Abstract Expression Painting Topic At Recent Art Forum

A painting should be the result of the artist's "encounter with the canvas," said William V. Howard, professor of the art department, in a recent talk to the Art Forum.

Abstract expressions, and the painting of the 1940's and '50's was the subject discussed in the Forum last week.

Howard chose the art of the 1950's to discuss because he "wants to cause some interest, understanding, and enthusiasm in the period." The abstract expressionist painting was once the avant-garde of art, said Howard, but the 1960's brought on a new style of art.

Pop art, op art, and "cop art" have replaced the earlier style of painting, said Howard. He explained pop art is the repetition of common objects, but is elevated to art. Op art concentrates upon the effect of the canvas on the viewer's eye. It does unusual things to canvas.

The third type of new art, "cop art," is the "kind that brings the cops in as soon as it is placed in the gallery."

All the advanced art of the 1950's, stated Howard, was called the "New York School" of art. It caused New York to replace Paris as the art center of the world.

Colored slides of several of the works of prominent painters were then shown. Nearly all of the

Dean M. J. Elmore On National Board

Dr. Marjorie J. Elmore, dean of the Orvis School of Nursing, is in New York this week serving on a national board.

Dr. Elmore is attending a meeting of the National League for Nursing's Board of Review. The Board reviews all applications for accreditation of baccalaureate, masters, and doctoral programs in nursing. Programs of universities throughout the United States are reviewed every eight years.

During the week-long meeting, Dr. Elmore will help judge programs on the basis of findings submitted by delegated committees.

One of the programs being evaluated is from a committee which reviewed Montana State University. Dean Elmore served on that committee earlier this year.

In the future, Dean Elmore will serve on another committee which will evaluate the University of Iowa.

Nevada's program was last accredited by the Board in 1963.

paintings of this school were large, since size was important to them. One painting, entitled, "Red, White, and Brown" is 99" x 89".

Howard pointed out that "honest American art is mostly a triumph of individuals who have painted against the prevailing style." Creativity, he noted, is often shown by a break with tradition.

Discussion followed Howard's talk, the main problem debated being, when should the artist break with his traditional learning?

Howard felt that the break could be made whenever the student felt he was prepared for it, but emphasized that traditional learning is also important.

NSF Grant For Study Of Earthquakes

The possibility of earthquake forecasting and radiometric dating will be studied by the Mackay School of Mines, under a three-fold research program financed by a $175,000 National Science Foundation grant.

The project is to cover the study of active geological structures in the Basin and Range province of Nevada and adjacent states.

University seismologist, Prof. Alan S. Ryall, and Prof. David B. Slemmons of the geology and geography department, will head the study.

Three types of measuring processes will be used in an effort to determine if it will be possible in the future to predict major earthquake activity.

For field studies, new detecting instruments will be built to supplement a mobile tape-recording system, constructed by the seismology lab, to take readings on known areas of seismic activity in Nevada.

They will enable the researchers to get readings in as many as ten directions simultaneously to pinpoint tremors.

These will be augmented by the installation of several ultra-sensitive strain and tilt measuring devices. The instruments will be able to measure minute movement in near-surface rock formations.

The radiometric dating system will determine the age of active faults in the region by measuring the amount of argon that has been produced in the rock by the decay of radioactive potassium.

Public Relations Committee Gives SNCC Standing

Friends of SNCC was officially recognized as a campus organization by the Public Relations committee Monday Nov. 29. The committee is an ASUN governing body composed of upperclassmen. The committee's decision was unanimous.

SNCC, "Snick," is an abbreviation for Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee, a national organization.

Dr. Ruth Russell, advisor to the board, said there was nothing in the group's conduct that should stop it from becoming a campus organization. "If our democratic system is to function, this group has every right to be on campus," Dr. Russell said.

As a consequence of Friends of SNCC's recognition, Dr. Russell pointed out, it would now be under the same regulations that govern all campus organizations. Before, she said, there was no regulation of Friends of SNCC.

Married Men May Be Next

Married men without any other dependents may possibly be called by the Selective Service System in December "and probably will start being called" in January, said Colonel A. A. Millard, director of the system in Nevada.

This will be caused by the increasing needs of the Armed Forces due to the war in Viet Nam.

The law requires the local draft boards to call delinquents first and then to induct volunteers. Then single men are called, and fourth, married men.

Robert McNamara, Secretary of Defense, said last week that the 161,000 fighting men the United States now has in Viet Nam may be increased to 250,000 by next spring and as many as 400,000 by late 1966.

Civic Fund Tables Located In Union

Tables for the Viet Nam Civic Fund Drive will be set up in the basement of the Student Union on Thursday December 9th, for the purpose of obtaining the signatures of those students wishing to relinquish the money from their meal contract cards on December 17th in support of the drive.

All money obtained from the drive will be sent directly to CARE which will in turn use the funds for packages for the people of South Viet Nam.

Students Scheduled To Vote On Fee Raise December 15

Students will vote on the Student Union fee raise December 15. The proposed fee raise of $2.50 is supported by Senate, and endorsed by the President's cabinet.

When the Jot Travis Union opened in 1958 it was free of mortgage payments because the State of Nevada matched dollar for dollar with the sizable estate left to the university by Jot Travis. It is one of the few student unions in the nation to open "in the black."

For several years heat, light, power and some supplies were paid for by the university. This is no longer the case.

Estimated cost to maintain the union building — student help, supplies, heat, light and power — for the 1965-66 fiscal year is $43,735. Total estimated budget, including revenue from guest rooms, vending machines and union fees is $49,900, leaving $6,165 for the union-sponsored events, including entertainment, lectures, and exhibits.

"With the increase in the student body, the present union fee will not be adequate in the near future if students expect name entertainers and a top lecture series to continue, as well as to use student union building facilities," said Tony Oxborrow, Union Board President.

"You and I will be long gone by the time increased funds will be of value to the student body, but a long range program must be started now as it cannot be put off any longer. We as students must assume the responsibility for the benefit of those to follow, just as we are benefiting from the students in the past who paid the fee for years without a union building," said Oxborrow, student union board president.

For more extensive information, the Student Union Board of Directors has compiled a fact sheet on the fee raise proposal. It is available in room 104 of the student union building. Questions concerning the fee raise can be answered by any union board member.

County Agents Join Nevada Staff In Annual Aggie Conference This Week

County agents of the College of Agriculture's statewide extension service are on campus this week, joining with the staff of the college in attending the 1965 Max C. Fleischmann College of Agriculture Annual Conference. Approximately 125 persons are attending the three-day conference being held in the Jot Travis Lounge.

Following the opening of the conference yesterday at noon, Chancellor N. Edd Miller spoke on "Duties of a Chancellor, or, Why a Chancellor?"

Guest speaker this morning was Dr. Douglas L. Gilbert, chairman of Wildlife Management at Colorado State University. Symposi-ums, discussion groups and tours of the agriculture facilities rounded out the day.

Personnel from the extension service of the Sarah H. Fleischmann School of Home Economics held discussions and group sessions in conjunction with the agriculture conference.

Brushfire Meeting

The Brushfire, campus literary magazine, is accepting student material. Articles should be submitted to Maurice Beesley, Brushfire editor, or mailed to the English Department. Material may also be sent to the ASUN office in the Student Union. The staff will meet tomorrow at 8 p.m. in the East West Room.

The conference will close at noon on Thursday, following speeches on "Re-apportionment-Its Affect on Agricultural Community Groups" by Ray Knisley, assemblyman from Pershing County, and Norman Glaser, assemblyman from Elko County.

Program chairman for the conference is Henry M. Kirkpatrick, range and pasture specialist in the agriculture extension service.

Decoration Slated For Juniper Hall

"Deck the halls with boughs of holly" is exactly what the women of Juniper Hall will attempt to do tomorrow at their Decorating Party.

Girls and their dates are invited to come between 8 and 11 p.m. to help decorate the fourteen-foot Christmas tree, have cookies and cocoa, or just watch the festivities.

During the evening the windows facing the lake will be transformed into "stained glass" windows. A fireplace will appear, and various bouquets and table decoration will work together to give a holiday appearance.

Girls will be able to participate in the decorating until eleven o'clock, but their dates must leave by the girls' sign-in time.

This event introduces the holiday season and various activities.

Proposed Student Union Fee Raise Needed For Continued Board Success

On December 15 the Jot Travis Student Union proposed $2.50 fee raise will be decided by members of the ASUN.

The raise, a necessity for continued union board operations, must receive the support of two-thirds of all voters. Last year, of approximately 300 that voted, the new amendment failed to receive such support by seven votes.

Student Union maintenance and operating costs amount to $43,735 of the $49,900 budget. The remaining $6,165 must be divided among the lectures program, publicity, hospitality committee, movie committee, house committee, subsidy programs, public occasions, special events, activity calendar, and general finances.

Lectures, an essential part of university education, have been presented by such speakers as Drew Pearson, Melvin Belli, Governor Nelson Rockefeller and Barry Goldwater.

The free presentations are all made available through the efforts of the Union Board Lectures Committee.

Advertising for union board events including radio and television coverage and posters and newspaper publicity must be maintained by the union board which works on a limited budget.

The Friday TGIF coffee and song, a union board presentation, costs approximately $25 each week. Hospitality Committee members who are responsible for the TGIF success, also greet visiting dignitaries to the Nevada campus.

Special events have decreased somewhat due to lack of student support and the high cost of entertainment. The board, if unable to profit from the entertainment, must expect to spend an additional amount of funds for lighting, seating arrangements, and occasional piano tuning.

Film presentations, free to students and faculty, average $40 to $80 per film, while Film Classics may run as high as $200.

The Public Occassion Board presentations, including "In White America," Tom Lee and Sam Hinto, were also free to students and faculty.

The Student Union activities calendar, furniture and arrangements, and building additions must be maintained by the union board.

The future success of these activities depends upon student support next Wednesday.

Votes may be cast in the Student Union. Vote "YES" for the future. The need is evident. And the University will be assured of a fine Student Union program.

What's New Pussycat?

ICE SKATING, ANYONE? Manzanita has frozen over and the skating bugs spinning and crashing are quite a sight. One poor soul, rumored to have been SN pledge Richard DuChene although he strongly denies it, went zipping a little too close to the thin ice Monday afternoon and sank in waist high. He then groveled his way over to Kess Island where he attempted to exit from the other side. As our hero was on all fours trying to get across the thin ice, it cracked and in seconds he was submerged neck deep using a little "free speech"—funny, I haven't seen him out there since . . . Speaking of ice-on-things, SN Fran Menante is treading on very thin ice, girl-wise . . .

BOUQUETS to Marilyn Jones, a thinking girl who practices good taste as well as common sense, for her outstanding column Friday . . .

A BLOODY BLAST: Much blood was shed when the Lambda Chi pledges ulayed football against the actives and lost 26-0. Among the "injured" were Tom McFall with a bloody nose, and pledge Bill McGloughlin was elbowed in the eye . . . A case of another bloody nose at the ATO Xmas dance when ATO Bill Houk and Pi Phi Pat Precissi were playing 'flinchies', and Pat's fist came a wee bit too close trying to convince Bill he should . . .

The girls in the "IN" crowd no longer have to make their monthly treks to Southern California to have their hair done with Deane . . . Two Lamb Chops recently announced their engagements: Greg Zive to Franny Forsman, and Tony Vickers to Gamma Phi Ann White. Also, announced was the engagement of Denny Mandell to Kathy Blaikie . . .

I WILL SAY that Greg Artman, Phi Sig inactive, is a walking example of what he believes; he believes people wear clothes so they can be distinguished from animals—it certainly helps in identifying certain "individualists". Speaking of individualists, I think it's wonderful in America that a person has the freedom to voice his opinion and to learn to think for himself. However, certain "individualists" do it under the pretense of public interest when in reality its personal advancement and recognition they're seeking—"Oh boy, I'll get my name in the paper!" Learning to think for yourself is one thing and being able to apply it correctly is another; a good parallel would be the Constitution of the United States . . .

ATO-A-FOXTROT: I hear the ATO's were disappointed they didn't have a few ancient Arthur Murray specialists at their Xmas dance to teach them an updated version of the foxtrot and the blackbottom to co-ordinate with their "chic-antique" orchestra . . . GLANCING at what other colleges and universities are doing: the University of Colorado recently held an unusual student protest assembly called a "bitch-in" where anyone could step forward and speak for five minutes about anything that bothered him—with some of the unhappy faces around here something similar might be worthwhile — courage, anyone?

ACHTUNG! ACHTUNG! Tri-Delts Pam Gressot and Mardie Rowe's No. 1 New Years resolution should be to annex SN troops, namely, Mike Woodhead and Bill Chaffin, from their social scope and transfer interest and attention to the boys who prefer girls to their frat brothers on Friday nights — BMOG Dave Gardner should switch to basic black and pearls if he's going to compete with femmes . . .

MEASLES VICTIM SOUNDS OFF: I have a first hand report from the infirmary, as I was a victim of the "swinging" measles epidemic — beauty personified!! (Ask Dinie Harwood, who caught them from me.) The conscientious staff of the infirmary has a thankless job, to say the least, but they nevertheless maintain their high standard of effort and should be appreciated by more of the students . . .

CONGRATULATIONS to Tri-Delt Clyda Hooper and SN Bernie Anderson who finally announced their pinning — they've been secretly pinned since August. Another congrats to my pal" SAE Mike Millet who, as a result of his pinning, has become a weekend Napa commuter . . .

ON GUARD, KATZMAN: Lambda Chi pledges have composed an active ride list as a result of pledges Joe Hardy and Tim Martin's six hour walk back from Pyramid — if I were Steve Katzman I'd make sure I'm never alone (he's No. 1 on the list) . . .

CASE OF THE WRINKLED EGO: When five Tri-Delts called Allen Prell on KCBN last week to voice the opinion that they thought he should be on the air at a more convenient time (like from two to four ayem, so they can listen to music in the place of his "blnebbering", oily-tongued Prell became what I'd call incensed, and after they hung up referred to them as "wrinkle brains" — it sems they "wrinkled" Mr. Prell's ego, tsk! tsk!

A NEW, A NEW! A "must" for every college girls Xmas list: Art Buchwald's "Sex and the College Boy" on Capitol records—a roar.

Sigma Delta Chi's Plan Ladies Night

A Ladies' Night dinner is planned by the University of Nevada chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, the national professional journalistic society. The dinner will be held in the Reno Press Club rooms of the Riverside Hotel on Tuesday, December 14.

Sigma Delta Chi is open to men only, but occasionally women are invited to their functions.

The guest speaker will be joy Hamman, city editor of the Nevada Appeal of Carson City. She will discuss "The Visissitudes of a Woman City Editor," or "Things a Lady Should Not Do!"

Attending the dinner will be members of the campus chapter, prospective pledges, and women journalism majors in their sophomore, junior, and senior years. Also present at the dinner will be members of the Nevada State Professional chapter and their ladies.

The social hour will begin at 6 p.m. and the dinner at 7 p.m.

Koltanowski Displays Chess Skills To 200 Friday Night

Chess expert George Koltanowski played 26 simultaneous games of chess last Friday night before a crowd that numbered 60 at its peak.

Koltanowski's visit was a part of the activities the Student Union sponsors for the students and faculty of the University. They as well as members of the community attended. Estimates as high as 200 people viewed the chess action throughout the evening.

He played one game blindfolded. Of the 26 games, there were three ties, but no one was able to defeat the champion.

Most players were members of the Reno Chess Club. Some students but mostly faculty represented the university.

The event lasted until 1:30 a.m. As one player stated, "It takes a long time to play chess."

Western Housing Committee Tours Reno Campus Areas

Members of the Western Region housing committee meeting on the University of Nevada campus toured the home management area last week. The representatives from six states are meeting in the Sarah Hamilton school of Home Economics building.

The group was escorted by Professor Alice Gaston, a member of the committee.

Committee members were shown how easy it was to set up walls in the area through the use of pressure. Plastic laminated walls are used to construct walls in the laboratory as they are needed. By applying pressure to the specially built walls, the rooms can be arranged at any point in the area. Lighting is arranged so no matter where rooms are constructed, it is adequate.

At the present time, the laboratory is housing the third group of the semester to live under conditions which teach them the principles of good home management.

Each group of women lives in the housing area which is like a house, for five weeks.

During the five weeks in the laboratory, the women take turns acting as cook, laundress, hostess, manager, housekeeper, and assistant cook. While serving as cook, they buy their own food on an allotted budget. They also plan menus.

Each evening during their stay in the facility, the women have a candlelight meal. Guests are invited for the evening meal each evening.

Miss Alice Ann Bauer, assistant professor of foods and nutrition, is in charge of the project. Miss Jean Johnson is the staff resident at the laboratory.

Beer on the rocks?

(Oh, no!)

The other day, for the first time, our brewmaster heard of "beer-on-the-rocks." He fell apart.

He really doesn't have anything against ice cubes . . . for scotch or old-fashioned or lemonade. But not for beer. Especially the King of Beers.

You see, he knows how much extra time and expense it takes to get that Budweiser® taste and smoothness and drinkability. Add a couple of ice cubes and "bloop" . . . there goes all that extra effort.

Ice cuts down the head and waters down the taste. And, with Budweiser, that's a tragedy. Budweiser is the only beer in America that's Beechwood Aged. We allow Bud to brew its own tiny bubbles . . . slowly, naturally . . . over a dense lattice of beechwood strips. That's why Budweiser tastes better, foams better and sets better—glass after glass.

So if you know somebody who likes to plunk ice cubes in his Budweiser, please don't tell our brewmaster. (We hate to see a grown man cry.)

it's worth it...it's Bud.

From the End of the Bench Wolf Pack Tops Idaho 84-66

By MIKE SMITHWICK

SKY DIVING

At 3,000 feet the jump master slaps your leg, and you kick free. Seconds later the silence of free fall is broken by the rushing opening of the canopy. And for 2,000 feet the sky diver maneuvers his parachute toward a small target in the desert.

Sunday afternoon I watched the U. of N. Sky Divers, the West's largest university parachute team in action, as they competed in an accuracy jumping meet at the Carson City airport. The team is good, and they have a talented group of novice jumpers. The advanced members will be competing in sky diving meets throughout the year and will be representing the University of Nevada in meets all over the West Coast.

The University of Nevada Sky Divers have a lot of potential but, moreover, they have guts.

I was standing at the target when one of the novice girls made her landing after the first jump of her career. She commented to me: "I was scared as soon as the plane took off. When the jumpmaster told me to step onto the wheel and then let go, I felt sick, but after the parachute opened I felt O.K." In my book, that's guts. She also made a smooth landing 600 feet from the target for a tenth place position, and that's potential.

MISTAKES

Last week my name appeared for the second time over a column written by my partner, Greg Zive. The first time it happened (about four weeks ago) I didn't say anything — hoping people would think I was the talented writer. This time I just can't do it, Greg wrote last Friday's column.

PREDICTIONS

Last week I predicted Jim Lutges would be picked for the F.W.C. All-league football team. The coaches picked him for the first team Friday afternoon.

INTRAMURALS

The athletic department has the most extensive intramural programs in our conference. The highlight of the intramural season is the annual "Intramural Night." Competition in almost every sport is featured during the evening from wrestling to ping pong.

There is one sport, however, which is missing. Intramural Night would be more of a success if boxing would be included as one of the events.

By ED PARSONS

The University of Nevada combined sparkling ball-handling tactics with a tight defense to break the game open in the second half as the Wolf Pack defeated the College of Idaho 84-66 Friday night.

The Silver and Blue trailed throughout most of the second half by two to four points. With six minutes of play left in the first half, Larry Moore, with a hard-driving lay-up, tied up the game 24-24. At the end of the half Nevada held the lead with a score of 36-35.

The Nevada Cagers tallied five straight points in the first two minutes of the second half in a move toward their first win of the season.

Bob Gilliam and Frank Bruno made numerous steals to back up the powerful boardwork by Moore and Nap Montgomery.

Center, Bill Nicholson, clogged the center of the Idaho offense to stop their inside shooting completely.

Despite Nevada's defensive efforts, Taft Jackson, a 6' 7" center from Oakland, California, took the high-scoring honors with 28 points Rex Johnson with 16 points and Jackson comprised almost all of the offensive drive for the losers.

Nevada coach Jack Spencer cleared his bench to give his younger players experience with two minutes left to play in the game.

Moore with 22 points followed by Montgomery with 20 took high-point honors for the Nevada five.

Nevada will host Idaho State in the Wolves' first home game of the season.

Whittemore Talks At YWCA Meeting

"Sex and the Modern Woman" was the topic of Dr. Robert G. Whittemore's discussion with thirty-five university coeds in Juniper Hall Wednesday. The informal discussion was sponsored by the YWCA.

Dr. Whittemore, director of counseling and testing, discussed the problems of women today as career girls, wives and students. He used Kinsey reports and reports from Harvard to show a decline of morals on the college campus.

Various problems concerning sex and the college coed were discussed within the group. The consensus seemed to be that the modern woman must set her own standards, for unlike her mother or grandmother, she has no basic moral code to follow.

Mapes Skyroom Scene For Gamma Phi Dance

The Gamma Phi Beta Christmas formal will be held in the Mapes Skyroom this Friday.

After the dance the Gamma Phis will bring their dates to the sorority house for a buffet.

Dean Mobley and Dean Barnes will be guests at both the dance and dinner.

Boxing Team Begins Practice

The University of Nevada boxing team has begun practice sessions in preparation for its first fight on Jan. 8.

Coach Jimmy Olivas said the team is looking forward to another conference championship. "We have 45 boxers out this year, and hope to produce a team better than last year's."

The team will have five returning lettermen. Undefeated heavyweight, Dale Landon; 165-pound Riley Beckett; 147-pound Bill Georgeson; and 137-pound Dave Whidmar are the probable starters.

Coach Olivas said he will be looking especially close at 187-pound Mike Smithwick. Smithwick, who worked out with the team last year, was ineligible until this year.

The Wolf Pack will face the 12th Naval District for the first time this year on March 18.

Its first meet is a novice tournament at Stanford on Jan. 8.

Bruhaharinas Club Offered By WRA

The Womens Recreation Association is offering a program for all "Barefoot Ballerinas" and "Bruhaharinas" in the art of dancing.

The first meeting of "Orchestrists," a club for those interested in dancing, is scheduled for today at 4 p.m. in room 26 of the gymnasium. At this time those who turn out will be given the general outline for the project, which is intended to develop interest in dancing on this campus.

All areas of dancing will be taught as well as the cultural aspects of dancing. Guest instructors will be featured along with trips to West-Coast symposiums.

Students not able to make today's meeting but who may be interested in membership can notify either Barbra Creps or Carole Odium through the physical education department.

Nineteen Make All FWC Team

By Mike Smithwick
Sports Editor

The University of Nevada landed 19 members of the Wolf Pack football team on the All-Far Western Conference squad last week when the coaches of the F.W.C. met at the Nevada campus to select the best football players in the Far Western Conference.

Four members of the Wolf Pack were given berths on the All-F.W.C. first team, and eight Nevadans were selected for the All-F.W.C. second team. Seven others were given honorable positions.

Dale Landon, 230 pound senior, was given the center position on the All-F.W.C. offensive first team. End Jim Luttgies, a 230 pound senior, tackle Welford Walton, a 235 pound senior, and half back Fred Williams, a 180 pound senior were first-string defensive players of the selection for All-F.W.C. squad.

The All-F.W.C. second team had six members on the offensive unit and two members on the defensive unit. Senior and end Jack Schwella, junior tackle Tony Betita, senior guard Mike Casper, sophomore quarterback Chris Ault, junior fullback Joe Soback, and junior half-back Earl Nurse-ment were named to the offensive unit.

The two Nevada football players named to the defensive unit were junior linebacker Doug Carder and junior guard Gerald Troy.

Making honorable mention were senior end Dennis Fitzpatrick and junior tackle Ron Moore on offense. Senior end Ed Hoeffer, junior tackle Ben Blinn, junior guard Bill Holman, sophomore linebacker Ron Regan, and senior halfback Spike Jamison were elected to the defensive squad.

San Francisco State College led the coaches ballot with six members making the All-F.W.C. first team. Humboldt State College was second with five members on the first team, while the University of Nevada tied with the Cal Aggies for third position with four members each.

Other business discussed during the two-and-one-half-day meeting was eligibility rules for transfer students, and rules and officiating. The F.W.C. baseball coaches also met during the two and one-half days to schedule next year's baseball games.

Pep Squad Will Award Two New Revolving Spirit Trophies

Feel spirited—full of pep, energy and vitality? Instead of wasting all that exuberance on homework, parties or women, why not try out for the "Spirit Trophy?"

According to head cheerleader Jim Crane, the pep squad is going to award two revolving "Spirit Trophies" one to the best female cheering section at the end of basketball season.

Competition is open to fraternities, sororities and living groups.

It was felt by the cheerleaders that student participation at football games was pretty poor, according to Crane. But the cheerleaders also felt that it was partly due to faulty cheerleading on their part.

Crane said the cheerleaders have been practicing "industriously" on new and better yells to prepare themselves for basketball cheering. "With a lot more work by us and the student body, the Wolf Pack will get some spirit behind them this year," said Crane.

Mimeographed sheets with new yells on them will be distributed at Thursday night's game. Crane said that more yells will be handed out at later games.

With a new policy of plain, hard work and practice, the cheerleading squad with cooperation from students will be much improved, said Crane.

Pack Sky Divers Finish Well In Sierra Meeting

The University of Nevada Sky Diving team took four of the top ten positions in advanced competition Sunday at the Sierra Para Center All Comer Meet held at the Carson City airport.

The University of Nevada novice jumpers captured the first five positions in beginner competition and placed 12 members in the top 13 jumpers.

Nevada Sky diver Joe Fallini placed third in the advanced day's competition with a jump of 33.9 feet from the target. Nevada's Ron Lee was next with a fourth place jump of 42.9 feet off center.

John Barney placed seventh with a jump of 54.8 feet off target, and Mike Bland placed ninth with a jump of 89 feet from the target.

First place was taken by Ron Young, an independent jumper, with a mark of 13 feet from the center.

In novice competition, Nevada's Gus Nunez captured first place with a jump of 56.5 feet from the bull's eye. Bruce Rice was second with a 76.2 mark and Gary Athanacio was third with a measurement of 79.6 feet. Fourth position was taken by Steve Peek with an 83.4 mark, and fifth place was given to Mike Smithwick with an 85.6 feet mark. Yvonne Redman was tenth, Jan Moldovan was 11th, and Mike McCance was 12th.

Competition began at 8:30 a.m. and continued until 3:00 p.m. with novice jumpers exiting at approximately 3,000 feet and advanced jumpers exiting from three to nine thousand feet.

Three of Nevada's team members made their first jumps Sunday in the competition. Two of the beginners were girls Yvonne Rerman and Jan Moldovan.

The team will practice jumping next Sunday at the Carson City airport.

Spurs Collect Food For Reno Families

Spurs, a women's service group on campus, collected about $70 worth of foodstuffs for two needy families in the Reno area for Thanksgiving.

The project was called Thanksgiving Food Basket. Members of Spurs canvassed houses and food stores for food donatins to complete a menu.

The food was given to the Washoe County Welfare Department for distribution.

Mining Head Named

The Nevada Bureau of Mines at the University has named Robert C. Horton, a 1949 Nevada graduate, as its new administrative head as associate director.

Horton, a mining engineer with the University since 1956, replaces Stanley E. Jerome, associate director since 1960. Jerome resigned to accept a position with an oil company in Oklahoma.

Horton graduated from the Mackay School of Mines with a geological engineering degree. He won the first Kennecott Copper Corporation scholarship as the outstanding senior student.

He ran for a seat in the U.S. House of Representatives in 1956 and 1958, but was defeated.

Horton served as chairman of the University Council, 1963-64. He has been chairman of the Reno subsection, AIME (American Institute of Mining, Metallurgical and Petroleum Engineers) and chairman of the Reno chapter of the National Society of Professional Engineers.

Abel Talk Slated

John Abel, mining engineer and instructor in rock mechanics at the Colorado School of Mines in Golden, Colorado, will present a public lecture on December 9 at 8:00 p.m. at the Mackay School of Mines, University of Nevada. His subject will be "Mining Ice In Greenland."

An authority on geomechanics and tunneling methods, Mr. Abel will be at the Mackay School of Mines from December 5 to 10 for a series of talks and conferences with the faculty and students of the Nevada mineral college and its two State agencies, the Nevada Bureau of Mines and the Nevada Mining Analytical Laboratory.

An honor graduate of the Colorado School of Mines, Abel received his master of science degree in 1959 and is currently working toward his doctoral degree under a Bottcher Foundation Fellowship at the same institution.

His professional experience includes engineering posts with several mining companies; the U.S. Army Snow, Ice, and Permafrost Research Establishment; and the Denver Research Institute, under which he was assistant project leader for the 1956-57 ice-tunneling project in Greenland. He has also taught metal mining and rock mechanics at the University of Newcastle in England.

NDSL Deadline

W. E. Rasmussen, director of graduate placement and financial aids, announced today that students seeking financial aid under the National Defense Student Loan program must make application before January 1 for the spring semester.

NDSL funds are available to many full-time students at the University. However, Rasmussen cautions, they are only available upon proper application. Those wishing the loans are reminded that after Christmas vacation will be too late, the application time cannot be extended.

Skater Stranded

A swan's egg, various grievance signs and, just recently, an ice skater have found refuge on Manzanita Island.

The waters of the lake had been a barrier to any persons who might have attempted easy removal of the egg and the signs.

Last Tuesday the water was almost an impassable barrier for a skater who had fallen through the ice and was stranded on the island. The skater had waded through waist-deep water to reach the island. Once there he tried to get back to the ice, but found the ice was too thin to hold him.

He finally left the island by crawling across the thin ice on his stomach.

Other students, both men and women, have been skating at all hours.

AWS Council Meet

The SPUR-Associated Women Students' Christmas Party will be held December 20 at 7:30 p.m. in the Travis Lounge, announced AWS chairman Mary Ann Johnston.

The party is an annual event sponsored by the two groups to help several children have a better Christmas. This year four children aged four to seven will be invited.

Carl Turner will play Santa Claus.

The Spur chairman, Merry Ritterby, will be in charge of refreshments.

All women students are invited to attend.

Notice Posted

If you picked up the wrong evening jacket at the Militray Ball please contact Capt. Griscom in Hartman Hall or call Georgia Smith at 323-9760.

Also, if any student is missing a black evening purse containing a set of car keys it too can be recovered in Hartman Hall.

Viet Program Set

A program entitled "The People of South Viet Nam", being held in conjunction with the Viet Nam Civic Fund Drive will be presented Thursday, December 9th, in the Travis Lounge of the Student Union.

The program which will begin at 7:30 p.m. will feature guest speakers Major Caul from the Marine Reserves and Major Halverson from the University R.O.T.C. department. Following the speakers, films donated by the Marine Corps and the R.O.T.C. department will be shown. These films will show the Vietnamese people and their way of life.

There will be no admission charge and all students and faculty are invited.

Alumni IFC Meets

The University of Nevada Alumni Inter - Fraternity Council held a "re-activation meeting" on November 29, after a year of inactivity. One purpose of the council, according to James R. Hathorn, dean of men, is to review current fraternity practices on campus, and along with the Inter - Fraternity Council, make recommendations for improvement.

One action taken at the initial meeting was the appointment of a sub-committee to review rush week practices among the fraternities on campus.

The general purpose of the council is to promote fraternities in general among the young men of the campus.

Propaganda Discussed

"The Semantics of Propaganda," will be the subject of Dr. Robert P. Abelson's lecture Friday at the Student Union.

Dr. Abelson, a professor at Yale University, will use slides to illustrate the topic. He comes to the University of Nevada from the Center for Advanced Study of the Behavioral Sciences at Stanford University, where he is on leave from Yale.

The lecture will begin at 3:30 p.m. in the Nevada East-West Room.

Refreshments will be served.

Foreign Invitations

Mr. Jack Selbig, foreign student advisor, announced today that his office is accepting Christmas dinner invitations for foreign students.

Anyone wishing to share his Christmas with a foreign student is asked to notify Selbig at extension 594 as soon as possible.

Payment Deadline

Students under 21 who plan to take advantage of the time payment plan for fees, tuition, or room and board during the spring semester are reminded that their parents' signature is required on the time payment contract.

Students should pick up the application from the Graduate Placement and Financial Aids Office before leaving for Christmas vacation, according to W. E. Rasmussen, director of the office.

Under the time payment plan, students can pay their school costs in three payments, on each month beginning with registration instead of paying all the costs at the time of registration.

Chemistry Seminar

Quinic acid will be discussed at a chemistry seminar conducted by Dr. Joseph W. Corse on Friday, Dec. 10 at 4 p.m. in room 215 of Mackay Science Hall.

Quinic acid is a component of tree barks found in South America. It is one of many compounds thought to be an intermediate in the conversion of sugars of aromatic compounds such as lignin, woody cellular material in plants. Derivatives of quinic acid are found in many plants including coffee.

Dr. Corse works with synthetic drugs at Western Regional Laboratory of the USDA in Albany, California.

Guerilla Patrol

The University of Nevada Counter-Guerilla Platoon conducted a reconnaissance patrol in Long Valley, east of Sparks Friday, according to Captain Henry R. Frost, assistant professor of military science.

There were about 45 participants, consisting mostly of juniors in the advanced ROTC corps, whose training was concentrated on land navigation, night vision, noise and light discipline, and night control of basic units.

The platoon members and the two attending advisors for the group, Captain Ralph M. Griscom and Master Sergeant Howard V. Johnston, were equipped with camouflaged gear, communication devices, and rifles.

Children Entertained

Underprivileged children will be entertained at a Christmas party December 8 at the Tri-Delta sorority house.

The children, between the ages of five and eight, are from local families on welfare.

The Tri-Deltas are planning a dinner for the children as well as a visit from Santa Claus.

Marsha Marvel will read Christmas poems. Everyone will also be invited to join in for carols.
