Most Successful Year For Debaters Attributed To Entire School Effort

One of the most successful years in the history of debate at the University of Nevada has been attributed to the efforts of the school as a whole. Larry L. Hines, debate coach, said "This year's outstanding debate record could not have been achieved without the financial and moral support of the University of Nevada administration and ASUN."

The entire debate squad had a 70 per cent win-loss record for the year. Twenty-two trophies were won in tournament competition to make up the most successful over-all year for Nevada debaters.

Coach Hines pointed out, "The most important thing about the squad's record is that it was not compiled by any single teams, but rather by many teams. This is the sign of a true championship squad."

Listed by Hines as students with outstanding records were Ken Muller, Stan Smart, Jim Clarke, John Echeverria, Jim Emerson, Pat Tullis, Sheila Locke, Lee Herz, Jim Conton, Charlie Steen, and Frank Bass.

The debate squad attended a total of 21 tournaments throughout the year, including contests at the University of Oregon; University of New Mexico University of Southern California; Stanford University; Bates College in Lewiston, Maine; Boston University; New York University; Georgetown University in Washington D. C.; University of Arizona, and Montana State University.

Deferment Test Termed Easy Yet Few Turnout

For the first time in years the University of Nevada will supply the Selective Service with academic information on its male students this semester.

The university will place the students in relation to their other male classmates. Each one will be classified as being in the upper one-fourth, the upper two-thirds, upper one-half, upper three quarters or the lower quarter.

Dean of Men James Hathhorn said the method being used is "by far the fairest anyone has come up with."

The question of whether or not a University should give such information to draft boards has been the subject of some controversy lately. Students at the University of Chicago recently held a sit-in to protest the policy. There have been no such gripes at Nevada.

"The manner in which we place the students gives a great deal of leeway," Dean Hathhorn said. "Anyone with any kind of good standing shouldn't have anything to worry about."

An extra boost might be given the draftable students by the fact that they will only be compared to other male students. Statistics reveal coeds to have higher averages among all classes.

The history of this policy goes back to World War II. It has not been a regular practice since the Korean War. Normally the University only furnishes information on specific students when asked for by the Selective Service.

Honor Student Awarded Pick

Presentation of a geologist's pick will be made today (Tuesday) to Gary Ballew of Las Vegas, Nevada, who graduates this June with the highest scholastic record at the Mackay School of Mines, University of Nevada.

According to Dr. Vernon E. Scheid, Dean of the Mackay mineral college, the useful trophy is being presented for the second year to the outstanding Mackay senior by the Estwing Tool Co. of Rockford, Ill.

The son of Dr. Ray Ballew of Las Vegas, Gary will receive his

The initiates include 20 students and 11 faculty members. The undergraduate students include: Douglas Lohse, Rita Henschen, Judith McCarroll, Britta Halvorsen, William F. Mann, Karen Smith, Stephen Williams, Phyllis Teipner and Barbara Mote.

Graduate students being tapped are: Frederick Sontag, Thomas Toleno, Nancy List, Barbara Peeters, James Whitlock, Yoko Abe, Mary Metzger, Beverly Batten, William Daniel, David N. Anderson and Darlene Stringer.

Two Courses To Be Offered

Two courses in library science, Introduction to Library Science and General Bibliography and Reference, will be offered this summer.

Introduction to Library Education (Education 301) will be offered during the first summer session. This course, taught by Harold Morehouse, assistant director of libraries, acquaints the student with the philosophy and work of the school librarian and emphasizes the sources of information needed in school library work.

Library Science 303, General Bibliography and Reference, will be offered during the second session. This course will acquaint the student with reference materials and book arrangement. Ruth Donovan, former assistant director of libraries at the Nobel Getchell library will be the instructor.

Move To Reconsider Stead Plans Due To Possible Lack Of Equipment

A move to "reconsider seriously" will come up for the University of Nevada in regard to Stead Air Force Base if too much dormitory and office equipment is removed, said a university official Wednesday.

Coordinator of the university's plans for Stead, and dean of the College of Engineering, Dr. James Anderson, said he heard some supplies are gone, although he hasn't received official notice that such is the case.

"Nevada will need dormitory and office furniture. Obviously, if the base is stripped down to just the bare walls, it certainly will demand serious reconsideration on our part," said Dr. Anderson.

The University of Nevada plans to establish a Nevada Technical Institute at the base when it is vacated this summer.

"We're trying to do it economically," said Dr. Anderson, "because this is a tight year for the state. We're trying to see that it isn't stripped."

"The university is working closely with Reno City Councilman Roy Bankofier, who heads the Stead Study Committee, said Dr. Anderson.

He added that under the original agreement, the mission oriented equipment such as rifles, parachutes, and helicopter and survival school equipment would not be left.

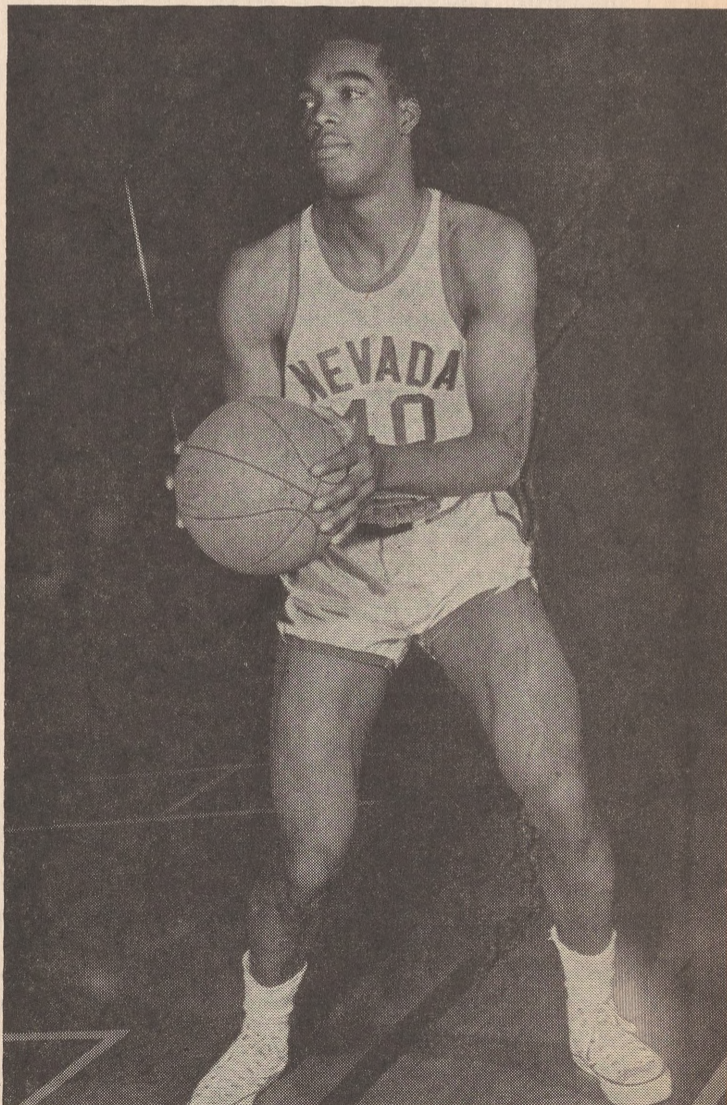

Dr. Anderson said the university is in need of student chairs, tables for lectures, kitchen equipment and cafeteria and dining furnishings. He considers these "the essentials for surviving at Stead."

The engineering dean said he is working closely with the Stead property officials to find out just how much is actually left, and added he hoped to have a report to this effect by next Wednesday.

"The university will take a decidedly strong look at the entire situation, if too much equipment has been removed," said Dr. Anderson.

He added, however, he was hopeful to "get things resolved."

Sagebrush 'Athlete Of Year'

"Nap" Montgomery, captain of this year's Wolf Pack basketball squad and a member of this year's track team, has been chosen as the year's top athlete by the Sagebrush sports staff. Nap was instrumental in leading Nevada's hoopsters to a FWC championship and is an outstanding athlete in track.

Nevada Has Fine Year In Athletics

This year may be considered one of the finest in sports history for the University of Nevada, as compared to any school on the West Coast.

The Silver and Blue teams were victorious in just about everything, as displayed by Far Western Conference victories in basketball, baseball and track.

The football team of head coach Dick Trachok, Billy Daniels and Floyd Edsall finished second in FWC play, and with a strong returning nucleus, we may look forward to an even finer squad for the fall of 1966.

Many losses by the turf specialists came at the hands of strong West Coast teams, and twice the margin was a mere three points.

Everyone loves a winner, and the basketball squad of head coach Jack Spenser and Bob Donlan proved that hustle and determination provide the key to success.

The small, scrappy Wolf Pack was undefeated in FWC play for the first time in Nevada's history, and achieved a national rating of tenth for small colleges.

What can be said about the track squad of head coach Dick Dankworth? The recruiting is superb year after year as the thinclads continually do well. Otis Burrell is considered by many to be tops in the United States in the high jump, which is a fine credit to the University of Nevada.

Jim Olivas, Nevada's Coach of the Year in 1965, has sparked the Nevada boxing team to another outstanding season.

The nine-member squad captured the Canifornia Collegiate Boxing Conference Championship, and for Coach Olivas, it merely added to his string of CCBC titles, tops among coaches.

Baseball came in a flurry last year, as the Wolf Pack won the NCAA Pacific Coast Championship. The Nevada nine of "Coach of the Year" Bill Ireland continued its winning ways this season, with the first Far Western Conference victory in Nevada's history.

Something must be said for the coaching staff at the University of Nevada. Under the direction of Jake Lawlor and Dr. Arthur Broten, we have been most successful, as Nevada is limited by NCAA and Far Western Conference recruiting regulations.

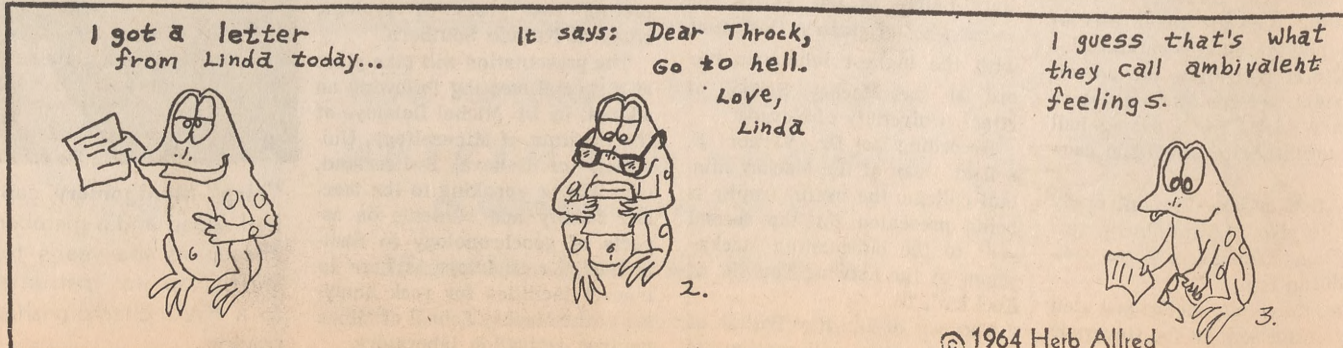

We look forward to a future of success for this small University of Nevada which let itself be known, and which received the outstanding support of the student body on the Reno campus.

Commencement

The brass ensemble under the direction of Dr. Roscoe Booth will perform "Pomp and Circumstance No. 1" and "Triumphal March" as a prelude to the graduation exercises.

Dr. Ronald R. Williams will accompany a vocal duet by Rita Bowen and Joyce Williams. They will sing "Ein Traum" which will be followed by the recessional march.

Adams Named Union Director

Bill L. Adams, director of housing and student union program director, has added a new duty—director of the Jot Travis Union Building. Mr. Adams will now be responsible for the entire building, maintenance, operations, and budget, after the Union board approves his actions. He has almost complete responsibility over everything except the dining commons and the snack bar.

Mr. Adams said, "The increasing complexity of the Travis Union Board and the Dining Commons have made necessary a division of powers."

Mr. Adams was notified of his new job about April first after he was chosen by the Board of Regents.

Adams has been with the building since it opened. In 1958, while still a student at the University he was President of the Union Board. In 1959, he became the Student Assistant Director and the next year he was named Assistant Director of Student Services. In 1963, he became Director of Housing, and in 1964 the title of Union Program Director was added.

Mr. Adams is "very enthusiastic" about his new job, and is looking forward to providing good programs within the Union.

Mr. Adams will try to uplift the entire operation of the Union, including painting many of the rooms within the Union. He hopes to establish new budget, book-keeping and billing procedures.

As of July 1, 1966, the Union

Board will have to be completely self-sufficient. This is one reason, said Mr. Adams, that the $2.50 pay increase was asked for. The Union can no longer depend on outside help to support it.

They will be getting, as before, a percentage for the snack bar's use of the building.

Letters to the Editor

In what has become an unfortunate Sagebrush tradition in matters weightier than the date of the next dance, your editorial on the anti - ROTC demonstration failed completely to deal with the issues involved. We could join you, perhaps, in assuming that the length of a person's hair or the covering on his feet have a direct bearing on the ideas he is espousing. In an academic community, though, we must expect and we must give a little more than a recitation of externals.

But let us indeed join you in your game for the moment. Let us forget the scholarly evidence pointing to the fact that those who submerge themselves in ostentatiously male activities (such as athletics and military circuses) are those most in need in shoring up their sexual insecurities. Let us forget that the grunt-and-strain index of virility is not a reliable one. Let us forget that George Washington was a traitor to his country and that his haircut resembles Marilyn Monroe's more than it does Robert McNamara's. Let us forget the barefoot, heretical, drunken, stinking, celibate, long-haired, triatorous, unkempt, polygamous, persecuted, imprisoned, reviled, rejected, exiled, illegitimate, ridiculed, insane misfits whose ideas fill our library and nourish the classes of this university.

Let us describe instead further externals of Demonstration Day. Let us describe the high school boys showing us how like machines they can be. Let us describe young women behaving like soldiers at drill. Let us describe the phony one-dimensional historical newsreel, written in dreadful sixth grade prose, trying to make us believe that our military leaders have made only three mistakes fewer than the Lord Himself. Let us describe the parading of innocent children being taught to be soldiers of the future by their churches, which will not be bested by the military in putting first things last. Let us describe the reviewing stand, with the president of the universty symbolizing separated from his civilian governor by a military man. Let us describe the military display in which are joined the state's only institution of higher learning and the highest civilian authority of the fastest growing state of the world's leading peace-loving nation. Let us describe the rows and rows of college youths in identical shirts and identical coats and identical pants and identical hats, performing identical tricks with identical clicks of identical heels, their leaders (with straining, hysterical interjections of "Spit! Spit! Spit!") giving orders for performances that the cadets do not question, are not encouraged to question as the best they can give to their state and to their country. Let us describe the—

Dorm Lease For Women Due June 15

Housing contracts for the fall semester are now available for women wishing to live in the dormitories. The contracts must be returned to the University by June 15, so that women now living in the dormitories may be assigned rooms for next fall.

Rooms now occupied will be reserved until June 15. In June 16, all empty rooms will be assigned with preference being given to students who submitted their contracts the earliest.

Students now living in the dorms who fail to submit their contracts by June 15, will be placed at the bottom of the priority list. It is recommended that women at the end of the priority list plan on off-campus housing.

Women students under 21 who plan to live off campus must file a parental permission slip with the Dean of Women.

Contracts for next year are on a yearly basis. Women who turn 21 during the school year may be released from their contract, however.

Returning students will have one roommate. No single rooms will be available because of the housing shortage.

PROFESSOR A. L. HIGGINBOTHAM receives resolution naming him "Man of the Year" of the Nevada Press Association from Ray Germain, part owner of the Las Vegas Sun.

Higginbotham, 'Man Of Year'

Professor A. L. Higginbotham, chairman of the journalism department, has been named "Man of the Year" by the Nevada State Press Association.

A resolution passed by the press members praised Higginbotham for his conscientious service to the University, stating, "All Nevadans can feel proud to point to the accomplishments of many of the former and present day students of the Department of Journalism through careers encouraged and guided by Professor Higginbotham."

The resolution went on to say that Professor Higginbotham has guided the journalism department and the Nevada State Press Association to national repute.

"His distinguished career in Nevada, which spans more than four decades, distinctly shows him to be eminently qualified (for this honor) by reason of positions of trust, responsibility, and honor."

Friends, students, alumni, and educators will honor Professor Higginbotham's work at the University, the Reno Press Club and the campus and professional chapters of Sigma Delta Chi are sponsoring a testimonial dinner for Professor Higginbotham on May 28.

The dinner is being held at the Riverside Hotel, in the Garden Room. A cocktail hour begins at 6:30 p.m., followed by dinner.

Sophomores, juniors, seniors, and graduate students will be the dinner guests of two anonymous donors.

Professor Higginbotham has been awarded the title of Professor Eremitus and the University of Nevada journalism department has been named for him.

State Student Recruitment Program Directly Affected By Death Of Leaders

The deaths of Mike Ingersoll and Jeff Reeves had a direct effect on one of the University's most successful student recruitment programs.

Dean Sam Basta stated that the loss of the two student leaders "put a damper" on a program in which A.S.U.N. leaders, together with Basta, travel to high schools throughout the state in an attempt to "sell" the University to prospective students.

"This program was very effective last year," Basta said, "but enthusiasm for the project seemed to dim following the deaths of the two students."

Basta added, however, that the new A.S.U.N. President, Dave Russell, has plans for similar activities in the recruitment of high school graduates.

The success of the project spearheaded by the campus leaders was attributed by Basta to the loyalty of the students themselves.

"They felt they had received so much from the University that they wanted to present both academic and non-academic aspects of the school to graduating high school seniors," he said.

The University is always striving to encourage more students to attend Nevada, Basta said, even though the school is "bulging at the seams."

Visiting deans and faculty members give speeches to high school students in all parts of the state except the southern area. Principal - counselor conferences are held and work is done through PTA's and service clubs. Efforts are being continually made by Dr. Jack Shirley, the director of admissions, who co-ordinates the University's relations with high schools.

"We're getting more and more outstanding students all the time," Basta said, "many from the upper 10% of their classes."

The University is definitely getting its share, the Dean said, but should be getting even more. He said that a great many are drained off through scholarships, appointments to military academies, grants-in-aid, religious schools, and schools that appeal to people's desire for prestige and status.

"We are concerned with leaders too," Basta said, "and not just academic leaders."

Play Termed A 'Smashing Success'

Facing a "next-door-to-impossible" job, the cast and crew of "Stop the World—I want to Get Off" presented a play which audience response deemed a "smashing success."

Rehearsals for the play did not begin until the week following Easter vacation. Previously, Professor Robert Ericson of the drama department had been told that

Ralston Purina Award Given

Harvey E. Barnes, a Junior at the University of Nevada, Reno, Nevada, has been selected to receive the Ralston Purina Scholarship Award for 1966-67, according to an announcement made in St. Louis by R. C. Eaton, Director of Public Relations of Ralston Purina Company.

The Purina Scholarship amounts to $500 and is awarded each year to an outstanding Junior or Sophomore in the state universities and land-grant colleges in each of the 50 states, and in three Canadian agricultural colleges and one in Puerto Rico.

Winners are selected at each college by a faculty Scholarship Committee on the basis of their scholastic record, leadership, character, ambition in agriculture and eligibility for financial assistance.

Barnes is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hillery Barnes, Jiggs, Nevada.

Agricultural Survey Shows Presence Of Destructive Moth In Northern Nev.

Surveys last fall by personnel of the University of Nevada and the Nevada Department of Agriculture revealed the presence of the "Spruce Needle Miner" in four northern Nevada counties.

Surveys conducted this year have failed to find it in central and southern Nevada. It was not present in Humboldt County until some infested spruce trees were brought in from Idaho.

This moth is a severe pest of various spruce, primarily ornamental, and is found in the Black Hills, Colorado, and parts of Norway.

Damage to the trees is done by the larva, which bores into a green needle near the base upon hatching. After entering the needle and beginning to feed, the larvae construct a web reaching from the entrance hole in each needle to the twig and this affords them protection from harm when the mined needles are severed from the stem.

The destructive power of the moth is shown by unsightly disfiguring and persistent masses of dead needles and debris webbed to the twigs of spruce trees. These signs are most readily visible in the interior of the tree, in areas protected by outer branches.

Many larger trees have the lower branches predominately attached by the moth, but small trees may have the tops completely defoliated. Prolonged, heavy infestations will kill smaller trees and parts of larger trees.

The only control of the moth is from a spraying with DDT, and malathion, a control for further buildup. In order to be effective, controls should be applied before hatching larvae enter the needles.

Mackay Collection Display In Library

Part of the Mackay silver service, which was made at a cost of over $150,000, is on display in the lobby of the Getchell Library. The silver collection started in Virginia City. In the late 1880's John Mackay sent one-half ton of silver from the Comstock Lode to Tiffany and Co. of New York to be made into a silver service for the family.

The silver service took two hundred silversmiths over two years to complete. After it was finished, the silver was exhibited at the Paris Exposition and used by royalty at some of Paris' and London's most lavish dinner parties.

Fifty-eight pieces of the Mackay silver service and many of the original documents concerning the value and production of the silver were presented to the University of Nevada in 1959 by John W. Mackay of New York, the grandson of the original owners.

CASH PAID FOR BOOKS

Student I.D. Required to Sell Books

Used textbooks fall into three groups. The following categories determine the price at which the bookstore may purchase a used book:

1. Current copyright books that have been selected for the next semester and there is an inadequate supply in the bookstore. These books are worth 50 per cent of the current new price

2. Current copyright books that are no longer in use at the University of Nevada, or have not been definitely selected by the instructor. These books can be sold to a wholesale book jobber. The ASUN Bookstore acts as an agent and can pay cash to the student for these books at the jobber's catalog price. These books are shipped from the campus for use on other college campuses. The price paid cannot be too high as the jobber has considerable expense involved in shipping, warehousing, and selling of these books. Too, the wholesaler faces a risk of not selling them at all.

3. The third group includes old editions, out of print and similar titles which are no longer in demand, and have little or no value.

Boxing Team Began With Novices But Finished Conference Champions

The University of Nevada Boxing team started the year with a relatively novice group of boxers. There were a few returning veterans, but the main part of the team had never fought in the ring before.

Coach Jimmie Olivas' boxing team finished the season as the California Collegiate Boxing Conference Champions. The team had a regular season record of seven wins and two losses.

Mike Schellin was named the best boxer at Nevada. He received a trophy for being the outstanding boxer in the championship tournament. Schellin was fighting in his first year of college boxing, heavyweight Ben Blinn fought an exciting battle during the conference matches to win the heavyweight crown.

Riley Beckett, Mike Smithwick, Jim Wright, Dave Halstead, Bob Engle, Dave Widmer, John Deacon, and Gary Silverman each fought throughout the season. Smithwick, Engle, Beckett, and Halstead all lost close decisions during conference championship finals.

Mat Squad Season Record Successful

Wrestling is a relatively new college sport at the University of Nevada. This was only the second year of competition for the wrestling team. Even so, they finished the season with a winning record: eight wins, three dual meet losses, and two conference losses.

Roy Kreizenbeck was named the outstanding wrestler for Nevada at 167 pounds.

Heavy-weight Larry Stiff placed third in the conference tournament and, according to wrestling coach Lee Newell, "for a first year wrestler exhibited excellent potential and promise."

Earl Wilkins at 160-pounds and Charles Ballard both placed third in the conference tournament.

The wrestling teams closest meet was against San Francisco State. Nevada won the meet 19-17. The most impressive win for the Wolf Pack was a 26-13 win of the Cal Aggies at Davis. The Aggies placed second in the conference tournament.

With many of the members on the wrestling team returning next year, coach Newell expects to have an impressive season.

Horsehidiers Finish Year Champions

By GARY DANIELS

The University of Nevada's baseball team recently completed another successful season. The "horsehidiers" finished the 1966 season with an over all record of 18 wins and 11 losses. In the FWC race Nevada won 10-2 and won the conference title for the first time in twelve years. Nevada was runner-up to Chapman College for the District Eight College Division Championship. Chapman has an overall record of 38-6, which was the best college - university record in the country. Last year Nevada was the winner of the district championship with Chapman finishing second.

Fred Dallimore, chosen by the Sagebrush as "player-of-the-year," paced the Pack to 10 victories this year. Dallimore finished the season with a 10-1 record to establish him as the "winningest" pitched in Nevada history. Dallimore had an earned run average of 1.61 for the season. Dallimore pitched in twelve games, starting eleven and completing nine.

During the season Dallimore threw one no-hitter and three shut outs. Dallimore's no-hitter was the first no-hitter in college ball this season. Dallimore was also named to the District Eight All Star Team, the only member of the FWC to receive this honor.

On the offensive side of the team, Owen Toy paced the team in batting average by finishing the season with a 337 mark. Toy was the leading hitter in the nation last year with a 517 over all and a 643 conference average. Mike Sala led the team in runs—batted-in with 23, and had an overall average of 320. Toy was second in the RBI department with 18. Other leading hitters on the Wolf Pack team this year were Lornie Wagner with 322, and Earl Nursement with 293.

From the End of the Bench

By GREG ZIVE

THIS IS THE LAST column to be written. Mike Parman and I want to take this opportunity to tell you that we have enjoyed writing the sports not only because of the great year it has been but also because of the support the teams received. The football crowds were the best in years and the basketball crowds were fantastic. Athletics and the support they received this year are a credit to the University of Nevada.

THREE NEVADA TEAMS won Far Western Conference titles this year. The basketball squad, track team, and baseball team all came through for Nevada. The football team finished a surprising second and hopes are high the football crown will come our way next year. The track team also won the NCAA Pacific Coast meet.

NAP MONTGOMERY was chosen as the senior athlete of the year by the SAGEBRUSH but he had some close competition. Fred Williams, Otis Burrell, and Larry Moore were given much consideration. The best of luck to all the seniors.

FRESHMAN BASKETBALL COACH Bobby Donlon was hired as the head basketball coach for Sonoma State last week. Donlon was an All-FWC guard in 1964, the last time the Wolf Pack won the basketball crown before this year. Even though Sonoma is a new conference rival we wish Donlon the best of luck against everybody but Nevada next year.

LOOKING BACK ON THE PAST YEAR Nevada teams were among the best in the University's history. The basketball team became only the second squad in FWC history to win every conference game. The 17 game winning streak was one of the longest in the country and the number 10 national rating was the highest obtained by a Wolf Pack basketball team. All five starters made all - conference teams. The track team continued to dominate the FWC and many school marks were broken. The shot put, discus, high jump, and triple jump records were all broken. The baseball team won the first conference crown in Nevada's history. Pitcher Fred Dallimore threy the first no-hitter in collegiate ball this season and set a school record by winning ten games. For the first teime in 12 years the Wolf Pack swept a doubleheader from Sacramento State. These are just a few highlights of the 1966 year.

Library Installs Xerox Machine

A new Xerox copying machine has been installed in the Noble Getchell Library. The new 720 model will replace one of the older 914 models.

The new machine is "twice as fast as the previously used copier and will give greater customer service and convenience," stated Mr. Thomas Harris, Head of the Library Circulation Department.

The remaining 914 Xerox machine will be converted to part time coin operation. A full time operator will do xeroxing from 8 until 5 daily. The coin operation can be used by students from 5:30 to 9:30 p.m. Monday through Thursday.

Tony Scheuller was named the most improved boxer on the Nevada squad. Scheuller twice defeated tough Tim Fitzgerald of Chico to take the 165 pound title. Many may remember these two fights as two of the closest and best fought during the season.

Bill Georgeson at 147 pounds displayed his boxing skill throughout the season to take the 147 pound crown for the second straight year.

Ball Squad Second In FWC History To Win Every Conference Game

by GREGG ZIVE
Sports Editor

The 1966 University of Nevada basketball team became the second team in the history of the Far Western Conference to win every conference game.

The Wolf Pack squad had a 3-5 record before winning their last seventeen ball games. The winning streak was one of the longest in the country and the Pack was rated the tenth best small college team in the nation by United Press International.

The Pack played the 1966 national major college champs, Texas Western, and the number-one ranked small college in the country, Southern Illinois.

One of the most exciting wins of the season came in Rock Island Illinois in the holiday tournament against Creighton. Nevada was the underdog but led by the hot shooting of Nap Montgomery and Larry Moore the Silver and Blue defeated the powerful Bluejays in double overtime.

The team was small when compared to many other basketball squads. Guards Frank Bruno and Bob Gilliam were both about 5-10, forward Larry Moore was 6-3 as was team captain Nap Montgomery, and center Bill Nicholson was 6-5. Still Moore led the conference in rebounds and Montgomery was not far behind.

Only Gilliam will be back next year from the starting team but Tommy Smith, George Schoenberger, Jerry Hart, and George Corder will all be returning.

The 20-5 record was one of the best ever recorded by a Nevada team and the high national ranking is the first time the Pack has ever been that high.

Fred Dallimore Baseball Pick

Fred Dallimore has been selected as "Player of the Year" in baseball. The 21 year old graduate of Reno High School established himself as the "winningest" pitcher in Nevada baseball history by ending the season with a 10 win 1 loss record.

Dallimore had a perfect 7-0 record in the Far Western Conference this year, pitching a no-hitter, and three shut-outs. His no-hitter against Nevada Southern on March 25 was the first no-hitter to be thrown by a college pitcher in the nation this season.

Among other honors this season, Dallimore was named to the District Eight College Division All Star team. He was named "Athlete of the Month" for April by the local papers, and also received the honor of "Athlete of the Week" several times in the Sagebrush during the season.

Dallimore had an earned run average of 1.61 to lead the Pack pitching staff. He appeared in a total of 78 and one-third innings; pitched in twelve ball games, starting eleven and completing nine.

During his 78 innings of pitching Dallimore faced 318 batters allowing 54 hits, 36 walks, and striking out 74.

"Outstanding Cross-Country Man"

MARK WYNNE

'Outstanding Member' Named

The University of Nevada Cross-Country Team's "Outstanding Member Award" went to Mark Wynne for the year 1966.

Wynne led the Wolf Pack striders to a winning season in the Far Western Conference. Helping Wynne to capture Cross Country honors during the season were teammates Frank Lemus, Don McCarthy, Steve Valle, Mike Sorenson, Rich Brown, Terry Forbyn, and Ron Lee.

Dormitories To Have Busy Summer

Residence halls at the University of Nevada will be kept busy this summer. All five dormitories will be used for summer school or conventions.

Single men attending summer school will be housed in Lincoln Hall. Single women will occupy two floors in Juniper Hall.

White Pine Hall will be used exclusively for men attending the summer seminar of the National Congress of State Trial Judges at the University of Nevada.

Married couples and families attending either summer school or the State Trial Judges seminar will live in Manzanita Hall.

Artemisia Hall and two floors in Juniper Hall will be reserved for the conferences the University hosts.

During the time the halls are not being occupied, which will be rare breaks between summer school and conference sessions, some improvements will be made on the dorms. In the women's halls, the resident assistants are submitting lists of repairs and improvements they feel are necessary.

Football Season Showed Many Improvements

A young 1965 Nevada football team improved tremendously on the 1964 squad's record of 1-9 by only losing a single conference game and finishing the season with a 6-4 record.

The Pack opened the season by taking a 47-0 shelling by nationally ranked Long Beach State. The Wolf Pack then played Wilamette and the University of California at Santa Barbara and lost both games by three points.

Nevada unleashed a powerful scoring attack against California State College and defeated the Hayward team, 42-0. The Pack then won three more games in a row including wins over Far Western Conference foes Sacramento State, Cal Davis, and independent University of San Francisco.

The only FWC loss was dealt the Wolf Pack by conference champion San Francisco State. Nevada finished the season with victories over Chico State and Humboldt State.

Nevada finished second in the FWC and most of this year's team will be coming back next season.

All-conference honors went to Dale Landon, "Bugs" Walton, Jim Luttgies, Fred Williams, Jack Schwella, Tony Betita, Mike Kasper, Chris Ault, Joe Sobek, Earl Nursement, Doug Carder, and Gerald Troy.

The defensive team was one of the strong points of the squad. Luttgies, Walton, Carder, Mike Sala, Ron Regan, Billy Ray Holman, and Ron Moore all had good years.

The offensive team was led by sophomore quarterback Chris Ault. Ault is only about 5-9 but he was high in FWC quarterback statistics.

It was a good year in old Mackay Stadium and the coming year, in the new Mackay Stadium, should be even better for the Nevada football team.

"Outstanding Baseball Player"

NEVADA NINE PITCHER Fred Dallimore fires one over the plate in recent competition. The fiery little hurler is the Sagebrush pick as "Baseball Player of the Year." His sophisticated pitching style helped bring Nevada to a FWC baseball championship.

Increase In Seating Planned

Plans are being made to double the seating capacity in the new Mackay stadium according to plant engineer Brian Whalen. The new bleachers will seat 5,000 persons. Another set is planned for the opposite side of the stadium.

Whalen emphasized that the University does not have the money at present. The portable bleachers from the old stadium are being transferred to the new one and will be used for some time, Whalen said.

The area inside the fence at the stadium will be landscaped. The bowl will be planted with grass except in the region being reserved for the bleachers.

Dining Commons

Dining Commons contract students will be able to use their cards to eat during the two days following the last semester test.

The Dining Commons will stay open until after dinner on Saturday, June 4. Dormitories close the next day unless special arrangements have been made by remaining students.

The stadium parking lot is completed. The asphalt has been striped into parking areas and it is landscaped with islands of trees and grass.

Printing Exhibit Now On Display

The Second International Miniature print exhibit sponsored by the Pratt Graphic Art Center is now on display in the Church Fine Arts building.

Artists were asked to submit original prints in color or black and white in any media. A few invited artists were included in the show.

The 107 prints, chosen from a field of 900, will circulate for two years among art centers, colleges, and museums in the United States. The prints represent England, Canada, Switzerland, Mexico, India, Japan, and various other countries.

Prints may be purchased by writing to: Mrs. PaZuline Kwatler, Secretary, Pratt Graphic Art Center, 931 Broadway, New York,

Out-Of-State Fellowships To Be Given

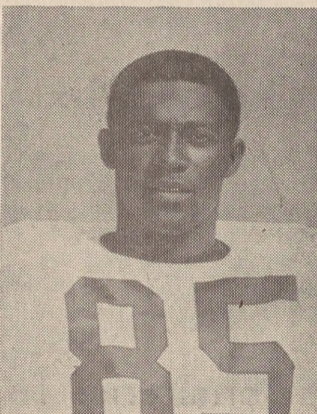

Promising University of Nevada and out-of-state graduate students are awarded graduate assistantships each year by the College of Business Administration.

Students receiving the assistantships can receive $2,300 per year as well as a waiver of regular fees and out-of-state tuition.

The Business College on the Reno campus offers three degree programs: Master of Arts, Master of Science, and Master of Business Administration. The graduate programs require at least 30 hours of graduate work including a thesis.

A student need not have a bachelor's degree in business or economics in order to enter the graduate program. Degrees in engineering, arts and science, and agriculture are acceptable. However, up to 60 credits may be required for the master's degree depending upon the number of business and economics courses in the student's background.

Outstanding In Football

"BUGS" WALTON captained the 1965-66 Nevada football team to its second place position in the FWC.

Track Team Recaptures N.C.A.A. Crown To Finish Outstanding Season

The University of Nevada Track Team made another fine showing during the 1966 season. Under Coach Dick Dankworth, the team has recaptured the NCAA Pacific Coast Small College Regional track crowns.

The recent NCAA Championships witnessed Nevada victories by Mark Wynne in the six-mile run; Otis Burrell in the high jump, (a new meet record of 7' even); Bill Perry in the 440-yard intermediate hurdles, (another meet record of 54.0 seconds); and Ron Lee in the steeplechase.

The key to Nevada's victory came in the form of consistent second and third places in many of the events.

During the regular season, records were set by Burrell in the high jump, Perry in the 440 intermediate low hurdles, Howard Briles in the shot put, Terry Forbyn in the 880-yard dash and the mile run, and George Puce in the discus.

Geologists Pick Awarded Student

Gary Ballew was awarded a geologist's pick as recognition for having earned the highest scholastic record in his graduating class from the Mackay School of Mines.

Ballew came to the Reno campus after he completed two years of geology at Nevada Southern. He is the son of Dr. Ray Ballew of Las Vegas.

The geologist's pick is given to the university by a tool company, and Ballew is the second student to have received the award since it was first given last year.

The presentation of the pick was made at a special meeting. Guest speaker at the meeting was Dr. Michel Delaloye, of the University of Geneva, Switzerland.
