Sundowner Abandons Annual Mate; Prof. Inherits Hungry Menagerie

Is the Prof. A. L. Higginbotham homestead on University Terrace becoming an involuntary menagerie?

Mrs. Higginbotham is wondering.

A week ago, during the Mackay Day celebration, a White Leghorn hen wandered into the Higginbotham environs. And, she refuses to leave, hiding much of the time in the shrubbery.

Now, she is too skinny to be palatable. And, Mrs. Higginbotham hasn't been able to find the eggs but she has a strong suspicion that Matilda, as the chicken has become known, is "in a family way."

The mystery of the source of the chicken has recently been revealed. It appears it belonged to Mike Smithwick, who was being initiated into the Sundowners. It must be admitted that Matilda knows her proper associations since Mike is a Journalism student and Professor Higginbotham is chairman of the Department of Journalism.

Furthermore, the "zoo" has been augmented the last couple

First College Draft Test For Tomorrow

The first Selective Service College Qualification test will be held tomorrow in the Thompson Education Auditorium from 9 a. m. to noon, according to Dr. Robert Whittemore, director of counseling and testing.

Students are required to be in the auditorium before 8:30 a.m. Only those students who sent their applications in by April 23, and have received tickets for the test may attend.

Two more tests are scheduled for May 14 and June 3.

of days by squirrel, which, apparently, has migrated for the nearby Hillside cemetery or may have escaped from the adjacent fraternity or sorority houses.

But, there is hope. It has been announced by the Sigma Nu fraternity men, who live two blocks away, that their boa constrictor has escaped and is "slithering around" the neighborhood somewhere.

If the boa, the squirrel, and Matilda should happen to meet, there is bound to be a tragedy, and Mrs. Higginbotham is not sure she wants to exchange a chicken and squirrel for a snake.

Ad Hoc Group Sponsors Talk On Viet Nam

On Tuesday, May 17, at 2 p.m. in the Travis Lounge, the Ad Hoc Committee on Viet Nam will sponsor a talk by Richard Horton entitled "Are the Hawks Cuckoo Birds?"

Horton is a local Reno attorney and has been very active in the Republican Party. He was the Republican candidate for Congressman in 1956 and has been Washoe County Chairman for the Republican Party.

He is a veteran of World War II and the Korean War and currently is an Intelligence Officer with the rank of Lt. Commander in the Naval Reserve. Horton is speaking as a "private citizen and not as an official of the Republican Party." After his remarks he will answer questions and discuss his remarks with the audience.

This will be the last program sponsored by the Ad Hoc Committee on Viet Nam this school year.

'Swan Song' To Be Sung By Siegfried

Cigars will be in order any time now if Siegfried the Swan and all of his moral supporters are successful in hatching his clutch of motherless eggs on Manzanita Lake's island.

Siegfried has been handling the sitting chores alone for over four weeks now. His mate, Odette, died suddenly of an internal inflammation. Since her death Siegfried has left the nest only for brief periods of time in order to feed. He covers the six eggs with straw to protect them from the sun when he leaves for his daily meal of grain and lettuce.

According to Dean of Women Elaine Mobley, long a patroness of Manzanita Lake's waterfowl, Siegfried leaves the nest to eat almost regularly at 9:20 each morning. The "Father of the Year's" favorite food is lettuce centers.

No one knows for sure when the eggs will be due to hatch. Interested parties have suggested this Sunday as the date to start watching for newly hatched cygnets, however.

Interest in Siegfried's paternal efforts is growing. Several newspapers outside the Reno area have picked up the story and Life magazine is reported to be watching the event very closely.

Dr. Smith Attends History Meeting

Dr. Paul H. Smith, chairman of the history department, attended the 59th annual organization of American Historians, in Cincinnati, Ohio. While he was there, he met with the executive council of the Western Historian Association, inviting them to hold a future meeting in Reno.

IFC Heads Greeks On Nevada Campus

The Inter-Fraternity Council of the University of Nevada is the co-ordinating body for the six Greek letter fraternities on campus.

The stated purpose of the group is, "to alert leadership and discipline over the fraternities, to help each chapter, and to strengthen the fraternity system on this campus."

In addition to acting as the disciplinary board over the fraternities, the council discusses problems common to the different houses. The members of the IFC work in conjunction with the Dean of Men, James Hathorn.

The University of Nevada IFC makes an annual donation to the United Fund Drive, and sponsors the Bean Feed each fall. It is at the Bean Feed that the IFC awards the Buzzie Marks Trophy for sportsmanship, and the Rabbit Bradshaw Trophy for the fraternities.

Rally Group Hosts 'Final Fling' Dance

A "Final Fling," the last dance of the school year, will be held tomorrow night at the Armory Building at the Washoe County Fairgrounds from 8:30 p.m. to midnight.

"The Rally Committee is throwing the dance, and it's an ASUN affair," according to Rally Committee Chairman Jim Crane. "But it will be as groovy as other dances held at the Armory," he added.

Entertainment will be provided by a group called "The State of Mind," according to Crane. The entertainers are from southern California and there will be a wild lighting setup, he said.

There will be a $1 charge per person.

ternity with the largest number of points in athletics.

ATO WINS BRADSHAW

The trophies were awarded for the previous year. The Bradshaw went to Alpha Tau Omega, and the Marks Trophy was awarded to Sigma Nu's Bob Newmeyer this past year.

The IFC is planning to make a $500 donation to the Ingersoll Memorial Lecture Fund in the near future. Each year the organization awards a $100 scholarship to the outstanding Greek man. The award, which is given at the Mackay Day Luncheon, went to the Mike Ingersoll Fund this year.

One of the more recent laws passed by the IFC pertains to the qualifications necessary for initiation into any of the fraternities on campus. The requirement says special students can no longer be pledged by fraternities.

The ruling also states that a student who is carrying nine credit hours and English A will be permitted to be initiated providing he has maintained the minimum grade average of 2.2. Also, a student who has at least 29 quality units of 2.2 or better may be allowed to go active in a fraternity.

Newly elected Inter Fraternity Council President is Mike Woodhead of Sigma Nu. Rush Chairman for the IFC is Dave Hornbeck, also of Sigma Nu.

Each president of the six fraternities is automatically on the council. Current house presidents are: Bob Corkern, Sigma Alpha Epsilon; Roy Pike, Sigma Nu; Dick McCoy, Phi Sigma Kappa; Marvin Murphy, Alpha Tau Omega; Arnold Hansmann, Theta Chi; and Leon Hensley, Lambda Chi Alpha.

Library Conducts Third Book Sale

Tuesday, May 24, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., the Library will conduct its third Duplicate Book Fair in the sunken garden immediately north of the Getchell Library. Entrance to the garden will be through the Library's ground floor reading area.

All books will be sold at twenty-five cents each (sets will not be broken). Proceeds will be used to purchase needed books for the Library. All sales will be for cash; no credit. The sale will be strictly on a "first come, first served" basis. Also, no book trucks, carts, wagons, baby buggies, boxes or bags will be allowed. The experience of last year showed that, in order to be fair to all, purchases should be limited to what a person can carry in his arms.

The sale will be open only to students, faculty and staff of the University of Nevada.

Sundowners Present $300 Gift To Ingersoll Foundation

The Sundowners have presented a $300 gift to the Mike Ingersoll Memorial Lecture Fund. The money was raised by the Sundowners at their recent Levi Formal. Edward Reiher, president of the Sundowners, and Lane Monroe, vice president, presented the check to ASUN president Dave Russell. "This gesture by the men of the Sundowners exemplifies the fact that they are becoming more campus oriented," stated Russell.

Michael Smithwick, chairman of the lecture fund drive, stated, "The Mike Ingersoll Fund Committee is grateful for the Sundowner contribution. The concern for the future displayed by the Sundowners is one of the best examples of school spirit shown by this organization in several years. I hope more campus organizations will follow their example so that the lecture series can become a reality in the near future."

SUNDOWNERS Ed Reiher and Lane Monroe present $300 check to ASUN President Dave Russell for Mike Ingersoll Memorial Lecture Fund. Dean Sam Basta looks on.

Charges Leveled At Press Unfair; Mistakes Often Derived From Public

The problems confronted in putting out a newspaper are generally unknown to the average student. Charges of inaccuracy, bias and unfair publicity labeled at the press are, on the most part, unfair in themselves.

There is definitely a token amount of inaccuracy in a publication, sometimes due to the reporter. But for the most part, inaccurate facts are derived from those persons a reporter is forced to deal with.

The public is notorious for its inability to accurately describe a bank robber. Two people involved or witnessing an accident often recount two separate and different versions of the mishap. The reporter must attempt to arrive at a fairly accurate account of any given situation, and the result brings cries of "inaccuracy" from the very public the facts were received from.

A certain amount of bias can be noticed in most newspapers, but this is generally a subconscious effort on the part of some reporters. In the recent ASUN elections the Sagebrush carried more column inches of news on presidential candidate Bob Basta than for Dave Russell, who was elected. The responsible paper tries to stay away from one-sidedness.

Car dealers are now yelling that the press has been carrying unfair publicity on the Senate investigations of the automobile industry. A decision on what stories to emphasize is difficult for the editor, but it is measured on what the public will and wants to read. No newspapers are down on automobile corporations, and the charges that the press in general is out to get car dealers is ridiculous. The same charges are always heard whenever one faction is placed in a bad light, regardless of whether or not it is deserved criticism.

Certain of these charges have been leveled at the Sagebrush. Students seem to expect professionalism and a "Utopia-like" publication from journalism students. The fact is, that we're not experts, but apprentices.

We are simply a group of youngsters who are training to be professionals just like the rest of you. All we can ask is that you bear with our mistakes, just as we put up with yours when you get a couple of facts mixed up.

HAMPTON YOUNG, Assistant Editor.

Quorum Plus One

By MARILYN JONES

Students, faculty, and administration have been wondering why Jonny cannot read the Sagebrush. Sundowners can read it. P.E. majors can read it. Elementary Education majors can read it. Jonny changed his major from Anthropology to English and he still cannot read it. He has discussed his problem with his professors, but they cannot help him. Unless he can get help immediately, the impact of ostracism will hit him and he will lose all contact with the real world.

But Jonny is not alone. There are others, too, who pick up the Sagebrush, thumb through the pages, and formulate precipitant judgments about its content. Although these people do not constitute a majority, they do represent a considerable minority, and a group of the concerned majority has recently met to discuss possible ways to help the considerable minority. A possible solution to the problem was accepted as a possibly workable solution—a Remedial Reading Program.

Immediately after the Sagebrush is distributed on Tuesdays and Fridays, Jonny will meet with his Remedial Reading Program class in the Student Union. His class will be fashioned after the "How to Read Time Magazine" class and will be conducted by Prof. Higginbotham. In the event that Prof. Higginbotham is ill or unable to read it either, Dean Basta (PhD — How to Teach) will conduct.

As a participant in the Remedial Reading Program, Jonny will gain an insight into the interpretation of sentence structure, grammatical construction, word choice, etc. And, not only will he gain a greater understanding of and appreciation for fact reporting, but he will also build his vocabulary.

Jonny will learn how to read an editorial. He will learn that each editorial has a subject and that the subject may be determined by a comprehensive study of the bold-face print that precedes the article. When he reads that the "INITIATION OF A SUCCESSFUL HONORS PROGRAM AT NEVADA SEEMS IMPROBABLE," his mind will immediately go to work — subject: initiation, verb: seems, predicate adjective: improbable, preposition: yes, determiner: yes. Correlating the data in his mind, he will discover the obvious subject of the statement — honors program.

When Jonny discovers that the subject is the Honors Program, he will scan the material to discover the general points that are made about the subject. But, because of prejudices arising from pre-established ideas which were established previously at an Honors Program meeting, he will falter in the first paragraph and will be unable to continue his study. The Remedial Reading Program is Jonny's last hope, so Prof. Higginbotham will explain the problem to Jonny as Jonny explains the problem to Prof. Higginbotham. The problem will soon be solved. Johnny will understand that "system" and "program" are interchangeable nouns because they are not synonymous — but a program must be established according to some sort of system. Relieved that "program" and "system" are only interchangeable and not synonymous and that the Honors Program did not begin with the ROTC department, Jonny will be able to continue his comprehensive study.

The next step is a line-by-line analysis of the material. And, when Jonny cannot wade through the structure in order to reach the meaning at the other end of the sentence, Prof. Higginbotham will put on his boots and wade with him:

"to have began:" word to indicative of participate + began, past = participial past

"Stanford students, when they . . ." noun, students + noun adjunct, Stanford = irony, they Mastering the fundamentals, Jonny will be able to appreciate the thematic qualities of the material. He will be able to immediately detect the tone — the mood usually established is that of depression. He already knows that "awful" is bad and so is "bad." And, when he reads that something is "awful bad," he will be immediately affected by the impact of the forceful combination of two independently forceful words.

Through the efforts of the founders of the Remedial Reading Program, Jonny will be able to read the Sagebrush. And, not only will he be able to read the Sagebrush, but he will also be able to read the editorials. However, it may take several semesters of dedicated study before he will be able to understand them.

Drug Panel Held Here May 19 Delta Pi Chapter Elects Members

A panel discussion concerning "drugs and their use on college campuses" will take place in the Travis Lounge of the Student Union building on Thursday, May 19 at 7:30 p.m., according to Dean of Student Affairs Sam Basta.

Basta said the panel will discuss LSD, marijuana, amphetamines and other drugs.

Dr. Robert Whittemore, director of Counseling and Testing, will moderate the panel. Members of the panel will include: Mr. Frank Lago, representing Synanon House, an organization that cures former drug addicts; Dr. Warren D'Azevedo, acting head of the Sociology and Anthropology department; Dr. Robert McQueen, psychology professor and consultant to the Nevada State Hospital; and Dr. Richard Brown, a Reno psychiatrist.

Dean Basta said the discussion will provide information and education for students on the problems connected with drugs. However, he said, "I don't consider use of drugs on this campus a major problem."

The Delta Pi chapter of Delta Sigma Pi has elected members to fill its top three offices for the fall semester.

Guy Sundrelin was elected president of the fraternity, Mike Polard was selected by the members as the Chancellor, and Deems Watkins was elected to the position of Senior Vice President.

The other fraternity offices will be filled at a later date this semester.

Home Economics Department Hosts Faculty Member 'Shipwreck Party'

Smiling girls placed leis around the necks of faculty members who attended the Shipwreck Party Wednesday evening.

The party, a project of the home economics creative foods class, was based on an Oriental-Polynesian theme.

Members of the class designed decorations and invitations, and sampled were "unique, original, and delicious."

Hors d'oeuvres and punch were served in the Sarah Fleischmann room, then guests moved to the patio, where dinner was served amid Tiki-torches and a running fountain surrounded by bamboo hangings and green plants.

The meal consisted of barbe-planned and cooked the hors d'oeuvres and meal that were served.

"It looks just like Trader Dick's," was a comment heard from Dr. W. Keith Macy, chairman of the music department.

Professor Alfred L. Higginbotham, of the Alfred L. Higginbotham Department of Journalism, said the hors d'oeuvres he had cued rolled pork roast, whipped yams in orange baskets, peas oriental, and assorted muffins.

This was topped off by a dessert of pineapple and custard in a half-shell of fresh pineapple.

Following dinner, one of the guests gave a showing of the movies of his trip to Hawaii.

The 33 faculty members who attended were invited with a ragged, worn piece of paper, rolled up and stuck in a bottle. The guests were chosen to represent each department of the University.

The South Sea Islands evening was directed by Miss A. A. Bauer, instructor of the creative foods class.

Darlene Bostic and Junean Gourley were co-chairmen in planning and preparing the dinner. Other members of the class are Tana (Arouze) Dale, Vickie Byington, Louanne Cote, Judy Creed, Judy Frey, Gayl Holmes, Linda Klein, Karen Kess, Sue Looke, Nan Romaggi, Ida Shaperio, Pat Stiegler, Joanne Thompson, Sue Warren, Joyce Weaver, and Rita Wilkinson.

Data Date Results Now Available

Students who signed up for the computer date service last month are now finding out the results. Whether the computer can really pick compatible couples or not will be answered as the couples meet one another. A list of the names and computer numbers of each student is on the bulletin board near the door of the Union.

Since Nevada is a small school, many of the couples already know one another. Each student receives a list of five names.

One coed's reaction to her list of potential dates was "Ugh". Others were happier with the results and said some of the names on their list were just the people they'd always wanted to date. A typical reaction to the results was summed up by one student who said, "Two were okay, but the other three were creeps."

Activities For Fall Scheduled May 17

Activities for the fall semester, 1966, will be scheduled in a Calendar Committee meeting this Tuesday, May 17 at 4 p.m. in the East West room of the Student Union Building. Social chairmen from each of the living groups and from campus organizations are asked to attend, says Anne Marie Lesperance, ASUN second vice president.

At the meeting, dates will be set in accordance with the rules in the ASUN Social Code. Under this code, "all-school" dances have priority.

The Code also provides that the scheduling of too many fraternity and sorority dances on the same weekend will be suppressed. No events may be scheduled during dead week, in accordance with the Code.

U of N Professors Travel To Idaho

Research Associates P. A. Dom-enico and M. D. Mifflin and Research Assistant A. L. Midlin, of the Center for Water Resources research presented a paper last month at a symposium held by the Civil Engineering Department, University of Idaho, Moscow.

THE COLLEGE PRESIDENT: HIS CAUSE AND CURE

Oh, sure, you've been busy, what with going to classes, doing your homework, catching night crawlers, getting married, picketing—but can't you pause for just a moment and give thought to that dear, dedicated, lonely man in the big white house on the hill? I refer, of course, to Prexy.

(It is interesting to note that college presidents are always called "Prexy." Similarly, trustees are always called "Trixie." Associate professors are always called "Axy-Pixy." Bursars are called "Foxy-Woxy." Students are called "Algae.")

But I digress. We were speaking of Prexy, a personage at once august and pathetic. Why pathetic? Well, sir, consider how Prexy spends his days. He is busy, busy, busy. He talks to deans, he talks to professors, he talks to trustees, he talks to alumni. In fact, he talks to everybody except the one group who could lift his heart and rally his spirits. I mean, of course, the appealing, endearing, winsomest group in the entire college—delightful you, the students.

It is Prexy's sad fate to be forever a stranger to your laughing, golden selves. He can only gaze wistfully out the window of his big white house on the hill and watch you at your games and sports and yearn with all his tormented heart to bask in your warmth. But how? It would hardly be fitting for Prexy to appear one day at the Union, clad in an old rowing blazer, and cry gaily, "Heigh-ho, chaps! Who's for sculling?"

No, friends, Prexy can't get to you. It is up to you to get to him. Call on him at home. Just drop in unannounced. He will naturally be a little shy at first, so you must put him at his ease. Shout, "Howdy-doodie, sir! I have come to bring a little sunshine into your drear and blighted life!" Then yank his necktie out of his vest and scamper goatlike around him until he is laughing merrily along with you.

Then hand him a package and say, "A little gift for you, sir."

"For me?" he will say, lowering his lids. "You shouldn't have."

"Yes, I should," you will say, "because this is a pack of Personna Super Stainless Steel Blades, and whenever I think of Personna Super Stainless Steel Blades, I think of you."

"Why, hey?" he will ask curiously.
"Because, sir," you will say, "though you are no longer a young blade, still you gleam and function. Full though you are of years and lumps, rheumy though your endocrines and flaccid your hamstrings, still you remain sharp, incisive, efficacious."

"Thank you," he will say, sobbing.
"So it is with Personna," you will continue. "Naturally you expect a brand-new blade to give a close, speedy shave. But how about a blade that's had hard and frequent use? Do you still expect a close, speedy shave? Well, sir, if it's a Personna, that's what you'll get. Because, sir, like you, sir, Personna is no flash-in-the-pan. Like you, sir, Personna abides."

He will clasp your hand then, not trusting himself to speak.

"But away with gloom!" you will cry jollily. "For I have still more good news to tell you of Personna!"

"How is that possible?" he will say.
"Hearken to me," you will say. "Personna, in all its enduring splendor, is available not only in Double Edge style but also in Injector style!"

He will join you then in the Personna rouser, and then he will bring you a steaming cup of cocoa with a marshmallow on top. Then you will say, "Good-bye, sir. I will return soon again to brighten your dank, miasmatic life."

"Please do," he will say. "But next time, if you can possibly manage it, try not to come at four in the morning."

Annual Governor's Day Ceremonies May 19

Test Applications Now Available

By JIM MARSHALL
Cash awards, performing drill teams, marching bands, and various displays are some of the events that will climax the University of Nevada's 29th Annual Governor's Day, May 19. The annual event marks the end of this year's ROTC activities at the University of Nevada. For many senior cadets, Governor's Day will be the last university ROTC ceremony they will attend before entering the Army. The ceremonies will begin at the new football stadium at 10 a.m., Thursday, May 19. The Sixth U.S. Army Band from the Presidio at San Francisco will be the first unit to perform. They will perform both as a concert and marching band.

The Sixth Army Band will be followed by several other marching bands and drill teams from other universities and armed forces units.

The "Cavalcade of ROTC," a new event in the program, will present to the public four phases of military history at the University of Nevada.

FIRST PHASE

The first phase will represent the first Professor of Military Science and ROTC unit at the university. The cadets will be dressed in Union Army uniforms of the Civil War period. ROTC first began at the University of Nevada in 1888 under the direction of Lieutenant Arthur C. Ducat.

The second scene will show an ROTC unit representing the Spanish-American War. The men will be dressed in band uniforms of that period.

A World War I scene will host a parade honoring Colonel Tom Miller and Dr. John E. Martie. Col. Miller is a WWI veteran and was one of the founders of the American Legion in the United States. Dr. Martie was at one time chairman of the Department of Health and Physical Education at the University of Nevada. He is also one of the most decorated WWI veterans in the state of Nevada.

FUTURE SOLDIERS

The final phase of the "Cavalcade of ROTC" will show a scene representing "soldiers of the future." School children from the St. Alberts and St. Thomas grade schools will march representing our future fighting men.

A unit of Navy ROTC cadets from the University of Utah will then perform. This will be followed by an exhibition by the University of Nevada Sky Divers.

Several other bands and marching teams will perform, and various distinguished guests will be introduced. There will be a short speech by Governor Grant Sawyer, and awards will be presented.

More than $2,900 in awards will be presented to the outstanding ROTC cadets. Awards will be given on the basis of over-all scholastic records and military performances.

Some of the awards to be given are: the American Legion award for $300; Kerak Shrine award, $500; Knights Templar award, $500; and the Veterans of Foreign Wars award, $150.

Before the ROTC Brigade passes in review, there will be a change of command in which the present cadet commander, Colonel Bennie Ferrari, will hand over the command to the new brigade commander. The new commander will be presented a sabre. The sabre was recently presented to the University of Nevada by the late Colonel Brown, a graduate of the university.

To end the activities of Governor's Day, F101 jets from the Nevada Air National Guard will fly over the football stadium.

'Auf Wiedersehen' For Nurses

Orvis School of Nursing graduates will be honored at a buffet-brunch to be held Sunday morning, May 15, at 11 o'clock.

The "auf wiedersehen" brunch will be highlighted by the presentation of Orvis School of Nursing pins to the 1966 graduates. Dean of the School of Nursing Marjorie J. Elmore will present the pins.

Graduates will also receive corsages from Mrs. Merla Olsen, president of District No. 1 of the Nevada State Nurses Association.

The guest will be greeted by Margaret Kerr, president of the Nevada State Student Nurses Association.

Louise Fletcher will give the invocation.

Students who want to take the draft deferment eligibility test may pick up an application at the local draft board 800 Booth St. Reno. Midnight June 1 is the deadline for mailing the applications for the fourth in the series of tests.

The test, which was scheduled because so many students missed the first deadline, will be held on the Reno Campus June 24. It will be the same test as the other three, which are already closed to applicants.

Draft board officials said that the new deadline was set for a week day, because the Saturday deadline for the earlier tests may have caused some of the applicants to be late.

Class standing and the test score will be used by the students draft board to determine eligibility for deferment. The 2-S deferment now is given to each male student who is enrolled full time and is making satisfactory progress toward a degree.

A score of 70 or better is required as a passing grade. Selective Service officials said that students may take the test only once.

A musical program will be presented by "The Nightingales." The singing group includes Shirley Williams, Marcia Williams, Sandy McPherson, and Valerie Vismisa. Another musical offering will be made by Mrs. Madge Tillim, accompanied by Mrs. Darleen Stringer.

The benediction will be given by Cathy Cobeaga, newly-elected president of District No. 1, Student Nurses Association.

Those being honored at the brunch are Constance Biglin, Priscilla Loraine Choy, Nancy Dana Englehard, Mary Anna Godwin, Shirley Ann Heinen, Carolyn Elizabeth Hicks, Karen Isbell, Heather Lynn Kanika, Roberta Lee Porterfield, Claudia Jean Treharne, Karen Virginia Montgomery, Nancy Mae Johnson, Marjorie Jean Klem, Jeanette Irene Wilde, Dorothy Calvert, and Rita Sue Henschen.

All student nurses and their guests may attend the brunch, which will be held at the Holiday Inn.

Reservations may be made by calling 323-2081, extension 587.

Nevada Given $283,323 Grant

The United States Office of Education has announced a grant of $283,323 for the University of Nevada during the 1966-1967 fiscal year. The money was approved under the Higher Education Act of 1965.

The federal funds are to be used in the University's Work Study Program to provide learning and earning situations for needy, qualified students, both on and off campus.

"The financial appropriation will enable the university to provide new summer employment opportunities for qualified students already enrolled and for qualified high school seniors who have applied for admission to the university for next fall semester," said W. E. Rasmussen, director of financial aids at the university.

It is expected that the student will be able to save approximately $500 to be used towards the next school year's expenses by working in the summer jobs made available.

If the student enrolls for one or more semester credits in any summer session, he would not be permitted to exceed 15 hours of work per week during that time. If no credit is taken during the summer, the participant would be allowed to work up to forty hours a week. The salary schedule for all participants extends from $1.25 to $3.00 per hour.

Students at the University are urged to see Rasmussen at room 104, Clark Administration building.

Interested high school seniors are advised to contact their high school counselors for applications which are to be forwarded to the financial aids office, room 104 Clark Administration building.

The University of Nevada's Reno campus will also receive $33,256 in federal aid for the academic year of 1966-67.

The money will be used to award grants to needy and academically qualified students.

These grants will be awarded to students through the University's financial aid program. The grants will range from $200 to $800 for a school year.

Rasmussen said, "Automatic consideration for the educational opportunity grants will be given to those entering or returning full-time students who apply for the National Defense Student Loan or the Work - Study program."

Nevada Coeds Meet President In 4-H Jaunt To Washington

Two University of Nevada coeds, Margaret A. Edmundson and Jean M. Sharp, traveled to Washington D. C. last month and met President and Mrs. Lyndon Johnson.

The women, residents of Juniper Hall, were picked as the female delegates from Nevada from a group of 4,000 4-H members. The women traveled to Washington D. C. to represent Nevada at the 4-H National Convention. The two women were picked on their records in leadership, citizenship, and achievement. Their sponsors for the trip were Nevada L. P. Gas Company and the First National Bank of Nevada.

The highlight of the trip was a reception given by Mrs. Lyndon Johnson in the State Dining Room. This was the first group ever allowed to enter the White House through the South Door.

Jean and Margaret left Reno April 15, and flew to Baltimore. They traveled by limosine to the National 4-H Center in Washington D.C. Nevada and were the first delegation to arrive at the convention. The women stayed for nine days, taking part in many planned activities.

The group visited Goddard Space Center, the Smithsonian Institute, the 2nd. Precinct (the slum district), and Arlington Cemetery where Jean Sharp placed a wreath on the tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

Vice-President Hubert Humphrey spoke to the delegates one afternoon; the students from Nevada had lunch in the Senate Dining Room with Senators Cannon and Bible; and Mrs. Orville Freeman spoke at a luncheon at the Washington Hilton Hotel.

The 4-H delegates were given a police escort everywhere they went. Jean Sharp said, "I couldn't believe it! Six buses and we went through the main part of Washington D. C., going to the capitol, without ever stopping."

While at the convention, the women took part in many social activities such as attending dances, seeing plays, and meeting other delegations.

The women took slides of their trip and will use them to give oral reports to civic organizations throughout Nevada.

Psi Chi 'Suicide' Lecture Scheduled

Dr. James B. Nickels, associate professor and director of the Psychological Services Center at the University of Nevada, will give a talk on Tuesday, May 10, at 7:30 p.m. in the Education Auditorium of the Thompson Education building.

The talk will be entitled "Is Suicide The Answer?" It will be sponsored by Psi-Chi, a national honor society for psychology which has 30 members on the university campus.

Newmont Gold Strike At Carlin Raises Nevada Production To Third

With the recent Newmont gold strike at Carlin, Nevada took third place in gold production in the United States. South Dakota is first with Utah following.

Senator Alan Bible and Congressman Walter Baring are supporting bills in Congress which would raise the price paid to miners from $35 an ounce to $44 for gold from new or reopened mines. Governor Grant Sawyer spoke in favor of this measure at a Senate meeting recently.

The officials feel that this would stimulate gold mining activity and aid the shortage of gold that is menacing the United State's gold reserves.

In 1965 Nevada mines produced in excess of 8 million dollars in gold, almost entirely from two mines. One is the gold recovered as a by-product of open pit copper mining at Ely. The other is also a large open pit operation.

At Carlin low grade ore, not profitable in the past, is processed by modern methods in large amounts.

Since mining is now big business, some people feel that the money to be made from new gold strikes would be limited to those who could afford to work them. This would be true no matter who discovers the gold.

John H. Schilling, associate mining geologist with the Nevada Bureau of Mines, said the old mines in Nevada are probably entirely worked out. Many of the mines that yielded fortunes in the past could not be worked today with the increased labor costs and high priced machinery.

Schilling said new mines will be found in Nevada, and an increase in the price of gold may cause the activity needed to find more gold deposits. It is difficult to know how high the price would have to go to bring a new mining boom to Nevada.

Nevada produces more mineral wealth today than it did in the days of the Comstock. In 1965 more than 50 million dollars worth of copper and more than 10 million dollars worth of sand and gravel were produced in Nevada mining operations. The same year gold mining reached 8 million dollars.

Nevada Students Ready To Conduct For Music Class

After learning basic conducting patterns, orchestration, and group control, students in the Instrumental Conducting class are ready to lead the university band.

Each of the students, Ronald Falter, Jim Milne, and Larry Barnett, has lead the band through three complete works. The conductors have lead such selections as "From Every Horizon," "Fanfare," "Pastorale" and "Serenade," "Symphonic Requiem," and "Interlude on a Blues Tune."

One of the students explained, "the most difficult part of conducting is learning to express what you feel in the music to the band through hand and body movements."

Hidden Audio Visual Library Busy Catering To Some 1700 Viewers

Virtually hidden in the basement of the University of Nevada's Noble Getchell library is the Audio-Visual Center film library.

The library does not seem to be a very busy place at first glance, but, during an average year, it handles about 1,700 films and loans out about 1,500 pieces of equipment. This amount of equipment is equal to every piece of equipment on inventory being loaned out twice.

Aside from the lending of equipment and films, the film library also provides other services.

The library can provide projectionists to show films, can set up and operate sound systems for athletic events and meetings, and can also make copies of tape recordings.

All of the films which pass through the film library are run through a machine which cleans the film, checks it for breaks and makes splices on broken films.

So far this year there has been enough film run through the film machine to stretch from Reno to Sacramento and then go another 20 miles.

The film library maintains and repairs all of its own equipment and films. The job of equipment repair and maintenance is that of Mike Stone and his student assistant Ken Robin.

Librarian for the film library is Susan Stapenhorst. It is her job to see that accurate records are kept of film loans; which can become difficult at times because films are sometimes loaned and borrowed from other schools.

Services of the film library are open to members of the University of Nevada faculty and to students who have a faculty member to sign for them.

Fresno Scene For Relays

Fifteen members of the University of Nevada track team will compete in the West Coast Relays in Fresno, Calif., this weekend to prepare for the NCAA Pacific Coast Regional College Division meet next weekend in Reno.

Otis Burrell will be in the Coliseum Relays in Los Angeles Friday night but coach Dick Dankworth said there was a possibility Burrell could also enter the Fresno competition.

The tentative Wolf Pack entries: Houston Williamson, 100 and broad jump; Larry Curtis, 100; Bill Perry, 440 hurdles; George Puce, shot put, discus; Howard Briles, shot put; discus; Dave Taylor and Al Lansdon, pole vault; Nap Montgomery, broad jump, triple jump Vic Simmons, high hurdles; Ron Lee, 3,000 meter steeplechase; Mark Wynne and Don McCarthy, 5,000 meters.

Dankworth has not yet decided who will run the quartermile in the distance medley relay but the other three runners will be Lee, Wynne, and Terry Forbyn. The Pack will enter another relay team in either the 880 or mile relay event.

Smile, Mrs. Sebastodes ...you're on live TV

Sebastodes, or Rockfish, is one of many colorful species of the ocean deeps where our underwater TV cameras and lights probe the night-black water at 600 feet.

These cameras are not for study of marine life, however. They're down there to help technicians aboard our anchored oil-drilling ships guide complicated, remote-controlled drilling equipment. TV receivers on deck enable engineers to observe these drilling operations at depths hazardous for human divers to penetrate.

600 feet - 100 fathoms. It's almost twice as deep as any ocean oil drilling ever attempted, until some very special techniques developed by Standard Oil scientists and engineers made it possible.

Our continuing search for new sources of oil takes us to mountains, deserts, and ever and ever deeper waters. For we must be certain that adequate supplies of oil are on hand to serve the Free World's growing energy needs, now and in the future ... an important part of our responsibility to you.

First Place Wolf Pack Rounds Out Baseball Season Against SF Gators

The San Francisco State Golden Gators will be at Moana Stadium tomorrow at 11 a.m. to meet the University of Nevada Wolf Pack in the last Far Western Conference action for both teams.

The Wolf Pack must win one of the two games to cinch a tie for first place and win both to insure the top slot in the FWC. Nevada is one game ahead of Hayward State in the conference title race.

The Gators will start star pitcher Bob Covalli in one of the two games tomorrow. Covalli has thrown two no-hitters in conference play this season. Nevada coach Bill Ireland is planning to start lefthanders Fred Dallimore and Mike Zuppan.

Dallimore is the leading FWC pitcher with a 5-0 conference record and 8-1 for the season. Zuppan has a 4-1 record.

If Hayward State wins both games and the Pack loses both this weekend, a playoff will be held next Tuesday for the FWC championship and the invitation to play in the Pacific Coast College Division Regional Tournament in Anaheim, Calif.

Wolf Pack Takes Utah Rifle Meet

The University of Nevada rifle team recently defeated the University of Utah rifle team by 1029-1019 in a match held at Nevada.

The high individual shooting honor was captured by Nevada's Gus McPherson who compiled a score of 267.

The targets used were the international small bore rifle targets. They are smaller than the conventional targets.

Nevada Hosts District Eight

Members of the University of Nevada athletic staff are busy preparing for the District Eight Track and Field Championships to be held in Reno on May 21. Meet director Dick Dankworth expects nearly 150 athletes to compete in the regionals to be held on Nevada's new track and field facilities.

A total of twenty-five schools will be competing in the one day track meet. Some of the schools that have already accepted invitations to the meet are: Portland State, California State at Fullerton, University of Pacific, University of Santa Barbara, Pepperdine, Claremont-Mudd, Pomona, Redlands, Chapman, California Institute of Technology, Seattle Pacific, Sonoma State, Humboldt State, Sacramento State, San Francisco State, California-Davis, and Nevada.

Some of the national ranked track and field personalities on the west coast will be entered in the meet. Ed Simas and Don Moras, both national ranked in the 100-yard-dash, will participate. Both men have run 9.5 (100's).

A rematch of the conference duel between Jim Brown and Otis Burrell is expected in the high jump. Both Burrell and Brown are rated nationally with jumps of 6' 10 and 6' 10 1/4 respectively. Sacramento State's Henry Lawson, rated high in the triple jump, will also take part in the event.

Two events not seen before in the Reno area will be seen at the regionals. The hammer throw and the steeple chase will be part of this year's NCAA regional meet.

The meet will start with the field events and the trials in the running events at 9:30 on the morning of May 21 and will continue for most of the day.

From the End of the Bench

By GREG ZIVE

THE WOLF PACK BASEBALL TEAM could cinch the first Far Western Conference baseball crown in the University of Nevada history by winning both games tomorrow against San Francisco State or by winning one and Hayward State, the second place club, splitting a doubleheader this weekend. If Hayward loses both games the Pack will win anyway but if Hayward wins both the Silver and Blue must win both of its games. If Nevada wins one game they will cinch at least a tie for the championship no matter what Hayward does. San Francisco State has a 5-5 conference record and it should be a tough doubleheader at Moana Stadium tomorrow.

IF HAYWARD AND NEVADA TIE for first place in the FWC following this weekend's action the title would be settled in a playoff Tuesday. The playoff would probably be held at either Sacramento State or Cal Davis as both are about halfway between Hayward and Reno. The winner of the FWC crown will get the invitation to play in the NCAA Pacific Coast College Division Regional tournament in Anaheim, Calif. The Wolf Pack is the defending Pacific Coast champion.

LORNIE WAGNER had a terrific day last Saturday when the lefthanded first baseman drove in five runs in the doubleheader against the Cal Aggies. Coach Bill Ireland said Wagner played a major hole in both of the victories that gave the Pack a one game lead in the FWC race.

HOUSTON WILLIAMSON has not had the publicity that several of his track teammates have received but the senior all-around performer is a big reason the Nevada squad captured the FWC track championship last weekend. He has run the 100-yard dash and 220-yard dash, competed in the broad jump, and on the relay teams all year for the Wolf Pack. He has entered more events than any other single member of the Nevada track team and though no official statistics are available it would probably be a safe bet that he has won more points for the Pack than any other competitor. He will be competing in the West Coast Relays at Fresno this weekend for the Wolf Pack.
