Strongest Team Nevada Has Ever Met; To Be International Contest

Next Thursday night the University of Nevada debating team, composed of Ernest S. Brown, Clel Georgetta and Jean Jackson, will meet Oxford University's team, on the subject, "Resolved, That this house is opposed to the principle of prohibition."

Malcolm McDonald Jr., M. C. Hollis and J. D. Woodruff who compose the News Neophytes are to English team, are making the longest debate tour on record. Their itinerary which has included 23 American and Canadian colleges will end in Arizona in January

English Success Varied

The success of the English team has been a varied one. In the prohibition question their success has not been so notable as it has been when discussing some of the other questions.

Comparisons with American debaters is difficult because of the entirely different methods employed by English and Americans debaters. The English style consists in brilliance of repartee, cleverness in parrying arguments and a personal element injected into the speeches. They rely rather on clever tion of statistical data.

No finals!

The administration has given its word that there will be no final examinations to impart an air of dejection prior to the Christmas holidays. Hearts will beat faster at this glad news, and many a bookish student will stop worrying over the information in the musty tomes-after the term theme has been written-and will go about the Quad with a carefree soul.

But—there is a joker! There will be exes, but they will not be final exes. They will be exes covering merely the last few weeks of the term. Shed a tear! The last few weeks are the weeks that studying on current topics is

Late Sunday Sleepers Now Fear No Foul Play

"There shall be no unnecessary noise in the hall before 10 a.m. on Sundays and holidays."

Such was the ruling passed at a recent meeting of the Lincoln Hall Association which officially consigns to a quiet burial the defunct custom of joyriding late Sunday morning sleepers in their bedclothes.

In the olden days many a luckless Saturday nighter who failed to hear the Sunday morning gow bell and choose to hold down the hay in the sunshine, woke up on the steps of Manzanita.

Low Cost Trips to EUROPE FRANKF Summer of 1925 WHY don't you plan to go to Europe next summer? You can—at a cost within your means. Last summer thousands of students and teachers learned how to do it. On one voyage of the Leviathan alone over 70 institutions were represented by 225 students and teachers. In 1925 thousands more will enjoy the pleasures of a European trip. You can be one of them if you will only get the facts. The United States Lines have made it possible for Americans to go abroad comfortably yet economically. Exclusive accommodations, formerly third class, have been prepared and reserved on U. S. Government ships. The cost of passage is only $85 and up. This includes clean, comfortable cabins, good food, willing service, exclusive deck and BERN dancing space, and many other features. You can learn all the details by sending the coupon 0 below. Illustrated literature, including a Princeton Professor's account of his trip last summer will be sent you at once. Varied itineraries to help you plan your trip are included in this booklet. Start to make your plans now. Talk them over at home during the Christmas vacation. But get the facts now. Three more weeks remain before the Campus packs up for

Now that the seniors have reached that stage that the high school kids know as "dignified," they cannot be expected to run about the wearing the grand sombrero. Quad in mad frenzy to try to amuse an erstwhile listless Campus. It is up to the underclassmen to start the fun going. What has become of the famous "Soph Festival" and why do not the frosh get up enough spunk to start a new tradition, such as a "Frosh Week" in which they can ape the juniors in their successful enterprise? And than three years ago, when life was a haunted, frightened misery what are the juniors doing to try to create a bit of what the old-timers know as "college spirit"? Cannot some of the defunct college orchestras be exhumed to play the Hill's favorite lullaby, "Sleep.... sleep . . . sleep''? Or one of the popular funeral marches? Either selection would be most appropriate.

Now that Barney Keating, Czar of the Student Body, is back on the Campus after the last football trip of the year, can't we have a student-body meeting or a wake or something? A wake would be a lovely thing-possibly some bright-eyed soul could lead a prayer for the defunctness of the Hill and thus arouse a little bit of interest in oratory, at least.

What has become of Nevada's famed "Spirit" of which we have terribly angry! heard so much, and which, several years ago, was actually to be sensed? Won't somebody please drag out an off-key harmonica and play that touching little piece, "Gone are the days—"?

Too much have we heard of Nevada's "spirit." But at present, it would seem that the spirit had flown when the student body died. At least, the Campus exhibits a very noticeable lack of spirit at present. Is it that our glorified "Nevada Spirit" is only at its height when Nevada's Wolf Pack has won a game; and that the "spirit" of the followers of the game is at its lowest ebb when the Pack has lost? Such would seem to be the case. If this is true, then Nevada has the wrong kind of "spirit." Too much sublimation of the ego before a game is too liable to result in "spiriticide" when the inflated

Critics of the football team are too prone to lay all the blame of lost grid battles onto the coach and the team and the individual of lost grid battles onto the coach and the team and the individual players on the team. Fortunately, the fault does not lie with Coaches Erb and Cranmer and the Varsity players. The fault is with the student body and this false "Nevada Spirit" which has developed during the past two years. If the Pack wins, then the Campus is only too boastful of its "spirit," but if the Wolves lose, then the "spirit" of the Hill is non-existent. This has had a bad effect on the team. the team.

Still, even though the Campus has exhibited a rather poor spirit, there is no one on the Campus who has anything but praise for the Wolf Pack. Even the yellow journals in our neighboring western state had something good to say of Nevada's Wolves. To the Pack is all honor, and may it be said again here, the Pack has again gone down into the annals of glory because it fought well and did well. The greatest thing that can be said of the Wolf Pack—or of any other football team, for that matter—is that the Pack PLAYED well and it played CLEAN. Any team can WIN if it does not care to Criticism of the Pack or of the coaches can come only from those who do not appreciate clean football and clean sport. Critics, too, fail to realize that the Nevada Wolves this year played their hardest conference schedule, and that Erb, a new coach, had a colossal task upon his hands when he undertook to instill a new system of football into a team whose members have for so long played an utterly different type of grid battle. To Erb and to the Varsity go all honor, and only honor.

To the Subs, the Goofs and the Frosh teams that, day after day, have done their work faithfully and well out on Mackay Field-to them, too, go all honor. Unheralded and unsung, these men answered The Pi Phi then did balk: the call of the coaches and did their bit for Nevada, and supplied some of the best to the Varsity when there was a need. And when a man was promoted from the rank of the less famous teams, he went to the ranks of the Varsity with congratulations of his team ringing Of lips and coos and moons that wax in his ears. There was no petty jealousy amongst the subs, the Goofs or the Frosh when one of their men left; there was only encouragement to the lucky man. And then each player set his "If fifty maids for fifty y teeth and played all the harder, with the hope that his turn would Should try with fifty hundred tricks

We all know that each man on the three lesser teams had "I doubt not," said the S A E and ambitions to make The Team, and we know that each tried as hard as humanly possible to make his great dream come true. But we cannot all be generals of an army (unless we are Mexicans) nor can we all be at the top, with nothing to support us from below. And so, neither could all of you on the sub teams be on the Varsity. Your turn will come next, Subs, Goofs and Frosh. And when it is your turn to wear the Varsity colors, may you be the Wolf Pack machine that carries Nevada's fame farther than have any of the Packs that have gone before you. Here's luck to you!

Next comes basketball. Nevada ought to develop a quintet that will be unequalled in the Hill's sporting history. Already, the fraternities have started their "frat honor" war by each developing a hoop quintet with sure "all-varsity material."

Now that the Pi Phis and Thetas have had such a successful rushing season, the boys with the tea-hound complexions are wondering if the Dean of Women will allow the sistren to start up house keeping once again. Neither of the two sororities is liable to suffer financially if they are allowed house privileges-not with fifteen pledges who will pay board and room. It seems that the objections to letting the women have houses is that it is doubted if the frosh women have brains enough to be able to take care of themselves outside the guarding walls of Manzanita.

It would be a step in the right direction to allow the frosh women P. I. N. S. Editor to live in the sorority home. A pledge needs the associations of her sorority sisters more than do the old members. Too, the older sisters will see that the pledge studies and keeps up with her college work —for the sake of the chapter's scholarship, if not for anything else. The greater number of "flunk-outs" among the women are in the ranks of the sorority pledges. Therefore, it is apparent that some action should be taken to better their scholarship, and who can attend to that better than the older sisters?

> What has become of all the bright young boys who have been planning on an inter-fraternity council? Occasionally, during the semester, there have been almost audible murmurs of such an organi-.$1.50 zation being raised from the bier. Such murmurings showed almost unmistakable signs that someone was about to develop a backbone and do something. Could it be possible that the boys who were going to reorganize the council have, instead of raising the thing from the ashes of the past, joined the council in its silent, wormy

Three more weeks remain before the Campus packs up for home to see what Santa Claus is going to leave in the one remaining holeless sock. It is not wishing too much to hope that Saint Nick will leave each student a small bottle of tabasco sauce and some antisleep tablets. Somehow, we rather feel that next semester will be a hard one to live through if there is not more packs up for though the University is boosting the Reno Highways Exposition to be held here in 1926, there is one thing about the exposition that the University will not and cannot foster. That is the wearing of the official sunbonnet of the campaign—the "five-gallon" somsteep tablets. Somehow, we rather feel that next semester will be a hard one to live through if there is not work and the campaign of the official sunbonnet of the campaign—the "five-gallon" soms brevo. Seniors, of course, if the table to the campaign of the official sunbonnet of the official sunbonnet of the a hard one to live through if there is not more pep and less pip but we are afraid that the juniors, sophomores and frosh are as yet not quite so virilely Western as to adopt the flamboyant chapeaus. on Campus Rulers

To the Editor.—I raise a voice in protest against the rulers of our Campus. This semester we have had but three student-body meetings. No opportunity is given for the expression of the opinion of the student body at large. Purchases involving considerable amounts of money have been made

Under these conditions, student selfgovernment becomes a farce. We might just as well be back in the days when the faculty ran student affairs to suit

Pointless System, Eh?

Has everyone heard of the new point system concerning women's athletics to win a tournament from competing hiding. The Imperial government was matter whether or not they lost or have perished. tied with other teams, their large number of points secured for them the

If this system were to be tried upon the basketball teams in the state tournament, a howl would be raised which could be heard throughout the state. They would never submit to this new inauguration, for if a team were lucky enough to draw a weak team or one which was playing short-handed, they could quickly pile up a score with which the others could not compete, although the other teams might have won the rest of the games

Indeed, it seemed for a time that the women's athletics on the Nevada campus, in order to be original, would be governed in a different way, and for the sake of originality they would have to bow their heads and submit to the new regime, but W.A.A. took a hand and now the old system of the man who wins the game holds sway.

My! My! 'Tis a Rash Criticism

To the Editor,-It is, I think, high time that someone was courageous enough to attack an institution which instead of being frowned upon, seems to be tolerated and even encouraged by the University. Not to mince mat ters, I refer to the Finance Control.

To my mind, there is no organization on the Campus that is more high-hand ed, absolute, despotic, imperious and arrogant in its demands and treatment of student body affairs. Of course football is a rather important activity but not the most important, yet, I understand, football demands are imnediately met as far as finances are concerned, without question. On the other hand, any campus activity that requires money as well as brains, must go begging and struggle along on less than the minimum amount of money required for a successful continuation of that activity. In this respect. I speak of debating, dramatics, etc. This state of affairs has gone on long enough and if student activities (outside of athletics) cannot be supported properly out of student-body money, then the students should not be required to pay fees intended for the furtherance of campus activities if all these fees, or the greater part of them, must go to the support of athletics. There are other things of far greater importance than athletic contests. Colleges should be, if you undestand the fundamentals of them, cultural and broadening in their scope, and not mere training establishments for athletes.

I understand that the Finance Control is a student-body organization, to all intents and purposes. If this be so, why must the students be held by faculty control over their money? If the faculty must be called in to supervise our activities, then we cannot claim to have the slightest pretense at student government. We are merely playing a stupid marionette part, and are being worked by strings from behind the scenes by the faculty "advisors," or, if you like, despots. Of course, it is perfectly sensible to have one member from the faculty as an advisor—and advisor only—but this man should not be given the entire say over who may and who may not ask for money from the student body. If we are to lay claim to having genuine student government, then let

Womens' Inter-class Volley Teams To Meet

During the past three weeks approximately 45 women have been practicing for the interclass volley-ball games to be played off this week under the direction of Coach Winifred Champlin.

Class teams, which will consist of eight players as stated in the indoor rules for volley ball, will be chosen this week, and the games played off before the final rush of term themes and six weeks' tests.

According to the ruling made by W A. A., each class team will play the three remaining teams, the winner being the squad with the largest number victories chalked up to its credit. In the event of a tie, the title will be cided by an additional game.

Ruth Olmsted, '25, volley-ball mana er, reports that the sophomores lead n the number of girls trying for places. Each girl making her class team for the first time will be given 100 points in W. A. A.

Exit football, enter wrestling, at the State College of Washington. The squad will be cut to a dozen men in another week by Coach Harold Whicker, because of crowded quarters. Workouts, intense conditioning, and light mat work will be the main features of the wrestling program until after Christmas. It is not probable that there will be intramural wrestling contests this year because of lack of practice quarters.

Play Production Class Will Present Feature at Vaudeville Show

"The Florist Shop," a one-act play produced during class hours by students in the University's play production class, will be one of the features of the Century Club's annual vaudeville show to be given at the Rialto theatre, Monday, December 15.

In the comedy's cast, which was written by Winifred Hawkridge for the Harvard Dramatic Club, Lucille Blake takes the part of Maude, a sentimental and talkative bookkeeper, who is em ployed by the florist, George Sears. William Downey plays the part of the tough office boy. Mildred Leavitt appears as Miss Wells, the timid spinster, and Earl Fordham takes the part of Mr. Jackson, who has been engaged to Miss Wells for 15 years.

But ten days remain for students to have their pictures taken for the Artemisia. All pictures must be in by December 15, according to the editors.

Organizations wishing to have their full membership represented in their panels in the year-book have been asked to remind all members that the deadline for the photograhper's revampations has been set for next Monday. No pictures will be accepted for senior, junior or organization panels after December 15.

Art editors of the year-book expect to begin work on the compilation of the panels next week.
