Allocation Of ASUN Funds Is Handled By Finance Control

By Mary Solaro
Staff Writer

Editor's Note: This is the third in a series of Sagebrush features concerning student funds.

The allocation of the Associated Students' University of Nevada student fee is the responsibility of the ASUN Finance Control Board. Chairman of this board is the ASUN First Vice-president, Charles Murphy.

Fourteen major budget allotments are made by the FCB. These include Mackay Day, Winter Carnival, Homecoming, Public Occasions Board activities, Women Recreation Association, Associated Women Students, World University Service, Rally Committee, Cheerleaders, Songleaders, Forensics, Brushfire, Forum and the Student Directory.

The budget requests are judged on their overall value to the entire student body, stated Murphy. He feels that most budget requests are "within reason" and that the groups which get ASUN funds ask only for what they need. There have been very few problems.

In order to allocate the funds more effectively, a professional staff is hired by the ASUN. Most important of these to the students is Trinie Erquiaga, who handles the budget allotments and makes the funds available to the students.

One of the largest spenders of the ASUN Fee is the athletic department, which receives $5.50 from each student paying the fee each semester. Athletic Director Glenn (Jake) Lawlor handles the finances of the department in addition to his job as athletic director.

The athletic department spreads its part of the fee over eleven sports: football, basketball, baseball, track, tennis, boxing, wrestling, golf, skiing, cross-country, and gymnastics. The University of Nevada participates in the Far Western Conference and is a member of the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

Travel takes the largest portion of the athletic department's funds, although nearly all air travel has been eliminated. Another large expenditure is for contest officials for our athletic contests. Last year, officials cost nearly $4,000.

Other expenses are for athletic awards, equipment, game films, meals, staff travel, pre-registration room and board, and guarantees. The last two items are standard expenditures in the conference. The pre-registration room and board is for football players from September 1 until registration.

Guarantees are paid to each team that travels to the U. of N. to play. This is a standard procedure. The expenses seem to average out because Nevada teams are also paid a guarantee when it travels to other schools.

The athletic department also receives funds from gate receipts and a small allotment from the state legislature. However, the major portion of its fund is paid by the student body through the ASUN fee.

When asked if the $5.50 was adequate, Lawlor replied that it was sufficient for the type of program they are now operating under. "Of course, everyone could use more money, but we are satisfied with what we have."

There are emergencies to be met in the future. The new stadium needs a scoreboard and new hurdles. Both of these will cost more than is included in the present allotment.

The athletic department has managed to operate financially in the "black" for the past several years. It has also been able to produce winning teams. In comparison, a school in the Western Rockies requires its students to pay a $36 athletic fee per year in addition to other student fees.

The next article will again be on how the ASUN fee allotments are spent.

Candidates For WRA President

Ingersoll Memorial Drive Goal Is $10,000

The drive for the Mike Ingersoll Memorial Lectures Foundation will kick off February 1, according to Keith Stephens, chairman of the Foundation committee. A goal of $10,000 has been set.

Stephens wishes all checks sent to the ASUN office in the Student Union building. Donors should address checks to the Ingersoll Memorial Foundation.

The lectures foundation would bring noted scholars from the academic world to the campus. They would be paid to visit the University for a week — visiting classes and various seminars.

The visiting scholar would present four or five lectures on a topic of current interests. The lectures would be taped, transcribed and published as a book.

It would be noted in the front of the book that the lectures were made possible through the Mike Ingersoll Lectures Foundation.

Apply Now For Tuition Waivers

All students who want tuition waivers for the Spring Semester must file an application with Dr. Robert McQueen, chairman of the scholarship committee.

Waivers are granted for only one semester at a time. The application must include the student's grade point average for the current semester.

Application forms are available in Room 205 of Morrill Hall. Deadline for waivers is January 25.

Waivers are granted on a basis of need and grade point average, the University catalogue says.

Aggie Library To Have Open Hours

The library located in the Max C. Fleischmann College of Agriculture building was opened last Sunday night and will be open again this Sunday night. The hours are from 7 to 10 p.m.

The library is being opened on a trial basis. If enough students use it, there is a possibility that the hours will become permanent.

This would not only be a memorial to Ingersoll, but would also be a continuation of his efforts. Ingersoll had begun making inquiries into the establishment of such a foundation after completion of the blood drive.

The committee Stephens heads will establish a permanent body to administer the foundation. Student members of the committee are: Bill Chaffin, ASUN president; Chuck Murphy, ASUN first vice president; Mike Stephenson, Mackay Day chairman; Bob Basta, senior men's senator-at-large; Dave Russell, past Homecoming chairman; and Sherry Locke, junior women's senator-at-large.

Faculty and administrative personnel that have agreed to work with the committee in an advisory capacity are: Dr. N. Edd Miller, chancellor; Dr. Harold L. Kirkpatrick, assistant dean, College of Arts and Sciences; Dr. Wilbur Shepperson, acting director, University of Nevada Press; and Mr. Stanley A. Pearl, instructor political science department.

Mike Smithwick, ASUN public relations officer, is coordinating the fund drive to support the foundation.

Board Of Regents Will Meet On Campus This Sunday

The University of Nevada's board of regents will meet on the Reno campus Saturday, Jan. 15, at 9 a.m. in the Clark Administration building. Dr. Fred Anderson of Reno, regents chairman, will preside over the meeting.

Items on the agenda include: reports from the research committee; plant and property committee; investment committee; educational policies committee; administrative and personnel committee; personnel appointments and/or recommendations; acceptance of gifts; approval of check registers; bid opening; transfer of funds; and approval of January graduates.

Scheduled to attend the meeting are: Dr. Anderson, Reno; Grant Davis, Fallon; Archie C. Grant, Las Vegas; Harold Jacobsen, Carson City; Dr. Louis Lombardi, Reno; Molly Magee, Austin; Richard Ronzone, Las Vegas; Dr. Juanita White, Boulder City; and Procter Hug Jr., Reno.

University Student To Study Abroad

A University of Nevada graduate student in secondary education will leave Jan. 23 for a three-week study of education in France. He is Marcel Durant, a major in foreign languages as an undergraduate.

Durant plans to make a comparative study of methods of teaching foreign languages in France and the United States. He will conduct research.

Officers Election Scheduled Soon For Dormitories

The women of Juniper and Manzanita Hall will take time from their studying to vote for new officers today and Thursday. Secondary elections were held last Monday night. Residents of Artemisia Hall elected new officers Monday evening.

The officers are: Lynne Hyland, president; Kathy Sulr, first vice-president; Patti Uрга, second vice-president; Robin Parker, secretary; Chris Hessel, corresponding secretary; Cookie Beale, treasurer; Karen Itza, AWS representative; Judy Moore, social chairman; Pam Nelson, sports director; Judy Wysop, parliamentarian; and Chris Smith, historian.

University Of Nevada Basketball Team Could Do More With Open Recruiting

The Wolf Pack showed why it must be a favorite to win the Far Western Conference title Monday night in Las Vegas with a 74-70 win over the Rebels of Nevada Southern University.

The hapless Rebels, nationally ranked and seeking an NCAA bid as an at-large small school independent, did little right but plenty wrong.

The few bright spots that were noticed in the Rebel attack weren't in the game but for a short time. Sophomore Dixon Goodwin, playing his first home game, sparked the home town team within three points. And, of course, Little All American Silas Stepp, in usual form, poured through 25 tallies.

But it was Jack Spencer's Wolf Pack that displayed poise, despite an extremely partisan crowd of 3,500.

Larry Moore's rebounding was more than adequate as the 6'3" forward with the help of Nap Montgomery controlled the boards.

Whatever it is in Las Vegas that has propelled the "glamorous five" to national prominence, it certainly wasn't there on Monday night.

The team played almost as if it didn't want to win, and fans more than once displayed disgruntlement because ball players such as Ron Wieldeschowski sat on the bench throughout most of the game.

The recruiting that has always proven so important to the smaller school, must be in its historical low.

Nevada's silver and Blue aren't independent, and therefore have restrictions on the luring of top-flight athletes. Credit must be given to Pack coaches Spencer and Bob Donlan.

The Iowa graduate and his former Nevada star assistant must surely wonder what it would be like here if the school had unlimited funds and no restrictions for recruitment purposes.

And Rebel coach Roland Todd must be wondering what goes on when his team's record is at its worst in the past few seasons.

Fans might be treated to a post-season tournament of Nevada, Nevada Southern, Seattle Pacific, and Fresno State. The latter is coached by former Rebel coach, Ed Gregory . . . who by the way, left at a good time. . . .

Cuevas Prints Now Shown

Twelve lithographs (prints) by Jose Cuevas are now being shown in the Church Fine Arts Building. The show is entitled "Recollections of Childhood," and shows Cuevas' personal feelings and observations from the time he was born until he reached adolescence.

Cuevas was born in Mexico, and has revolted against the established art of that country. He is called one of the "angry young men" of Mexico. He accuses the "Bellas Artes" (art establishment) of showing nothing but "copies of copies of copies of so-called Mexican painting."

The lithographs now being shown were printed from stone, the classical lithograph medium. They are one of the 100 prints from a limited edition.

"Cuevas," said William V. Howard, assistant professor of the art department, "is rather surrealistic, in that he creates grotesque images that are more of the subconscious than the conscious mind."

The prints were donated by Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Hitchcock, of Beverly Hills, Calif.

McQueen Explains University Honors

The University Honors Study Program, geared for above average students, is linked closely with advisement, pre-registration and registration procedures, according to Dr. Robert McQueen, director of the honors study program.

Students who wish to enroll in honors courses should tell their advisors at the beginning of their advisement conference.

In order to register in an honors course a student must:

- 1) Obtain approval of his adviser.
- 2) Obtain approval of instructor on the Honors Course Authorization Card.
- 3) Present the signed authorization Card on registration day to the representative at the Honors table in the gymnasium to verify enrollment in the course.

The authorization card is turned in to the instructor at the first class meeting. Instructors of the Honors courses are then to return the completed authorization cards to Dr. McQueen in room 205 of Morrill Hall.

McQueen said that faculty advisers are asked to keep their list of eligible honors students close at hand in order to quickly identify them.

Regular courses offered in the following departments and colleges may be taken for honors credit with consent of the instructor and approval of the department chairman: accounting, agriculture, anthropology, biology, botany, chemistry, economics, education, English, foreign languages, forestry, geology, geography, metallurgy, mining, history, home economics, mathematics, mechanical engineering, music, nursing, philosophy, physics, psychology, political science, sociology, speech, women's physical education and zoology.

Special honors courses reserved entirely for honors students are offered in the following departments: chemistry, English, psychology and political science.

Students or faculty needing assistance or information regarding the honors program may contact Dr. McQueen.

Nancy Johnson To Appear On CBS

Miss Nancy Johnson, president of the National Student Nurses' Association and senior student of the Orvis School of Nursing has been selected to appear on an hour-long National Health Test program on the CBS television network.

Slated for January 18 and 25 at 10 in the evening, the health test will be given to the studio audience and the nationwide viewers.

The studio audience will consist of student nurses from the New York City area. Questions will be asked pertaining to health fallacies and common health practices. Home viewers will be able to score themselves.

The executive board meeting of the National Student Nurses' Association will be held that week, and Miss Johnson has been selected to appear on the two TV programs.

Miss Johnson will be among the participating studio audience on the first broadcast. She will be personally interviewed and will assist the producers of the program on the second broadcast. She will help show viewers "how to take a motor test."

Miss Johnson will be representing both the National Student Nurses' Association and the University of Nevada Orvis School of Nursing.

University Stage Band Ready For Extended Trip

The University of Nevada Stage Band will take its most extended tour to date, starting Monday, Jan. 24. The tour will cover three states, California, Oregon, and Washington, and will last through the following Saturday.

In California, the band will play at the Central Valley High School, in Redding. In Washington, the band will present concerts at Kalama High School, Kalama; and Lower Columbia College, Longview. The band's Oregon tour will include the Medford Senior High School, Medford; Grants Pass High School, Grants Pass; Umpqua High School, Myrtle Creek; Douglas High School, Winston; South Eugene High School, Eugene; College Grove High School, Cottage Grove; Philomath High School, Philomath; and Milwaukie High School, Milwaukie.

Milwaukie High School is presenting its second Annual Milwaukie Stage Band Festival, in which the University of Nevada Stage Band will participate at a "feature" band.

In addition to the concerts to be presented at each school, the Stage Band will hold clinics, which include lectures and demonstrations, at Grants Pass, Winston, and the Southwestern Oregon College in Coos Bay. They will also hold a clinic at the Lower Columbia College, in Longview, Washington.

A "Battle of the Bands" will be held between the Stage Band and the Eugene Professional Band in Eugene, Ore. The Eugene band is made up of professional musicians from the Eugene Musicians Union.

Gene Isaeff, director of the Stage Band; and Dr. John Carrico, director of bands, will head the Stage Band on its tour. Charles Bickhart is the student director.

The tour will last a week, and cover nearly 2,000 miles. It is being financed by the A.S.U.N. and University Bands.

Feature performers in the Stage Band are Bob Montgomery, who plays solo trumpet. Montgomery won the "Outstanding Musician" award at last year's Nevada Stage Band Festival.

Harry Massoth is the trombone soloist. He has had several years professional experience, which included performing with Jan Pearce, Petula Clark and the DeCastro Sisters.

Terry Burns, lead trumpet, has twice won the "all-star band" award at the Nevada Stage Band Festival.

Ron Falter plays drums, and has performed with Brenda Lee, Bobby Daren, and the Collins Kids.

Charles Bickhart, an ex-Air Force bandsman, arranger, and soloist, plays flute, clarinet, and alto saxophone.

Rich Havens, on the vibraharp and drums, has performed with Jack Benny, Eddie Fisher, the King Family, and Tony Martin during his several years of experience.

Tommy Thompson plays the guitar, and has performed with Petula Clark, and Raymond Burr.

The Stage Band was organized in 1960 by Dr. John Carrico. It has played in many stage band festivals, and presents an annual University of Nevada Stage Band Festival each spring.

Most of the Stage Band members attend the Nevada Stage Band Camp, sponsored by the Lake Tahoe Music Camp each summer. The tour is intended to encourage attendance of the summer camps, said Dr. John Carrico.

From the End of the Bench

By GREGG ZIVE

It was a grand and glorious day. It was the day of reckoning for our sister campus to the South. The Wolf Pack traveled to the home of the Rebels and defeated Nevada Southern in Las Vegas for the first time in the history of the rivalry between the schools. They have never beaten us at home yet. There are many of us from Reno that were pretty tired of listening to the very partisan residents of Las Vegas, who forsaked "Tumbleweed Tech" to attend this campus build up the Rebels to the point that they should be ranked higher than they were in the wire association polls. This victory meant a lot to us all.

It should be pointed out that the officiating in Las Vegas was fair. Nevada made 18 for 25 from the free throw line while NSU only had 17 free throws and made 12 of them.

Nevada Southern will travel to Reno Feb. 8, to play the Pack. They will be out for revenge but I doubt if they will find it.

The entire campus is in debt to ASUN First Vice-President Charles Murphy. Chuck was responsible for the good luck telegram that was delivered to the players just before last Monday's game in Vegas. When he went to the Western Union office it was discovered that the money collected would only pay for half of the message and names. Chuck paid the rest. The telegram was a good idea and the players want everyone who signed it to know they really appreciated it.

I am writing this column before the Sacramento State game. We will go into the game with a 7-5 record and I think we will come out of it with an 8-5 record. Sac State is not a pushover but Nevada has a squad that is going to be hard to beat by any conference team. This Wolf Pack team is a proud team. It takes pride to be able to suffer defeats like the ones to Southern Illinois and Texas Western and be able to come back with strong showings such as the one Monday night. It is a team that does not have height but with Larry Moore, Nap Montgomery, Bill Nicholson, Jerry Hart, and Tommy Smith they get more than their share of rebounds. Moore has a good chance to lead the league in rebounds. Nevada's ball-handling has been subject to criticism but Frank Bruno, Bob Gilliam, Tom Andreason, George Corder, and George Schoenberger seem to make the big play when it is needed. These players compliment each other and are a smooth working team. That is the secret of success—"A" team effort.

In all the Wolf Pack victories there has been balanced shooting. There were four men in double figures in most of these victories. In Monday's game against NSU there were four but Bill Nicholson fouled out with 16 minutes left. He had eight points and probably would have scored two more and would have been the fifth player with 10 points or more. In the remainder of our conference games I believe that Nevada will have four if not five men in double figures in every game.

Larry Moore broke loose against Humboldt. He scored 37 points which is a career high for him. It also eclipsed Nap Montgomery's 36 point total against Creighton for the most points scored in a game for Nevada in at least three years.

Otis Burrell was honored again this week. The amazing high jumper was picked as the Athlete of the Year by the Sierra Nevada Sportswriters and Broadcasters Association. Last year Burrell broke the Mackay Stadium record, FWC record, and the school record. Otis went 7-3/4 during the regular season. This summer he participated in eight meets during the American European tour. He won six times. He cleared 7-1 7/8 which is his best mark. He finished second to Valery Brumel in last year's US-USSR meet. He has cleared seven feet 10 times in his career. Congratulations to a real champion.

Nevada Finally Does It—Whips NSU Rebels At Home 74-70

By Gregg Zive
Sports Editor

It happened! Monday night was the first time the University of Nevada Wolf Pack has ever defeated the Nevada Southern Rebels in Las Vegas. The Pack won 74-70.

Nevada held off a last period comeback by NSU to ruin the Rebels homecoming game and bring the Morrill Hall bell back to Reno.

NSU jumped out to a quick lead. The Rebels led 11-3 with six minutes played in the opening period. After six more minutes the Silver and Blue took the lead 20-19 with eight minutes to play in the first half.

The Nevada squad led by 11 at halftime, 39-28. Then Silas Stepp led a Rebel rally that closed the visitors lead to three points twice in the closing moments of the game. However, the Pack held off the charging Rebels to give Nevada its first victory in the Southland.

Larry Moore had his second hot night of last weekend to lead the Pack in scoring with 21 points. He was followed by Nap Montgomery who hit for 15 tallies. Frank Bruno got 14 and Bob Gilliam, starting his first game since his vacation accident, was good for 15.

Nevada's zone defense and balanced scoring were the two reasons Nevada came out on the long end of the score.

Stepp was the high point man for NSU with 25. Bob Brown and Chuck Campione both hit for 10 points.

This game gave the Pack a 7-5 record and evened the Rebel's record at 7-7.

Big 6'5" center for the Wolf Pack, Bill Nicholson fouled out with 16 minutes left to play. Jerry Hart, however, adequately replaced him.

The next contest for Nevada will be Sunday against the Sacramento State Hornets in the second FWC conference game of the year for the Silver and Blue.

Basketball Recess For Intramurals

Intramural basketball closed out its fifth week of play yesterday and will not resume play until after semester break.

Results of last week's play is as follows: the Independent No. 2 team defeated ATO No. 3 by forfeit, ATO No. 2 defeated SAE No. 2 47-20, White Pine No. 1 defeated Lambda Chi No. 2, 32-15 and the Independent No. 3 team downed the Lambda Chi No. 1 team 50-29.

With five weeks of play completed four teams are tied for first place with two wins and no losses. Teams tied for first are ATO No. 3, Lincoln Hall No. 1, Independent No. 3, and ATO No. 2.

Pack Over Tough Sac. State 79-71; Moore Leads Attack

Forwards Nap Montgomery and Larry Moore led the Wolf Pack to a 79-71 victory over Sacramento State Wednesday night. The two jumping jacks scored 51 points between them to play a main role in Nevada's second Far Western Conference victory.

Moore scored 30 points to lead the Pack and Montgomery had 21. Frank Bruno scored 15 points and Bob Gilliam was also in double figures with 10 markers.

Nevada jumped to a 10-2 lead but the Hornets came back to lead by three. Then the Silver and Blue regained the lead by four at the half, 43-39.

The difference in the second half was the domination of the backboards by Nevada's Moore, Montgomery and Nicholson. With six minutes left, the Pack built a 13-point lead. With one minute left, Nevada led 76-63.

Bruno and Gilliam both turned in outstanding performances in the backcourt.

Bob Ferrel took the shooting honors for Sac. State with 17 points. The Hornets were hurt by the loss of two men on fouls including high scorer Lynn Livie.

The victory gave the Pack a 2-0 FWC record and 8-5 overall. The Hornets are now 0-1 in conference play and 2-10 on the season. The next Wolf Pack action will be January 26, against Santa Clara in the Centennial Coliseum.

New Library Of Congress System To Be Used In Library Classification

The Library of Congress cataloging and classifying system will begin to replace the Dewey Decimal system at the Getchell Library this month, says Mr. David Heron, director of libraries.

The Library of Congress system differs from the Dewey Decimal system in that it is more flexible, and it uses a combination of letters and numbers instead of just numbers.

Several reasons for the change have been given. Most of the major colleges have changed or are in the process of changing. Another reason is that although there is a high initial cost, over the years the cost will be less than keeping a 19th century system.

"No additional librarians will be needed if we change systems, while ten more would be required if the library stayed with the old system until 1975," said Mr. Heron.

In the Library of Congress system, the books will be arranged in a more efficient manner than before. Also, the cast of changing books that arrive already marked in the Library of Congress system will be eliminated.

Beginning in January, the backlog of books that have not yet been classified will be classified in the Library of Congress system. A special section, near the periodicals, will be set off for the books. The Congress system will be kept separate from the other books until there is a sufficient number of them.

Two complete catalogues will be set up during the transition period. One is for the new books, while the other is for the old books classified in the Dewey Decimal system.

The change will be a gradual one, and some of the books currently classified in the Dewey Decimal system may never be reclassified. Some of the books may be archaic, or not used frequently. Books not reclassified will be either discarded or stored.

New Bell Tradition Started By Rebels

A tradition has been initiated at Nevada and NSU. The Morrill Hall bell is now to be a revolving basketball trophy between the two schools. The bell is now back in our possession.

Last week a few NSU students, including their student body president, "borrowed" the Morrill Hall bell. They had attempted to "borrow" one of the cannons next to Morrill Hall but were caught.

With the bell in their possession they invited the Nevada basketball team to win it back at NSU's first Homecoming celebration last Tuesday.

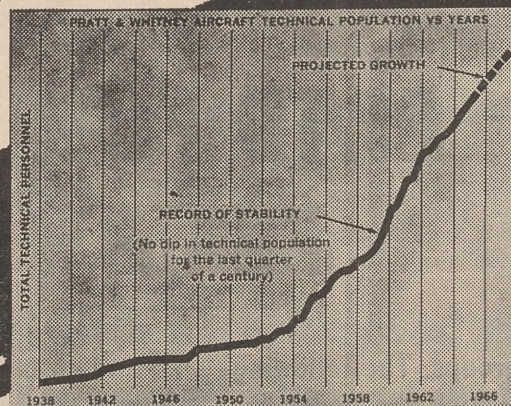

The Wolf Pack repossessed the bell with a 74-70 victory.

Past Present

The Company's first engine, the Wasp, took to the air on May 5, 1926. Within a year the Wasp set its first world record and went on to smash existing records and set standards for both land and seaplanes for years to come, carrying airframes and pilots higher, farther, and faster than they had ever gone before.

In recent years, planes powered by Pratt & Whitney Aircraft have gone on to set new standards of performance in much the same way as the Wasp had done in the 1920's. The 727 and DC-9 are indicative of the new family of short-to-medium range jetliners which are powered by the highly successful JT8D turbofan. Examples of current military utilizations are the J58-powered Mach 3 YF-12A which recently established four world aviation records and the advanced TF30-powered F-111 variable-geometry fighter aircraft.

Your and the Future

Take a look at the above chart; then a good long look at Pratt & Whitney Aircraft—where technical careers offer exciting growth, continuing challenge, and lasting stability—where engineers and scientists are recognized as the major reason for the Company's continued success.

Engineers and scientists at Pratt & Whitney Aircraft are today exploring the ever-broadening avenues of energy conversion for every environment... all opening up new avenues of exploration in every field of aerospace, marine and industrial power application. The technical staff working on these programs, backed by Management's determination to provide the best and most advanced facilities and scientific apparatus, has already given the Company a firm foothold in the current land, sea, air and space programs so vital to our country's future. The list of achievements amassed by our technical staff is a veritable list of firsts in the development of compact power plants, dating back to the first Wasp engine which lifted the United States to a position of world leadership in aviation. These engineering and scientific achievements have enabled the Company to obtain its current position of leadership in fields such as gas turbines, liquid hydrogen technology and fuel cells.

Should you join us, you'll be assigned early responsibility. You'll find the spread of Pratt & Whitney Aircraft's programs requires virtually every technical talent. You'll find opportunities for professional growth further enhanced by our Corporation-financed Graduate Education Program. Your degree can be a BS, MS or PhD in: MECHANICAL • AERONAUTICAL • ELECTRICAL • CHEMICAL ENGINEERING • PHYSICS • CHEMISTRY • METALLURGY • CERAMICS • MATHEMATICS • ENGINEERING SCIENCE OR APPLIED MECHANICS.

For further information concerning a career with Pratt & Whitney Aircraft, consult your college placement officer—or write Mr. William L. Stoner, Engineering Department, Pratt & Whitney Aircraft, East Hartford, Connecticut 06108.

Fire Discovered In Fleischmann Home Ec Building

A fire was discovered by two women in the Sarah Hamilton Fleischmann Home Economics building late Friday evening at 11:50 p.m.

Janice Miller and Joyce Crook had been studying in the building that evening in preparation for student teaching next semester and for finals.

Miss Crook saw thick columns of smoke escaping from the women's restroom on the second floor of the building. Both women tried to find the fire itself, but the smoke was so thick that they could not get inside the room. Miss Miller said she thought that it might have been an electrical fire because she could smell burning rubber.

The women used one of the private phones in the building and called the campus policeman.

Four fire engines answered the midnight call. Hatchet-bearing firemen went into the restroom and found the cause of the excitement. Cigarette butts and matches had been dumped into the waste basket. What seemed to be an electrical fire was actually the burning of the rubber-treated canvas lining in the basket.

Firemen checked the building for other signs or clues as to the cause of the fire and re-tested the fire alarms.

The alarms are still not in operation. A sign over them reads, "Out of order. Use phone."

The only public phone in the building accessible in time of an emergency has been out of order for over a month.

Carnival Queen Voting Set

Voting for the Winter Carnival queen will be held on the ground floor of the Travis Union Monday and Tuesday, February 7 and 8, announced AWS Queens chairman Dinie Harwood.

The polls will be open from 9 to 3. Only matriculated male students will be eligible to vote.

As in similar elections, no campaigning will be allowed within ten feet of the union building.

Miss Harwood urges all male students to vote.

CASH PAID FOR BOOKS

Used textbooks fall into three groups. The following categories determine the price at which the bookstore may purchase a used book:

1. Current copyright books that have been selected for the next semester and there is an inadequate supply in the bookstore. These books are worth 50 per cent of the current new price.
2. Current copyright books that are no longer in use at the University of Nevada, or have not been definitely selected by the instructor. These books can be sold to a wholesale book jobber. The ASUN Bookstore acts as an agent and can pay cash to the student for these books at the jobber's catalog price. These books are shipped from the campus for use on other college campuses. The price paid cannot be too high as the jobber has considerable expense involved in shipping, warehousing, and selling of these books. Too, the wholesaler faces a risk of not selling them at all.

3. The third group includes old editions, out of print and similar titles which are no longer in demand, and have little or no value.
