S and H Lecture Series Set Soon

Charles T. Vetter, Jr., U. S. Information Agency Training Coordinator, will be the first speaker in the Sperry-Hutchinson Foundation Lecture Series entitled "Democracy As We Know It."

The S & H Lecture Series of four guest speakers will be presented during the spring semester at the University of Nevada. The series is the result of a $1,500 grant from the foundation. Other speakers will include Saul Alinsky, sociologist and director of the Industrial Areas Foundation of Chicago; Rev. James Pike, Bishop of the California Episcopal Church; and Ferenc Nagy, former Prime Minister of Hungary.

Vetter's topic will be "New Dimensions for American Democracy."

Vetter entered the Federal Service in 1950, working as a research and liaison officer with the State Department.

In 1955 he was an advisor to the director of public relations of the East Pakistan government, and later in West Pakistan as a lecturer in political science.

In 1956 he became a training officer with the United States Information Agency, and in 1962 took his present job with the USIA.

In this position he acts as the USIA's principal lecturer in fields of international communications and Communism and takes part in government and non-government programs throughout the world.

In the course of his travels, from contacts with foreign service personnel and visitors from other countries to the United States, he collects and coordinates material on factors that influence international understanding. His presentations highlight factors in international dimensions of American citizenship.

The lecture series is free, but it is requested that tickets be obtained in advance. All lectures begin at 8 p.m.

Tickets can be obtained by writing to S & H Lecture Series, room 104, Jot Travis Union, University of Nevada, Reno. Tickets are also available at Shelly's Hardware in the Village Shopping Center in Reno.

President Johnson Expresses Praise For Nev. Blood Drive

President Lyndon B. Johnson has expressed his appreciation to the students of the University of Nevada for their outstanding efforts in the recent blood drive held on campus.

A letter from the White House to President Charles J. Armstrong praised the students who took part in the drive to donate blood for American servicemen in Viet Nam.

"There can be no finer way to demonstrate support for those who have been called upon to risk their lives in defense of freedom," said the letter.

The university's student government was highly commended by Senators Alan Bible and Howard W. Cannon. And a telegram of congratulations was received from "This was not only a donation of life-giving blood but a gift of enduring support to their fellow Americans who face death so far from home," said Senator Bible.

Senator Cannon called response to the drive "a real tribute to the students and the educational system."

The University of Nevada drive resulted in 394 pints of blood for American use in Viet Nam.

Vocal Recital Will Feature J.C. Williams

Joyce Cox Williams, soprano, will present a graduate vocal recital Wednesday evening, February 2, at 8:00 p.m. in the Auditorium of the Fine Arts Building at the University of Nevada. She will be assisted at the piano by Virginia Larson Clark. Mrs. Williams is a candidate for the Master of Music degree at the University.

The program will feature arias from early American operas by James Hewitt (1770-1827) and Benjamin Carr (1768-1831). Hewitt, a concert violinist in New York, wrote one of the earliest American operas, The Indian Chief. He also published many songs, violin and piano pieces. Benjamin Carr was an early music publisher responsible for the first American printings of Pleyel, Mozart and Haydn. Carr functioned as a singer, actor, organist, pianist, arranger, concert manager and composer. His works include an opera based on the William Tell legend, The Archers, 1796. Mr. Carr wrote for all instruments and combinations. These arias were found last spring during research at the Library of Congress. It can be safely assumed that these works have not been heard for many years.

Three songs set to Italian text by such non-Italians as Mozart, Schubert and Beethoven will be followed by the Brahms Opus 85, a set of six songs to texts of Heine, Lemocke, Kapper and Geibel.

French music of Thomas, Debussy, Ravel, and Foudrain will precede selections by English composers. "The Water Mill" by Vaughan Williams is descriptive of the life that revolves around the mill wheel. Benjamin Britten's "The Birds" and Quilter's setting of the Shakespearean text "Blow, Blow Thou Winter Wind" will be followed by "April" by Frank St Leger, former conductor of the Metropolitan Opera and manager of the Chicago Opera Company.

The concert is open to the public and there is no admission charge.

Sophomore Nurses Capping Slated

Capping ceremonies for sophomore nursing students at the University of Nevada will be held Sunday, February 6 at 2 p.m. The Nursing Convocation will be held in the Jot Travis Student Union Lounge. Dr. Fred Anderson of the board of regents will be the guest speaker.

Twenty-seven sophomores are expected to be capped by junior and senior students of the Orvis School of Nursing. The capping

More Stringent Review Announced For Selective Service Deferment

A new look will be taken at the deferment of college students starting late in January, 1966, Maj. Gen. James A. May, State Director of Selective Service, announced recently. Only those college students who are satisfactorily enrolled in a full time course will be given deferment consideration by the local boards of the Nevada Selective Service System.

Likewise, only students who will complete their college career within a normal four-year period, or eight college semesters, in a satisfactory manner during each of the semesters will be eligible for deferment. Some recognition will be given, General May added, to those men who are in certain engineering and scientific courses whose degree period may require nine or ten semesters for completion. However, it will be up to these students to justify the additional time which will be necessary to secure their baccalaureate degree. Selective Service local boards will not consider for deferment special or part-time students the State Director said.

Students who are only doing marginal work or fall below the required minimum grade requirements of their individual college, will be asked to submit transcripts of their grades and the number of semester hours completed to their local boards for consideration. In addition to this, those students who are placed on probation or suspended will come immediately under the consideration of their local board of jurisdiction, General May stated.

Men who will be graduating from high school in 1966 will probably be able to enroll in college if they have plans to do so prior to the time that they become available for consideration and selection by their local boards. Most young men enroll when they are 17 or 18 years old and, although they have to register with Selective Service at age 18, our sequences of selection for induction consideration do not start until a man is 19 years of age.

Those students who will be securing their degrees and are desirous of continuing in graduate work will have to verify this with their local board offices. Likewise, a valid letter of acceptance must be submitted and all additional information relative to continued education must be supplied by the young man, the State Director said.

Notification of all personal status changes by any Selective Service registrant is required within ten days after such occurrence.

The University of Nevada has been requested by the State Selective Service Headquarters and local boards to supply the following information:

1. The number of credits completed to date.
2. The word "plus" if the student is up grade points; the word "minus" if the student is down grade points.
3. The number of hours in which the student is currently enrolled.

Editorial

The new semester begins tomorrow for students and faculty members of the University of Nevada.

The Sagebrush will continue to publish on a bi-weekly basis, and news material should be presented at least two days before the paper appears on campus.

Letters to the editor should not exceed 250 words, and only in rare cases and at the discretion of the editor will longer letters be published.

The student newspaper is solely for campus news, and due to size of the paper and the time element involved, it will be impossible to present international, national coverage.

The Sagebrush and its staff do not represent a particular faction at the University of Nevada, and it should be remembered that all news will be presented in a fair, unbiased manner.

With the beginning of the new school year we are looking forward to serving you the students in hope that the printed product best exemplifies and represents the University of Nevada.

Annual Band Festival Slated

Jack Sheldon, Hollywood trumpeter-singer-TV actor and Raul Romero, Las Vegas saxophonist-arranger, will be guest artists at the University of Nevada's fifth annual Stage Band Festival, March 18-19 on the Reno campus.

About 60 high school and college bands are expected to participate in the two-day festival, said Dr. John Carrico, festival founder and coordinator.

Jack Sheldon has been a featured soloist with Woody Herman, Stan Genton and many other bands. He is currently featured with the Benny Goodman show in Las Vegas, and is also active in television as a singer-actor with Steve Allen, Edie Adams, and Les Crane.

Raul Romero has performed with Woody Herman and many Las Vegas show bands for a number of years. A talented saxophonist, he is also noted as a composer and arranger. He has three arrangements on Woody Herman's latest album.

A special feature of the Nevada Stage Band Festival will be the premiere performance of a commissioned work for trumpet and stage band. Raul Romero will compose a trumpet concerto for Jack Sheldon, to be dedicated to the festival.

The festival was started in 1962, with only four bands, and has grown to include 47 bands in 1965.

Clarinet player, Buddy De Franco was the guest at the 1962 festival. Trombone player, Carl Fontana, held the same honor in 1963, said Dr. Carrico.

Similar appearances were made by trumpeter, "Doc" Severinsen in 1964, and drummer, Louis Bellson, in 1965.

For further information, contact Dr. John Carrico at the Uni-

World Politics Course Offered

Planning a career in the foreign service? Want a background in world politics — here's your chance.

The University of Nevada's evening division is offering a course in world politics for the 1966 spring semester. The course is being offered in cooperation with the College of Arts and Science.

Political Science 231 is designed to give students a basic and fundamental background in the principles of world politics. The class will examine specific events with special attention given to current world events.

Dr. Harry M. Chase, associate professor of history and political science, will teach the class. He has been at the university since 1957.

The class begins on Feb. 9 and will be held in room 213 of the Ross Business Administration building from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m.

The caps were designed by Dr. Marilyn J. Horn, professor and associate director of the Sarah Hamilton Fleischmann School of Home Economics. The history and significance of the caps, which resemble Western hats, will be given by Miss Connie Biglow, president of the State Student Nursing Association.

Musical entertainment will be provided by members of the university music department.

dents who took part in the Viet Nam poll conducted by Mr. William D. Lutz and Mr. Harold P. Brent, the results of which were published in the January issue of the Forum. At the time I answered the questions asked by the poll, I had a couple of misgivings about the kind of information required to compete the questionnaire. Perhaps the following comments and observations I have to make concerning my own reaction to the poll will be of interest to some of the other students who participated in the poll.

The survey, which was concerned with discovering the extent of knowledge about Viet Nam current among various students, faculty, and staff members, succeeded, I think, in revealing that most of the people who participated in the poll didn't know very much about Viet Nam. Although I agree wholeheartedly with the intent of the survey, I would like to raise a few questions of my own concerning the kind of information elicited by the poll.

If I understand it correctly, the intent of the poll was to indicate that if one is to have an intelligent opinion about the Viet Nam situation, he should have some facts with which to back up his opinions. The information asked for by the questionnaire was "based upon information currently available in the mass news media." The first question I wish to raise about the nature of the poll is this: Do the questions asked by the poll reveal the kind of factual information necessary for a person to form intelligent opinions about the U.S. involvement in Viet Nam?

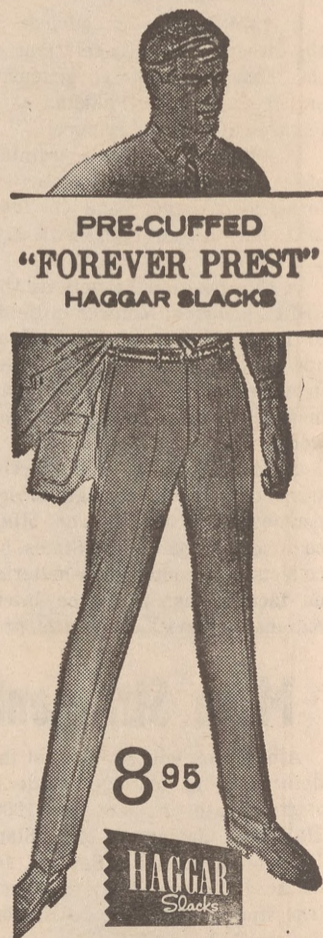

Because I was appalled by my own lack of knowledge on the subject, I attended the lecture given by Mr. Miller, the UPI correspondent recently returned from Viet Nam, the evening before I was asked to fill out the questionnaire. I must admit that had the questionnaire been graded as a history quiz, I would have been lucky to have received a C on it, yet I felt after the lecture that the opinions I had formed about the situation were intelligent ones. How important it is, for example, in making a moral judgment concerning U.S. involvement in Viet Nam to know who Bao Dai was? In this age of supersonic travel and ICBM's, what difference does it make if Viet Nam is five thousand or ten thousand miles from Reno, Nevada? Some of the objective questions asked by the poll were very much to the point, but many of them, such as the two just mentioned, were about as revelational as asking a bird-watcher for the name of the president of the Audubon Society.

The subjective questions asked present an entirely different problem, for me at least. When asked, for example, whether or not I agree with U.S. policy in Viet Nam, an unqualified yes or no answer does not represent my reply to the question, and the questionnaire left insufficient room for me to state my qualifications. Similarly, when asked whether I approve or disapprove of demonstrations and draft-card burners, a simple yes or no answer is just not a response I can make without considerable qualification. It seems to me that the pollster was asking me to describe a technical picture but only allowing me to use the two colors, black and white. My question is this: Do the answers to these subjective questions elicited by the poll provide any meaningful insight or even a significant indication of the attitude of intelligent students about the U.S. involvement in Viet Nam?

I think Mr. Lutz and Mr. Brent are to be highly commended for the time and effort which they put into the survey, and I also think it was carried out in an unbiased spirit of inquiry. The poll is certainly an indication that there is some interest on the part of the students at Nevada in subjects non-alcoholic. Perhaps my own reaction to this particular poll is biased too much by my aversion to "pollsters" generally, but I must feel that any opinions or conclusions drawn from the questionnaires must be at best tentative.

Respectfully,

Winning Streak Continues As Wolf Pack Takes Two More

By MIKE SMITHWICK

The University of Nevada sharp shooting cagers swept through two victories during semester break as they downed the University of Santa Clara 78 to 72, and swept by the Chico State College Wildcats 85 to 76.

The two home victories assured the Nevada Wolf Pack of a first place berth in the Far Western Conference by the end of the week.

Nevada's first victory was staged at the Centennial Coliseum before a crowd of three thousand spectators who watched the scoring lead change hands throughout the first half of play as Nevadas' strong defensive effort held the Santa Clara five to a low score.

By half time, Santa Clara held Nevada with a one point lead but a last second pump shot by 6 ft. 5 in. center Bill Nicholson gave the Wolf Pack the lead as the two teams went to the locker rooms. The half time score stood at University of Nevada 36, Santa Clara 35.

MONTGOMERY SCORES 29

The second half of ball play opened with light scoring for both teams, but midway through the half, the Nevada five began their final drive which pulled them ahead for the victory.

Lanky 6 ft. 4 in. Nap Montgomery dunked-in jump shots and drives throughout the second half with a dazzling display of talent to score a total of 29 points for the evening. Trailing close behind Montgomery was center Bill Nicholson with a total of 20 points. The final statistics of the game were:

Halftime score: Nevada 36, Santa Clara 35

Personal fouls: Nevada (10), Nicholson, 4; Bruno, 2; Gilliam, 2; Montgomery, 1; Moore, 1; Santa Clara (19), Steidlmayer, 4; Porter, 3; Heaney, 3 Paulson, 3; Dunlap, 3; Levitt, 2; Stuckey, 1.

CHICO DOWNED

Nevada's second victory came as the Wolf Pack five fought off the strong second half comeback effort of Chico State to defeat the Wildcats 85 to 76.

The explosive Wolf Pack five showed near professional form as they left the Wildcats far behind in the first half of play. The pinpoint shooting of guard Frank Bruno and jump shooting of 6 ft. 5 in. Larry Moore gave Nevada 14 points in the final 5 minutes of the first half to send the teams to the locker rooms with Nevada leading by a score of 45 to 26.

But the Chico State cagers managed to sustain a reeling comeback performance throughout the second half to close the scoring gap to within six points as the score stood at 76-70 with three minutes remaining in the game.

The Wolf Pack put a halt to the drive, however, and leaped ahead in the final minutes of play to score its second victory of the week.

The games final statistics were: Nevada 85, Chico State 76
Half time: Nevada 45, Chico State 24

Personal fouls: Chico (18), Base, 4; Fitzsimmons, 4; King, 3; Conrad, 2; Jones, 2; Zalunardo, 2; Oliveria, 1 Nevada (11), Moore, 3; Gilliam, 3; Montgomery, 2; Nicholson, 2; Bruno, 1

Nev. Takes Over First Position With 88-62 Chico Trounce

The University of Nevada took over undisputed first place in the Far Western Conference basketball play Saturday night as they swept by the University of California "Cal Aggies" by a score of 88 to 62.

The home court victory was the third in one week for the Wolf Pack and the seventh straight win in its present winning streak.

The Wolf Pack aces streaked to a 15 to 2 lead in the opening minutes of the game allowing the first Cal Aggie points only after five minutes of play had elapsed.

Jack Spencer's Wolf Pack

showed dazzling play and pinpoint shooting through the entire game and could have run the score over the one hundred mark, but Spencer pulled his first string five off the court midway through the second half to let his secondaries take over.

The remainder of the game was an even display of talent as the two teams sustained the 26-point difference in the score. The final horn sounded as the Aggie coach began to substitute his players to give its second stringers more experience.

Nevada Receives Two Grants

Two grants totalling $32,400 have been awarded to the graduate school of the University of Nevada, Senators Alan Bible and Howard W. Cannon announced today.

Bible and Cannon said the grants would finance three new and three continuing graduate traineeships for scientists, engineers and mathematicians.

The grants, approved by the National Science Foundation, will be administered by Thomas D. O'Brien, dean of the graduate school.

Bible and Cannon said the traineeship program, designed to accelerate the output of graduate scientists and engineers, finances full-time study for advanced degrees. The program provides basic stipends of $2,400 for students in the first year of graduate study, $2,600 for the intermediate level and $2,800 for the final year. An additional allowance for dependents is also provided.

A TOUR to South America by the Nevada Southern basketball team was approved by the University of Nevada Board of Regents recently. All expenses, however, must be covered by gate proceeds from the games, this includes flying expenses.

IT WOULD SEEM that the University of Nevada is being left behind in athletic benefits since the Wolf Pack has beaten the N.S.U. cagers previously this year, but this is not the case.

A TRIP TO HAWAII is being scheduled for the Wolf Pack football team in the near future (1967 or 1968). The expense of flying 25 football players to Hawaii and back, is more than equal to a flight to South America for 10 basketball players . . . it will be more fun anyway.

N.C.A.A. CHAMPION Otis Burrell cleared 7 ft. 2½ in. last week in Portland, Oregon, and received the most valuable athlete award in the Portland Indoor Invitational. His effort gives him the highest high jump mark in the United States and should put a shock into John Rambo who told the nationwide television last week that he was the best.

BUT THE LOUD-TALKING Rambo (bronze medal winner in the high jump in the 1964 Olympics) will have to put his words to a test this week because the two will meet once again at a Los Angeles invitational track meet.

HIGH FLYING ski jumper Arne Nossun is beginning his best year of record-breaking since he came to the University of Nevada from Trondheim, Norway. Two weeks ago, he brought home two trophies from Heavenly Valley, one was for the cross country race and the other was for ski jumping.

NOSSUM was three minutes ahead of the second place finisher in the gruelling contest, but he was just beginning his day of first places. He then proceeded to win first place in the jumping event by breaking the old hill record by 15 feet. The old record was set by Nossun one year ago.

LAST WEEK Nossun finished third in the Utah Winter Carnival. The two jumpers who beat him were Utah skiers on their home jump. Nossun finished ahead of the jumpers from Denver, Colorado, who are among the tops in the West.

ALL OF THEM will meet again at the end of the year at the N.C.A.A. finals where no one will be on his home jump. Nossun once jumped 300 feet on a strange jump in Norway. So he will be at home wherever he goes.

THE BOXING TEAM will begin its season Monday with a home match against the 12th Naval district. It's a pre-season match and there should be some exciting competition —Monday evening in the Gymnasium.

Evening Registration Ends Soon

Registration for the University of Nevada's Evening Division Program will begin Jan. 26 and continue through Feb. 2.

Approximately 70 courses are being offered in evening division classes for the 1966 spring semester. Some of the courses included are: horticultural science, home furnishings, art, botany, zoology, creative writing, foreign languages, mathematics, philosophy, psychology, geology, music appreciation and public speaking.

The evening division office, room 200, Clark Administration building, Reno campus, will be open for registration during the following hours: Wednesday, Jan. 26 and Thursday, Jan. 27, from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.; Friday, Jan. 28, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.; Saturday, Jan. 29, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.; and Monday, Jan. 31 through Wednesday, Feb 2, from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Resident and non-resident fees for students registered with six credits or less are $15 per credit hour. Fees must be paid at time of registration.

Any person who can show evidence of high school graduation or who is 21 years of age or over may register as a special student without official admission to the university.
