Drive To Continue Throughout Week In Student Union

The University of Nevada Blood Drive for Servicemen in Viet Nam begins today. The Drive will continue through Friday, and will be held at the Jot Travis Student Union in the Card Lounge from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. through Thursday, and until noon on Friday.

Students who signed up for the blood drive will receive their registration card at the time they donate blood.

Students and faculty who did not sign-up for the blood drive will also be eligible to give blood. "We will have sign-up sheets at a table during the drive so that anyone wishing to donate blood may do so by simply signing the card before donating the pint of blood," said Ed Parsons, blood drive committee member. "This will make it possible for anyone, if they have signed up or not, to donate a pint of blood."

The total blood drawing process, including administrative processing, will take approximately 15 minutes. The card lounge has been divided into two sections. Girls will donate at one section, and boys at the other.

All persons donating blood will first be interviewed by nurses to check past medical history, after the pint of blood has been donated the person may have refreshments at the Red Cross canteen table in the lounge.

Persons donating blood are requested to have a light breakfast on the day they wish to donate. The Red Cross has also requested that donors refrain from eating greasy food or dairy products before donating blood.

State Officials Endorse Drive
Governor Grant Sawyer and state treasurer Mike Mirabelli came to Reno Saturday to donate blood for the University blood drive.

Governor Sawyer was unable to donate because of a past medical history of hepatitis, but Mirabelli donated a pint of blood. He commented afterwards that he was surprised how simple and painless the procedure was.

Lieutenant Governor Paul Laxalt came to campus yesterday to speak to the university's sorority members in support of the blood drive. Laxalt was a medical corpsman during World War II.

"This is a tremendous opportunity for each of us to help an American serviceman stationed in Viet Nam," said blood donor chairman Mike Smithwick, "The news as well as the blood from our university's effort to help our fellow countrymen will reach Viet Nam, and this will give our boys the moral support they need."

'Macbeth' Tryouts Scheduled Soon

Tryouts for the University of Nevada production of "Macbeth" will be held Jan. 10, 11 and 12. Students interested should inquire at room 8 of Church Fine Arts building.

A cast of more than 30 and a stage crew of 20 are needed. Scripts are available in room 146 of the Fine Arts building.

Robert Ericson, director of university theatre, stated that experience is not necessary, and that he would like to use several new people.

Film Schedule Is Now Ready

Nancy Johnson, movie chairman for the Student Union Board, submitted the confirmed movie schedule for the Spring Semester, 1966. The following are the names and play-dates for the films:

Farewell To Arms—Feb. 13, 1966
Unsinkable Molly Brown—Feb. 20, 1966
Lust For Life—Feb. 27, 1966
Summer and Smoke—March 6, 1966
The Robe—March 13, 1966
Americanization of Emily—March 20, 1966
Night of the Iguana—March 27, 1966
Gigi—April 3, 1966
Hatari—April 17, 1966
Vertigo—April 24, 1966
The Barretts of Wimple Street—May 8, 1966

Debate Scheduled

A Public Demonstration Debate will be held December 16 at 7:30 in the Education Auditorium.

The debate will be free to students and faculty. The public is invited.

ICC To Discuss New By-Laws For Approval

A meeting of the Inter-Club Council will be held tonight at 8:30 in the East West room of the Student Union.

Proposed by-laws will be submitted for approval of the ICC and officers will be elected.

By-law copies can be obtained from Joe Bell, chairman of the organization. They will also be distributed at the meeting, as will information concerning the operations and policy of the council.

Approval of the by-laws will make the proposals available to Senate tomorrow night, said Bell. If Senate approves, an amendment to the ASUN Constitution will be prepared for the next general election. The amendment would establish the ICC permanently as a campus organization with a voice in Senate.

Bell said if the by-laws are passed, the organization would begin immediately to plan the Activities Parade for next semester which would include a brochure distributed by the ICC describing its member clubs and activities.

Other projects might include a Club Activities Calendar, a Best Club Award, and an Outstanding Advisor Award.

Main Lounge To Be Scene Of Student Voting On Travis Union Board Fee Raise Tomorrow

Students will file through the main Lounge of the Student Union Building tomorrow to vote on the proposed $2.50 Student Union fee raise.

According to Student Union Board President Tony Oxborrow, the entertainment program will be completely eliminated eventually if the raise does not go through.

"One of the very important benefits to be derived from the fee raise by those students living on or near campus is the possibility of the Student Union remaining open on Saturdays and Sundays. I have received many requests that the Union building be kept open, however on the present budget the cost is prohibitive," said Oxborrow.

Oxborrow also commented on the tremendous cost of lectures.

"In general, Student Union programming is judged by how well-rounded and extensive is its lecture programming. Students don't realize that most distinguished lectures will not speak on campus for less than $200 to $2,000, plus cost for transportation, food and housing," Oxborrow said.

"Due to this year's budget the only financing available for out of state lectures is through a $1500 grant from the Sperry-Hutchison Foundation in acknowledgement of last year's excellent lectures programming."

The Student Union is completely self supporting and receives no financial aid from the University budget or the State of Nevada, with the exception of some employees salaries. The original fee of $5 was established many years ago.

For a number of years the University paid for all maintenance, heat, light, power and furnished a number of supplies. But now the Student Union Board must pay all the maintenance and operation costs. In addition, janitorial wages have gone up.

According to Oxborrow, the Union is rapidly approaching the stage where the current fee will merely keep the building open and operating.

Entertainment will be curbed drastically. "Most students, said

Oxborrow, "are not aware of the tremendous cost of the special events sponsored by the Student Union."

A recent effort to obtain Sonny and Cher for Winter Carnival entertainment was quelled due to a $10,000 plus 60 per cent of gate revenue fee.

The Union Board has provided approximately $4,000 worth of entertainment to students this year. Because of special percentage contracts, the programs have cost the Union only $400.

By contracting cheaply and with percentage contracts, expenses are lower if the expected number of students do not turn out. Glen Yarborough has been contracted for Mackay Day entertainment through this manner.

But according to Oxborrow, even programs contracted on a percentage basis will not be possible if the fee raise does not go through. The several hundred dollars necessary for publicity, setting up the gym, labor salaries and equipment will not be available.

ASUN President Mike Ingersoll also considers the fee raise a necessity. He said that added yearly expenses and withdrawals of financial support by the University and State have been the two factors necessitating the raise.

More information on the proposed fee raise is available in room 104 of the Student Union Building.

Annual 'Messiah' Scheduled Sunday In The Gymnasium

"The Messiah" will be presented Sunday, December 19, at 8 p.m. in the University Gymnasium.

This is the 31st annual rendition of "The Messiah" by the University Community Symphony and Symphonic Choir, which will combine with soloists under the direction of Dr. W. Keith Macy. Soloists are Dana Stafford, soprano; Lynn Eller, contralto; Delmer Graf, tenor; and Edwin Dunning, bass.

Composed in 1741, "The Messiah" stands at the top of the most frequently heard English oratorios. It was written by a German, George Frederick Handel, in England, as one of a series of oratorios in the Italian style.

"Community response to 'The Messiah' is gratifying," says Dr. Macy, "the audience usually numbers around two thousand."

Admission to the concert is free.

Debate Team Places Second In N. Y. Hall Of Fame Tourney

University of Nevada debaters won the second place trophy at the University of New York Hall of Fame debating tournament, held Dec. 3-4.

The team, composed of Ken Muller, Stan Smart, Jim Emerson, John Eceverria, Judy Jylkka, and Rick Mattson, recently returned from its first trip to the East coast. The eleven-day tour included debates at Georgetown University, Washington D. C.; Bates College, Lewiston, Maine; Tufts University, Boston, Mass.; New York University, New York City; and others.

Larry L. Hines, debate coach, described the tour as "an invaluable experience, one in which the debaters established a reputation for superior debating ability in places where people barely know Nevada is a state."

The University team won 20 of 36 debates, defeating Johns Hopkins, Rutgers, Vermont, Northeastern University, St. Johns, Dartmouth, Brandeis University, Norwich University, William and Mary, Princeton, Emory College, Florida, Augustana and other Eastern and Southern universities.

"Resolved: That law enforcement agencies in the United States should be given greater freedom in the investigation and prosecution of crime," was the topic debated at all tournaments except the Bates College tournament, where "Public Demonstrations" was debated.

The debaters plan to compete in tournaments at the University of Redlands, Stanford and the University of Southern California after the Christmas vacation.

Hines, in his second year as debate coach, attributes the team's success to hard work, practice and research. He stated that the research they have done is equivalent to a master's thesis.

The National Delta Sigma Rho and Tau Kappa Theta debate tournament will be held at the University of Nevada this spring. This will be the first time the tournament has been held in the West. Mr. Hines expects 300 to 400 debaters, many from eastern universities. He said the decision to hold the tournament in Nevada is due to the efforts of Dr. Robert S. Griffin, chairman of the speech and drama department, and the success of the debate team at last year's tournament.

Two teams, composed of Pat Tullis and Lee Herz, Jim Canton and Jim Clark, debated at the University of New Mexico and the University of Pacific last week. Each team won three and lost three at the New Mexico tournament.

Pat Tullis and Lee Herz won first place in the junior women's debate tournament at Pacific. Canton and Clark lost in the final round of their tournament and tied for third.

Draft Status Changing To 'Punish' Demonstrators Could Be Dangerous

Recently on the national scene the Army announced that males involved in anti-Vietnam demonstrations would be subject to change of draft classification to that of 1-A. This is to be in the form of a "punishment" for involvement in such protests.

Just what is this punishment for? For protesting, demonstrating, or dissenting? Or for all these? No matter which of these it may be, the idea of punishment in any form for such activity is incompatible with the principles our system of government is based upon.

From the beginning of this country our governmental process has been a series of protests, dissension, demonstrations, and eventually compromises and solutions. This is the essence of the political system we live in. The first protestors and dissenters in America, such as Washington and Jefferson, realized the importance of such activity. They therefore incorporated guarantees for it directly into the Constitution of the United States.

To now threaten "punishment" for this activity is not only foolish but dangerous. We cannot choose certain situations to which we will allow application of democratic principles and exclude others.

If conditions for the perpetration of the effective voice of dissent are stifled in some instances, we run the risk of losing this constitutionally guaranteed freedom entirely. When this happens people no longer have a democracy. The use of methods to inhibit dissenting opinions are tactics of dictatorships used in an attempt to place the stamp of conformity of opinion upon the masses. Is this the only alternative left to use?

The basic question of whether you agree or disagree in principle with the Viet Nam demonstrations is not of first importance. It is the principle behind the guarantee of the demonstrations themselves that is of prime importance. To attempt to eliminate or inhibit such activities is far more dangerous to our way of government than any of the demonstrations could ever be.

Is our faith in the principles of our government so weak that in time of crisis they must be put aside? I hope not!

Madrigal Dinner To Be Tomorrow Night

Yuletide food and music will be presented by the University Madrigal Singers in their fifth annual Madrigal Dinner on Wednesday, Dec. 15, at 7 p.m. in the University Dining Commons.

A strolling minstrel, the Madrigal Singers, the Recorder Choir, and the Brass Choir will present the evening's entertainment.

Reservations may be made at the music department. Admission is $2.70 for adults and $1.25 for children and holders of Dining Commons cards.

Quorum Plus One

Conversation overheard at North end of Student Union:

JON: Hey, today is the ASUN Blood Drive, isn't it?
 jon: Huh?
 JON: Today's the Blood Drive. Are you donating?
 jon: I don't know. I don't want to get involved in anything political.
 JON: It's not political, it's humanitarian.
 jon: Greg Artman says it's political.
 JON: Well, Mike Ingersoll says it's not.
 jon: Artman says it's non-humanitarian.
 JON: Non-humanitarian?
 jon: Yeah.
 JON: Why you're suggesting that its purpose is to inflict rather than eliminate pain and suffering.
 jon: That's what Greg Artman says.
 JON: Then the war in Viet Nam is the will of God. jon: That's right. He called it non-humanitarian.
 JON: Then the Blood Drive is a product of divine guidance.
 jon: Right again.
 JON: Then it is non-political.
 jon: You called it.
 JON: So what's the fuss?
 jon: East is East.

Conversation overheard at South end of Student Union:

jon: Hey, today is the ASUN Blood Drive, isn't it?
 JON: Huh?
 jon: Today's the Blood Drive, Are you donating?
 JON: I don't know. I don't want to get involved in anything humanitarian.
 jon: It's not humanitarian, it's political.
 JON: Mike Ingersoll says it's humanitarian.
 jon: Well, Greg Artman says it's not.
 JON: Ingersoll says it's non-political.
 jon: Non-political?
 JON: Yeah.
 jon: Why you're suggesting that it's opposed to U.S. policy in Viet Nam.
 JON: Ingersoll called it non-political.
 jon: Not so much opposed, then, as indifferent.
 JON: Non-political.
 jon: But it's supposedly in support of U.S. troops.
 JON: Right again.
 jon: But that's political.
 JON: You called it.
 jon: So what's the fuss?
 JON: And West is West.

Sigma Delta Chi's To Host Speaker At Slated Dinner

"The Vicissitudes of a Woman City Editor," or "Things a Lady Should Not Do" will be discussed by Joy Hammon, city editor of the Nevada Appeal of Carson City, at a Ladies' Night dinner held by the campus chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalism society.

To be held in the Reno Press Club rooms in the Riverside Hotel this evening at 7, the meeting will be attended by members, prospective pledges, and journalism major girls in the sophomore, junior, and senior classes. The members of the Nevada State Professional chapter of Sigma Delta Chi and their ladies will also be present.

Sigma Delta Chi is an organization for men in journalism, but occasionally it invites women to attend its functions.

Miss Hammon is the former assistant city editor of the Las Vegas Review-Journal.

The social hour will begin at 6 p.m. and the dinner at 7 p.m.

Finalists Selected In Intern Program

The names of three students have been sent to Senator Howard W. Cannon for his final selection of one to serve in his Washington D. C. office.

The three were chosen from a list of twelve applicants for the congressional intern program, which will begin this January. The student selected will be attached to Senator Cannon's office for five months and receive three credits in Political Science 306.

Junior and senior students with a background in government courses approved by Dr. Eleanore Bushnell, chairman of the Political Science department, are eligible for the program. Evening classes at a University in the Washington D. C. area are required to supplement the training in the Congress.

Travel expenses and pay are provided for the intern.

Students do not need to be majors in political science to be considered for the inter program.

University Of Nevada Seismologist Records Earthquakes And Migration In Nevada Area

By Lee Harlan
Staff Writer

Two thousand earthquakes a year in Nevada and indications that earthquake zones systematically migrate have been recorded in research directed by Dr. Alan Ryall, University of Nevada seismologist.

This frequency in western Nevada tremors and the previously unrecognized movement, said Dr. Ryall, when combined with other information gained on the age, frequency and magnitude of earthquake activity, may someday lead to fairly accurate prediction of earthquakes.

Dr. Ryall, together with Dr. David B. Slemmons, professor of geology, and Austin E. Jones, research associate in seismology, presented these new findings to the Fourth Bay Area Seismic Symposium at the University of California at Berkeley Saturday.

These new developments are the result of study begun only three years ago at Nevada.

Emphasis Placed

Major emphasis is placed on the frequency and magnitude of tectonic activity in Nevada and the Great Basin area by the University staff.

Of the 2,000 tremors recorded each year in Nevada, about 99 per cent are not strong enough to be felt. According to Dr. Ryall's observations, this makes Nevada the most active state in the nation in the number of recorded tremors.

Detailed measurement of quake activity in the Great Basin and California areas tend to show that earthquake activity will "fill in" an area outlined by isolated tremors.

As an example of this phenomenon, Dr. Ryall noted the activity in a zone that extends from Ventura, Calif., to western Nevada.

The first earthquakes in this zone occurred near Los Angeles, in 1812, and one on the San Andreas fault in 1857. The next was reported at Pleasant Valley, Pershing County, Nevada in 1915. From 1932 until now major activity in the new zone has been recorded at the Cedar and Excelsior Mountain areas in Nevada, and Kern County, California.

Less Activity

Activity of a lesser degree has to date been recorded which completely fills in this zone and has made the western Nevada section the most active in the last 30 years.

This continuous California-Nevada zone is unique in that it is not related to any particular fault zone.

"There seems to be some underlying driving mechanism to this activity that is not readily apparent," said Dr. Ryall.

Migration of the major activity in the San Andreas fault in California has been plotted by Dr. Ryall and his staff. Previously the center of activity had been located around the Bay area but the snow moved considerably to the south of San Francisco.

In plotting earthquake relationships, researchers have also noted an apparent time pattern of major activity. According to graphs that have been compiled, there is a period of increased activity every 20 years, during which time a major shock may be generated.

Photography Used

Through the use of aerial photography, Dr. Slemmons has recorded and estimated the age of nearly 3,000 ground faults in Nevada.

Under a research grant from the National Science Foundation, Dr. Slemmons will continue the dating process with a radiometric system which measures the amount of argon produced in rock by the decay of radioactive potassium.

The grant will also make available new equipment to continue field studies on Nevada's active seismic areas.

Dr. Ryall also indicated that a research project, requested by many seismologists, may someday completely instrumentate the San Andreas fault with thousands of recording devices to get a much more accurate picture of earthquake activity as it develops.

Manzanita, Juniper Halls To Host Children At Christmas

What does Christmas mean to you? Some children could not answer this question because they have never had a Christmas. Many children in the Reno area will not have a Christmas this year, according to the Welfare Department.

This is the reason two living groups, Manzanita Hall and Juniper Hall, have an annual Children's Christmas Party for both underprivileged and foster children.

Manzanita Hall is having a party for ten foster children tomorrow at 7 p.m. The ten children, boys and girls ranging in age from 4-11 years, will play games, listen to music, eat cookies and punch, and open gifts from the dormitory.

After the Children's Party the women will have a party to exchange 50-cent gag gifts.

The women of Juniper Hall will hold a party on Thursday, December 16, from 7 to 10 p.m. The children, boys and girls from 7-13 years old, will have refreshments, listen to music and receive presents from a "visiting Santa Claus."

Each suite has an "adopted child" for the evening and it buys him or her a present. Besides these presents the dormitory will give each child a stocking filled with gifts and candy.

Asked about these parties, Dean Roberta J. Barnes said "it is one of the nicest parties the living groups hold all year. It not only puts the girls in the holiday spirit but also lets them give to someone."

Waivers Available For All Students

Tuition waiver applications for both in-state and out-of-state students can be obtained in room 205 of Morrill Hall.

The waivers are awarded each semester on the basis of need and overall grade point average. A certain percentage of the students attending the university the previous semester determines the number of waivers that can be awarded by the Scholarships and Prizes Board.

The in-state waivers are for about $100. The out-of-state waivers are for the entire tuition fee.

Deadline for returning the waivers is during semester break.

Western Region Housing Meet Held At University Of Nevada

"Research has shown that most elderly people want to live independently; that is, choose where they will live, whether it be in a duplex, tract house, or trailer house." This is one of the major premises that guided the recent Western Region Housing Conference, says Mrs. Alice C. Gaston, associate professor of home management.

Professor Gaston is secretary to the group which met on the University of Nevada campus last week. As a result of the meeting, final plans are being submitted this week to a research fund committee under the National Association of State and Land Grant Colleges.

Upon approval by the nine-man committee, of which Dr. Ray E. Ely, associate professor of the agriculture experiment station, is a member, each state will begin a study of the project.

The housing committee will then work on three objectives. Research findings on independent living will be compiled, housing requirements will be researched, and theoretical models of design standards will be set up.

Space, lighting, safety, and heating will be considered in the houses already being occupied by elderly people. Interviews will also be given so that the elderly can make suggestions for better housing.

Professor Gaston notes that Reno is a good place for research on the housing problem because of the large proportion of mobile homes in the area. She also is interested in using the Sarah Hamilton Fleischmann School of Home Economics home management laboratory in research because of its movable walls and kitchen units.

Grad Deadline Set For Record Exam

The registration deadline for Graduate Record Examinations is December 30. The exam will be given on Saturday, January 15.

The exams are required for entrance at many university graduate schools, and prior to the awarding of a master's degree at other schools, including the University of Nevada.

Descriptive booklets of the advanced tests are available in the Counseling and Testing Office, Room 108 in Clark Administration, for examination by interested senior or graduate students. The necessary registration forms are also available in the Counseling and Testing Office.

Psych. Fraternity Takes Seventeen

Psi Chi, honorary psychology fraternity, initiated 17 members and three associate members at the Jot Travis Student Union Dec. 6.

"The Detached Americans", a movie about the unwillingness of Americans "to get involved," was shown.

WRESTLING

There is a corner of the gymnasium that some people don't notice through the maze of activities which go on each day in the building.

It's the north west corner of the main floor, and it's covered by a blue mat where each day 20 wrestlers sweat and groan and throw each other to the floor for a couple of hours.

I bring this to attention because last week, after Nevada's 40 to 0 trouncing by San Jose, wrestling coach Lee Newell made the corner very unpopular to the 20 grappers. He worked the wrestlers harder than he has all year. He got everyone down to weight and fit to go the distance—and it paid off. Five pins in a row and a winning score of 45 to 3.

The next time you are in the gym take a look at the north west corner—it's the center of activity and Coach Newell is going to keep it that way.

BOXING

Coach Olivas decided to see what he really has in the way of a novice team. He started sparring his beginners last Tuesday.

They looked good and should make a good showing at Stanford on the 18th. Last year the Nevada boxers came in second at the novice tournament. But the addition of a strong group of lightweights will probably give first place to the Wolf Pack this year.

I watched some of the returning lettermen go through a few rounds and they haven't lost a bit of their speed or power, but a few are going to have to lose some of that "summer fat" if they want to stay in their weight division. (I won't mention names, but Bob Diullo is 15-pounds over.) Last year the coach made him wear a rubber suit to work-out in. He lost the weight.

"The rubber suit is still there and I have a feeling he is going to need it again this year," said Olivas as Diullo waddled into practice.

Employees' Uniforms Okayed

R.O.T.C. students aren't the only people on campus with recognizable uniforms. Employees of the University Buildings and Grounds department have new uniforms as of December 1.

Approval for the uniforms was granted by the Vice-President of Finance, Director of the Physical Plant, Plant Engineer, and the Non-Academic Personnel Officer.

Two uniform changes a week will be supplied by the American Linen and Supply Co. for $1.86 for males and $.88 for women. The choice of short sleeve or long sleeve shirts is left to the discretion of the individual.

In addition two patches, one designating that the wearer is an employee of the Building and Grounds department, and one with the last name of the man or woman, will be provided by the Building and Grounds department.

Nevada Topples Miami 89-79

Pack Center Nicholson Out With Attack

By Mike Smithwick
Sports Editor

The Wolf Pack cagers won their third game in a row Saturday night by defeating the University of Miami 89 to 79.

A last minute replacement at center position left Nevada with only two of last years returning starters. Bill Nicholson, Nevada's star center was sent to the hospital three hours before game time for an emergency appendicitis operation. Filling in his position was Jerry Hart who tallied 13 points in his debut performance.

The University of Miami gained a quick lead in the opening minutes of play, with deadly outside shooting, but Nevada's fast moving offense stayed close behind. In the second quarter, the Wolf Pack's sharp shooting attack pulled them into the lead, and as the first half ended, the Pack had a small 43-39 lead.

However the tall Miami Hurricanes opened the second half by dumping five straight baskets to regain the lead 44-43. Nevada's Nap Montgomery regained the lead with a short jump shot, and the lead never changed hands again as the Wolf Pack's deadly shooting and solid defense kept the Hurricanes from starting an effective offensive rally.

Miami was able to tie the Wolf Pack once during the half, but were unable to sustain their drive. Star Hurricane guard Gary Gee, who scored 20 points in the first half, was held scoreless throughout the second half as Nevada's George Condor displayed fine defensive play.

Four of Nevada's starters scored in double figures. Bob Gilliam led the field with 28 points, followed by Nap Montgomery with 23 points. Larry More scored 17 points, with Jerry Hart close behind with 13 points.

The Hurricanes, losing their fourth game in five starts, gave up with two minutes remaining in the game. Coach Bruce Hale inserted his entire second string team to finish the game. The Pack, however, raced to the end compiling a ten point lead over its Miami opponents. The final score was 89 to 79.

Thursday night the Pack travels to Fairfield Iowa to take on Parson's College. The following day the Pack will play Southern Illinois University and then compete in the Rock Island Illinois tournament December 21 and 22.

January 1 the Wolf Pack will play its third home game of the season when it meets California Poly at the gymnasium at 8 p.m.

Wolf Pack Wrestlers Clobber Visiting Sonoma State 45-3

The University of Nevada wrestling team bounced back Friday night after a solid defeat by San Jose State to trounce Sonoma State College 45 to 3.

The spirited Wolf Pack matmen won 9 of the 10 matches pinning five of the Sonoma State wrestlers in a row.

Ray Kessler, Nevada's 167 pounder, had the fastest pinning of the evening with a timing of one minute and 24 seconds. Ken Gledhill, 137 pounds, pinned his man in 5:34; Charles Ballard, 145 pounds, pinned his Sonoma State opponent in 1:32; John Rogers, 152 pounds pinned his opponent in 5:15; and Earl Wilkins, Nevada's 160 pounder, pinned his man in 5:49.

Four of Nevada's wrestlers won matches by default. Heavyweight Larry Stiff, 191 pounder Lynn Bernhard, 177 pound Wes McVay, and 130 pound Bill Teglia all received winning credit because Sonoma State failed to bring opponents.

Nevada's only loss was suffered during the first match of the evening when 123 pound Leonard Batchelder went the distance but lost by four points.

On January 8th, the Wolf Pack wrestlers will continue their five match home series when they meet Humboldt State College in the University of Nevada gymnasium at 8 p.m.

Pack Over Idaho State 97-88

Gilliam's 25 Leads Torrid Home Attack

By Jim Baker
Staff Writer

The University of Nevada Wolf Pack tore the Idaho State Bengals apart in the second frame Thursday night to hand them their first defeat of the season, in Nevada's 1965-66 home basketball opener.

Junior guard, Bob Gilliam who recently transferred from Elgin, Ill., Junior College, led the scoring with 25 points which resulted in Nevada's 97-88 victory over Idaho.

Senior center Bill Nicholson, who was credited with playing the best game of his college career, was the key man during the entire game. He sunk 11 baskets during three-minutes of the second-half rally. A terror on the defensive boards, Nicholson added 23 points to the scoreboard to give him second honors in scoring.

As was expected, key man for the Bengals was 6' 2" guard Dave Wagon. He was high point scorer for Idaho last week when Nevada traveled to Idaho averaging 30 points plus per game.

Nevada's Larry Moore and Tom Andreason fouled out late in the second period. Moore was forced out with 11:52 to play. Nap Montgomery's four personal fouls, forced Nicholson to do most of the rebounding.

Nevada's Moore and Gilliam started the Wolf Pack off to a 5-0 lead. With 12:56 of playing time in the first period, Idaho tied the score 13-13.

Nevada's early 18-point lead soon began to fade under Idaho's full-court press. Nine straight Bengal points, by Wagon and Maynard Sager gave the visitors a 39-37 advantage just before the half.

Early in the second period the score remained tied, with the Wolf Pack and Bengals battling for a lead. Led by Frank Bruno and Gilliam, Nevada pulled ahead with a 12-point lead. The Wolves stayed in front the rest of the way.

Nevada Freshmen Win Two From Sparks And Winnemucca

Under the direction of new coach Bob Schebler, the Nevada freshmen defeated the Star Broiler of Winnemucca by an easy score of 78-60. The first game of the season for the Nevada cubs, the contest was played as a preliminary to the Nevada-Idaho State varsity game.

Led by ex-Sparks star Kevin Weatherford and ex-Virginia City all-stater Hugh Gallagher, the Nevada frosh kept a lead the entire game. At half-time they led, 38-31.

Joe di Arrieta, former University of Nevada and Winnemucca High School star, led all scorers with 22 for the Star Broiler.

Weatherford proved to be tough on the rebounds, grabbing 14. Hugh Gallagher was high scorer for Nevada, sinking 21 points.

The University of Nevada Junior Varsity basketball team won its second game of the season Saturday evening by trouncing Sparks High School 65 to 35.

The Railroaders were unable to muster a sustained drive during the game and were never a serious threat to the Wolf Pack freshman cagers.

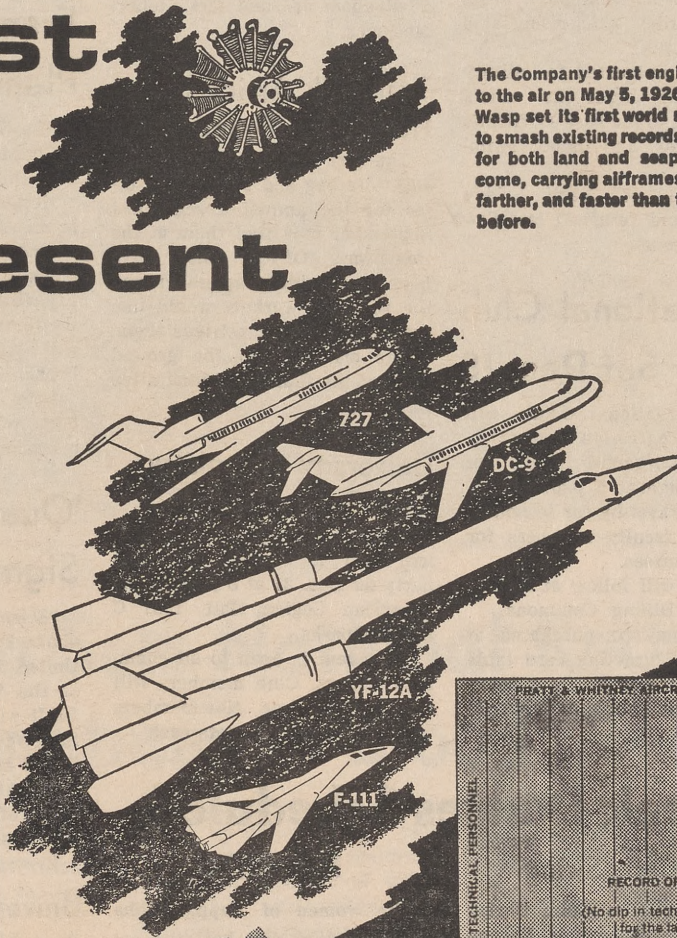

The Pack's smooth running offense could not be stopped by the young Sparks basketball players. The Pack ran up the score to 32-15 by the end of the first half.

The second half was a repeat of the first. Freshman coach Bob Schebler utilized all his players as the score reached a safe margin.

Nevada's Hugh Gallagher led the scoring with 16 points, followed by Mike Weatherford with 12 points. Carlos Concha led the Railroaders with 9 points.

Past Present

The Company's first engine, the Wasp, took to the air on May 5, 1926. Within a year the Wasp set its first world record and went on to smash existing records and set standards for both land and seaplanes for years to come, carrying airframes and pilots higher, farther, and faster than they had ever gone before.

In recent years, planes powered by Pratt & Whitney Aircraft have gone on to set new standards of performance in much the same way as the Wasp had done in the 1920's. The 727 and DC-9 are indicative of the new family of short-to-medium range jetliners which are powered by the highly successful JT8D turbofan. Examples of current military utilizations are the J58-powered Mach 3 YF-12A which recently established four world aviation records and the advanced TF30-powered F-111 variable-geometry fighter aircraft.

Your and the Future

Take a look at the above chart; then a good long look at Pratt & Whitney Aircraft—where technical careers offer exciting growth, continuing challenge, and lasting stability—where engineers and scientists are recognized as the major reason for the Company's continued success.

Engineers and scientists at Pratt & Whitney Aircraft are today exploring the ever-broadening avenues of energy conversion for every environment . . . all opening up new avenues of exploration in every field of aerospace, marine and industrial power application. The technical staff working on these programs, backed by Management's determination to provide the best and most advanced facilities and scientific apparatus, has already given the Company a firm foothold in the current land, sea, air and space programs so vital to our country's future. The list of achievements amassed by our technical staff is a veritable list of firsts in the development of compact power plants, dating back to the first Wasp engine which lifted the United States to a position of world leadership in aviation. These engineering and scientific achievements have enabled the Company to obtain its current position of leadership in fields such as gas turbines, liquid hydrogen technology and fuel cells.

Should you join us, you'll be assigned early responsibility. You'll find the spread of Pratt & Whitney Aircraft's programs requires virtually every technical talent. You'll find opportunities for professional growth further enhanced by our Corporation-financed Graduate Education Program. Your degree can be a BS, MS or PhD in: MECHANICAL • AERONAUTICAL • ELECTRICAL • CHEMICAL ENGINEERING • PHYSICS • CHEMISTRY • METALLURGY • CERAMICS • MATHEMATICS • ENGINEERING SCIENCE OR APPLIED MECHANICS.

For further information concerning a career with Pratt & Whitney Aircraft, consult your college placement officer—or write Mr. William L. Stoner, Engineering Department, Pratt & Whitney Aircraft, East Hartford, Connecticut 06108.

Everyone will bring dollar gifts. A program will be put on by the actives and pledges.

Alumni hostesses will be Muriel Parrish, Kay Blakely, Marcia Bernard, Doris Leoneso, Virginia Frost, Julie Egenhoff, Sally Hoy, Betty Elliott, Jane Elliott, Marty Klinfelter, Theresa Frisch, and Judy Gibbons.

Fifty-three ROTC Cadets Make Trip

M-1 lips and a distinct appreciation for home-cooking were prevalent among 53 returning ROTC cadets last Saturday evening. The cadets and nine members of the ROTC cadre were returning from the Hawthorne Naval Ammunition depot where they had been run through an M-1 familiarization course, according to Captain Ralph M. Griscom, assistant professor of military science.

The cadets, 45 juniors and eight seniors, were the guests of Lieutenant Colonel L. R. Webb, commanding officer of the Marine Corps barracks detachment at the depot.

Many cadets received sore lips from firing the military M-1 rifles on the Hawthorne depot's firing range Saturday after rising at 5 in the morning.

After being treated to military chow Friday night the cadets were invited to the base's Officer's Club, theater, and indoor swimming pool.

The cadets left early Friday afternoon and returned late Saturday afternoon.

International Club Dinner Set Dec. 18

The International Club will sponsor a progressive dinner Dec. 18. It will organize in the Jot Travis Lounge at 5 p.m. Participants will travel by car to houses of various faculty members for different courses.

A dance will follow at 9:30 p.m. in the Dining Commons.

Tickets may be purchased at the UNICEF greeting card table in the snack bar or from International Club members for $1.50 each.

Snake Affair

Sigma Nu fraternity will host its annual Christmas formal Saturday in the Mapes Sky Room.

Music will be presented by the "Beau Tiques".

The dance will begin at 9 p.m. and end at 1 a.m.

Dress will be formal said Mike Jackson, Sigma Nu social chairman.

Post Office Boxes May Be Solution For Current Student Mail Problems

Bill Adams, housing director, said that over 100 pieces of student mail must be sorted by the Office of Auxiliary Enterprises each day. These letters are addressed to students but a box number or residence hall is not included in the address.

Adams said that a notice had been sent to students a month ago advising them to inform correspondents of correct address. Adams added that the number of unmarked letters received a day has not decreased.

Approximately 120 post office boxes are available at the university station. Rental fee for a box for a three-month period is $1.50 for one 7 by 6 inches and $1.20 for one 5 by 3 inches.

Robert L. Kersey director of the Jot Travis Student Union, encouraged students who do not have post office boxes to get them. He said the courtesy service of the Auxiliary Enterprises for sorting mail would end in January.

Women's Faculty Presents Bazaar

The University Women's Faculty Club presented "Christmas Traditions and Bazaar" in the Travis Lounge last Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Ray Ely, president of the club, said the money raised from the bazaar would be used to buy trees and shrubbery for the dorms.

Chairmen for the annual "Christmas Traditions" this year were: Mrs. John A. Bailey, Mrs. Theodore A. Butler, Mrs. Harold F. Bonham Jr., and Mrs. Robert McQueen.

Trek Nik Articles Have Been Found

The girl who left her bathing suit, tote bag and other accessories for the annual Trecnic last September may find them at the Registrar's Office. They have been there since September and the registrar workers would like to have the owner retrieve them.

The office is on the ground floor of the Clark Administrative Building.

University Chemistry Club Party Dec. 21

The University Chemistry Club will hold its annual Christmas party on Dec. 21 at 8 p.m. in the American Legion Hall, 1021 C Street, Sparks.

The event is open to all chemistry majors. Club members will be admitted free. Non-members will be charged 50 cents each.

French Club Sing Planned Tonight

The French club has scheduled a Christmas caroling party to be held this evening at 7:30.

Members of the French club are to meet in front of Travis Union at that time. They will then board trucks and will be taken to French family homes throughout the Reno Sparks area, where they will sing Christmas carols in French.

Later they will adjourn to the home of one of the members for refreshments.

'Quake Prediction' Sigma Xi Topic

"Seismic Activity and Earthquake Prediction in the Western United States" will be the topic of the Sigma Xi luncheon Dec. 16. It will be held in the Nevada East-West room of the Student Union beginning at 12 noon.

Drs. Allan Ryal and David Slemmons of the Nevada Bureau of Mines will be the speakers.

Everyone is invited.

University Books Are Now Available

Want to impress your friends with the size of your academic library? One way to gain maximum library at minimum cost is to attend the General University Extension book sale December 13, 14, and 15 in room 214 of Clark Administration Building.

The books on sale will be texts no longer used by U. of N. instructors, but they are new or only slightly used and will be sold below cost.

Sigma Nu's, Theta's Host Children's Party

A party for needy children will be given by members of Sigma Nu fraternity and Kappa Alpha Theta sorority this Sunday at the Sigma Nu house.

The party begins at 3 p.m. There will be a visit from Santa Claus and gifts for the children.

The Sigma Nus and Thetas give the party each year for the benefit of local welfare children.
