Regents Board Increases Fees For University

The Board of Regents of the University of Nevada Saturday agreed to increase semester fees for full time students by $44.50.

Forty-two dollars of the fee raise will be spent for a capital improvement program, while the remaining $2.50 will go for student body fees.

Part time students will pay 3 per semester per credit toward the fund.

The projected enrollment figures for 1966, indicate the fees could give $5.2 million to the Reno campus and $2.8 million for Nevada Southern University in Las Vegas.

Regent Harold Jacobsen said the additional fees will be put in a special building fund, of service revenue bonds. Buildings will have to be approved by the state legislature.

He added, "This is another way to borrow money." The legislature earlier disapproved a plan by which tuition fees would be used for bonds.

Jacobsen said the state would have had to appropriate money to replace the money used to retire the bonds, had the tuition money been used.

Six State Bands Here For Festival

High school bands from six states are expected to participate in the next annual spring Stage Band festival, which will be held March 18-19, says Dr. John Carrico, professor of music.

The bands may sign up for the festival as either performing bands, or observing bands. Applications are now being accepted by Dr. Carrico.

Started in 1962, with only four bands, the festival has grown to include forty-seven bands in 1965.

Clarinet player Buddy DeFranco was the guest at the 1962 festival. Trombone player Carl Fontana held the same honor in 1963, said Dr. Carrico.

Similar appearances were made by trumpeter "Doc" Severinsen in 1964, and drummer Louis Bellson, in 1965.

Finance Control To Rule On Requests

The ASUN Finance Control Board will meet on February 8 to rule on all financial requests, according to Chuck Murphy, ASUN first vice president.

Any requests for the ASUN allocations must be filed by Friday, February 4.

The requests should be submitted to the ASUN first vice president's office in the Student Union building.

Request forms are available in the ASUN office.

Winter Carnival This Year Billed As 'Finest Ever'

By Ed Parsons

Tradition, fine competitive spirit, and unequaled social events will be the feature of this year's Winter Carnival as it has been in every carnival since the first one in 1936.

The Winter Carnival originally began as a ski meet and was intended to decide the champion of the Pacific Coast Intercollegiate Ski Union, Southern Division. The University of Nevada ski team set the pace for years to come by winning the championship. Certain traditions, some of which have been "changed only slightly, arose from the first carnival."

Up until 1961 the Winter Carnival Queen was chosen by a panel of three judges who selected an attractive coed from one of the colleges being represented in the meet. Now the princess is elected by the male portion of the student body and is a representative of the freshmen class.

The flip of a coin decided whether the fraternities or sororities would hold the first open house. It was decided that open house would be alternated each year between the fraternities and sororities.

World War II interrupted the Winter Carnival from 1943-1945. However in 1946 Nevada had a big year in the Winter Carnival competition as the U. of N. skiers made a clean sweep of all events with the exception of the women's downhill.

Nevada's Winter Carnival has gained more than local recognition. In 1940 Oliver Hehrlein, winter sports editor for the San Francisco Examiner, said, "This event is fast becoming the biggest and best-known winter sports event on the Pacific coast, and if the University of Nevada does as good a job in the future as it has in the past they will soon become

Smithwick Named Head Of Ingersoll Drive Committee

Mike Smithwick has been named chairman of the Mike Ingersoll Fund Drive Committee established by ASUN President Bill Chaffin. The purpose of the group is to raise money for a series of lectures on the Nevada campus.

At least $10,000 is needed to establish the type of lecture series planned. It is hoped that leading lecturers and university professors who are currently in the news will be obtained to present topics. The lectures are also being planned so that they will be published for use as a textbook and reference material throughout the nation.

The fund drive has been divided into two parts, on-and off-campus. Smithwick's committee will be mainly in charge of on-campus funds while President Armstrong and Chancellor N. Edd Miller are coordinating off-campus donations.

Smithwick has stated there will be no direct financial solicitations. "We hope to give the students something for their money." Preliminary ideas include having an all-school benefit dance and a "stag night" for the fraternities which will feature boxing.

The ground work is being established now. The actual drive known for their winter carnival." In 1954, the Winter Carnival was honored by being selected to host the first NCAA National Ski Championships in American in-will be started at the beginning of the spring semester, which has been officially dedicated to the late ASUN President who was killed while attempting his first skydive.

Opportunities Are Available Abroad

All students interested in graduate study and travel abroad are urged to see the many opportunities available to them, on the third floor bulletin board of the Fandsen Humanities Building.

Dr. Charles V. Wells, associate professor and chairman of the foreign language department, has helped several students in the last year to obtain additional information leading to these travels.

Several graduate fellowships and assistantships are offered each year.

tercollegiate history. In 1960, competition was not held for the University of Nevada was named host university for the VIII Olympic Games held at Squaw Valley.

The result of all this has been the largest intercollegiate ski meet in the far west. The greatest number of participating universities has been 14 with a possible 16 entries for Sierra Scene '66.

Ag Specialist Will Accept New Post In Nation's Capital

The head of the Agricultural Information Service, Walter J. Whorton, is leaving Nevada for a position as information specialist with the Federal Extension Service in Washington, D. C.

Whorton, who joined the university staff in 1959 as an Extension Service Information Specialist, will assume his new job in Washington on January 31. The College of Agriculture has not announced his replacement as yet.

Whorton, a 1953 graduate in agriculture journalism at the University of Missouri, came to the University of Nevada from public relations jobs in Missouri and Arkansas. He was also the Director of Information of the Farm Bureau in Little Rock, Arkansas.

He was named specialist-in-charge of the Agricultural Information Service in the College of Agriculture here in 1962.

A Reason to Remain

Should the University of Nevada get out of the Far Western Conference?

This question can be heard discussed by students, faculty, as well as die-hard alumni at everywhere from the Little Waldorf to the classroom.

Some reasons often overheard for leaving the FWC are: national fame in athletics would strengthen the name of the university; big-time athletics, let's say football, would bring in more money; or simply, "I want to see big-time teams play in Reno."

It is further argued that we have an area which would draw top-notch athletes. Then, of course, such things as the easy entrance requirements are stated.

Nevada joined the FWC in the early 1950's. Prior to this, so-called big-time football was tried.

According to Athletic Director Glenn Lawlor this policy, one which many would have us return to, did not work out because so much money was lost.

As Lawlor puts it, "The university did have great teams in the '40's but no one realizes it was a losing proposition."

Lawlor further states, "We now have 11 collegiate sports. We think we have set up a well-rounded program which gives any student the chance to participate." He is firmly against the university leaving the FWC.

Certainly a program which calls for active participation in all sports sounds like a good idea. But what about the results of such a program?

The results speak for themselves.

This past year saw three Wolf Pack team finish high in National Collegiate Athletic Association championships.

The skiers came in high nationally last winter. The boxers finished second in the NCAA tournament last year. And last spring the Pack baseball team finished first in the NCAA small college tournament on the West Coast.

The basketball and track teams won the FWC championships in their respective sports. The cross country team this fall went undefeated in conference competition.

In football the Pack had one of its finest years, ending up in second place in the FWC.

When one looks at the results of Wolf Pack teams during the past year it is apparent Lawlor's program is achieving excellent results.

We endorse remaining in the Far Western Conference.

The present program is one of active participation. One that has achieved good results. It is a good program. One that needs our praise — not our criticism.

Economists Plan For State HS Visit

High schools throughout Nevada will be visited by home economists during the semester break and the early weeks in February. Twelve staff members of the Sarah Hamilton Fleischmann School of Home Economics will talk to junior and senior girls on the "Opportunities for Young Women in Home Economics."

The faculty members will be visiting two to four high schools located in their assigned area.

Facts on scholarship opportunities, housing costs, and curriculum at the university will also be discussed. Parent conferences and meetings with high school principles and guidance counselors are also planned.

Visits to the Las Vegas area and to Bishop Manogue High School by faculty members begin the program this week.

Journalism Dept. Chosen Charter Center Member

The A. L. Higginbotham Department of Journalism has been chosen to be one of the eight "charter" schools of the newly established Washington Journalism Center.

Situated in Washington, D.C., the Center was organized by journalists and educators of 17 universities.

Prof. Higginbotham, chairman of the A. L. Higginbotham Department of Journalism, is the vice chairman of the executive committee of the charter group.

The center will not offer degrees but graduate students in journalism will be eligible to study at the Center and authorized work may be acceptable toward the master of arts degree in journalism at Nevada.

Those awarded fellowships to the Center will spend one to two semesters in Washington participating in seminars, internships, research projects, and special conferences.

The other universities involved in the Center are American Columbia, Florida, Indiana, Minnesota, Missouri, Ohio State, Oklahoma State, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Southern California, Stanford, Syracuse, Texas, West Virginia, and Wisconsin.

All journalistic media, including newspapers, magazines, radio and television, and all aspects of journalistic work within those media will be considered by the Center.

Letters to the Editor

THE HUMBUG MANIFESTO!

We, the wonderful members of HUMBUG, that fabulous, if somewhat eccentric, Secret Society, do hereby petition the ASUN publication board for permission to publish and distribute on campus a somewhat irrelevant Newsletter, appropriately titled The Humbug Newsletter.

We ask that we be assigned a Faculty Advisor, preferably George Herman, or at least one who can read and write. We ask for an official Censor to be named by the Board, that we be prevented from doing harm to others and ourselves by inadvertently publishing Libel, Hersey, or other Social Evils. The only objective is to publish Amusing and Caustic Satire, a dearth of which has been found on the U of N campus for some time.

Please feel free, yea obligated, to contact Mr. Gordon C. Carlson, Grand Noble HUMBUG in Charge, at 329-6763 in the evenings. Since he is rarely home, leave a message or follow either of the two following alternatives:

- 1) Call Bill Isaef. He's in on it, too.
- 2) Write to Carlson, since he has been known to frequent his mailbox at 1900 Keystone.

Please disregard the flippancy, implied or otherwise, in this manifesto; we are in Dead Earnest, and Desperate Characters. Please notify us of the PROPER way to go about this, and we will no doubt comply. Heh heh heh.

 Satch Carlson

'Batman' Gets Many Mixed Views From Nevada Students

By Rick Macauley

"It is intellectual, stimulating, and tremendously thought provoking and it is bound to become a status symbol among the in-crowd of the college set. I believe this program will bring back to America the traditional set of values that our forefathers fought so gallantly for."

Is this a critique of a recently aired, brilliant news program? No, this is a comment which has risen from ABC's premier of Batman which was seen in Reno on KOLO-TV, channel 8.

The program was seen by many on campus, a fact that "is surprising since it is dead week and all the students are presumed instead, to be glued to the books.

There were literary critiques, light pokes, and funny opinions expressed about Batman which ranged from "corny" to "morbid," from "hilarious" to "sickening." Some follow:

"It was so dumb that it was funny," said Carol Crawford.

"I didn't dig it; I'd rather watch the Flintstones," was Jim Baker's view.

"An intellectual retardation. It capitalized on the public's childhood hero-worship. If I have absolutely nothing else to do, I probably wouldn't watch it," Arnie Hansmann stated.

"It's so ridiculous that it's funny. I'll be watching again; it's great," said Ron Bath.

"If he's Josh's idol, he's got to be great. It's something you've just got to watch because it is so hilarious," Gary Woods said.

"Man, it was bad . . . yeh, I'll watch it tonight, just for laughs," said Tim Thyne.

"I think he's got homosexual tendencies!" was Melani Murray's opinion.

"I don't like continued stories like that. You have to watch every one and if you have to study or something . . . well, there you are watching Batman," said Jo Anne Margerum.

Future Teachers Meet With Co-ops

Students who will be teaching under the home economics education program met with their cooperating teachers last Saturday.

The senior students, who will be student-teaching the next semester, met in a four hour conference. They drew up plans for their teaching programs.

Dr. Patricia A. Tripple, professor of home economics education, advises the students.

Biochemistry Course Now Offered

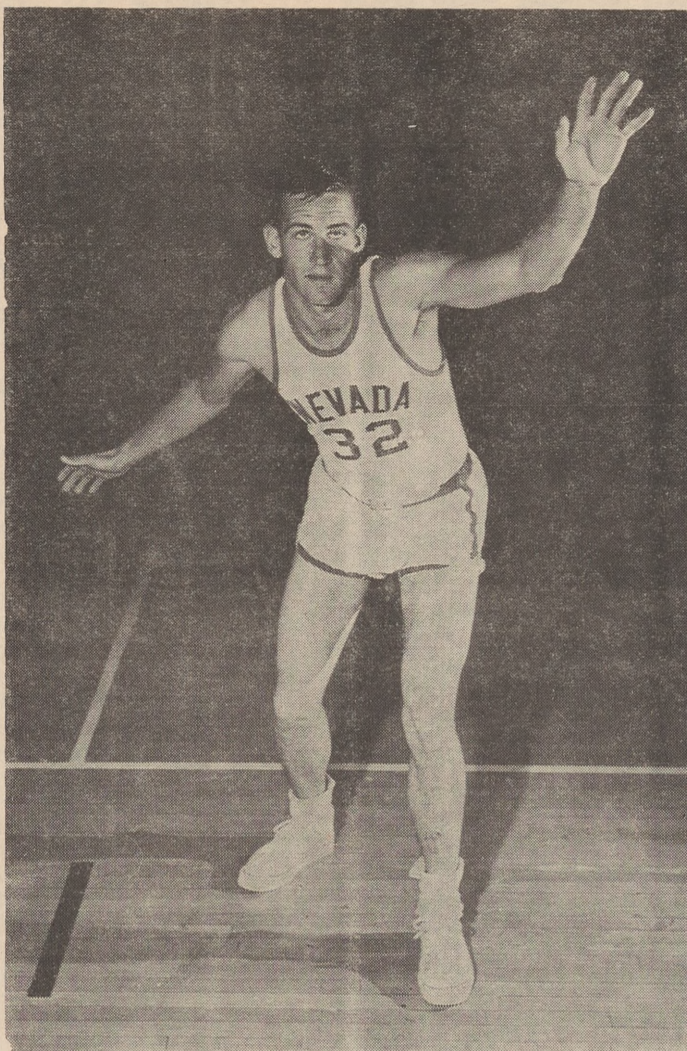

The General University Extension of the University of Nevada will offer a course in Biochemistry 305—General Pharmacology, beginning on Feb. 3.

The course will be an introduction to the study and science of pharmacology and biological effects on living systems of chemical substances. It includes terminology, metabolism, effects and side effects. Prerequisite is chemistry 101 and a beginning biology course.

The class will meet from 7 to 10 p.m. on Thursdays in room 103 of the Fleischmann Home Economics building. The fee for the three credit course is $45. Registration begins Jan. 26 and continues through Feb. 2.

Dr. Dean C. Fletcher, research professor of biological sciences, will teach the class. He has been a member of the University of Nevada faculty since 1961.

Meet Your Wolf Pack

TOM ANDREASON, Nevada reserve, and former Virginia City star, is the unheralded "sixth" man on the 1965 Wolf Pack team.

Economics Students To Teach

Several junior and senior students enrolled in the Sarah Hamilton Fleischmann School of Home Economics will be student teaching this semester. Others will be working in their chosen fields for six weeks.

Nine coeds will teach three to four units in Nevada high schools. Home economics courses in several phases that are approved by a cooperating teacher will be taught by the students.

Student teacher and the school in which they will be working are: Mrs. Nancy Bruce, Douglas County High School; Evelyn Miller, Carson High School; Janice Miller, Humboldt County High School; Judy Saden and Barbara Saralegui, Archie Clayton Junior High School; Mrs. Janet Malsom, E. Otis Vaughn Junior High School; Mrs. Dawna Daniels, Sparks High School; and Mrs. Bonnie Cody, Reno High School.

Students who will be working with cooperating Nevada and California businesses are: Joy Green

Carpenter in interior design; Shirley Williams in home extension work; Leanne Krejci and Margie Johnson in foods and nutrition work; and Julie Lewis in home economic journalism with "Sunset" magazine.

Twenty-five Awards Ready

Approximately 25 University of Nevada freshman scholarships will be awarded this year to outstanding graduates of Nevada high schools, both public and private. For the recipients in Washoe County, each award will total $250; for those recipients outside of Washoe County, the award will be $500.

Awards will be made strictly on the basis of the results of the American Colleges Testing program (A.C.T.), academic achievement in high school, and the recommendations of the high school principals.

Students who have not yet taken the ACT must do so on Feb. 19. If students plan to take the test then, they must preregister at their high school for this test no later than Jan. 22.

Applications are available from the students' high school principal and must be returned to him no later than March 1. He will transmit them to the scholarship committee of the University of Nevada.

Wolf Pack Baseball Mentor Receives Honor

The Sierra Nevada Sportswriters and Broadcasters Association named Nevada baseball coach Bill Ireland 1965 Coach of the Year, last Wednesday.

The native Nevadan from McGill was selected for producing one of the best Wolf Pack baseball teams in history. Last spring the Pack won the NCAA Pacific Coast college-division championship. Ireland also coached the football defensive squad last fall.

Second Nevada coach to receive the award, Ireland will be honored at the association's annual banquet next month. Other award winners from Nevada included Dick Dankworth, track coach; and Jimmie Olivias, boxing coach.

Finishing second in the Far Western Conference, Ireland's diamond squad won its last eight games in a row and trailed, 8-6, going into the ninth inning of the NCAA title game.

Born in McGill in 1927, Ireland was graduated from White Pine High School. He attended the University of Nevada and was graduated in 1962, and received his Masters degree here in 1960.

After coaching at Fernley and South Tahoe, Ireland joined the Nevada coaching staff in 1960.

In addition to his coaching duties, Ireland finds time for a daily radio show (KBET) and sports-casts Nevada basketball games and Reno Silver Sox baseball games.

While attending Nevada, Ireland played both football and baseball for Jake Lawlor. Ireland credited Lawlor, now athletic director at the university, as the person who influenced him most in choosing his career.

Ireland lives at 2070 W. Seventh St. with his wife, Jeanne, and seven children.

BILL IRELAND

Others nominated for the 1965 award by the association were Nevada football coach Dick Trachok, Lassen High School basketball coach Bob Jones, Winnemuc-ca High School football coach Bob O'Connor, Wooster High School basketball coach Charlie Spina, and Reno YMCA swimming coach Paul Torno.

University Of Nevada, College A & S Offer Two New Courses

The University of Nevada's evening division, in cooperation with the College of Arts and Science, art department, will hold two art courses for the spring semester, 1966.

Art 283, crafts, will include three-dimensional design, and laboratory problems dealing with the practical application of design principles to purposes such as jewelry, furniture, objects of formed metal, casting and enameling. The class will be limited to 15 and may not be audited. Fee waivers do not apply to this class. Donald Spaulding will be the instructor for the crafts class, which will meet in room 3 of the Church Fine Arts building on Monday and Wednesday evenings from 7 to 10 p.m. The fee for this three-credit course is $45.

The second course will be Art 375-376, ceramics, which will consist of an introduction to the design and production of pottery and other ceramic products, and the study of clay, clay bodies and glazes and their use in the ceramic arts.

Art 475-476, advanced ceramics, is a continuation of Art 375-376 with special emphasis on clay compounds, glazes and glaze formulation, kiln firing and temperature control. The prerequisite is Art 375-376.

Mr. Spaulding will also teach the ceramics classes. The class will meet on Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 7 to 10 p.m. in room 3, Church Fine Arts building. The first meeting will be

Feb. 3. Each of the ceramics courses carries three credits and registration fee will be $45.

Registration for these and all other evening division courses will begin on Jan. 26 in room 200, Clark Administration building, on the university campus. Registrations will be accepted through Feb. 2 and late registrations, changes and drops and adds until Feb. 11.

For further information, contact the evening division office, room 200, Clark Administration building at the University of Nevada, or phone 323-2081, Ext. 221.

Leg. Bureau Head MacDonald Talks

Russell McDonald, head of the Nevada Legislative Counsel Bureau, was guest speaker for the political science department recently.

McDonald and his staff do the drafting of bills for the Nevada Legislature and also serve as its legal division. He spoke on "The Realities of Nevada Government", to the political science 203 class.

Dr. Eleanore Bushnell, chairman of the political science department, said Mr. McDonald would be invited to speak to the 203 class next semester.

Chemistry Dept. Receives $13,000 Research Grant

Dr. David MacDonald, assistant professor of chemistry, has received a $13,000 research grant from the Air Force Office of Scientific Research. Dr. MacDonald and a graduate student, Brian A. Sok, are studying the reaction times of certain compounds.

The money will be used to buy scientific equipment, chemicals and computer time.

Dr. MacDonald is measuring the reaction time of a nickle ion. Sok is studying silver ions. The study could also include related elements such as gold and copper. The research will take about seven years.

'Wild Party' Students Dismissed By Court

The students involved in a supposed "wild, peyote" party just previous to the beginning of the Fall semester have had all charges dismissed by Reno Judge Matthews.

The following is the courts' decision:

IN THE MUNICIPAL COURT OF THE CITY OF RENO CITY OF RENO, Plaintiff,

VS.

Defendants.
ORDER DISMISSING COMPLAINTS FOR VIOLATION OF PLAINTS FOR VIOLATION OF MUNICIPAL ORDINANCES
IT APPEARING TO THE COURT that the above-named defendants have been charged severally with the violation of municipal ordinances, namely, disturbing the peace, drunkenness, and resisting arrest; and

IT FURTHER APPEARING TO THE COURT that by stipulation with the City the statements of the officer in charge and other officers involved in this matter were taken by deposition under oath; and

IT FURTHER APPEARING TO THE COURT that the statements of the mentioned police officers are corroborated and supported by the filing of affidavits of independent witnesses to the transaction out of which the complaints in this action were filed; and

IT FURTHER APPEARING TO THE COURT that the sworn statements of the officers and the affidavits of independent witnesses conclusively show that there is no factual basis for any of the complaints filed herein and that such complaints should, as a matter of law, be dismissed; now there fore,

IT IS HEREBY ORDERED that all complaints filed against the defendants above-named in this action be and the same hereby are dismissed with prejudice.

DATED: December 17, 1965.
MUNICIPAL JUDGE

Mackay Science Physics, Chemistry Libraries Merge

The physics library and the chemistry library, both in the Mackay Science Hall, have merged. The branch library will now be called the Physical Sciences Library.

The reason for the change, says Mrs. Jeannette Britton, of the Getchell Library staff, is that space was no longer available. To give more space for the books, the partition in the chemistry library that enclosed three offices were taken down.

The libraries, which had run on the honor system, with students checking books out on their honor, will now work the same way as the main library. Mrs. Britton will be at the Physical Science Library for a half day, and a student will be there for the rest of the time.

National Magazine Will Sponsor Spring Competition For Nev. Coeds

"Mademoiselle" magazine will sponsor competition during the Spring semester for college women in the areas of art, photography, fiction, poetry and one-act plays.

The magazine said, . . . "we make every effort to call the work of winning entrants and runners-up to the attention of gallery owners, publishers, and anyone else who is interested in new talent."

Each winner in an area of competition will have her work published in the magazine and will receive a cash prize.

All women of the University of Nevada 25 years old or younger are eligible to enter any of the contests.

An entrant to the art competition must submit at least five samples of her work. The deadline for this contest is February 1, 1966.

In the fiction competition one or more short stories of no more than 5,000 words in length must be sent to the magazine by February 15.

One or more poems of any length may be entered in the competition and must be postmarked no later than February 1.

In the one-act play competition, one or more plays, each of no more than 5,000 words, must be sent to the magazine by March 1, 1966.

Information blanks will be in the Student Union snack bar.

American Nuclear Society Is Formed

A student chapter of the American Nuclear Society has been formed on campus. Membership is open to students in any engineering field, mathematics, physics, or chemistry.

Chapter president, Frank German, said the purpose of the society is for the "professional development of students by lectures and visits to various atomic installations."

Nuclear engineering is dedicated to studying the atomic nucleus and finding uses for it and its components, he said.

Interested students can inquire about the group at the nuclear engineering department or may talk with German at White Pine Hall.

CASH PAID FOR BOOKS

Used textbooks fall into three groups. The following categories determine the price at which the bookstore may purchase a used book:

1. Current copyright books that have been selected for the next semester and there is an inadequate supply in the bookstore. These books are worth 50 per cent of the current new price.
2. Current copyright books that are no longer in use at the University of Nevada, or have not been definitely selected by the instructor. These books can be sold to a wholesale book jobber. The ASUN Bookstore acts as an agent and can pay cash to the student for these books at the jobber's catalog price. These books are shipped from the campus for use on other college campuses. The price paid cannot be too high as the jobber has considerable expense involved in shipping, warehousing, and selling of these books. Too, the wholesaler faces a risk of not selling them at all.

3. The third group includes old editions, out of print and similar titles which are no longer in demand, and have little or no value.

Sophomore Capping Is Slated

Capping ceremonies for eligible sophomore students will be held Sunday, February 6 at 2 p.m. The Nursing Convocation will be held in the Jot Travis Student Union Lounge. Dr. Fred Anderson of the Board of Regents will be the guest speaker.

Twenty-seven sophomores are expected to be capped by junior and senior students of the Orvis School of Nursing. The capping ceremony will complete the uniforms of the student nurses.

The caps presented to the students were designed by Dr. Marilyn J. Horn, professor and associate director of the Sarah Hamilton Fleischmann School of Home Economics. The history and significance of the caps, which resemble Western hats, will be given by Miss Connie Biglow. Miss Biglow is president of the State Student Nursing Association.

Musical entertainment will be provided by members of the University of Nevada music department.

The wives of doctors in Washoe County will be in charge of the social hour to follow the capping ceremonies.

Spanish Club Exhibit

The Spanish Club has an art exhibit on display in the Jot Travis Union Lounge. The paintings are products of some widely known European artists.

Formosa Student Attends Nevada

Miss Betsey Pao-Hsien Sheng, a foreign student from Formosa will be attending the university next semester. Miss Sheng is a graduate student majoring in education. She graduated from Providence College, an all-girl Catholic school in Tai Chung, with a degree in English and business.

Betsey has four sisters and one younger brother. Her father is Chief of Information in Formosa. She enjoys reading and is "very eager" to continue her education in the United States.

She will be living in one of the womens dormitories on campus and is "excited about moving in."

Rembrandt, Picasso Prints Are Exhibited And Sold At Nevada

A print exhibition and sale was held recently in the art department by the Ferdinand Roten Galleries, Inc. of Baltimore, Maryland.

The sale offered about 500-700 prints by both old and new masters. Among the numerous selections offered were prints by Rembrandt and Picasso.

Prices ranged from $5-$625, with most of the selections running about $25.

Robert W. DeMuth, the Roten Galleries representative, said he is one of three representatives who travels to universities and colleges to offer such prints to college students.

An installment payment plan is available to students, by which they may pay for their selections in three installments, with no interest charged.

Roten Galleries has been coming to the University of Nevada for the last three years, and will come again next year.

Desert Research Receives Grant

Approval of a $25,000 research grant to the University of Nevada's Desert Research was announced by Senators Alan Bible and Howard Cannon.

The Nevada Senators said the Office of Water Resources Research (OFRR) was approving a matching fund application from the Desert Research Institute for a study of conjunctive use of ground and surface water in Nevada.

The funds are part of $500,000 in supplemental funds secured by Bible during Senate Appropriations Committee meetings last session.
