Hampton Young Selected New Sagebrush Editor; Carlson Out

Jan Webb has been named editor of the Forum, campus opinion magazine, by the ASUN Publications Board after a row over the board's previous nomination of Satch Carlson.

The board narrowly passed Miss Webb's election with a 5 to 4 vote, the board's chairman,

HAMPTON YOUNG
Sagebrush Editor

ASUN First Vice President Chuck Murphy, casting the tie-breaking vote.

The Publications Board had originally chosen Satch Carlson, a business major, to head the magazine, but the ASUN Senate refused to approve this selection. Carlson had intended to convert the Forum into a humor magazine.

It was pointed out in Senate that Miss Webb is assistant editor and has had a couple year's experience in editing the magazine. Carlson, however, has done no previous work in publishing.

Rally Committee To Hold Tryouts Throughout Week

Cheerleader and songleader tryouts are being conducted every day this week in the gymnasium at noon and 4 p.m., according to Rally Committee Chairman Jim Crane.

The final cheerleader and song leader selections will be made Tuesday, April 26 at 4 p.m. in the new Mackay Stadium.

The 1966 Rally Committee held its first official meeting last week. Chairmen were elected and committees were organized at the joint meeting of the Central Rally Committee of upper classmen and the Rally Committee at Large of Underclassmen.

Joan Westover was chosen chairman and Lisa Lenz is the new vice chairman of the Rally Committee at Large. Mary Ellen Drake was selected vice chairman of the Central Rally Committee.

In other selections, the board chose and Senate approved: Hampton Young for Sagebrush editor, Judy Crowell for Artemisia editor and John Anderson will head the Brushfire.

Young is a 23-year-old journalism major from Woodfords, California. He was graduated from Miramonte High School in Orinda, California. He has served as assistant editor, political editor and a staff reporter for the Sagebrush for three years.

Judy Crowell will head the Artemisia with previous experience in yearbook work at Douglas County High School in Gardnerville, Nevada. She is a 20-year-old Tri-Delt.

The new Brushfire editor Anderson is a Californian and a 21-year-old English major.

Female Swan Found Dead In Manzanita

By ED PEARCE

Early Thursday morning Odette, one of the University's pair of swans, could be seen gracefully swimming with her mate, Siegfried, on Manzanita Lake.

Every thing seemed normal.

A short time later, Odette was found dead, floating in the lake's water.

An autopsy later that day revealed that Odette had died of peritonitis, an inflammation of internal membranes caused by a ruptured ovum—an egg which broke inside her.

Her death disturbed the many bird lovers at the University of Nevada. According to one, "You could almost sense the relief everyone felt when it was learned she had not died as the result of violence or water pollution."

The immediate concern centers now on Siegfried and the swan's nest on the island in Manzanita Lake. According to Buildings and Grounds personnel there is a single egg in the nest. It will be several weeks before it can hatch. The question is, will Siegfried continue to sit on the egg?

According to Dr. Fred Ryser of the Biology Department Siegfried's paternal drive may be strong enough to compel him to hatch the cygnet by himself. At last report he seemed to be bent on doing just that.

Dr. Ryser said that although swans mate for life Siegfried might accept another mate if one can be found. Dean of Women Elaine Mobley said she is prepared to do everything possible to find another rare European Swan to take Odette's place.

The pair, named for the leading roles in the ballet, "Swan Lake", were given to the University two years ago by the Maurice Sheppard family of Reno.

Harpist Featured At Artist Series On Friday Night

Margaret Fabrizio, harpsichordist, will be featured at the University of Nevada Performing-Artist Series on Friday, April 22.

Miss Fabrizio, of San Francisco, is one of the finest harpsichordists of today. Her vast repertoire, combined with the instrument's tonal capacity, make a rare and enchanting musical experience, say critics.

The performance will begin at 8 p.m. in the Jot Travis Student Union building. Tickets are available by contacting Mrs. Pat Thomas in the Chancellor's office.

General admission is $2.25; faculty and staff at the university, $1.25; students, $1. University students with proper identification will be admitted free of charge.

The series is sponsored by the Public Occasions Board, the ASUN, and the Jot Travis Union.

Miss Fabrizio is the last entertainer to perform in the 1965-66 Performing Artist Series. Past performers included the Adameus String Quartet; Thomas Lee, a folksinger; the Buetens Lute Trio; the Mitchell-Ruff Jazz Trio; Nic-anor Zabaleta, a Spanish harp virtuoso; and Aksel Schiotz, vocal artist.

Bishop Pike Speaks In Last Lecture

"Individual Integrity and Democratic Rule" will be the subject of the last presentation in the Sperry-Hutchinson Lecture Series entitled Democracy As We Know It.

The lecture will be given by The Right Reverend James A. Pike, Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of California. The presentation will begin at 8 p.m. April 19 in the University gymnasium, and admission will be free.

Before becoming a reverend in 1946, Bishop Pike was a practicing attorney with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission in Washington, D. C. He also served on the faculty of George Washington University Law School.

Yarbrough To Appear April 29

Glenn Yarbrough, singer of "Baby the Rain Must Fall", is scheduled to appear at the University of Nevada Gymnasium April 29 as part of his Spring tour. He is being sponsored by the Jot Travis Student Union Board for the Mackay Day festivities. Included in Yarbrough's Spring tour of more than 50 college campuses are: Arizona State College, the University of Montana, the University of Denver, Texas Western, California State College at Hayward, and the University of New Mexico.

JEFF REEVES DIES

San Jose Swimming Accident Takes Life Of Student Leader

A tragic swimming accident has claimed the life of the newly installed Junior Class President, Jeffrey M. Reeves, Saturday afternoon in San Jose, California.

A pre-law major, the 20-year-old Reeves, was attending a Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity convention when he accidentally died at the home of a fraternity brother Charles 'Bud' Olsen in San Jose.

"He just didn't come up" according to Marian Olsen, 15, with whom Reeves had been swimming at the time. According to reports from the San Jose police an abrasion on Reeves' head indicated that he had struck the bottom of the pool after diving off a board into 10 feet of water.

Miss Olsen's frantic screams alerted a neighbor who dove in and brought Reeves to the surface. Artificial respiration attempted by the neighbor and firemen was to no avail, as Reeves was pronounced dead on arrival at the County Hospital.

Dave Russell, ASUN President, and a fraternity brother of Reeves commented that, "Jeff's tragic and untimely death means the loss of a great leader on campus. His past record of achievement and service was an indication of his leadership abilities which would have benefited the entire student body as well as the Junior class during his term of office. Through my entire association with Jeff Reeves I have never known a more talented and well liked person. The University of Nevada has lost a wonderful student as has my fraternity.

In addition to being a member of SAE fraternity Reeves served as freshman class president, was a member of the 1965 Homecoming Committee, Sagers, varsity track and gymnastics teams, a member of Blue Key Honor Society and prior to Easter vacation had been named to the lead role in the University Player's next production "Stop the World I Want to Get Off."

University of Nevada educators also expressed sorrow in the loss of Reeves.

Dr. Sam Basta, dean of student affairs, said the loss would be a tragic one to the university of Nevada.

Funeral services are pending.

Dorm Women Get Alteration In Standards

Women eating at the University of Nevada Dining Commons will have a change in dress standards. Women's residence halls are holding meetings to inform residents of the trial basis dress standards adopted by Assistant Dean of Women Roberta Barnes and representatives from Manzanita, Juniper and Artemisia halls.

Women will be allowed to wear "Burmuda shorts, capris, slacks and stretch pants for evening meals Monday through Friday. Dresses or skirts had been previously required.

The capris, Bermuda shorts, stretch pants and slacks may also be worn all day Saturdays.

Campus clothes, dresses, or skirts and sweaters, are to be worn Monday through Friday during breakfast and lunch. No slacks will be allowed in the Dining Commons during these meals.

Sunday meals will not be changed by the trial basis standards. Sunday dress must still be worn to the dinner meal. Dresses and skirts are appropriate for breakfast.

The clothing meeting came after women from all three dormitories discussed the problem at an Artemisia Hall meeting.

Women breaking the dress rules will be given a weekend campus. Each dormitory will have a review board to enforce the rules with appeals being made to the halls' House Judicial Boards.

Editorial

Once again the University of Nevada is faced with the tragic loss of a fine student leader.

What can I add or say concerning the loss of Jeff Reeves that isn't being felt by those who knew and loved him.

JEFF REEVES

Great men have, for hundreds of years, wondered at death. Yet it will be impossible to come up with an answer.

Jeff Reeves was a personal friend and very fine fraternity brother. I will never forget him. Yet I know life must go on, and we must continue to exist and strengthen ourselves.

None of us are ever safe from tragedy. Only when it comes near to those we admire, know, and love, do we stop taking life for granted.

Gamma Sigma Delta Society Installed On Nevada Campus

The Nevada chapter of Gamma Sigma Delta, honorary society of agriculture, has been installed in ceremonies on the University of Nevada campus.

Dr. H. Clay Little, assistant professor of agricultural economics at the Fleischmann College of Agriculture, was chosen as first president of the Nevada chapter of the international organization.

National Vice President, John A. Johnson, Kansas City University, delivered the inaugural address to the new members. Dr. Dale W. Bohmont, dean of the Fleischmann College and international president of the fraternity, also took part in the ceremony.

The Nevada chapter is the 28th to be accepted by the honorary fraternity. Its membership is composed of senior and graduate students and faculty members.

Miller To Speak At Education Meet

Chancellor N. Edd Miller, of the University's Reno campus, will be one of the featured speakers at the Annual Pacific Northwest Conference on Higher Education this week. The Chancellor will address the conference this Friday.

The conference is being held at the University of Idaho at Moscow, Idaho. The Chancellor's address will deal with the central theme of this year's conference, "The Responsibilities of Colleges and Universities to Society, to the Student and to National and International Interests."

The purpose of the fraternity is to "encourage high standards of scholarship and proficiency in all branches of agricultural science and education and a high degree of excellence in the practice of agricultural pursuits."

Organization of the Nevada chapter began last fall, said Dr. Little. There were already six faculty members on the university campus who were members of other chapters.

Dr. Little outlined future activities that are under consideration by the local chapter.

"We plan to extend recognition to people outside of the College of Agriculture who have made noteworthy contributions to agriculture," he said.

The group also plans to hold "get acquainted" receptions for new college staff members in the fall, and to develop guidelines for the evaluation of agricultural teachers.

"We will sponsor seminars when outstanding individuals visit our campus."

NEW OFFICERS

Other officers installed at the ceremony were Professors Paul T. Tueller, vice president; Charles R. Heisler, secretary-treasurer; and Verle R. Bohman, historian.

Charter members of the Nevada chapter are: W. Harold Arnett, Clifton R. Blincoe, Verle R. Bohman, Dale W. Bohmont, Ray E. Ely, Dean C. Fletcher, W. D. Foote, Charles R. Heisler, Oliver J. Hunt, Edwin H. Jensen, H. Clay Little, William V. Neely, Gayland D. Robison, Charles H. Seufferle, Joseph F. Stein, Paul T. Tueller, Jean B. Wyckoff and Ralph A. Young.

School Of Mines Gets Scholarship From Idaho Man

A $500 annual student scholarship has been presented to the Mackay School of Mines, University of Nevada, by J. R. Simplot, Idaho industrialist, whose widespread interests include mining activities in Nevada.

Announcement of the scholarship was made by Dr. Charles J. Armstrong, University president, and Dr. Vernon E. Scheid, Dean of the Mackay School of Mines, following recent acceptance of the gift by the University's Board of Regents.

The J. R. Simplot Scholarship will be awarded each year to a student of the Mackay School of Mines who is in good academic standing, but who may need financial assistance to continue his studies, according to Dean Scheid.

Donor of the scholarship, J. R. Simplot, is best known in Nevada for the silica sand mining operations in Clark County which bear his name. Simplot Silica Products of Overton is the largest activity of its kind in the State, producing washed glass and foundry sand, as well as building aggregate.

The large industrial complex which makes up the J. R. Simplot Co. includes chemical plants, lumber mills, food processing plants, and agricultural and livestock interests, in addition to mining.

RECOGNIZES NEED

In establishing the Mackay School of Mines scholarship, J. R. Simplot, active head of the company, has requested continuing information on the recipient student's progress. As in the case of all scholarships in the mining and metallurgical field, Dean Scheid has stated, student effort in preparation for a career in the mineral industry is being supported and encouraged by the leaders of the industry, who depend heavily on well-trained professionals to carry on their work. The growing number of scholarships at the Mackay School of Mines shows evidence also of the interest in Nevada's burgeoning mineral industry.

Trial Judge Dean Recently Attends Las Vegas Meet

Judge Laurance M. Hyde, Jr., Dean of the National College of State Trial Judges has returned from the State Judicial Conference for Nevada and Utah judges which was conducted at Nevada Southern University in Las Vegas on April 14 and 15. The conference was sponsored by the National college of State Trial Judges. Forty-five judges attended the conference.

Three major topics were discussed at the conference. These discussions were led by guest speakers from outside of the Nevada-Utah area.

"New Developments in Criminal Law" was the topic led by Judge Abraham W. Brussell, Circuit Court of Cook County, Chicago, Illinois. Judge William B. Lawless, Justice of the Supreme Court, Buffalo, New York led the discussion on "Judicial Discretion." The third major topic was on "Judicial Community Relations" and was led by Judge Charles F. Stafford, from Washington.

The conference is one of fifteen per year held by the national college, throughout the country. Funds for the conferences are provided by the Max C. Fleischmann Foundation.

University Chemistry Prof To Receive Honorary Degree

Dr. Reynold Clayton Fuson, Distinguished Professor of Chemistry at the University of Nevada, will receive an honorary degree during June commencement exercises at the University of Illinois in Chicago and Urbana.

A professor of chemistry emeritus at the University of Illinois, he will receive the doctor of science degree.

Dr. Fuson was a member of the faculty of Illinois for 40 years until his retirement in 1963. Along with chemistry, he encouraged students' interests in languages, music, and the arts.

On September 11, 1962, "in appreciation of his teaching, his guidance and his counsel," the many students and associates of Prof. Fuson presented to the University of Illinois more than $10,000 "to be known as the R. C.

Fuson Fund for Chemistry, to be used with his advice for the benefit of chemists and chemistry at the University of Illinois."

Prof Fuson's textbooks in organic chemistry include: "Organic Chemistry" (with H. R. Snyder) 1954; "Advanced Organic Chemistry," 1950; and "Reactions of Organic Compounds," 1962. He also has written more than 300 other scholarly articles and publications.

In addition to receiving the College Chemistry Teachers Award, in 1960, of the Manufacturing Chemists' Association, he has been honored for research by the Nichols Medal of the New York Section of the American Chemical Society and by election to the National Academy of Sciences.

Library Becomes Depository For GOP Research Material

The University of Nevada library has agreed to be a depository library to receive publications prepared by the GOP's National Committees Research Division.

More than one-hundred college libraries across the nation have been asked to become official depositories for the national committee's research publications.

Republican National Committee Chairman Ray C. Bliss said the program is a special project of the committee's academic liaison unit, the arts and sciences division, headed by Dr. John Bibby.

The first group of official Republican National Committee publications which have been sent to the library is composed of: "the 1964 elections," a summary analysis; "The State of the Union: A Republican Appraisal," "Chairman Bliss Speaks to Young Republicans", "The Chairman Speaks", and the Republican Coordinating Committee papers "The Balance of Payments—The Gold Drain and Your Dollar", "Grants in Aid to State and Local Governments", "Toward a Stronger Federal System", "Toward Fair Elections in America", and "Equality in America: A Promise Unfulfilled."

Reply To Editorial

Dear Editor:

Although I am in no way involved in the current Publication Board Nomination controversy, I should like to reply to the Editorial of April 1 which deplored the "surprising un-intelligent move" of the Senate. What surprises me is the fact the Editor Rogich could on the one hand lament that: "the question was . . . one of personality", and yet at the same time engage himself in the low-life, middle-brow tactics of argument ad hominem in describing Senator Lance Sparks in an apparent tongue in cheek or perhaps slur; to wit, "crusading BOY-WONDER."

Respect for the Sagebrush's editorial policy certainly will not be gained when the editor himself engages in tactics similar to those he criticizes in others.

Delta Sigma Rho Forensics Tournament Receives Praise

The Delta Sigma Rho-Tau Kappa Alpha National Forensics Tournament held on this campus last week has gained recognition and admiration for the University of Nevada by major colleges and universities throughout the United States.

Debate coach Larry Hines stated that coaches attending the forensics meet felt it to be the "most superior tournament" in the history of Delta Sigma Rho-Tau Kappa Alpha. The coaches pointed out that most universities could not or would not extend the hospitality which debaters attending the Nevada tournament received.

Both Mr. Hines and Dr. Robert Griffin, chairman of the speech department, credit the university and the A.S.U.N. with much of the success of the tournament. Facilities made available by the university and donations made by the A.S.U.N. made the tournament and its noted hospitality possible.

A social gathering for the more than 350 debaters at the Washoe Valley home of Charles Steen, Sr., also gained the admiration of the visiting teams. Refreshments for the affair were provided by local businesses and the Steen family.

In forensics activities, the University of Southern California won both the two-man and four-man debate championships. Second place in two-man debate was taken by the University of Alabama; and second place in four-man debate was won by the University of South Carolina.

Individual events included extemporaneous speaking, won by contestants from the University of Alabama and the University of Southern California.

Choir To Present 'Horns A-Plenty'

The University of Nevada Brass Choir will present "Horns A-Plenty" April 20 at 8 p.m. in the Jot Travis Lounge.

The recital of music for brass instruments is directed by Dr. Roscoe M. Booth, assistant professor of music at the university.

The program consists of music for the full choir, including "Contrafact No. 1" from the Art of Fugue by J. S. Bach, "Fanfare and Chorus" by Diedrick Buxtehude, and the modern "Ceremonial and Flourish" by Richard Arnell.

Other selections on the program include "Ave Verum Corpus" by William Byrd, arranged for four trombones and tuba; Mozart's "Concerto in Eb for French horn," Tamms Campbell soloist; "Suite for Five Trumpets" by Ronald Lo Presti; and "Fugue for Four Horns" by J. S. Bach.

were students representing Brigham Young University and the University of Denver. A congress was also held to give the debaters experience in legislative and political practices. Dave Kenner of the University of Southern California was chosen as the best speaker in the tournament.

Sixteen trophies were awarded to speakers representing such major colleges and universities as Michigan State, Stanford, the University of Wisconsin, the University of Vermont, Wake Forest, and De Pauw University.

New Intern Class Ready

Students interested in working in Senator Howard W. Cannon's office in Washington, D. C. to earn six credits in political science should submit applications to Professor Don W. Driggs, chairman of the political science department, by May 15.

The congressional internship program will begin September 1, 1966 and last for five months. During this period the student will be enrolled in Political Science 306, Congressional Internship. The student also must take a three-credit course at a university in the Washington, D. C. area.

The intern will receive sufficient pay to be self-supporting while in Washington, D. C., according to the department chairman.

Academic requirements include junior or senior standing in the University of Nevada and appropriate background courses in government as determined by the chairman of the department. The applicant does not have to be a political science major.

During the intern period, the student must submit several reports on his work in Senator Cannon's office to the department and read four books from a list prepared by the department.

The grade in the course will be given by the political science department.

The internship program was inaugurated last January by Senator Cannon and Dr. Eleanor Bushnell who is now on sabbatical leave.

George Clark of Nevada Southern University is serving as the first intern this semester.

Further information may be obtained from Professor Don W. Driggs, chairman of the political science department, room 123, Fleischmann Home Economics Building.

Rehearsals Begin For Musical 'Stop The World . . .'

Rehearsals have begun for "Stop the World—I Want To Get Off," the mad-cap musical comedy to be presented by the University of Nevada drama department.

The play originally opened in London. A highly successful run followed on Broadway, where Anthony Newley, author of the play, appeared in the leading role.

The play has an excellent musical score, including such well-known hits as "Gonna Build a Mountain," "What Kind of Fool Am I," and "Once in a Lifetime."

In the university production, the lead role of "Little Chap" was double-cast. Bill Hickman and Jeff Reeves were to appear in the role during the play's two-week-end run. The role of Eve will be played by Carol Roberts. However, Reeves was killed in an accident over the weekend in San Jose.

Members of the chorus include Sheryn Abrahamian, Sue Cobb, Michele Shepherd, Pat Porter, Holly Hammerberg, and Cathy Van Der Schoot.

Mr. Ericson of the drama department emphasized a need for workers in set construction, properties, costuming, and in the acquisition of a tail section from a 1932 Piper Cub. Anyone wishing to volunteer his services or the tail section can reach Mr. Ericson or Mr. Ware in the drama department.

Production dates for "Stop the World—I Want To Get Off" are May 6, 7, 12, 13, and 14.

Baseball Team Splits Series With Hayward

The University of Nevada baseball team split a double-header with Hayward State Saturday, winning the opening game 2-1, and losing the second 10-2. This was the Pack nine's first conference loss of the season. They now have a conference record of 3-1.

Nevada's left-handed ace, Fred Dallimore, picked up the win in the first game. The opener turned out to be a pitching duel between Dallimore and the Pioneers' Bob McCreary.

A single by first baseman Mike Sala drove in Nevada's first run. The winning run was scored by Rod Mathisen who came home on a double by right fielder Steve Small.

In the second game the Pioneers collected 12 hits from three Nevada pitchers to score 10 runs. Hayward's pitching ace Bill Remy went the distance to gather the win.

Nevada's two runs were attributed to left fielder Earl Nursement's two-run homer in the seventh inning.

Saturday the Wolf Pack will host Sacramento State in a Conference double-header.

Discus Man Puce Choice Of Week For Top Athlete

George Puce, who set a new Nevada record in the discus in Saturday's track meet, has been chosen the Sagebrush Athlete of the Week for the period ending April 17.

Puce's effort of 186 feet broke the old standard of 175-7, set by Bob Pedersen in 1961.

Puce also holds the Nevada shot put record of 58 feet, set a month ago in Berkeley.

Other athletes considered for the weekly selection were Bill Perry and Nap Montgomery, both double winners in the Sac. St. track meet.

LOOKING BACK AT THE TRACK MEET — I see that Sac State's Henry Lawson was entered in SEVEN events — and he placed in each. And talk about Nevada athletes doubling up . . .

FORMER BOXER AND TRACK STANDOUT SKIP HOUK WON THE Pacific Association AAU 20-kilometer race Saturday in a course record of one-hour, 10-minutes and 46 seconds. Steve Parker, another boxer—turned runner took fourth. Both runners braved 95-degree heat in Sacramento to run the 12.5 mile course.

INSTEAD OF A BADGER FIGHT ON MACKAY DAY, let's go a step further and have a good old-fashioned bare knuckles prize fight. Each house could enter; sorority girls would be required to wear 6 oz. gloves.

IT DOESN'T LOOK LIKE OUR NEW TRACK IS A FAST ONE — The times turned in on the asphalt-rubber track have been much slower than conference performances on the coast.

broad jump and the triple jump. He leaped 23-7¼ in the broad jump and turned in a 46-3½ mark in the triple leap.

Burly Howard Briles set a meet record in winning the shot put, as he tossed a career-best of 55-2. Briles has improved five feet in his throws since last year.

TOP EVENT

In perhaps the most spectacular event of the afternoon, Nevada's Bill Perry tied Sac's Al Biancani in the 440-yard dash. Perry was almost a foot and a half behind as they neared the tape, but lunged forward and sprawled on his face to get the tie, in a time of 49.2.

Nevada's speedy 440-yard relay team edged the Hornet squad by .3 of a second by taking the event in 42 seconds flat. Nevada's 880 relay team could not match the Hornet squad, which ranks as one of the best on the West Coast.

Three-miler Mark Wynne finished with strong kick to win that event for the Pack. He won in a time of 15:27.6. Don McCarthy grabbed third.

Smithwick Named 'Ugly Man'; WUS Week Now In Full Swing

Maybe you've seen him suavely strolling about campus. He's tall, muscular, debonair and ugly. He's Mike Smithwick, proud possessor of the 1966 title of Uglyman.

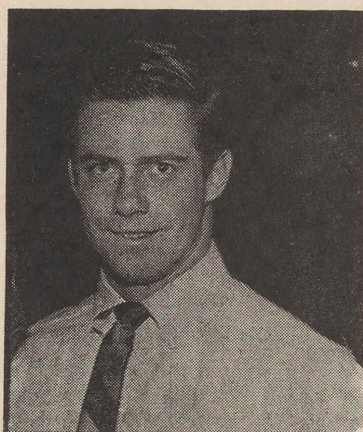

Smithwick was named Nevada's ugliest man last Friday night at the annual Uglyman Dance, sponsored by the World University Service.

World University Service Week is now in full progress. The week was formally kicked off at the Ugly Man Dance sponsored by Spurs last Friday night. say he was "humble" over being selected for the coveted honor. Smithwick was the third SAE to win the crown in the last three years.

He is a junior majoring in journalism and is from Beverly Hills, California. He is a member of the University's boxing team and head of the ASUN Public Relations Department. He was chairman of last semester's blood drive and served on the homecoming committee.

Smithwick feels it will be difficult to live up to the Uglyman title, but says he'll work at it. "I just don't understand it," he said, "my mother thinks I'm kinda good looking."

American Seismological Society Holds Annual Meet At Nevada

The Seismological Society of America held its annual national meeting at the Mackay School of Mines, University of Nevada, recently, Dr. Vernon E. Scheid, dean of the mineral college said.

Some 150 participants representing universities and scientific groups across the nation have gathered to exchange recent findings and technical information pertaining to the study of earthquakes and their related sciences.

The SSA is meeting in conjunction with the annual conferences of the Cordilleran Section of the Geological Society of America and the Pacific Coast Section of the Paleontological Society, being held concurrently at the Mackay School of Mines.

Dr. David B. Slemmons, professor of geology, and Dr. Alan Ryall, director of the Seismological Laboratory at the Mackay School of Mines, are coordinating activities of the seismological group at the joint conference.

The three-day meeting includes a symposium on "Fault Creep," which will present findings on characteristics of the Hayward and San Andreas faults in California.

PIONEERED STUDY

Dr. Vincent P. Gianella, professor emeritus of the Mackay School of Mines, who pioneered many earthquake studies in Nevada during his long and distinguished tenure at the University of Nevada, will be featured speaker at a luncheon on Wednesday.

Other well-known scientists present in connection with the seismological meeting include Dr. Perry Byerly, dean of California earthquake studies, who now holds the title of professor and director emeritus of the Seismographic Station, University of California, Berkeley; Dr. William Stauder, S. J., of St. Louis University, president of the Society; Dr. Jack Oliver, of the Lamont Geological Observatory, Columbia University; Dr. James Brune of the California Institute of Technology; and Dr. Michael Chinnery of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

The 65 papers to be presented at the seismological conference include subjects ranging from the characteristics of famous earthquakes to such exotic details as "The Field from an SH-Point Source in a Continuously Stratified Half-Space." Many of the papers will be related to earthquake engineering.

Selection of the University of Nevada as site of the national conference points up the growing importance of the new Seismological Laboratory of the Mackay School of Mines and the research being carried on here into the States vital earthquake characteristics.

Further evidence of this interest will be shown as plans are laid for the Summer Conference for College Teachers on Earthquakes and Earthquake Engineering to be held August 1 to 19 this year at the University of Nevada, under sponsorship of the National Science Foundation.

Debaters Killed In Car Collision Near Lovelock

A two car collision west of Lovelock claimed the lives of five persons last Wednesday evening. The coach and two members of the Weber State College debate team died as the station wagon in which they were traveling collided with a station wagon driven by a young Lovelock resident.

The members of the debate team were returning home from the National Forensic Tournament at the University of Nevada.

The two station wagons collided headon one mile west of Lovelock on Interstate 80 at 5:30 p.m. last Wednesday as Peggy J. Mangum, 17, of Lovelock, apparently lost control of the vehicle she was driving and crossed lanes. Her passenger, Clint Larsen, 10, of Lovelock, was also killed.

The members of the Weber Team from Ogden, Utah who sustained fatal injuries in the wreck were Robert Mukai, 35, coach of the team, Clifford P. Hughes, 20, and Mary Clark, also 20.

Two other debaters, Kathleen Bintner, 20, and Margaret Hefferman, 21, were hospitalized in Lovelock and were listed as having received major but not critical injuries by the Nevada State Highway Patrol.

mation on the various phases of work done by the service.

This year's theme is "We have it! They need it! Let's share it!" To promote the sharing theme representatives from each living group will be collecting money from members of living groups. The goal is set at twenty-five cents per student.

At Kaleidoscope Tibbets To Speak

Dr. F. Donald Tibbitts, assistant professor of biology, will be the featured speaker at the YW-CA-sponsored Kaleidoscope program tomorrow at 3 p.m.

Dr. Tibbitts, well-known in music as well as scientific circles, will speak on the importance music he has had in his life. He attended college for three years on music scholarships and for a time considered a possible career in music.

The informal program will be held Wednesday, April 20 at 3 p.m. in the Truckee Room of the student union. All students and faculty are invited to come.

Two Women Selected To Fill AWS Secretarial Positions

Associated Women Students council members elected a new corresponding secretary and a new recording secretary and heard reports at the first April meeting of the group.

Pat Semenza was elected corresponding secretary. She recently went to the Arizona meeting of the Intercollegiate Association of Women Student's regional conference.

Margie Uhalde was elected AWS recording secretary. Last semester she was chairman of the election breakfast.

Three phases of the IAWS meeting in Arizona were reported to the council by Assistant Dean of Women Roberta Barnes, AWS President Marvis Cooper and representatives Ann Harvilla, Pat Semenza, Pam Lee and Kay Barrett. They attended the conference at Tempe, Arizona which was held April 6-9.

The representatives expressed the hope that one of the Tempe speakers might come to the University of Nevada at some future date to speak to AWS women. Mrs. Amy Freeman Lee, an artist from San Antonio, Texas, spoke on the aesthetic values and the cultural aspects of living at the IAWS convention.

Resolutions considered at the convention were presented to the council and discussions as to whether they should be definitely adopted was held.

Representatives also discussed the value of the program which centered on the theme "Values: Chained or Changed?" and the accommodations made for the convention at Arizona State University.

The deadline for making nominations for the $100 AWS scholarship is the next AWS meeting, April 21 at noon. Nominated so far are Ann Havrilla and Patricia Miltenberger.

Spurs Collect For Easter Seals

Volunteers of Spurs, the University of Nevada's sophomore womens service organization, collected $54 for the Reno Easter Seal drive.

Pat Tullis, chairman, says that 22 Spurs volunteered to collect money for Easter Seals the week-end of March 31 through April 2. The volunteers canvassed 22 neighborhoods, two women going to each together. Approximately two and a half blocks constitute a "neighborhood" unit.

Last year the Spurs visited 18 neighborhoods during the drive.

Basta Says No

Badger-Dog Battle Proposed For Mackey Day Celebration

To keep alive an old Nevada tradition, students at the University of Nevada want to put on a badger vs. dog fight on Mackey Day. Mike Stephenson, chairman of the Mackey Day Committee said that while the badger-dog fights may be cruel, they are usually quite brief and "the badger nearly always wins."

Dean of Student Affairs Sam Basta said, "The idea of Mackey Day certainly isn't to encourage or permit such a cruel sport. I don't care if the pioneers did have badger and dog fights. We won't have them here." I can understand innocent fun, like an elephant race, or telephone booth stuffing. Even goldfish swallowing. Students seem to let off steam in odd ways.

TOO FAR

"But badger fighting. Now that's going too far. I never realized students would want to relieve their spring fever in such a blood thirsty way, and frankly, I'm very disappointed in them."

Stephenson learned of badger-fighting while he was home on Easter vacation, and decided to hold one on campus.

Badger fights were held further back than Comstock days and the miners staged them frequently. During the 1840's and 50's it was quite active. According to the students some of the fights were held on water, with the dog trying to pull the badger off a log, or else trying to dig one out of a hole.

Stephenson said, "We thought of having the fight on Manzanita Lake, but we didn't want to disturb Dean Mobley's ducks and swans. The fight would be held on April 30 on the lawn facing Ninth Street. That way we hope to have plenty of room for what we expect to be an overflow crowd.

But Dean Basta said "They don't have to worry about a crowd. There won't be any fight. It's this sort of thing that gives universities a bad name.

Dean Basta has talked with Chancellor Dr. N. Edd Miller and Dr. Miller felt that Basta should use his own judgment on the matter and try to work it out.

Stephenson said that he was sure that the administration would see things his way and realize that his basic aim is to preserve a fine old Nevada tradition and not just have a badger fight. "If necessary, I'll go to higher authority—even the governor."

"All-Star" awards in the medium-sized school division were won by Scott Roberts, Ely, with honorable mention going to Larry Kaimer, Rich James, Alan Van Ruden and Roy Allen, Clayton, and D. Hooper, Ely.

Art Professor's Work To Be Shown In One-Man Washington, D.C., Show

J. Craig Sheppard, professor of art at the University of Nevada, will have a one-man show at the Agra Gallery in Washington, D. C. during the month of April.

Mr. Shepard and his sculptor wife, Yolande, will travel to Washington and be present when Senator and Mrs. Alan Bible officially and formally open the exhibition April 6 at 8 p.m.

The unusual style the Nevada artist uses was heightened during the two years he worked in France while on leave from the University of Nevada.

During that period, he exhibited in several museums and galleries in Paris.

Sheppard's first Paris exhibition in 1963 at the Galerie Coard was hailed by critics as a vanguard of the exploding new figurative movement.

TYPICALLY AMERICAN

Janine Warnod, in "Figaro," said "His paintings are typically American. In New York they called them neo-abstractions; in France one could say neo-figurative. Craig Sheppard does not paint an object, but a soul expression, a mystic vision, a psychological study."

While in France, Sheppard also exhibited at the Museum of Beaux Arts and at the Paris Museum of Modern Art. The latter show resulted in the purchase of one of his paintings for their permanent collection.

Since his return to the United States, he was invited to exhibit in the 22nd International Biennial Watercolor Exhibition at the Brooklyn Museum of Art, where he was awarded a purchase prize.

Following this, the El Paso Museum of Art held a major one-man exhibition of Sheppard's work.

During the last three years he has exhibited in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Houston, Dallas, Chicago, and New York.

WIDELY KNOWN

Early in his career, he became widely-known in western art circles through regional exhibitions and murals in private and public buildings. He is chairman of the Governor's Council on the Arts in Nevada.

Sheppard's interest in Europe and his growing international reputation began in Norway as a Fulbright lecturer at the University of Oslo. He had one-man exhibitions in Oslo and Bergen in 1956.

He was born in Lawton, Oklahoma and received his bachelor of fine arts degree in painting and bachelor of fine arts in sculpture from the University of Oklahoma. He went to the University of Nevada in 1947, where he established and built the art department.

Nevada Students Given Honorable Mention By Panel

University of Nevada students, Michele Maupin, and Lance T. Sparks, have been accorded honorable mention by the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation.

The students were named along with 1,587 other semi-finalists.

College professors across the continent nominated over 11,000 students last fall. Panels of college teachers and administrators in the Foundation's 15 regions screened the applicants and called one-third of them to interviews in January.

Nearly one-half of those interviewed won their Fellowships following the recent week-long deliberations of the university presidents, graduate deans and professors who make up the Foundation's National Selection Committee.

Miss Maupin and Sparks are both seniors at the university.

Student Awarded Grant To Study Abroad

Lyon, France will be the October destination of senior Sharry Springmeyer. Miss Springmeyer received confirmation recently that she has been awarded a grant to study in France which will cover transportation, tuition and a general allowance for one academic year. She will attend the University of Lyon where she will study 16th Century French literature. The monetary value of the grant is 6,300 francs or about $1,800.

Miss Springmeyer is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Spring-meyer of Reno. She is a French major and has a minor in English. She hopes to teach on the college level after finishing graduate work. She has maintained a 3.2 overall average while at the university, and has been active in Pi Beta Phi, in which she served as house manager and on the song team. She was president of the French Club, a member of Alliance-Francaise and the University Singers.

The Fulbright grant is awarded on the basis of scholarship, activities and on the worthiness of the applicants proposed project of study. The applicant must submit a written statement for this part of the competition. Miss Springmeyer applied for the grant in November.

The basic purpose of the grant is to increase mutual understanding between the people of the United States and the people of other countries through educational and cultural exchange. The program is financed by both the governments of France and the United States.

The stay in Europe will be the second for Miss Springmeyer, who will be going on a tour of several countries this summer. He will return to Reno before leaving for France at the end of September.
