Application For Share Of Stead Now Withdrawn

United States International University (California Western) of San Diego withdrew its application for a share of Stead Air Force Base late last week.

Cal Western had been locked in a battle over conflicting bids with the University of Nevada.

The California school proposed using a large share of the soon-to-be-phased-out base for the establishment of a new four year institution to be called United States International University.

The University of Nevada is hoping to establish a vocational training school at the base and would also use it to house portions of the Desert Research Institute. In addition recreational areas on the base would be used in physical education courses.

A committee from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare had studied the two proposals and several smaller bids and had recommended awarding the lion's share to Cal Western. This action brought sharp criticism from the University of Nevada officials. President Armstrong had planned to appeal the recommendation through the Nevada Congressional delegation in Washington.

Reaction to the withdrawal was swift from the University of Nevada. Dr. James Anderson, head of the committee presenting Nevada's bid, said, "This is a great step forward for the state of Nevada, to a time when we can provide an educational system that runs through the full spectrum and includes vocational training."

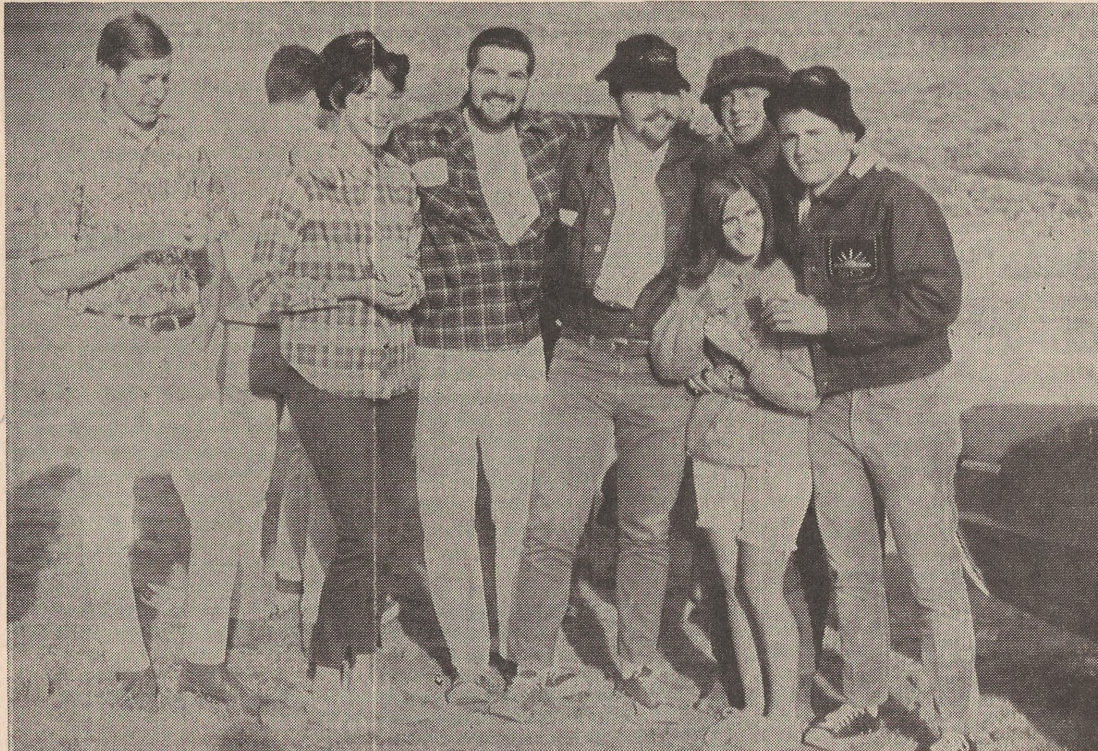

Dr. Anderson added, "I think Cal Western has done graciously what it said it would do all along—withdraw its application if it were shown that the state's need would be best served in a way other than the establishment of a new four year school." Cal Western officials had said at a recent meeting of the Stead committee they would not fight with Nevada over the matter.

Dr. Anderson added that the matter was not settled yet. "We still have to work with the Health, Education and Welfare Department to show what we can do if we are given the facilities we asked for." "It's not over, but it is a step forward," he said.

A meeting of the Stead Committee has been called for today to discuss the new development.

Dr. William Bevan Speaks Today

Dr. William Bevan, vice-president of Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore, Maryland, will speak on the "concept of Reinforcement" today at 3:30. Dr. Bevan will be in the Hardy Room of the Jot Travis Student Union Building.

Twenty-six Tapped For Spurs

Twenty-six new Spurs were tapped yesterday morning in a surprise "come as you are" tapping. The 1965-66 Spurs members routed the initiates out of bed for a 6 a.m. breakfast at St. Albert's Church.

The prospective Spurs were elected last week after several weeks of interviews by the present membership. Each woman must now pass the national Spurs test to be officially accepted.

Formal initiation ceremonies will take place in May after the qualifying test has been administered. Then new and old members will become familiar with Spurs work.

Election of officers for the 1966-

67 Spurs will take place in May after the women have a chance to know their fellow initiates.

Women tapped and their living groups are: Barbara Ashworth, Artemisia Hall; Jane Beloso, Kappa Alpha Theta; Emily Breen, Gamma Phi Beta; Ingrid Broten, Tri Delta; Lynne Carpenter, Artemisia; Pamela Dayton, Pi Beta Phi; Katherine Dix, Juniper Hall; Loriana Egan, Off-campus; Judy Lynn Frey, Juniper Hall; Jacqueline Fabian, Pi Beta Phi; Elizabeth Hannifan, Kappa Alpha Theta; Frances Jones, Kappa Alpha Theta; Stephanie Lorigan, Pi Beta Phi; Karen Marion, Off-campus; Deborah Moore, Pi Beta Phi; Barbara Nelson, Kappa Alpha Theta; Jean Parker, Off-campus;

Campus Station Wants Suggestions

Suggestions for programming on the campus radio station, KUNR, are wanted from students and faculty. Dr. Donald G. Potter, director of audio-visual communications, is requesting that people within receiving range of the 88 megacycles radio station give their opinions on music and programs they would like to hear.

"As this station originated to develop aesthetic values in the community and at the University, we are requesting that the suggestions be for programs that cannot be found on the local commercial radios," says Dr. Potter.

The radio station will set up a new schedule which will be published in campus publications.

KUNR broadcasts Monday through Friday from 4 to 11 p.m. Sunday broadcasting is from 2 to 9 p.m.

Two AWS Officers Living In Juniper

The Associated Women Students president and vice president are living in Juniper Hall to become acquainted with dormitory life. Marvis Cooper and Ann Havrilla are spending the week in Juniper Hall's 1F suite.

Miss Cooper encourages any resident hall women to visit them while they are in Juniper so that they may become acquainted with any ideas for AWS or dormitory life.

The practice of having the new AWS officers live in the dormitories was started so that Independents who had never lived in a hall and sorority women who were not familiar with dormitory life would be acquainted with the dormitory problems, as well as with the women in the halls.

Aggie Club Barbecue Planned

Mackay Day barbecue plans and arrangements for the Nevada Junior Livestock show were discussed at the Aggie Club's meeting last Wednesday. Delegates to the International Agricultural Students Conference were also named.

Tickets for the Mackay Day barbecue are now available at the Jot Travis Student Union Housing office. Clifford Shoolroy, chairman, reported that students not having a dining commons card can buy tickets at the housing office. Dining commons students will be asked to sign up during one of this week's meals and pay a reduced rate at the gate.

Aggie Club members will sponsor the Nevada Junior Livestock Show April 29-May 1 at the Washoe County fairgrounds. They will assist in the judging, weighing and sale of the 4-H Future Farmers of America projects brought to the state show.

More than 330 entrants are expected, says Dr. Daniel Cassard, Max C. Fleischmann College of Agriculture professor and member of the Show board.

Nevada will send two students as delegates to the International Agricultural Students Conference to be held at the University of Washington. The conference will be in September. President Larry Wood and Vice President Larry Compston are being sponsored by the club.

Gary Silverman Elected Head Of ASUN Senate

Sigma Nu Gary Silverman was elected president of the ASUN Senate at a meeting Wednesday night.

Lambda Chi Alpha Bill Maupin was elected to fill a position on the executive council.

In other senate action the proposed fee split for university publications was approved. The 46 per cent of the total amount allotted to the publications board from the student fees of $17.50 has been broken down in the following manner. The Artemisia Yearbook will receive 50 per cent, the Sagebrush 44 per cent, the Forum 4.5 per cent and the Brushfire 1.5 per cent.

The vacancy created by the death of Jeff Reeves, who was the president of the junior class, will be filled by an election within the senate. Two qualified students will be nominated by the executive council and voted on by the senate, according to ASUN First Vice President Daryl Drake.

Drake commented further that he was pleased with the present policies of various controlling factions such as the Publication and Finance Control boards in the University student government. "The key to a successful and respected senate" Drake continued, "is a strong committee system."

Several recommended additions to the senate rules have been proposed, according to Drake, the first being that all senators from living groups must represent their dorm in person and that no individual other than an elected senator will be seated and recognized at any meeting of the senate.

The second proposal was that any major bill brought before the senate will have a first reading at that time but will not be voted upon until the next meeting. Drake pointed out several reasons for this. "It will give time for senators to consider the bill, allow them to contact people affected by a particular measure and gain information and reactions, and give time for the campus publications to get the new legislation before the general student body."

Two other proposals have been made by ASUN President Dave Russell. Consideration of the honor system on the university campus and the establishment of a president's cabinet to act in an advisory capacity to the ASUN president was advised by Russell.

The revised policy for the rally committee will be discussed in the next senate meeting.

Gown Deadline

The deadline for ordering Senior Gowns is this Friday at 5 p.m. in the ASUN Bookstore.

There is a $3.50 charge for the gowns.

Eight Beauties Vie For Queen

Eight University of Nevada coeds will vie for the title of Mackay Day Queen for 1966.

One of the eight will reign over the weekend celebration in honor of John Mackay, one of the schools greatest benefactors.

The queen will be selected by campus males who will cast their ballot today and tomorrow in the Jot Travis Student Union.

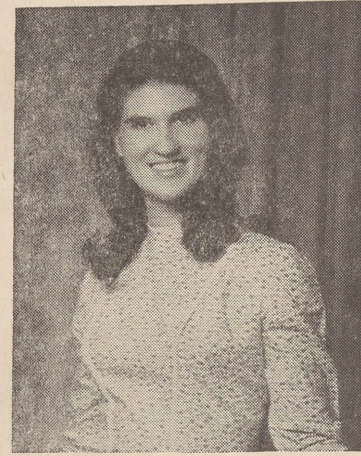

The winning coed will be announced at the intermission of the Glen Yarbrough performance, Friday evening in the University of Nevada gymnasium.

Mike Stephenson, Mackay Day chairman, will announce the winner.

The eight competing for honors include, Robin Schoff, Toni Martin, Sharon Barrett, Judy Mc-Carroll, Judy Burke, Jackie Uhalde, Claudia Treharme, and Frenie Sewell.

The Yarbrough intermission will also feature the awards for longest, best trimmed, thickest, reddest, and blackest beards.

1966 Mackay Day Committee Praised

The 1966 Mackay Day Committee has prepared a weekend of activities that should make this year's celebration one of the finest ever at the University of Nevada.

This school is perhaps the only one of its kind in the United States. Its colorful past cannot be matched.

We often forget the work that goes into any all-student celebration. The work must be done, and the different school committees are responsible for the outcome . . . whether it be good or bad.

In order to make this year's festivities successful, we need student support. Attend ALL the events, and take part in the activities.

It is through the fine efforts of the Mackay Day Committee that we are having such a weekend. The students of the University of Nevada need only take part to show their gratitude.

Mike Stephenson, the Mackay Day chairman, has done an outstanding job. His committee composed of Marc Ratner, Joyce Freeman, Gregg Zive, Daryl Drake, Carolyn Hicks, Cris Key, Gary Silverman, and Friendly Sewell, must also be congratulated.

Keep the wild times to a minimum. Remember that blanks can seriously injure a person.

This weekend should be a "beaut!"

Nevada Band To Go On May Tour

The University of Nevada Band will again go on tour during May. Under the direction of Dr. John Carrico, professor of music, the bands will both parade and present a concert at Disneyland and Las Vegas.

Other parts of the band to perform include the brass ensemble, directed by Dr. Roscoe Booth; the stage band, under the direction of Gene Isaef; and the saxophone quartet, led by Orville Fleming, also a professor of music.

The symphonic band will present concerts which will include a repertoire of several periods of wind instrument literature, ranging from Bach to Shostakovich to Della-Joio.

Special event during the tour will be a series of clinics for high school music students of Clark County. Included will be a stage band clinic by Isaef, a brass clinic by Dr. Booth, and a saxophone clinic by Fleming.

Featured soloists for the tour will be Dr. Booth, Isaef, Fleming, and Charles Bickhart.

Wolves Take Two From Hornet Nine

For the first tie in twelve years the University of Nevada baseball team swept a double header from the Hornets of Sacramento State. The Pack exploded in the first game for a 5-1 victory, and came back to win the nightcap 2-1.

In the first game the Pack's bats were cracking for extra base hits that set up the victory. Both teams picked up nine hits in the winning run. Mike Zuppan who relieved Carl Bossieux got the credit for the victory.

The pair of victories brought the Pack to a 5-1 conference mark. Nevada's only loss in conference play so far is the Hayward State the league leader with a 7-1 record.

Nevada will travel to Arcata for a double header with the Lumberjacks on Saturday. The next home game for the Wolf Pack will be Friday May 6 against the Cal Aggie Mustangs at Moana Stadium.

ball game but the Nevadans grouped their hits. Six of Nevada's nine hits were doubles.

Earl Nursement, Owen Toy, Steve Kosach and Lornie Wagner grabbed doubles. Nursement and Toy had two apiece. Fred Dallimore picked up his sixth win on the season in limiting the Hornets to one run.

In the second game the Wolves had to go to the bottom of the ninth to get the victory. With the score tied 1-1, Rod Mathisen singled home Nub Stauffer with the

Glenn Yarbrough To Appear Friday

Glenn Yarbrough, nationally known folk singer, will appear at the Mackay Day festivities, April 29 at 8:00 p.m. in the University of Nevada gymnasium.

Tickets for the performance can be obtained in Room 104 of the Jot Travis Union. The cost of the tickets is $2, $3, and $4.

Track Squad Beats Humboldt, Portland State

ARCATA — University of Nevada track squad remained undefeated in FWC competition by drubbing Humboldt State, 101-42 Saturday. In a three-way meet, the Wolf Pack took first by gathering 87 points to 57 for Portland State and 36 for Humboldt.

Nevada did not use several of its top performers, including Otis Burrell, George Puce, Terry Forbryn, and Dave Taylor.

Nevada won eight of 17 events, with Portland taking five and the Lumberjacks four.

In one of the best performances of the day, Nevada's Ron Lee took first in the 880 with a 1:56.9 time, and captured third in the mile.

Although beaten in the mile relay, Nevada came up with its best time of the season in posting a 3:21.0.

Winners for Nevada included Larry Moore in the high jump, Houston Williamson in the long jump, Howard Briles in the shot put, Vic Simmons in the high hurdles, John Hancock in the pole vault, Nap Montgomery in the triple jump, and Bill Perry in the intermediate hurdles.

The only double winner of the afternoon was Harold Strong of Portland State who took firsts in both the 220-yard dash and the 440.

Worley Attends Education Meet

Dr. Stinson E. Worley, associate professor of elementary education at the University of Nevada, attended the board of editors meeting of "Childhood Education," a monthly journal of the Association for Childhood Education International.

The meeting was held in conjunction with the annual conference of ACEI.

Prior to leaving for Chicago, Dr. Worley was the guest speaker for the Sierra Nevada Council of the International Reading Association. He discussed "What Reading Must Do for Children."

Pack Golfers Lose To Sac

The young Nevada golf team was defeated last Tuesday in a dual match with Sacramento State and only have a tri-team match Friday left before the Far Western Conference championship tournament.

The score of last week's match was 20-1, with Ernie Maupin getting one-half point for the Pack and the other half coming from best ball on the first nine.

Maupin has been the low man for Nevada in all its matches except one. Gary Brafford has been the second man.

The other top golfers have been Lance Hanson, Jeff McEachron, Fran Menante and Mike Myers.

Friday's match will be in Reno. Hayward State and Sonoma State will meet the Wolf Pack on the Hidden Valley Country Club links.

Coach Jack Spencer pointed out the fact that the lack of facilities close to the campus has been a big reason for the team's showing. However, he feels, "even though last year's squad won more matches, this group of boys is better than last year's team. Also they should improve even more as they all will be back next year."

The conference tournament will be hosted by the Yolo Flyers in Woodland, Calif. on May 7.

TALKING ABOUT THE OLD TRADITION AND ALL THAT, I looked through a few old copies of the Sagebrush, and found that "Buck" Shaw has accepted the position of football coach January 26—that's January of 1925.

IN OTHER NEWS, the Pack is readying for Stanford's basketball team, while an old 'Brush columnist writes, "California has already been beaten this year, so it looks as if Nevada will not have the honor of being the first to wallop the Golden Bear." Incidentally, Nevada won the first of two games, 28-25, but lost the second, 28-21.

A FEBRUARY 1916 issue of the Sagebrush reports that Nevada "overwhelmed" the University of Pacific, 53-18. A week later, however, we were drubbed by Cal and St. Mary's, although we defeated Stanford.

A 1912 Sagebrush headline reads 'Nevada 22; Sacramento 0—NUF SED' This is also the year that Nevada football team defeated the Barbarians (?), 15-3, and took on the national Australian rugby team, only to lose 57-6 in a "fair exhibition of the English game."

A 1912 headline reads "U. of N. GLEE CLUB TO SHOW A WHOLE LOT OF CLASS THIS YEAR."

BACK TO MODERN TIMES, the Reno Silver Sox make their home debut tonight. We should support our local teams. There is talk of a Wolf Pack-Silver Sox game later on in the season.

Peace Corps Sets Deadline For Enrollment In Program

The Peace Corps has set May 20 as the deadline for college juniors to enroll in 11 Peace Corps training courses to be held this summer.

The courses — 10 starting in June and the other in July — are designed to enable future volunteers to add Peace Corps training to their final year of college. Each course runs 10 weeks.

Courses offered include: Bolivia Community Development,

Columbia Community Development, Peru Community Development, Brazil Community Development, Teaching English in French-Speaking Africa, Kenya Agriculture Development, India Rural Community Development (Poultry and Health), Thailand Rural Community Development, Philippines Secondary Education, Turkey Community Development, Thailand Secondary Education.

Juniors qualified to enter the Advance Training Program will be prepared for assignments in 14 countries. The assignments cover community and agricultural development, secondary education and teaching English in French-speaking West Africa.

A Peace Corps loan fund for ATP enrollees helps cover the loss of income trainees might have otherwise earned from summer employment. Trainees may borrow up to $600 at low interest rates to pay expenses during their final year of school.

ATP was begun in 1964 as a solution to the increasing difficulty in preparing volunteers for assignments. Some volunteers, for example, must learn two languages to handle their work effectively. ATP gives the Peace Corps 15 months to prepare the volunteer instead of the usual three.

Humboldt St. Nips Tennis Squad

ARCATA — Nevada's tennis team lost a 6-3 nod to Humboldt St. in a Far Western Conference match Saturday morning.

The Lumberjacks won four of six in the singles and two of three in the doubles.

Ken Howard and Al Pierce, single winners for Nevada, also teamed up for a doubles win.

Singles — Ken Howard (N) def Gerry Allen (H), 7-5, 7-5; Al Pierce (N) def Steve Miller (H), 6-3, 3-6, 6-1; Mick Miller (H) def George Wisham, 6-1, 6-1; Bob Dorn (H) def John Young (N) 6-1, 6-4; Dennis Oakes (H) def Dave Chism (N), 6-0, 6-4; Mike Schmidt (H) def Jack Raycraft (N), 6-4, 4-6, 6-2.

Doubles—Howard and Pierce (N) def Allen and Dorn (H), 7-5, 6-2; S. Miller and M. Miller (H) def Wisham and Schmidt (H) def. Young and Raycraft, 4-6, 6-2, 6-1.

Captain Griscom Promoted Major

Captain Ralph M. Griscom, assistant professor of Military Science, was recently promoted to the rank of Major in a ceremony at the University of Nevada Military Department.

Major Griscom was graduated from West Point in 1956, with a bachelor of science degree in civil engineering. He later earned his master's degree at Iowa State University.

Before coming to the University of Nevada, Major Griscom served in Germany as an Engineer Company Commander and in Greenland as the Army Area Engineer.

Major Griscom now lives with his wife and two sons, Jay 8, and Eric 5, at 2341 Riviera Street in Reno.

Graduate Recital Features 'Cat Ode'

"Ode on the Death of a Favorite Cat Drowned in a Tub of Goldfish" was written by Dr. Ronald R. Williams and performed for the first time at Joyce Cox William's graduate recital recently in the Jot Travis Lounge.

The soprano and faculty wives string quartet together performed songs by Handel, Mozart, Schubert, Saint Saen, and Copland.

The wives string quartet is composed of Mrs. Donald F. Tibbitts, Mrs. Charles V. Wells, Mrs. Harold Goddard, and Mrs. Fred Rieff. Also performing were Mr. and Mrs. James Hildinger, Mr. and Mrs. William J. Plambeck, Wendell A. Mordy, and Dr. Ronald R. Williams.

clothes that are copies of those worn in the late 1860's. At least they like to think they do. Men usually are inspired by the miner or movie cowboy and dress as an unwashed migrant farm worker or like "Kid Shellin".

The women on campus wear cotton or rayon dresses that sport dainty ruffles and bright colors.

The truth is that these are not realistic costumes of John Mackay's day.

In those olden days men wore panama hats or bowlers. Suits were usually black and made of wool. Few men, other than lawmen, carried guns, and white ten gallon hats were not worn. The miners may have been dirty, but they wore wool pants, wool shirts, and wool blanket coats over their wool "long-handles".

Women's dresses were usually black. There were few dry cleaning establishments at that time and dark colors hid the stains better.

Most of women's clothes were also made of wool, though cotton and silk dresses were also worn.

Many costume experts call the late 19th Century the "Era of Steel Exuberance" in ladies fashions. Steel framed dresses with bustles were in Vogue. Yards and yards of heavy lace were used around the collars and the well dressed lady of 1860 wore a necklace with a cameo the size of a "hen's egg."

Hats with a great many feathers and pounds of velvet were very popular. Huge wigs were common and quite brittle from the coats of laquer required to keep their shape.

Corsets were still a must in fashion and the hoop had only begun to go out of use.

Fetus Experiment Helps Research

"For the first time we will find out that those scientific processes are that make bones grow in the womb." This statement was made by Dr. Charles Armstrong, President of the University of Nevada, last week as he announced the outstanding scientific achievement made by Dr. Donald Pickering of the University Human Development Laboratory.

Dr. Pickering's experiment, concerning the fetus of a monkey kept alive for 24 hours outside its mothers womb, was a major breakthrough in the field of fetal medicine.

The field of fetal medicine, the treatment of unborn children, is a relatively new and uncrowded field, but one considered scientifically exciting.

Dr. Pickering said that until his experiment had been made it had been impossible to know much more about fetuses than "whether they were dead or alive."

"We didn't know when they were sick or well," he said, explaining the development unveiled in the experiment" would create a large part of the direction of fetal medicine."

A scientist who appears perfectly at home in shirt sleeves and smudged with chalk, Dr. Pickering is a medical graduate of the University of California.

He is a Phi Beta Kappa, and has an impressive academic and professional record. Nevertheless, he still appears to be humble and modest for a man who has scored a major scientific breakthrough.

Claiming enough monkey caesarians "to give stiff competition to the average obstetrician," he has "never lost a mother," and is proud of it.

There were no "failures" before Dr. Pickering's successful experiment of last week. Most other experiments gave the data leading to more medical and engineering improvements which in turn lead to the final "breakthrough".

Why did Dr. Pickering succeed where others failed? He is quick to credit the work that was done before by other scientists, the help given him by industry, the support of the university, the U.S. Public Health Service and the community, and the cooperation of Dr. Anderson and his other co-workers.

Important, too, is the fact that he started working with the mullata macaque monkey in 1950.

"I know the animal, I know pediatrics, I know fetal development, and I had good associates," he said. I had things money can't buy, including a lot of effort."

University Couple Appointed Associates For Danforth Group

Dr. Erling Skorpen of the University of Nevada philosophy department and his wife, Liesel, have been appointed as Danforth Associates on the Reno campus.

Through an associate program, the Danforth Foundation seeks to recognize and encourage good teaching and to assist in personalizing the educational process. "The program places an emphasis on the role of the teacher-scholar who has a strong concern for students as persons, who has competence in his discipline, who is a man of faith and who has an awareness of the relevance of that faith to the problems of our age," says Robert Rankin, associate director of the Danforth Foundation.

The Skorpens were recommended to the Foundation by a regional selection committee which is composed of several faculty members in this area. The faculty members were appointed by the Foundation to search for qualified persons for this program.

The couple will take part in the program for two years. A second two-year appointment is made for those who have attended one national conference and have shown an interest in continuing in the program.

A stipend of $125 will be provided each year to be used by the associate couple according to their own situations and opportunities in carrying out the aims of the program. In addition, a $100 book fund is made available annually and assistance in an amount up to 100 is available for attendance at learned society meetings.

Presently 1500 faculty couples over 650 colleges and universities in the United States are related to the program.

Unifax Machine Transmits Photos For Journalists

Photographs of significant world events are now transmitted into the journalism building at practically the same time they occur over a machine from United Press International. The machine is called a Unifax.

The Unifax was installed this week to aid journalism students in their study of news events.

The wire pictures will be used in editing, photojournalism, ad copywriting, current events, and radio and tv classes, said Alfred L. Higginbotham, chairman of the Department of Journalism. Professor Higginbotham said all University students are welcome to use the Unifax to help them understand the worlds events.

The photographs received over the machine are the same as those used throughout the U.S. by television and newspaper subscribers to the UPI news service.

Hettich Attends Washington Meet

Dr. David W. Hettich, director of freshman English, will attend a two-day conference in Washington D. C. April 28.

The conference, called "Language Components in Teacher Training", will have a representative for each of the summer institutes in English. The National Defense Education Association is sponsoring the institutes to be held this summer.

The conference will attempt to research problems of teaching languages, which languages should be taught, which approaches should be used, and some of the problems of the new grammar that have come up in the past few years.
