Seven Nominated For Top 'Greek'

Four women and three men have been nominated as candidates for Outstanding Greek man and woman at the University of Nevada. Those nominated were Michele Sala of Pi Beta Phi; Mary Kay Gezelin, Kappa Alpha Theta; Elfrena Sewell, also of Kappa Alpha Theta; Sheila Davis, Delta Delta Delta; Bill Chaffin, Sigma Nu; Marc Ratner, Sigma Alpha Epsilon; and Mike Parman of Phi Sigma Kappa. Nominations were made by each of the ten Greek letter organizations on campus.

The basis for selection were scholarship, school participation, campus activities, and campus attitude.

Voting was held on Tuesday, March 29 at each sorority and fraternity house. The recipients of the awards were announced on Thursday evening, March 31, at a dinner held at the Theta Chi house. General announcement of the Outstanding Greek man and woman will be made at a later date.

April 5, at 8 p.m. in the Thompson Education building auditorium at the University of Nevada.

Prior to his exile from Hungary in 1947 and his subsequent residence in the United States, Mr. Nagy was one of the founders of the Independent Smallholders' Party of Hungary, which successfully rejected Communist control for a time following World War II.

In addition, Nagy served as Minister of Reconstruction in 1945; President of the Hungarian Parliament in 1945; and as Prime Minister from 1946 until his exile in 1947.

Mr. Nagy has been a member of the Hungarian National Council since 1948, and served in 1961-62 as chairman of the Assembly of Captive European Nations. He has taken part in several international conferences throughout Europe and the Far East since 1948, working towards his goal of Hungarian independence.

In 1963 he volunteered his lecture series to American colleges and universities, and since that time has visited more than 120 institutions, in an attempt to aid students in their understanding of international problems and the dangers as well as possibilities of world politics.

The lecture series is the result of a $1,500 grant from the Foundation. Rev. James Pike, Bishop of the California Episcopal Church, will be the last speaker in the series, April 19th, in the gymnasium. The lecture series is free.

Publications Board Nomination Disaffirmed By ASUN Senate

The ASUN Senate broke with tradition Wednesday night when they disaffirmed the Publications Board's nomination of Gordon "Satch" Carlson to be the editor of the campus opinion magazine "Forum".

(See Editorial in this issue)

The debate against the approval of Carlson was led by Lance Sparks and centered on the qualifications of Carlson against those of Jan Webb who also sought the nomination. Charles Murphy, reminded Sparks that the Senate was not holding an election between Carlson and Webb but merely approving or disapproving Publications Board's election.

Carlson took the floor to answer questions that had been raised against him and he completely denied that he would follow his earlier wish and turn "Forum" into a humor magazine. He had accepted the requirements of the Publications Board that the magazine be of critical opinion.

He said, "I would like to add humor to the Forum and if a humor magazine was ever started I would quit 'Forum' and leave it to Jan Webb, whom I hope will be my assistant editor."

NOT CHANGE FORUM

Carlson said that comments he had received since he was named editor of "Forum" had convinced him that he should not try to change it to all humor in content. The Senate voted 13 against Carlson to 10 for him, in not accepting the nomination which now must go back to the Publications Board.

Carlson added, Dr. Skorpen was in favor of Jan Webb for the editor's post but he would still serve as faculty advisor no matter who is the editor.

Sparks questioned the qualifications of Carlson for the job and Carlson said he would rely on help from past members of the magazine for help. Sagebrush Editor Sig Rogich said that the technical aspects of putting a publication together were usually handled by the print shop and the journalism department has offered courses to help anyone who needed assistance in makeup.

PRESENT VIEWS

One of Carlson's reasons for wanting the job of editor was to change what has been in the past, "a voice of a small group of people." He said he would get new writers to contribute to the other side of the opinions often aired in the magazine.

Sparks refuted Carlson's idea for getting new people to contribute to the magazine, saying "I think it is a ludicrous damn idea that you can get others to write for the 'Forum'!"

Publications Board will meet Tuesday, April 5, to re-elect a Forum editor.

Rick Mattson, on hand to speak on Carlson's behalf, said after the meeting that the "cheap personal attack made in the Senate tonight may have ruined two of the best talents on campus—Satch Carlson and Jan Webb."

Also somewhat disappointed at the Senate's action was head cheerleader Jim Crane. Crane asked that the voting on the new by-laws of the Rally Committee be waived for a year to allow the group to get moving. Instead it was recommended to the new Senate.

The point in question in the new by-laws was a section providing that the rally committee would be chaired by the head cheerleader as it was this year. Under the by-laws now in effect the chairmanship of the rally committee is an appointive position.

Crane explained the rally committee is in a critical position at the present. "For the past 20 years they've had to beat the

Meeting Held Over Weekend

More than 350 political scientists from all over the country attended the Western Political Scientists convention this weekend at the University of Nevada.

Dr. Donald Driggs, chairman of the political science department of the U. of N., said "all went very smoothly" and that he would like to thank the people at the student union for their cooperation. He also thanked those from the Department of Continuing Education for their help in registration.

Dr. Driggs said the panels that had the greatest attendance were the reapportionment panel, panel on Sino-Soviet relations and the panel on the role of political scientists.

Those attending the convention were greatly impressed by the campus, Dr. Driggs said. Some expressed a desire to teach here, "until they heard what the salaries were." It seems the University of Nevada "is a couple of thousand dollars behind most of others," he said.

Dr. Driggs said this sort of conference is valuable because it gives professors a chance to see new developments and the exchange ideas.

The convention next year will be held in Tucson, Arizona at the University of Arizona, and the 1969 convention will be held in Hawaii.

Dr. Carrico Chosen Guest Conductor

Dr. John Carrico, professor of Music and director of the University of Nevada Marching band, will be guest conductor of the Potola Honor Band April 30-31.

Dr. Carrico will conduct two nights: Wednesday April 30 in Portola, and Thursday April 31 in Chester. This will be the fourth time Dr. Carrico has been guest conductor of the band.

The Portola Honor Band is composed of the most talented student musicians.

Harder To Fill Draft Quotas; Boards Looking At Collegians

It is no secret the Selective Service system is becoming hard pressed to fill its draft quotas. In some areas the shortage of eligible draftees has led them to look long and hard at the American college male.

To help in this survey the Selective Service has announced a College Qualification Test to be instituted on a national basis.

Dr. Hill To Speak At Friday Forum

"Wealth and the Church Today" is the subject of today's noon "Friday Forum" at the L.D.S. Institute at 95 West Eleventh St.

Dr. A. Spencer Hill of the political science department will present the lecture. He is a member of the Bureau of Governmental Research at the University.

The Friday Forum is held every week for the religious and intellectual stimulation of students.

Information bulletins, application cards and mailing envelopes for the test are now available at local draft boards around the state. According to Selective Service officials college students wishing to take the test should get this material at the nearest local board and mail their applications immediately to the Selective Service Testing Center in Chicago, Illinois.

In order to be eligible to take the test applications must be post-marked no later than Saturday, April 23. The test dates have been announced as May 14, May 21 and June 3. The test may be taken only once.

Whether or not the student takes the test is optional. Local Board members may utilize either class standing, the test score or a combination of the two as a basis for considering the student's further deferment from the draft. However, Dean of Men James Hathorn has advised all Nevada male students to "spend the three hours in what may be a very important matter in their lives."

Senate Listens To Boy Wonder, Dumps Carlson's 'Forum' Election

Senate, in a surprising un-intelligent move, voted Wednesday night to disapprove the Publication's Board election of Satch Carlson as Forum editor.

Although the Publications Board had decided Tuesday Carlson was best qualified to edit the Forum next year, 13 senators felt they would rather listen to ASUN crusading Boy-Wonder Lance Sparks.

Sparks spoke against Carlson because he doubted his ability to publish the monthly publication. He based his arguments on Carlson's lack of technical makeup abilities.

The question was not one of Carlson's ability, but one of personality. What senators failed to realize was that the power of Publications Board has been reduced to a mere nothing.

One might wonder if it is necessary to have a Publications Board that hasn't the power or any guarantee its decisions will be upheld.

It is indeed necessary to function much like our United States Congress, having the senate and the house of representatives to act as a means of check and balance. But this does not mean the ASUN senate should actually challenge the responsibility of the Publications Board.

Seven senators failed to attend the meeting, and one might wonder if the outcome would have been the same. Of those present, ten voted to approve Carlson's election, 13 were against, and the remaining senators didn't vote.

It's surprising to see so many student leaders swayed because of the whims of one.

Auditions Underway For Spring Play

"Stop the World, I Want to Get Off" will be produced by the University Theatre this spring. Auditions are being held this week for roles.

Robert Ericson, theatre director, says there are still openings for singer-dancers. Interested persons should see him in room 146 of Church Fine Arts or phone extension 484.

What is communication? Communication involves entities, requires cooperation, and necessitates involvement. Communication is an exchange of ideas and emotions, but this exchange is not limited to members of the same society. Rather, communication can be the intersociety exchange of ideas and emotions.

There is, of course, an extent to which real communication can be effected. Alone among the societies of the world, the class of human beings has succeeded in the stifling of communication. As the processes of communication have been built up, so the barriers have been built up. Outward, not inward, communication takes place—the exchange is one of ideas, not emotions.

Man is dictated by pre-established, absolute standards. He has the potential to communicate, but rarely allows his mind to react simultaneously with his emotions. He cannot unify his physical world and his emotional world.

A further requirement for communication is a real understanding of what communication is. There are many who are incapable of meeting this requirement, yet pride themselves on their ability to communicate with members of other societies as well as their own. They, too, are usually the individuals who are incapable of and unwilling to agree to a union of mind and emotion.

Real communication, then, can be realized only when there are no limits, no boundaries, and no barriers. A member of the society of human beings has all the potential to communicate with any member of any other society. Concretely, man can communicate with ducks; and, by responding accordingly, ducks can communicate with man. However, this is not usually the case.

As an attempt at communication, man will feed ducks; but he offers only a mental desire to communicate. On the other hand, the ducks respond mentally and emotionally—they know no distinction. Ducks are not regulated by pre-established, absolute standards. They react, naturally, to the seasons, and their responses have no changing effect on their ability to communicate.

The contrast between outward and inward attempts at communications is obvious. When ducks behave according to the rules of conduct as set up by himself, man issues an appeal for mutual understanding to the ducks. When, however, the ducks violate his rules of conduct, man withdraws his appeal.

It is unfortunate that ducks suffer because man will not understand, much less accept, their code of life. They react completely to Spring, and man will not condone their actions by feeding them. Man cannot change their code of life, but perhaps he could re-evaluate his own. Man's own dictionary supplies a synonym for communication—intercourse.

bushes to get five people to serve on the committee and plan one rally," Crane said.

"This year 32 people were interested in serving on the committee and the people selected for the committee are willing to work hard to create a nucleus of campus spirit." He added that some members are willing to work through the summer. "All we need is a go-ahead from the Senate," he added.

HOLD UP

The rules of parliamentary procedure however, are holding up that go-ahead. No one was found to run for the position of head cheerleader this year, so under the new ASUN by-laws there would be no one to fill the chairmanship Crane asked for a one year waiver in view of this fact. It was decided, however, that the Senate could take no such action. It either had to approve or disapprove, or recommend the matter to the new Senate.

"I realize the technicalities of parliamentary procedure must be followed," Crane said, "however I think that in this case it might be possible to find a way around the problem. It's frustrating to those who have worked hard to get this committee moving, to now see it bogged down by pettiness on the Senate floor," Crane added.

Crane said he would seek to change the section dealing with the chairmanship, to keep it an appointive position so "this sort of thing does not come up again."

Crane is a senator-elect from Arts and Sciences and the only independent who ran for such a post. He said, however, he may now consider resigning his new post in favor of continuing to serve on the Rally Committee. The A.S.U.N. Constitution prohibits the holding of two offices at once.

SENATE APPROVES

The Senate did approve the members selected to serve on the Central Rally Committee. They are Kathy Goodish, Maryellen Drake, Rhonda Stodtmeister, Steve Smith and alternates Marylyne Fry and Ann Lucini.

Other members serving on the At-Large Rally Committee are Barbara Nelson, Jody Dube, Ken Brill, Annette Knous, Lois Ann Lewis, Joan Westover, Susan Bruckart, Liza Lenz, Leath Flannigan, and Ingrid Broten. In addition two more freshman male students will be named.

The Senate also voted to accept the new proposed recognition policy for student groups. A provision of this new policy is a required membership of 15 before recognition can be given. This minimum would not apply in cases dealing with groups in which a "lower number is consistent with the group's objectives." Honorary clubs would come under this exception. Clubs with limited membership potential will be able to petition the 2nd vice president's office for recognition.

Junior Prom

The annual Junior Prom will be held tomorrow night from 9 p.m. till midnight at the Hidden Valley Country Club.

One coed will be crowned Junior Prom Queen at the highlight of the dance.

"The strangers" will provide dancing music.

From the End of the Bench

By GREG ZIVE

FRED DALLIMORE AND CARL BOSSIEUX have pitched some great baseball for the Wolf Pack this season. Last week against Nevada Southern Dallimore threw a no-hitter and Bossieux won the second game of the double-header. Earlier this season Bossieux threw a three-hitter against the University of Pacific only to lose the game on an unearned run. With Mike Zuppan, Rich Stevenson, Ron Bath, and Jim Nelson backing up these two, Nevada has an outstanding staff that will make the Pack a strong contender for the Far Western Conference championship and possibly the regionals.

THE 1966 WOLF PACK BASKETBALL squad grew to be almost loved by the City of Reno and its citizens. As an example of this the following poem was written by a fifth grader at Peavine School in Reno.

The Wolf Pack team is the best in the West,
In basketball they could pass any test.
They are the greatest according to I,
And in my heart they will never die.

They are so great and skillful too,
So they will never get a boo.

In the Nevada gym they put on a show,
Against San Francisco, their greatest foe.

They won the Western Conference with ease,
But with Sacramento, it was a squeeze.
Now that they played their final game,
Basketball at Nevada will not be the same.

Pete Kosso
Age 11

Perhaps this poem is not an accurate description of all of our thoughts about the 1966 FWC champs but surely everybody must agree with the last two lines of Pete's poem—Basketball won't be the same at Nevada without Nap Montgomery, Frank Bruno, Larry Moore, Bill Nicholson, Tom Andreason, and Frank Forvilly.

OTIS BURRELL disappointed many spectators Saturday when he did not jump against Chico State. However Larry Moore still won the event for the Pack with a 6-4 effort. Otis will be competing in several more meets at home and will face some of the best jumpers on the West Coast in the regionals which will be held in Mackay Stadium.

THE GOLF AND TENNIS TEAMS both won last week. Both of these teams are loaded with underclassmen yet they are doing better than teams of the past several years. Looking good on Jack Spencer's golf squad are Ernie Maupin, Gary Brafford, Jeff McEachern, Laner Hanson, Fran Menante, Mike Myers, Ian Kelly and Larry Swecker. The leaders on the net squad are Ken Howard, Jack Raycraft, John Young, George Wisham, Dave Chism, and Al Pierce. Both of these teams have several more home matches and if you want to see some good golf go to the Hidden Valley Country Club for some golf matches or the new University tennis courts by Mackay Stadium for tennis.

Nevada Nine Begin Busy Week With Conference Competition

Baseball will be in full swing this week end with the Wolf Pack diamond men playing six games in four days.

The Pack will open the 1966 Far Western Conference season this weekend with home contests against the Chico Wildcats Saturday at 12 noon at Moana Stadium.

Fred Dallimore, who last week threw a brilliant no-hitter in Las Vegas, will start the first game. Carl Bossieux, who picked up his first win of the season last week against the Rebels of Nevada Southern will start the second game. Dallimore has a 1.28 earned Run Average on the season and Bossieux has a 0.80 ERA for the year.

An early season game with Chico was rained out in Chico.

Coach Bill Ireland stated Chico has always been a tough opponent for Nevada and that he expects two good ball games.

Last year's District Eight Champs will move into action against big college competition on April 4 and 5 when the play in the Easter tournament at Fresno.

Some of the top college baseball teams in the country will be in Fresno for the tournament. Washington State, ranked fourth in the country, the University of California, ranked seventh in the country, and Fresno State ranked in the second ten, will be among Nevada's opponents in the two day tournament. Sacramento State, a member of the Far Western Conference, will also vie for honors. Sacramento State is the perennial champ of the FWC and has won the flag 10 out of the last 12 years.

Nevada will meet Washington State at 10 a.m. on Monday and will play again 2:30 p.m. against the University of California. Tuesday the Pack will meet Fresno State at 10 a.m. and will play Sacramento at 2:30 p.m.

Local fans will get a chance to see Washington State on Saturday April 7 when they play the Pack in Reno.

10,000 Degrees Awarded Since 1891 Graduating Class

The University of Nevada recently awarded its 10,000th degree since graduating its first college level class in 1891.

According to the Registrar's office at the University in Reno, the total number of degrees given by the University is now 10,022. This includes 9,212 bachelors degrees, 806 masters and four doctorates.

The Ph. D.'s have all been awarded since June of 1964, when Roger Morrison received the University's first in geology. Last year Edwin Berry, Dick Holze and Edward Hussy received their doctorates.

The University was established in 1874 as one of the first preparatory schools in the intermountain west. It began its history as a college level school in 1887 in Reno.

The first graduating class, in 1891, numbered three. Frederick Bristol, who later became a mining engineer in South Africa, Henry Cutting, who became known as a mine owner and promoter in Tonopah, and Frank Norcross, who was later a prominent Reno lawyer, Washoe County District Attorney and State Assemblyman, all received their bachelors degrees that year.

The graduating class of 1892 was Blanche Davis. In the next three years 14 graduates received their sheepskins. Ten of them were women.

The February graduating class this year numbered 115.

Dating Service Conducted By Nine University Students

Want a date but can't find one? Afraid to ask out a certain person because you feel you won't "hit it off." If you have any of these problems or any others about getting a date they can be solved by "Data-Date" which will begin Monday in the Student Union.

Honorary Degree Will Be Conferred

Dr. Reynold Clayton Fuson, Distinguished Professor of Chemistry at the University of Nevada, will receive an honorary degree during June Commencement exercises at the University of Illinois in Chicago and Urbana.

A professor of chemistry emeritus of the University of Illinois, he will receive the Doctor of Science degree.

Until his retirement in 1963, Dr. Fuson was a member of the faculty of the University of Illinois for 40 years. He always encouraged students' interest in languages, music and the arts as well as chemistry.

"In appreciation of his teaching, his guidance and his counsel," the many students and associates of Prof. Fuson presented the University of Illinois with more than $10,000 to be known as the R. C. Fuson Fund for Chemistry. It was to be used with his advice for the benefit of chemists and the department of Chemistry at the University of Illinois.

In addition to receiving the College Chemistry Teachers Award of the Manufacturing Chemists' Association in 1960, Dr. Fuson has been honored for research with the Nichols Medal presented by the New York Section of the American Chemical Society, and by election to the National Academy of Sciences.

"Data-Date" is an organization comprised of nine students at the University who will use questionnaires and an IBM computer to help students find the "perfect" date.

The organization was helped by the psychology department in compiling the fifty questions for its questionnaires and the dating service has the approval of Dean of Men James Hathorn, Dean of Women Elaine Mobley, and the Dean of Students Sam Basta.

The dating service will begin operation Monday on the top floor of the Student Union and will continue until all five hundred questionnaires are used. If the idea is accepted by the student body the service will be offered again stated co-chairman Bruce Blatt.

There will be a $2 charge that will go to the library fund.

Blatt said the purpose of the service was "to get more fun for everybody and get good starts on relationships. It is not the purpose of 'Data-Date' to get people married though—just get them some good dates."

People using the service will complete one of the questionnaires, pay the $2, and wait to receive the names of five dates. The rest is left to them. The five individuals a person receives as potential dates will not know who has their names.

The committee which started the organization includes co-chairmen Blatt and Jon Hutton, Katy Gardiner, Allen Roth, Yvette Hash, Jerry Cinani, Stan Warburton, June Stansbury, and Marianne Shaw.

Installation Ceremony Planned For GSD Agriculture Society

The Nevada chapter of Gamma Sigma Delta, honorary society of agriculture, was installed Friday in ceremonies on the University of Nevada Campus.

Sigma Delta Chi's Initiate Members

Initiation of members into the University chapter of Sigma Delta Chi professional journalism society, will take place at a dinner April 21 in the Press Club's quarters at Riverside Hotel.

The dinner will be sponsored by the Nevada State Professional Chapter and the University's Campus Chapter of Sigma Delta Chi. It will begin at 7:30.

The program for the evening will include initiation of professional journalists as well as journalism students.

Mrs. Raymond Spangler will also be honored as "First Lady of Sigma Delta Chi." She is a graduate of the University's journalism department.

Tim Ennor, president of the University chapter, and Bob Carroll, president of the professional chapter, will preside over the event.

New members of the University's chapter are selected by the campus chapter. The membership is limited to junior and senior men majoring in journalism.

Women journalism students and professional women journalists will also be invited to the dinner.

Dr. H. Clay Little, assistant professor of agricultural economics at the Fleischmann College of Agriculture, was installed as first president of the Nevada chapter of the national organization.

National vice president John A. Johnson, Kansas State University, delivered the inaugural address to the new members. Dr. Dale W. Bohmont, dean of the Fleischmann college and national president of the fraternity, also participated in the ceremony.

The Nevada chapter is the 28th to be accepted by the national honorary fraternity. Its membership is composed of senior and graduate students and faculty members.

The purpose of the fraternity is to encourage high standards of scholarship and proficiency in all branches of agricultural science and education and a high degree of excellence in the practice of agricultural pursuits.

Organization of the Nevada chapter began last fall, according to Dr. Little. There were already six faculty members on the University campus who were members of other chapters.

Dr. Little outlined future activities that are under consideration by the local chapter:

"We plan to extend recognition to people outside of the college of agriculture who have made noteworthy contributions to agriculture," he said.

The group also plans to hold "get acquainted" receptions for new college staff members in the fall, and to develop guidelines for the evaluation of agricultural teachers.

"We will also sponsor seminars when outstanding individuals visit our campus."

Other officers installed at the ceremony were Professors Paul T. Tueller, vice president; Charles R. Heisler, secretary-treasurer; and Verle R. Bohman, historian.

Charter members of the Nevada chapter are:

W. Harold Arnett, Clifton R. Blincoe, Verle R. Bohman, Dale W. Bohmont, Ray E. Ely, Dean C. Fletcher, W. D. Foote, Charles R. Heisler, Oliver J. Hunt, Edwin H. Jensen, H. Clay Little, William V. Neely, Gayland D. Robison, Charles H. Seufferle, Joseph F. Stein, Paul T. Tueller, Jean B. Wyckoff, and Ralph A. Young.

Selective Service Announces New Guidelines For Board

The Selective Service has announced new guidelines for draft boards to use when considering college students for deferments. Officials said the guidelines are not absolute and the final decision is still up to the local draft boards.

A score of 70 or better will be considered passing for students taking the deferment eligibility tests to be given on the Reno campus May 14, 21, and June 3. If a student does not take the tests the guidelines require him to be in the upper one half of his class when he is a sophomore. To stay in school as a junior he will have to be in the upper two-thirds of his class or have a score of 70 or better on the deferment tests.

Senior men will need to stand in the upper three-fourths of their class or have a score of 70 or better on the tests.

Students who have been accepted by graduate schools will need a score of 80 or better or must have stood in the upper one quarter of their senior class to qualify by the new guidelines.

Students may pick up registration materials for the tests and a sample test at the Selective Service office 300 Booth St. Reno. The test may be taken only once according to Selective Service officials in Washington D. C.

Tickets are $2.50 per couple and will be on sale for tonight's dance in the TUB.

Fuson Lectures To Be Initiated By Researcher

Dr. Richard T. Arnold, president of the Mead Johnson Research Center, will initiate the R. C. Fuson Lectures in the department of chemistry at the University on April 14-15.

The series of lectures will become an annual event, honoring Dr. R. C. Fuson, long a member of the staff at the University of Illinois. He has been affiliated with the University of Nevada as a distinguished visiting professor since the fall of 1963.

Dr. Arnold received his doctorate under Dr. Fuson at Illinois in 1937. After several years at the University of Minnesota, ultimately as chairman of the department of chemistry, he went into private enterprise, and became director of research at Mead Johnson and Company in 1960.

For the Fuson Lectures, Dr. Arnold will speak on "Cyclic Transition States in Organic Chemistry" on April 14, at 7:30 p.m., and on "Reversible Olefin-Carbonyl Reactions" on April 15 at 4 p.m. Both lectures will be given in room 215, Mackay Science Hall.

The lecture series is made possible through a grant from Dr. Fuson to the University.

Estimated 1500 Campaign Signs Made By Graphic Center

An estimated 1,500 signs and 16 different colors of poster board and 12 different shades of ink were made by the graphic art department of the University of Nevada audio visual department for the recent campaigns. Miss Linda Loeffler, production specialist in audio visual, says the variety of signs was quite an undertaking for the three people in her department.

"I would estimate that twenty identical signs for a student campaign took the three of us about one hour to complete. This includes the setting of the type for the signs and running them off," Miss Loeffler says.

Although the department finished all of the ordered signs, Miss Loeffler admits that she spent a couple of weekends completing the choice. She notes that most students did not order as early as is usually requested, ten ways to two weeks.

Each sign is printed on a "line-o-scribe," which is a sign printing machine. Hand type setting is required and the posters have to be individually rolled out by hand.

The graphic department does work for student organizations as well as faculty members.

Little Wall History Uncovers Changes

The "Little Wall" might seem to have a history as a notorious saloon, but actually it was once an ice cream parlor.

According to a 1924 Artemisia, the Little Waldorf had the best "shakes" and ice cream cones around. An ad appeared in the yearbook encouraging men to take their dates to the Little Waldorf because it was such a "nice cozy and comfortable place."

This isn't exactly its present image, but it still prospers from a lot of college men and their dates, although milk shakes are no longer on the menu.

Most States Represented Here

The next time the administration hires a faculty member one of the requirements should be that he had to be born in Alaska, Hawaii, New Hampshire, or Vermont.

Those are the only states not represented in the University of Nevada teaching faculty.

Of 644 professional faculty members at the Reno campus and Nevada Southern, 74 are from California, 44 from Nevada, and the most represented states are Kansas with 23 and Iowa with 21. Most of the Western states have quite a few native sons at the University, while the New England and Southern states have very few.

Besides the United States, faculty members come from 23 foreign countries. Canada has nine; Germany, six; Austria, four; and Poland, Hungary, and Italy with three each.

France, England, Japan, and Czechoslovakia each have two. The countries with one representative are East Nigeria, Colombia, the Netherlands, the Philippines, Norway, Denmark, India, Wales, Switzerland, Russia, Holland, Finland, China, and Australia.

Debaters Place 7th Out Of 16

Kenneth Muller and Stanley Smart, the University of Nevada's entry in the National West Point Championship Debate Eliminations, ranked seventh out of 16 last week end in San Francisco.

Four finalists to qualify for the championships at the West Point Academy this spring were University of Southern California, University of California at Los Angeles, Los Angeles State College and Brigham Young University.

According to debate coach Larry Hines, no team came out of the tournament undefeated in all competition. Nevada beat two teams that had otherwise qualified for the championships.

The Nevada debaters lost three rounds on a 2-1 decision with three judges. Hines said if any of these decisions had been reversed, Nevada would have qualified.

'Battle Born' Paper To Be Published Soon Says Editor

The ROTC Department's annual newspaper, the "Battle Born," will be published sometime next week, according to editor Mike Parman.

The publication is sponsored by the Cadet Officer's Club, and cadets solicit the advertising which appears in the paper. Stories concerning prominent members of the Officer's Club as well as features on the band, the Sierra Guard, new staff members, the Military Ball, and the status of the draft are included.

The problem up to this time has been lack of advertisers. The paper will consist of about eight pages, Parman stated.

Staff members include Marty Bibb, Jim Marshall, and Ken Gledhill.

Physical Science Library Offering Full-time Services

The physical sciences library is now offering full-time library service with the help of three student librarians. The library in Mackay Science Hall is open 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. everyday now, says Jeannette Britton, who is in charge of the special library.

Now that the physics and chemistry collections are combined in one room the library can offer full-time help to students. However, no full-time qualified librarian has yet been assigned to the collection, but Mrs. Britton hopes the combination will now make it possible to employ one.

The room housing the combined libraries is nearly completed with only some shelving and painting yet to be done.

Books are shelved in accordance with the Dewey Decimal system now, but new books are being changed to the Library of Congress system, Mrs. Britton says.
