Spurs Choose New Officers For Next Year

Spurs officers for the coming year were announced at the formal tapping of officers on May 11. Plans to sell candy and visit the State Mental Hospital's children's ward were also made at the tapping meeting.

Jean Urrutia was elected president. Other officers are: Barbara Nelson, vice president; Pamela Dayton, treasurer; Deborah Moore, secretary; Katherine Dee Ross, editor; Karen Marion, historian; and Joan Westover, song leader.

The 1966-67 Spurs will join this year's Spurs in a candy sale this month to raise money to help pay Nevada delegates' way to the National Spurs convention. The national convention will be held June 12-14 in Denver, Colorado. Several Nevada women will attend.

As a part of a project for next year, the Spurs decided to tour the children's ward at the Nevada State Mental Hospital. Spurs will carry out that project with the help of their newly named junior advisors, Merry Ritterby and Patricia Miltenberger. Assistant Dean of Women Roberta Barnes is the faculty advisor.

Earlier this month, the new Spurs held a picnic to become acquainted with each other before the election of officers.

Profs To Attend Press Association In Elko, Nevada

Professor Alfred L. Higginbotham, chairman of the journalism department, and Theodore E. Conover, associate professor of journalism, will attend the Nevada Press Association's annual meeting in Elko May 20 and 21.

Professor Higginbotham is executive secretary for the association and served a term as its president.

The meeting will include discussions and speakers. Also, the results of the annual statewide contest for the best journalism copy will be announced.

Four Degrees Of Campus Penalties Scheduled For Next Year By AWS

Changes in campus policies, appeals and postponements of infractions and penalties have been changed by the Associated Women Students Council. The changes were approved after a study made by a special AWS committee and the Deans of Women.

The two types of changes were presented to the AWS Council on May 12. The Council approved the changes with the understanding that they will go into effect in the fall of 1966.

Two changes have been made in the campus system. Provisions were made to accept emergency phone calls with less red tape, and to permit serving a "campus" installments. Changes in the graduated campus penalties were also adopted.

Under the new rules, a woman who is campused may accept a telephone call that is an emergency if it is placed "person to person" and is approved by the residence hall vice president or the sorority's house manager.

A campus can be interrupted if permission is gained through the AWS vice president or the Dean of Women through the residence hall vice president or the sorority's house manager. A woman cannot ask that her own campus be interrupted.

The graduated campus chart by which all women's campuses are listed by offense number and penalty has been changed. Penalties will be given depending upon the number of times the woman has broken a rule and upon the number of minutes she is late.

In next fall's campuses policy listings four degrees of penalties will be given. Definite nights of campuses have been set for women who are 1-10 minutes late, 11-20 minutes late and 21-30 minutes late. Anyone who is more than 31 minutes late will have to appear before AWS Judicial Board.

Appeals of campuses or postponements of campuses will have to be made to the Judicial Board next year. The AWS vice president will have to be told of the appeal before the date the campus is to take effect and this can only be done by two persons. Either the hall's vice president or the sorority's house manager can make the appeal for a woman.

Honor Student Meeting Set

An organizational meeting of Honors students will be held this Thursday, May 19 at 3 p.m. in the Card Room of the Student Union.

The meeting "grew out of requests for a follow-up meeting at which honor students could form an organizational structure through which they may work for objectives common to all," states Honors Program director, Dr. Robert McQueen.

Dr. McQueen said it had been requested the organization be kept as simple and uncomplicated as possible.

All honor students are requested to attend.

Scrugham Building To Host Display

During May 17, 18, and 19, a display will be set up in the Scrugham Engineering - Mines Building by the Army Corps of Engineers.

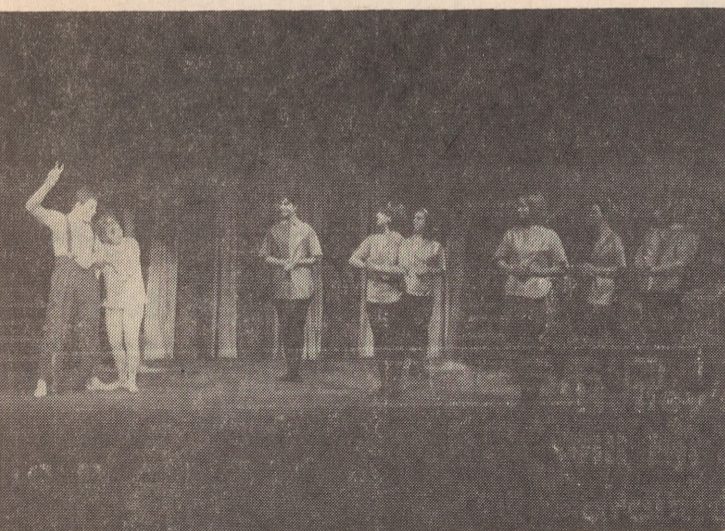

The display will explain the Army's role in water conservation in the United States.

The Army Corps of Engineers is responsible for building all government sponsored dam projects and water conservation programs in the United States.

Football Meeting

There will be a varsity football meeting in Room 101 of the Gym tomorrow night at 7:30 p.m., according to Coach Dick Trachok.

Trachok said the meeting will be for those interested in going out for next year's varsity squad.

RECENT PLAY, "Stop the World, I Want to Get Off," met with huge success.

AWS Announces Women's Hours To Be More Liberal

Hours for women will be more liberal next year because of The Hours Revision Committee's work for the Associated Women's Council. Extensions have also been changed.

The new hours were voted upon at the AWS council meeting May 12, and will become effective in the fall of 1966. Other changes in the AWS policies will also be put into force next Fall.

Freshman women will have 10:30 p.m. hours on week nights instead of the previous 10 p.m.'s. However, they will receive no 11 p.m. as they have this year.

All sophomores will have week night hours of 11 p.m. Friday and Saturday nights they may stay out until 1:30 a.m.

Juniors are affected by two changes. Week night hours have been changed to 11:30 p.m. Sunday nights, the sign-in hour will be midnight.

Only one change in hours will affect senior women. Their week night hours have been changed from 11 p.m. to midnight.

The numbers of extensions available to women were also changed by the committee and the Deans of Women. Extensions may be taken by receiving the permission of the housemother before freshmen sign-in hours. This will mean extensions can be requested by sign-outs until 10:30 p.m. on weekdays and 1 p.m. on weekends.

Freshman women and sophomore women will both receive more extensions. Freshman women will have three hour-long extensions and sophomores will have five hour-long extensions during the semester for use on week nights.

Sophomore women will have five one-half hour extensions per semester for weekends while freshmen will have three hour-long extensions.

Week night extensions for Junior women have been changed to six one-half hour extensions per semester. Six one-half hour extensions will be given for weekends.

Seniors will have seven one-half hour extensions on weekends, but they will no longer have extensions on week nights because of the liberalization of their regular hours.

Columnist Ascends To New Heights

It's not often a University newspaper is blessed with a future Emily Dickinson, and Louisa Alcott in one.

Longfellow, Poe and Pulitzer would be amazed to see a woman with a touch of their genius. But a Sagebrush columnist has what it takes.

"Quorum Plus One" and Miss Marilyn Jones, presents the reader with wit, flowing lines of prose and poetry, a plot, and an occasional climax.

Her unique column is daring and intellectual, and although it is usually too long, one can, at times make something of it's author's jumbled style of writing.

Miss Jones, long criticized for her lack of responsibility as a Sagebrush columnist and an ASUN secretary, has really outdone herself.

From the depths of obscurity she has risen to new heights . . . that of the critic.

One cannot condemn Miss Jones for her "reader awakening," instead we have to admire her. It truly takes a great deal of intestinal fortitude for one with so many obvious faults to set herself up as the guiding light of AUSN students.

Social To Honor Home Ec Scholars

A "Get Smart" Social will recognize academic advancements of home economics majors this afternoon from 3-5.

Scholarship winners will be announced, and Certificates of Recognition will be given to members of the Home Economics Advisory Council.

The council is composed of local businessmen and women who have given help to home economics programs throughout the year.

Mrs. Catherine Loughlin, sponsor of Eta Epsilon, an honorary home economics society, will be in charge of the "Get Smart" program.

The social is being presented by Eta Epsilon and the creative foods class.

Hors d' oeuvres and punch will be served.

Campus Critique

By George Herman

A review of the Thursday reading of "Othello" by George Herman, University of Nevada English Department.

The philosopher David Hume, writing about tragedy, asks the question, "What is it then which in this case raises a pleasure from the bosom of uneasiness, so to speak, and a pleasure which still retains all the features and outward symptoms of distress and sorrow?"

His answer: "this extraordinary effect proceeds from that very eloquence with which the melancholy scene is represented. The genius required to paint objects in a lively manner, the art employed in collecting all the pathetic circumstances, the judgment displayed in disposing them; the exercise, I say, of these noble talents, together with the force of expression, and beauty of oratorical numbers, diffuse the highest satisfaction on the audience, and excite the most delightful movements."

Hume speaks of the movements of the heart, or whatever we imagine to be moved when we say that we are. A pitifully small audience was moved to pity and admiration by the staged reading of "Othello" last Thursday evening in the Jot Travis Union Lounge. The performance went far to show how little else beyond eloquence is necessary to the enjoyment of a work of poetic genius. I dare not praise the author; I wish to praise these actors and their director, Professor William C. Miller.

Actors, in truth, not simply reciters of lines; for this staged reading offered a sufficiency of bodily movements to avoid stiffness or a sense of artificiality, and one did not too much miss the pleasures of seeing Othello fall in his fit or his wife struggle beneath the smothering pillow. There was satisfaction, moreover, in seeing how quickly one could, as audience, learn and adapt oneself to the conventions of the staged reading. Within these conventions, the performance was very well staged and acted.

Iago (Mike Thompson) and Othello (Lance Sparks), chief agent and his apt victim, were excellently matched in voice and manner. Thompson gave another of his highly accomplished performances. I was most impressed by the sense he gave in his soliloquies and in the scenes with Roderigo of his thinking out his plans and purposes at the very moment of utterance. This is largely, I think, a matter of timing or pacing, in which art Thompson seems to be a master, so that phrases like "as honest as I am" and "required conveniences" come out properly spiked with malice. Only occasionally did I wish that Iago were for a moment rendered less intense.

Lance Sparks' Othello had much dignity, a self-confidence that suggested real strength and avoided cockiness or pomposity. I believed in his agony of indecision and in the simple-minded straightforwardness which, ascribing it to Iago, he himself exhibits. I could see that his own soldierliness would sense in Desdemona the "subtle Venetian" who was not there. The exchange between Iago and Othello after Desdemona had first sued on Cassio's behalf was of two intelligent men, each cuing the other: Iago urges Othello to jealousy, and Othello unwittingly helps Iago to see what plan he should follow in destroying his general. Sparks and Thompson managed this so that Iago kept the upper hand. Once poisoned, Sparks was a devil indeed, so that I almost believed what seems to me ambiguous in the play: that Othello makes up the history of the handkerchief.

As Desdemona, Berill Swigart was gentle and intelligent and well conveyed both bewilderment and fear. Her soft voice was well balanced by the more vigorous tones and presence of Elizabeth Brown's Emilia. Cassio (Bill Swigart) came through manly and naive. In Roderigo, Gordon Carlson had discovered the comedy and conveyed it very well. The supporting players, Bruce Wilkinson (Brabantio, et al.), Ralf Kuehnert (an aged magnifico, and others), David Hettich (a Duke of elegantly heroic couplets, also Gratiano), and Arthur Lund (a messenger) well filled their roles.

I hope the success of this presentation of "Othello" results in a continuation of such staged readings. This one was very ably cut and directed and was certainly far more than a mere reading. More like it would be most welcome.

M.O.S.S. Writes

This letter is being written to clear the campus air of various misconceptions concerning an organization known to most people simply by the initials M.O.S.S.

Concerning M.O.S.S.'s background: it is an off-campus organization whose membership consists of a certain selected group of collegians. At this chapter the membership is naturally enough selected from within the University of Nevada student body. M.O.S.S. does not have, has not sought, and will not seek A.S.U.N. recognition because to do so might compromise its distinctive apartied position; M.O.S.S. is neither affiliated with, in conflict with, nor dependent upon any recognized University of Nevada organization.

Although it would be possible to find certain similarities between M.O.S.S. and various other organizations, it would be completely falacious to thereby conclude a relationship existed.

M.O.S.S. seeks neither to in-

Three Campus Research Facilities Planned

Three research facilities are being planned for the University of Nevada according to Clayton Carpenter, engineer chief of the physical plant.

An animal research laboratory will be constructed on the main station University farm of Kimlick Lane, east of Reno. The facility will house an experimental slaughter house and a meat tissue study laboratory.

Researchers in the College of Agriculture will be able to study the effects of various feeds and hormones on the cattle.

Locker facilities for 32 head of cattle will be included. Offices and conference rooms will be included.

Financing will be from the sale of the University's Ladrino Dairy Farm on Huffaker Lane and matching federal funds.

Environmental research laboratories will be built on the northern end of the campus near the water resources building.

The buildings will include three green houses and three research growth chambers which will be used by Dr. Frits W. Went, distinguished professor of botany with the Desert Research Institute. Dr. Went's specialty is desert botany and he will use the new facilities in part to stimulate desert conditions.

A renewable resources building is planned for construction on the university farm on Valley Road. It will house offices and laboratories for the College of Agriculture.

"Renewable resources" is a new program on the campus designed to preserve the state's natural resources.

Funds will be provided mainly by the federal government. Contractors for the buildings are Reno firms and plans were made by personnel of the university's physical plant department.

Pack Trackmen Collect Points At Fresno Meet

FRESNO—The University of Nevada performed well in the West Coast Relays Friday and Saturday, with several Pack athletes showing up well. George Puce took first in the college division discus with a heave of 185 feet to break the old meet mark.

Pole vaulter Dave Taylor went 15-0 to take second place in the College division to Larry Laufenberg of Santa Barbara, although both went the same height. Taylor lost on more misses at lower heights.

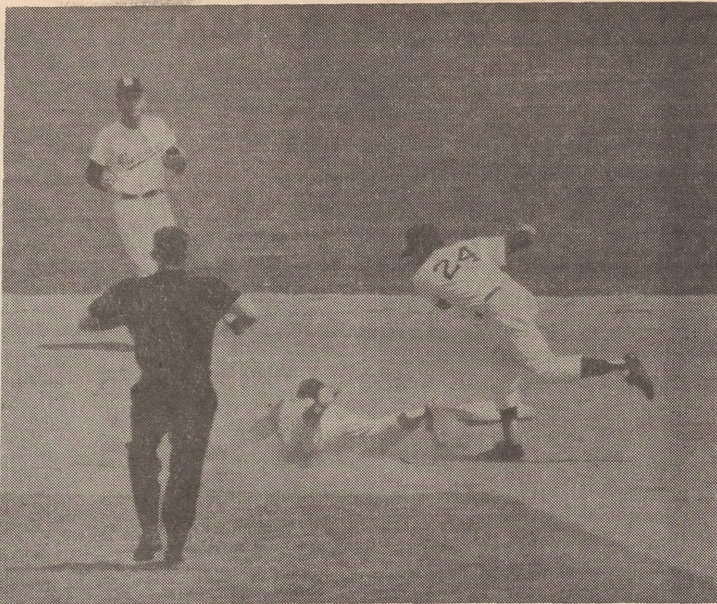

Vic Simmons ran a 14.2 in the 120-yard high hurdles to take fourth. The Nevadan's mark is two tenths of a second better than Otis Burrell's school record.

Howard Briles had a career best of 57-2½ in the shot put to grab second. Houston Williamson ran a 9.7 in the hundred to take a tie for third. Larry Moore leaped 6-4 to take fourth in the high jump.

Nevada took fourth place in the 880-yard relay with a time of 1:28.8.

The highlight of the meet was the establishment of a world's record in the pole vault, when Bob Seagren cleared 17-5½ inches.

An American triple jump mark was set when Art Walker sailed 54-4.

Library Experimenting With Xerox Telecopier To Determine Precision

The University Library is currently conducting an experiment with the new Xerox Magnafax Telecopier. With this machine, the library receives copies of journal articles or other printed matter from the University of California at Davis, by way of the telefacsimile.

The purpose of the program is to test the clarity and precision of copies made by the Magnafax, to experiment with transmission of a wide variety of page and type sizes, paper and ink colors, line drawings, maps, photographs, manuscripts, and other forms of library material. This is being done to determine the cost of their transmission over varying distances, and to find new methods for rapid transmission of library materials.

The hours of transmission are 1-5 p.m. Faculty members and graduate students needing journal articles or other printed matter not available at the University can request transmission services. The experiment is being administered by the Desert Research Institute, and is being conducted by Harold G. Morehouse, assistant director of libraries at the University.

ON TO ANAHEIM goes the Wolf Pack baseball team this weekend, to compete in the NCAA regionals. Nevada was an upset winner last year. This is the first time the Wolves have won the FWC title, however.

A WORLD RECORD A WEEK appears to be the coming thing in track. Last week it was Tommy Smith in the 220; Bob Seagren takes the gold apple this week with his 17-5½ pole vault. It's about time for Smith to break another.

IF YOU LIKE TRACK, don't go out of town this weekend. On Friday, the state high school track championships will be held in Mackay Stadium. Starting at 9 a.m. Saturday morning, the NCAA West Coast college-division regionals begin. Time trials start in the morning, with the finals in the afternoon. Nevada is really going to buck the competition here, but look for the Pack to come through real well. The team is holding its seasonal peak and many of the tracksters are doing better than even before.

CONGRATULATIONS ARE IN ORDER for baseball coach Bill Ireland and track coach Dick Dankworth. It is the second straight year Ireland has piloted the Pack to the NCAA regionals. Dankworth is also on a two-year winning streak, having captured two straight FWC titles.

OTIS BURRELL SEEMS TO BE RECOVERING from his injured foot. He went 7-0 over the weekend after doing 6-10 the week before. He may go a lot higher this weekend.

Otis Burrell Wins In Coliseum Relays

LOS ANGELES—Otis Burrell, America's number one high jumper, took first place in the high jump at the Coliseum Relays with a leap of 7-0. Burrell's jump bettered the old Coliseum Relays record of 6-10, set by Les Steers of Oregon in 1941.

Burrell had been bothered by a cut foot in recent meets, including the Far Western Conference championships the week before when he was defeated by a San Francisco State jumper.

The Los Angeles meet was highlighted by a number of record-breaking performances. Jim Ryun set a new American record in the two-mile with a time of 8:25.2, the University of Southern California two-mile relay team set a new world record with a time of 7:17.4, and John Tushaus of Arizona set a new American record in the javelin with a 284-foot throw.

Profs Travel To Washington

Dr. Robert M. Gorrell, chairman of the English department, and Dr. David W. Hettich, director of freshman English, have been invited to Washington D.C. to "read, evaluate and make recommendations" on proposals received from universities throughout the country by the National Defense Education Act.

The proposals are received from those schools which hope to have National Defense Education Act institutes this summer or next summer.

The proposals include a description of the needs of the area, how the institute will fill the need, how many teachers will be needed, and what kind and how many texts will be needed.

Dr. Gorrell will be one of the chief consultants, in charge of readers. In case there is any difficulty in deciding whether the proposal should be accepted, he will decide. Dr. Hettich will be one of the readers. Dr. Gorrell has been a reader for the last two years. The consultations will last from May 20 to 24.

Final Grades Mailed

Final grade reports will be mailed to the permanent student address given during registration.

To assure proper mailing, any change of permanent address during the spring semester should be reported to the Office of the Registrar not later than May 20, 1966.

Last Bowling Date Set Sun., May 15,

Coach Lee Newell has set the last day for bowling competition for Sunday May 15. Total points for the battle for the Kinnear Trophy should be compiled by early next week, according to coach Newell.

An intramural managers meeting has been set for Thursday, May 19. The meeting will be held in the intramural office.

Subjects to be discussed include: points for the 1966-67 season, sports for the 1966-67 season, handbook for the 1966-67 season. Among the new sports items to be discussed in the meeting will be whether softball or baseball will be played in the fall of 1966, and a 10-lap bicycle race for the sports season of 66-67.

Sala, Gillham 'Athletes Of Week'

Mike Sala and Bob Gillham were named Sagebrush co-Athletes of the Week for the period ending May 15. Both baseball players were key factors in Nevada's split with San Francisco St. The split gave Nevada the FWC championship.

Sala was five for seven at bat and Gillham was four for six.

Other athletes who shined over the weekend were Fred Dallimore, winning pitcher against the Gators; high jumper Otis Burrell, hurdler Vic Simmons and discus man Gearge Puce.

Nevada Scores Again—Mike Sala rounds third against San Francisco St.

Nevada Grabs Baseball Crown In Split With San Francisco St.

By JIM MARSHALL

The University of Nevada baseball team captured its first baseball conference title in the university's history Saturday, by splitting a double-header with the University of San Francisco.

Humboldt State knocked off Hayward State in a double-header to cinch the crown for Nevada. The Nevada Nine now has a chance to defend its N.S.A.A. college-division regional crown next week at Anaheim, California.

Nevada took the first contest 5-1 behind Nevada pitching ace Fred Dallimore. Dallimore now has a winning record of 9-1.

Nevada was held scoreless until the fourth inning. The Wolf Pack put four runs on the scoreboard in this inning with the help of two Gator errors. Owen Toy went to base on an error and Lonnie Wagner doubled to give the Pack two on and one out. Mike Sala drove in the first run with a single and Bob Gillham tiptoed to add two more to the score. Gillham then scored on a passed ball and the score was 4-1 in favor of the Wolf Pack.

Mike Sala helped score the final run of the game with a single in the fifth with bases loaded. It was his second run batted-in of the game.

S. F. THREATENS

San Francisco threatened in the sixth with two singles, but Dallimore came through and put an end to the Gator's rally.

In the seventh Dallimore retired the Golden Gators 1-2-3.

In the second game it appeared as though Nevada would win both games of the double-header. In the second Sala doubled and Gillham doubled him home. Steve Kosach walked and Mike Zuppan was hit by a pitch. A fielder's choice brought in Gillham and the score was 2-0, Nevada.

In the third Earl Nursement singled and Sala hit another double to drive him home. It appeared that Nevada had the game sewed up.

In the fourth San Francisco broke loose and made the score 4-3 in favor of the Gators. The Golden Gators picked up another run in the fifth.

Nevada tied the score 5-5 in the ninth inning. Sala walked and was replaced by pinch-runner Nub Stauffer. Stauffer advanced to second on a long fly to center by Gillham and came home on a single by Kosach.

Zuppan gave up a single in the 10th to San Francisco and Coach Ireland brought in Carl Bossieux to relieve. The Gators scored in the top of the 10th and made the score 6-5, State.

In the bottom of the 10th Nevada had two on and none out. Ireland decided to try for the win and brought in his big men. John Thomas of San Francisco "toughened up" and put the Wolf Pack's rally down by retiring the side on two files and a strike out.

Basta Defends Fraternity System

By MARTY BIBB

In defense of the Fraternity system, Dean Sam Basta commented on an anti-fraternity article which appeared in "Time" magazine recently.

The article stated that fraternities are fighting for existence, and that they are losing their importance on campus everywhere. "Time" also criticized the discriminatory practices of many fraternities.

Basta said, "Even though there has been a decrease in the percentage of male affiliations with Greek letter fraternities, this is partially explained by the recent increase in the number of college men being accepted for the draft. This factor has a psychological effect upon the college man of today. So much stress is put on the letter grade which one receives that a more serious attitude has been instilled in college mne toward harder study. Therefore young men shy away from fraternities—because they are thought to be all social activities."

Basta says that the all-Greek grade averages are consistently higher than the all-men grade averages at nearly every college and university across the nation. Over the past few years at Nevada the fraternity grade average has run higher than the all-mens average.

Basta also believes that a great deal of learning in college takes place outside the classroom, and that a fraternity supplies a means of obtaining some of this non-scholastic education. The Dean said that fraternities do have shortcomings, but that by being positive, rather than negative, these shortcomings may be corrected.

Another reason for the decrease in the percentage of fraternity men, he said, is the fact that fraternities often cannot afford to expand at the same rate that many colleges and universities are.

"As far as the discrimination goes," Basta said, "we at Nevada have had members of nearly every race, creed, and color in the different houses on campus.

"A man doesn't join a fraternity, he becomes a member.

This means that he is accepted on the basis of his personality, which is his individualism. The rushee accepts the fraternity because he sees what he likes in other men. Then it can't be said that there is no individualism in today's fraternities."

According to Basta, the next ten years will be a "very profitable period" for the growth of fraternities, because the faculties will begin to encourage the growth of the system.

Dean Basta, an alumnus of Alpha Tau Omega, said, "a study was made at the University of California, and the findings of the survey were that far too many students are involved in 'depersonalization', and that they should associate with some type of a group so that they can become more well-rounded.

"Our colleges and universities," stated Basta, "must find strength within themselves. Much of this strength is supplied by the Greek letter fraternities and sororities."

Professor To Give Recital

Piano artist, Ely Haimowitz, assistant professor of music at the University of Nevada, will be featured in a faculty recital next Tuesday, May 24.

The performance will begin at 8:15 p.m. in the University Theatre at the Church Fine Arts building.

Haimowitz will feature the music of Mozart, Schumann, Beethoven and Prokofieff at the recital.

Before coming to the University of Nevada, Haimowitz was head of the piano department, Brooklyn School of Music. During the second World War he was appointed Cultural Affairs Officer for the Occupation Forces in Korea and helped in the organization of the Korea Symphony Orchestra. This orchestra was the first to be made up entirely of Korean players ever to perform as a unit in Seoul.

His career has included many guest appearances with orchestras in North and South America, as well as with the Royal Philharmonic Orchestra in London.

After graduation from Rollins College, Florida, in 1941, Haimowitz studied with Josef and Rosina Lhevinne at the Lamont School of Music in Denver, Colorado. He also studied under them at the Juilliard Graduate School of Music in New York. He returned to Juilliard for studies after the war and received his B. S. degree in 1951 and M. S. degree in 1952 from that school.

Special invitations have been sent to the faculty and staff at the university, and the recital is open to everyone.

It's Harder To Control Trash Than Weeds On Campus Quad

"The long-standing tradition of not walking across campus lawns appears to be in need of careful scrutiny," stated John Sala, Head of building and grounds department.

On the west side of the quad directly in front of the journalism building, dandelions grow in groups of 20 to the square foot. Among the dandelions grow at least five other species of weeds. The only spot not take over by the weeds are the bare spaces.

Scattered over the quad are many cigarette butts and packs, candy, ice cream, and gum wrappers, match books, one giant-size potato chip bag, and one olive green sock. Less permanent fixtures are three ducks which cannot seem to find their way back to manzanita Lake, yet they too are doing their part in adding to the litter. The south end of the quad is overflowing with empty soda cans.

Sala said that all grassed areas are aerated with mechanical equipment and treated with a commercial inorganic fertilizer. This week all areas will be sprayed with a weed killer.

These measures will take care of the weed problem for a long time. Unfortunately, cigarette butts and green socks are not as easily or permanently dealt with.
