubbing my cold chin.

Meantime, I heard about this new thing I could sign up for and was all jazzed because I loved to sign up for things. I finally found a Sundowner and signed up for the Beaver Bowl that will be held October 29th.

SNEA Meet Held Wed.

The first meeting of the Student National Education Association for the Fall Semester was held Wednesday evening in the Card Room of the Student Union. SNEA has planned to enlarge its Nevada organization by starting a recruiting campaign.

Betty Branche, president of the University of Nevada chapter of SNEA, will begin new and diversified activities to bring the state organization closer to teaching. This will also stimulate interest in teaching in Nevada.

Miss Branche, who is also the state president of SNEA, represented Nevada at the National Convention. She said she was impressed with the national enthusiasm shown for the association.

PTO Will Host Meeting In Union

The Professional Teachers Organization at the University of Nevada will host a meeting today at 3 p.m. in the Travis Lounge of the Student Union.

Anyone wishing to join the group is invited to attend the meeting, which will be held to nominate and elect officers for the new year.

Arrows Are Left

Was it some absent-minded Robin Hood in the English Department?

In any event, someone left a full set of arrows in Dr. Hettich’s office. The arrows are still there, so if anybody sees a partially-armed longbowman on campus, tell him his arrows are in room 101 of Frandsen Humanities.

Moon And Mars Photographs Will Be Displayed Here

Photographs of the moon and Mars are now on display on the main floor of the Mackay Science Building.

The photographs, ranked as some of the most remarkable of this age, includes similarity points of both Mars and the moon.

The similarity is the most important factor revealed by the Mars photographs, and according to scientists that took the pictures, will “profoundly affect scientific views about the origin and evolution of planetary bodies in the solar system.”

Annual Speech Seminar Held

The second annual Sierra Seminar for speech and hearing was held last summer at the home of Dr. Bernard A. Anderson, director of the speech and hearing clinic at the University of Nevada.

The theme for the 3-day affair was, "Planning of the Hearing Program for Nevada". Dr. Anderson organized the colloquium under the sponsorship of the General University Extension Service.

Special guests attending were Dr. Hayes A. Newby, past president of the American Speech and Hearing Association and director of the speech pathology and audiology division at Stanford University; Dr. John Wiley, speech pathologist and audiologist at Indiana University and a summer session faculty member at U. of N.; Dr. John Brophy, otologist; and William Morris, hearing-aid audiologist, both from Reno.

Participating in the seminar were Dr. Charlotte Cleeland and Mrs. Marjorie Hayden, Public Health Service; Tom Murdock, division of special education; Mrs. Gwen Overton, supervisor of the Society for Crippled Children and Adults summer clinic at the U. of N.; Mrs. Dawn Salisbury, Mrs. Elizabeth Johnson, Mrs. Lo Ren Howell, and Mrs. Nilsine Hansen of the Reno Public Schools; Mrs. Carolyn Messick, Miss Ann Lewis and U. S. Smith.

Sigma Delta Chi Prepares For New Student Directory

If that cute little freshman gal you met last week has been holding out on her address and phone number, don't yet despair. Sigma Delta Chi will soon come to your aid.

Sigma Delta Chi is not generally known as a match-making organization or a lonely hearts club but it does have her phone number. It also has her address and can tell you what class she is in. And more, it has this information on every student on the campus.

All this information will be released soon by the campus chapter of the professional journalists society in the 1965-66 Student Directory which is published annually as a campus aide.

The directory is a fund raising project undertaken by Sigma Delta Chi under arrangement with the University Publications Board and co-sponsored by the ASUN. Under the publishing arrangement, the two groups share in the advertising revenue raised from the sale of display advertising space in the booklet.

According to Tim Ennor, president of the University of Nevada campus chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, funds raised from the directory for his group are used to finance fraternity functions including banquets and trips, such as the upcoming national convention to be held in Los Angeles in November.

The Student Directory began as an annual publication in 1959 and has continued since, to be one of the most widely used campus publications.

It is distributed free to all university students and faculty members.

Physics Seminar Set For Thursday

The physics department of the University of Nevada holds a seminar each Thursday at 4 p.m. in Mackay Science Hall. The seminars are given by visiting scientists, graduate students or members of the faculty.

Last Thursday the department heard Dr. Michael Drechsler of the Fritz-Haber Institute in Berlin, Germany, as the guest speaker. He spoke on "Surface Energy of Metal Single Crystal Faces" and "Measurement of the Heat of Absorption on Single Crystal Faces with the Field Microscope."

Dr. Drechsler had been attending a scientific conference at Pennsylvania State University. On his way to San Francisco he visited the local physics department and gave the seminar.

John Williamson, a graduate student, gave a seminar on "An Analysis of Control System Stability."

Sundae Social In Juniper Tomorrow

A Sundae Social will be held in Juniper Hall tomorrow. Juniper women and their dates will whip up ice-cream sundaes from various toppings and ice-creams.

The social will last from 2 to 5 p.m.

Entertainment will be provided by records.

Iranians Visit Nevada To Study Electronics

By CANDY McGIMSEY

Eight Iranian students stationed at Stead Air Force Base for two months or less visited the university campus last week. Each is studying electronics for application in his own country. The tour was led by Mr. Jack Selbig, Foreign Student Advisor.

The first building visited was Mackay Science where they saw heating and freezing labs, a still used to purify water, and a "pickle barrel" reactor, used mainly as a teaching device.

The second stop was the Engineering Building. Dr. George E. Sutton led the tour and explained the department is working with the Navy on missile packaging. He showed the students many labs including the vibrations, fuels, lubricants and heat transference labs. The students were especially interested in the Engineering Masters Program and many of them hope to return to study.

The tour ended at the Jot Travis Union for the International Club meeting.

One of the students, Ali-A-Ah hamkhani, returned September 25 to his family in Iran. He will take an exam to enter a military academy. If accepted, he will remain a cadet for three years and be a second Lieutenant upon graduation.

The students liked the United States because the people "are extremely friendly and will discuss any subject."

The typical comment on the American teenager came from Vali Amani. . ., "crazy". He feels the American people have a deep sense of national duty, which is appreciated and respected throughout the world.

The students feel that the lessening of morals is hurting the United States in that Iran men and women do not date alone and can not get married unless the parents agree. Teenagers can not have girl or boy friends. The general opinion is that students do not work for, or appreciate what they have in this country.

Another student, Brahimi Mohamed, from Morocco, feels that students would enjoy visiting his country because of the warm weather and sports opportunities. College students get paid around $18 per month for attending school.

In general, the students were impressed with the American people and they would like to return to the United States.

Resource Majors To Hold Meet

The first meeting of Renewable Natural Resource majors will be held Tuesday, Oct. 5 at 7 p.m. in room 214 of the Fleischmann Agriculture building, Dr. Clarence M. Skau, associate professor in watershed management, announced this week.

RNR majors will be asked to gather in the conference room to organize for the new school year. Among business scheduled to be conducted is the selection of a name for the informal student organization of RNR majors. Also, officers will be elected.

A theme for an RNR entry in the October 30 Homecoming parade and committees for building the float will be worked out at the organizational meeting.

IT'S NOT HARD to figure that things weren't going so well for the Wolf Pack at this stage of the game as members of the University of Nevada Band look extremely disgruntled. Either that, or the music just didn't sound right to the fellow with the trombone, or the lady with the coke.

Wolf Pack Faces Tough Foe As Gauchos Invade Mackay Tomorrow

It should be a battle of defense tomorrow when the University of California at Santa Barbara Gauchos invade Mackay Stadium at 2 p.m. to meet the University of Nevada Wolf Pack.

Santa Barbara comes to town with a 2-0 record having defeated San Fernando Valley State College, 20-0 and Redlands University, 47-0. Nevada has a 0-2 record having been beaten by Long Beach State and Willamette University.

The Gauchos have 19 returning lettermen back this year as well as a few sophomores from last season's undefeated freshmen team.

One of these sophomores is quarterback Mike Hitchman. Gaucho coach, Jack Curtice, calls Hitchman "the finest quarterback he has had since Dick Norman at Stanford." Senior Bob Heys, from South Tahoe, will share the quarterbacking with Hitchman.

Wolf Pack quarterback, sophomore Chris Ault, led the Far Western Conference last week with 12 completions in 20 tries against Long Beach State. On the season he has 19 for 35 with 116 yards gained.

Fullback Joe Sobeck is the top Nevada ball carrier with 116 yards in 33 carries for a 3.5 average.

It will be fullback Jim Orear and halfback Bob Blindbury who will provide the ground attack for Santa Barbara.

Coach Dick Trachok said that his young players have done well. The defense was outstanding in last week's "heart-breaker" against Willamette.

Probable starting line-ups are as follows:

Intramurals May Slate Some Boxing

Intramural boxing may become a reality in this year's Intramural schedule.

The question of making boxing an intramural sport was raised last year when interested students made a survey of the fraternities on campus and found 100 per cent agreement in favor of the sport. However at the intramural scheduling meeting held last June, the committee decided to wait until this year to see whether the student body interest was still in favor of the sport.

If the majority of the student body is in favor of having boxing as part of the intramural schedule, it will be entered as part of "Intramural Night" and intramural points will be given to competing organizations.

Head of intramurals, Lee Newell, said "If it is in the interest of the majority of the student body, and properly supervised, we will make it part of the intramural activity."

Another survey will be made prior to boxing season to decide the fate of the sport as an intramural function.

Work-Study Program Now On Campus

The Economic Opportunity Act of 1964 has established a Work-Study Program at the Reno campus of the University of Nevada. Its goal is to give needed financial assistance while letting the student gain knowledge and experience in his field of study.

To be eligible a student must be a citizen from a low income (or no) family who can prove he needs the money to start or continue his study at the university. The student must be able to work and study at the same time.

Legal permission of a parent or guardian is not required but all students, regardless of age or marital status, must give specific information regarding their parents.

It is the student's duty to ask for meaningful work in his field of study, and the department head's duty to be sure the student gains some knowledge from his work.

Strong Cross Country Team Hosts Wildcats Tomorrow

The strong University of Nevada cross country team will host its second opponent of the year tomorrow when it meets the Chico State College Wildcats at the University of Nevada.

The meet will be held at the new Panther Valley cross country course beginning at 11:30 a.m.

The mile high Panther Valley course has been lengthened to 4.5 miles for tomorrow's meet making it the longest course in the conference. The new course is the sight of last week's overwhelming victory over Willamette University.

Competing for first place honors for the Wolf Pack will be Mark Winne, Steve Valle, Frank Lemus, Don McCarthy, and Mike Sorenson.

Last week the Wolf Pack placed in the first seven positions against the Willamette University Bear Cats to score a 50-15 victory.

Nevada is favored to win tomorrow's meet. "Chico has a fine sophomore runner who was the third best miler in the conference last year and should prove to be rough competition for our boys," said coach Dick Dankworth, "but we have strong runners and should win tomorrow's meet."

The Wolf Pack has a total of 9 meets this year ending with the N.S.A.A. regionals at Santa Barbara.

The schedule is as follows:
Chico State—Oct. 2
Sonoma State—Oct 9
California Aggies—Oct 6
Humboldt State—Oct 23
Calif. State-Hayward—Oct. 30
San Francisco State—Nov. 6
Sacramento State—Nov. 13
F.W.C. Championships—Nov. 20
N.C.A.A. Regionals—Nov. 25

SAE Overwhelms PSK In Baseball

Sigma Alpha Epsilon overwhelmed Phi Sigma Kappa in the opening game of the intramural baseball season with a score of 11-0.

SAE pitchers Bud Olson and Bruce Wallace did not allow a man on base and struck out every Phi Sig batter, to make the season's opener a perfect no hit, no run game. The final score was SAE-11, Phi Sigma Kappa-0.

The SAEs will play their second game of the season next week against Alpha Tau Omega fraternity.

Kinnear Trophy Awarded Annually To Highest Living Group In Intramurals

Many new students on the University of Nevada campus are unfamiliar with the Kinnear Trophy, a copper mug-like object to be awarded annually to the living group which has piled up the largest number of points in various intramural sports.

Points are awarded for each win in different events. To be eligible for the trophy, however, each group must compete in every sport available in intramural activity. The names of the winning groups are shown on small plates attached to the actual trophy.

In 1933 Mr. Jack Kinnear, then the General Manager of Kennecott Copper Corporation in McGill Nevada, decided to try to foster sportsmanship, fair play, and team work on the Nevada campus. He saw an opportunity to bring about competitive spirit between fraternities and independents, and a means to determine which campus group excelled in sporting events each year.

Competition for the trophy and the prestige behind it went on from 1933 to 1953. At that time it mysteriously disappeared and was never recovered.

Some thought it taken by an independent group. Others said a fraternity. Still others think it is on the bottom of Manzanita Lake. In any event, in 1953 the University of Nevada petitioned Mr. Jack Kinnear, the donor of the original trophy, to contribute a substitute trophy. Kinnear agreed and donated an exact duplicate of the first one.

Competition for the second Kinnear Trophy went on from 1953 to 1962. At this time the second trophy vanished too.

The new trophy still remains with the University of Nevada.

Newman Club To Meet Wednesdays

John Osse, president of the University of Nevada Newman Club announced the organization would meet in the future, every Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at the Newman Center.

The next meeting of the club will be held Oct. 6.

From the End of the Bench

By GREGG ZIVE

It looked like omens of good things last week until the last few minutes of the game against Willamette. However these omens are still with us even though the game was lost. The young players seem to be gaining maturity and poise while the more experienced players are playing better than ever before. If the offense can click tomorrow afternoon, the game with Santa Barbara could be the Wolf Pack's first victory. The Gauchos are tough. They have not allowed a point to be scored against them in two games while scoring 67 themselves. It is going to be a rough one, but Nevada has a good chance to come out on the long end of the score.

Athletic Director Glenn (Jake) Lawlor had nothing but praise for the students. He said that last week's attendance was the largest he has seen in several years. It is a good feeling to be able to write a compliment for attendance at a game and the spirit showed there, instead of urging people to show up and support the team. Congrats and let's keep it up.

Jeff McEachron, freshman, is the first golfer to receive a waiver for his sport in the history of the school. The Lambda Chi pledge is the son of former Nevada football coach Gordon McEachron.

The freshman football team will open their season next Friday night at Chico State. Coaches Bob Donlon, Bernie Cotton and Bob Schebler started running the frosh through their paces three weeks ago.

On the basketball scene Larry Moore, senior forward, said that if the Wolf Pack did not win the conference this year he would never touch a basketball again. In this writer's opinion and judging by returning lettermen, he should be playing a lot of basketball following this March.

In the mistake department: Guard George Schoenberger's name was omitted by mistake in last week's column on basketball returnees. He is back and ready to start playing. Sorry.

Concerts In Fine Arts This Year

Voice and instrumental soloists, as well as various choir groups, will perform in concert this year at the University's Fine Arts building. The Music Department has announced the following concert schedule for the school year.

The first of these concerts will be on October 17 at 4 p.m. when Dr. Ronald R. Williams, associate professor of music, presents a piano recital.

The schedule for the remainder of the year is as follows:

November 7—University's Symphonic Choir and Orchestra performs Mendelssohn's oratorio "St. Paul".

November 21—Violin Recital by Yoko Abe, graduate student in music.

December 19—"The Messiah". January 15—Opera scenes by the Opera Workshop.

February 9—Voice recital by Mr. Delmar Graf, tenor, assistant professor.

February 13—Chamber Music Concert.

March 23—Piano recital by Mr. Ely Haimowitz, assistant professor.

May 4—University Community Symphony, under the direction of Dr. Harold Goddard, associate professor of music.

May 8—University of Nevada Singers, under the direction of Dr. W. Keith Macy, chairman of music department.

A New Sound And Schedule To Be Slated For University Educational Radio Station

KUNR-FM, the University of Nevada educational radio station, will have a new sound shortly. Mr. Roger Ashworth, who has recently been hired as the new director of radio and television in the Audio-Visual Department of the university, plans to change the program schedule and program content.

Music programs will still make up the basic format of the station, but will be more varied in program content. The station broadcasts from the Church Fine Arts Building Monday through Friday from 4 p.m. to 11 p.m. and on Sunday from 2 p.m. to 9 p.m. Ashworth says that his eventual aim for the station is to make it truly an educational medium. "Renewed interest in the station by both faculty and students is the key to gaining this aim," according to Ashworth. As a first step in that direction a program on speech is now in the preparation stage and should be broadcast soon.

CLOSED T.V.

Closed circuit television within the Scrumham Engineering Building will also be Ashworth's responsibility.

At the present time, the system is wired into 27 classrooms within the building and there are plans to include rooms in other buildings on campus at a later date.

Two television cameras are used to telecast images either from the studio, from remote pick-up points on campus, or from films into any or all of the classrooms in the system. Ashworth hopes to be able to enlarge the studio area and add video tape facilities in the near future.

Video tape is similar to audio tape used on a home tape recorder except that it carries pictures as well as sound.

Ashworth comes to the University with six years experience in commercial and educational radio and television. He was affiliated with the educational radio and television station at Marshall University in Huntington, West Virginia, where he also attended classes.

Ashworth takes the place of Mr. Jerry Robinson who is now in training at the U.S. Air Force Helicopter Pilot's School.

Professor Elected Honor Society Veep

A professor in the Mackay School of Mines has been elected western regional vice-president of Phi Kappa Phi, national scholastic honor society. John N. Butler, professor of metallurgy in the school of mines, was named to the office at the 25th national meeting of the society held recently in Corvallis, Oregon.

Professor Butler, a faculty member and research metallurgist in the school of mines since 1952, is the first member of the local chapter of Phi Kappa Phi to be elected to a national office. In his capacity as western regional vice-president, he will be in charge of coordinating the activities of 23 society chapters in eight western states, Hawaii and the Philippines.

The Nevada chapter, organized in 1912 as the sixth chapter of the society, has a present membership of about 175 students and faculty members.

Nursing Senatorial Post Remains Open

Noted Home Econ Associate Visits

Dr. Ruth Hall, president of the American Home Economics Association, will visit the University of Nevada September 27-28.

Dr. Hall will address home economics majors on Monday and Tuesday, and will speak at the Nevada Home Economics Association meeting on September 27 at 6:30 p.m. in the home economics building.

In addition to her responsibilities as A.H.E.A. president, Dr. Hall is an advisor for the Colorado Heart Association, and a member of the program planning committee for the Arizona Heart Association.

Last year, Dr. Hall was chairman of the division of home economics, Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges. She is dean of home economics at the University of Arizona in Tucson.

Archaeology Society Will Hold Annual Meeting Here

The Society for American Archaeology has accepted an invitation extended by President Charles J. Armstrong of the University of Nevada to hold its 31st annual meeting on the Reno campus May 5-7, 1966. This will be the first time the national scientific organization has met so far west.

The meet is said to constitute a recognition of the rapidly developing program in cultural anthropology and archaeology."

Dr. Wilbur A. Davis, Assistant Professor of Anthropology at the University and Research Anthropologist at the Nevada State Museum has been named Conference Chairman in charge of local arrangements. Dr. Davis was cited as the reason the Society accepted the invitation to hold its meeting here.

Dr. Don D. Fowler of the Department of Sociology and Anthropology has been appointed as Program Chairman. Wayne Martin of General University Extension will assist Dr. Davis in the extensive arrangements for hosting more than 500 archaeologists and other scientists from the nation and other countries. The Desert Research Institute is acting as co-sponsor for the meeting and is providing financial support.

WORLD FIGURES

The meeting brings together archaeologists from all over the world. Archaeologists of the United States are the major participants, but Canadian, Mexican, and South American archaeologists also attend, and from time to time old world archaeologists have participated.

The President of the Society for American Archaeology is Dr. Paul S. Martin, Chief Curator, Department of Anthropology, Chicago Natural History Museum.

Dr. Martin is a well known specialist in southwestern United States archaeology and has also made major contributions in the study of Mayan archaeology of Central America. He is noted for a publication in collaboration with George Quimby and Donald Collier, "Indians Before Columbus," which is a standard school text.

The President Elect for 1966 is Dr. Joe Ben Wheat who is curator of Anthropology at the Museum of the University of Colorado, Boulder, Colorado, and Associate Professor of Natural History. Dr. Wheat has worked extensively in the southwest and is noted for his contributions of archaeological studies in Texas, Colorado, and the Pueblo area.

SPECIAL SESSIONS

The 31st annual meeting of the Society for American Archaeology is divided into sessions dealing with special problems in archaeological regions of North America and South America, and professional papers given at the meeting may be published in the Society's journal, "American Antiquity." The meetings are open to all members and nonmembers of the society.

Plans are being made to hold the biennial meeting of the Great Basin Anthropological Conference jointly with these meetings of the Society for American Archaeology.

It is hoped that a large number of participants at the Great Basin Conference will present papers and discussions concerning new ethnological and archaeological research in the Great Basin region.

The collected papers of the 1964 Great Basin Anthropological Conference are being published in the fall of this year by the Desert Research Institute of the University of Nevada.

Business Fraternity Gets Candidates

The candidates were sophomore Riley Beckett and senior Bruce Stevenson.

The business fraternity also made plans for pledging new business majors into Delta Sigma Phi.

Results From Play Tryouts Are Announced

Results of the tryouts for the play "The Madwoman of Chaillot" were announced Tuesday by Prof. Robert E. Ericson, director of the University Theatre.

The main character, the "Madwoman of Chaillot," is Kathy Vandershoot. Leading supporting roles are Ruby Reynolds as Josephine, the Madwoman of La Concorde; Barbara Manning as Constance, the Madwoman of Passy; and Michele Sheppard as Gabrielle, the Madwoman of St. Sulpice. Leading male supporting roles are the broker and the sewer-man, both portrayed by John Gascue; the ragpicker, Mike Thompson; and Pierre, John MacDonald.

Others in the cast are Milan Melvin, Maurice Beesley (also student director), Ralf Kuehnert, Ed Lanigar, Greg Artman, John Chadwick, Doug Copsey, Bob Brady, Roy Maxion, Richard Stewart, Barbara Hampton, Vivian Tennent, Lyn Armbruster, Linda Barrett, Charlene Roberts, and Trudy McMahon.

The comedy, written by Jean Giraudoux, will be presented November 5, 6, 11, 12, and 13 in the Church Fine Arts Building Theatre.

"We are still in need of some student actors to fill some non-speaking roles and a person (male or female) who can juggle well," stated Prof. Ericson.

Interested students may contact him in the Fine Arts Building in room 146.

FINES INCREASE WITH MEASURE

New Traffic Code Revisions Take Effect Immediately

Revisions to the campus traffic code are now in effect. Students are reminded to park in designated 'A' parking zones regardless of the permit for the vehicle. A student, for example, whose parent is a faculty member must park in A parking although he may have a Zone 'B' permit on the car.

Minor and major violations are cited at a fee of $1.00 and $5.00 respectively.

If a student feels that he has been unjustly cited, he may appeal to the Traffic and Parking

Board. The Board of five members, set up by the President, represents students, non-academic staff and faculty. A written appeal must be made within five days of citation date to the Traffic and Parking Board in care of the Physical Plant.

Appeals made past this deadline will not be considered.

This year stickers must be put on front and back bumpers on the driver's side.

Students are advised to get a copy of the revised traffic code in the Chief Engineers' office.

Botany Students To Tour Campus

University of Nevada students and faculty may have noticed that in recent afternoons, groups of organized students have been taking to the bushes of the campus.

The expeditions of these groups have been going on for 7-8 years now, ever since Dr. Hugh H. Monzingo, associate professor of biology, came to the department. Each semester botany students and their instructors tour the campus analyzing the trees, of which there is an excellent cross-section says Dr. Keith R. Price, assistant professor of biology.

Both native Nevada trees and trees not common to the Western region have been raised on the campus, so students find a wide variety of specimens to use their skill in determining what kind of tree they are looking at. In this process, they use either the summer or winter "Key to the Trees on the University of Nevada Campus," written by Dr. Monzingo.

In using the key, students note the veins in leaves, tree barks, and the texture of the leaf itself. The key which helps them discover the names of the trees was written by Dr. Monzingo with the aid of a booklet entitled "Nevada Trees" by W. D. Billings, who was an assistant professor of biology at the University of Nevada. Both the 1945 and the 1954 editions of the booklet were drawn upon when Dr. Monzingo authored the key, which is now becoming a traditional item in botany.

Social Forms

The social form listing of available bands, chaperones, and places for student activities is ready, announced ASUN Second Vice-President Michon Maupin.

The social form was prepared by the second vice-president's office in order to help campus organizations plan social functions.

These forms may be picked up anytime in the second vice-president's office.

Robertson Speaks

Due to a conflict in scheduling, Bob Robertson of the Nevada Citizens Committee, was unable to speak on campus last night. However, he will be on campus October 14, to discuss the Taft-Hartley Act, Section 14(B), the "Right to Work" law.

Robertson will speak in the Jot Travis lounge at 8 p.m.

Travel File

A travel file has been started in the ASUN second vice-president's office. All students who have traveled during the summer are urged to write about their experiences and leave a record for this file. Information is especially needed on travel expenses, lodgings, and modes of travel.

Independent Meet

A meeting of all off-campus Independent women will be held Wednesday, October 6, at 12 noon in the Tahoe room of the Jot Travis Student Union for the purpose of electing a homecoming queen candidate.
