

EUREKA SCHOOL GAINS BY WILL

REQUEST OF $54,000 MADE FOR SCHOLARSHIPS BY JOHN E. SEXTON

A bequest of $54,000 for the establishment of three scholarships at Santa Clara college was made by John E. Sexton, former president of the Eureka Nevada railroad, who died recently, according to the will which was filed last week in the county clerk's office in Eureka. The will dated June 27, 1925, declares that all the property is community property and therefore half of it belongs to Mrs. Sexton. The other half is left to the Bank of California in trust for Mrs. Sexton during her life and at her death the $54,000 scholarship bequest is to be made.

Two of the scholarships are for El Dorado county, California, students in memory of Mr. Sexton's father and mother, and the other is for Eureka county students, the recipients of the scholarship to be selected by the district judge, chairman of the board of county commissioners and the county superintendent of schools. No one is to hold the scholarship more than five years.

LECTURER TALKS ON RACE SUICIDE

"It is the ignorant, the unthrifty, the less intelligent, who, by a relatively high birthrate, are perpetuating their kind to posterity; while the more highly educated and intelligent, those composing the professional classes, are committing race suicide by producing an average of less than two offspring per family," declared Dr. J. S. Holmes, of the University of California, an authority on eugenics and social control.

"Human ability varies enormously; there are few geniuses and few morons. In between lies the great bulk of humanity whose character traits formulated by Gregor Mendel. Thus we may count the great man who possesses a particularly happy combination of factors," the lecturer continued. He qualified his statements, however, with the warning that this happy combination could come only from superior stock, refuting the popular idea that genius is most apt to come from the lower classes. "Great men come from the humble parents sometimes; they do not come from stupid parents," asserted Dr. Holmes.

Holmes Sees Danger

Dr. Holmes does not share the optimistic view of other eugenic authorities that in spite of such significant evidence, the race is in no serious danger. What the solution may be the educator hesitated to affirm at this time, while recognizing that the continued operation of natural laws will in part serve to solve the difficulties relevant to the artificial social and economic conditions prevailing at present.

FATHER OF UNIVERSITY GRADUATE DIES IN RENO

John W. Brown, the father of Ernest B. Brown, '26, died in Reno last Friday morning, after an illness of three months.

Although he was on a leave of absence from the police force due to his sickness it was not expected that the illness would prove fatal. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Louise C. Brown, two brothers, a sister, Ernest S. Brown, his son, and a daughter, Mildred Brown, '31, who is attending the University of Nevada.

Y. M. C. A. MAN TO VISIT ON CAMPUS NEXT WEEK

Charles Schwieso, prominent Y. M. C. A. worker from Pasadena, California, will visit in Reno next week. Talks will be given by him to the local Y. M. C. A. men, as well as all those interested in a campus Association. Mr. Schwieso is an authority on Y. M. C. A. work, having been in the field for several years. He is coming to this campus under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. and will aid in the forming of an Association here.

LEACH WELCOMES MEN IN ANNUAL RECEPTION

Dean Leach entertained the members of the class of '31 at an annual reception party, Friday evening, August 26. President Clark gave the address of the evening on the advantages and possibilities offered by the University both while enrolled and after graduation.

The musical program was made up of three negro-dialect songs rendered by Mrs. William Moll Case. Solmie Bulasky '29 and Miss Bessie Bulasky also gave selections. A trio of fresh talent concluded the evening with a few songs.

LINDBERGH FUND STARTED

The drive for funds for the Lindbergh celebration which is to be held in Reno on September 19 started Tuesday with the committee in charge visiting all the merchants on Center St. After practically a full day of work the committee members reported that $50 had been pledged.

When the celebration was first planned Mayor Roberts started the donation list with $25 and the committee raised $30 more during the afternoon Monday. The total now on hand, according to Clarence Patten, treasurer of the fund committee, is in the neighborhood of $85.

U. C. FARM SCHOOL TO HOLD FRUIT SHOW

BERKELEY, Sept. 2.—The University of California college of agriculture will hold its eighth annual fruit show September 14 to 17, in Hilgard hall, Berkeley campus. This date is two months earlier than that of previous shows; the student committee in charge having decided that early fruit can thus be displayed in the fresher condition than formerly.

'Ask Me Another' Finally Solved

The next time someone of our acquaintance drags out the latest "Ask Me Another" book and, his eyes gleaming with malicious glee, begins to fire query after unanswerable query at us, we shall not crawl down into our collar nor try to hide vainly behind a newspaper muttering feeble "I don't know." On the contrary, with a blast of superior knowledge we shall interrupt him with, "When was the first Ask Me Another book published?"

He will be a bit startled by what seems to him such an obvious question, and with a condescending smile will say, "Why, in 1926, of course." Then we shall say, "Not at all. It was by Philippe de Thaon, Jofroi de Walford, and other learned men. I must say I am surprised at such appalling ignorance."

Utterly crushed, and unable to reply, he will tear his beloved question book into tiny shreds, cast them one by one into the fire, and sink off, muttering unintelligibly to himself.

If he should prove stronger than we thought and answer that one, all we shall have to do will be to ask him one or two of the questions in that Midieval Ask Me Another: "When God made Adam how old was he?" or "Will idiots be damned?" That will be sufficient and we shall be able to go peacefully back to our books.

WELL MAY CAUSE LAND BOOM

Should a well that is being drilled by Chas. Fulstone, a farmer seven miles south of Carson City, prove what is anticipated it will bring in several thousand acres of land that is not provided with a water right from the Carson river, yet the river runs through the heart of the land. Fulstone is having sunk a deep pumping well, and the first one hundred feet shows a fine supply of water. The second hundred feet, it is expected, will bring in an inexhaustible supply of water when an electric pump will be employed.

Fulstone is no stranger to electric pump irrigation as he pumps from the owned portion of the river onto 120 acres of alfalfa land and paid for the whole outfit the first year of the war. A dozen land owners spent the day watching the rig, as in the same condition—a river running through and not a drop of water for their lands.

LINCOLN HALL TO HOLD FOUR INFORMAL DANCES

A dance a month will be given by the Lincoln Hall Association, during the fall semester, according to Dean Leach, master of the Hall. The dances will be held at Lincoln Hall, the first being September 10, the second third and fourth: October 14, November 4 and December 2, consecutively.

This is the first time in the history of the hall that informal dances are to be given every month and men of the hall promise a good time to all that attend.

PSYCHOLOGY WHILE ASLEEP IS LATEST INNOVATION OF PROF.

"Let's have pancakes for breakfast." There was a pause of a few minutes, during which the professor's wife, partially awakened by the words, turned over in bed and resumed her slumber. "Let's have pancakes for breakfast," again said the professor in low even tones that would not completely awaken his sleeping wife. This time she made no move and the professor, after having repeated the words once more, climbed into bed beside her and was soon asleep.

The next morning the first words that his wife said to him when she awoke, were: "What do you think about having pancakes for breakfast? We have never tried them since we were married. Let's have some this morning."

In this way Professor Bradwater, head of the department of psychology at the Ball Teachers College, first experimented on the new theory which he had reasoned out. He had long known that there were two clearly defined divisions of the mind, the conscious and the sub-conscious. He had learned that only those ideas which find their way into the sub-conscious mind are of permanent value to the individual. He knew that, by our present method of education, only a few of all the mass of ideas presented to the mind can get through to the sub-conscious division, because of the confusion always present during a conscious state. So, he reasoned thus: Why not teach the sub-conscious mind directly; why not educate the student while he sleeps?

The experiment with his wife resulted from this reasoning and seemed to bear out the professor's theory. His wife had never thought of having pancakes for breakfast and he had never before suggested the idea to her. In fact, neither of them liked pancakes.

Like a true scientist, he did not base conclusions on the result of one experiment alone. He tried several similar ones and the results proved satisfactory in every case. Still he was not completely satisfied and determined on a more difficult one. If this experiment ended as satisfactorily as previous ones, then he would be confirmed in his belief and consider it infallible.

The professor of physics in the same school was having a great amount of trouble in getting his class to learn a certain formula and its application. As a matter of fact, the class was making no progress at all. He had done his best by ordinary teaching methods, but the tests that had been given revealed the complete failure of the class. He was ready to give up in disgust.

Here was the opportunity longed for by the psychological professor. He asked the instructor in physics to try out his theory and he willingly agreed. The boys of the class were all given rooms in one building. Telephone wires were run to each of their rooms. Each boy was given a set of headphones and told to have them on when he went to sleep. One end of the telephone wire was connected to a transmitter in an unoccupied room and the other end was fastened to a set of headphones worn by one of the class.

In this way the whole class was connected to the transmitter.

When the whole class was sound asleep the professor of physics was told to dictate the formula and explanation through the transmitter in such a way that none of the class would be awakened. He did as he was directed that night and repeated the proceeding the next night. Two days later a test was given, covering the work that had been dictated, and ten of the twelve in the class showed a perfect understanding of the formula and its application.

This result removed all doubt from the mind of Professor Bradwater. He has since prepared a treatise on the new theory and its application, and will shortly announce it to the educational world.

SCOTT TO MEET POULTRY MEN

Professor V. E. Scott, poultry specialist, from the University of Nevada, is in Lyon county today for the purpose of carrying on poultry culling work. As all poultry people know, this is the time of the year to cull poultry flocks in order to obtain higher egg production by eliminating the poor producers directly; why not schedule, and everyone interested is invited to attend any of them. Professor Scott will give valuable information on the poultry industry, and much good will be derived from these meetings.

Furs Last Word In Winter Coats

Rushing is on and the latest styles for coeds are in full prominence. Fall winds and slight wintry chills have brought out the winter coats to the fall wardrobe. A clever sport costume was seen on one of the rushees at a late afternoon rushing party. Her coat was of peruvian brown, embodying the newest Parisian idea. The material was of cashmere Velina and the collars and cuffs were of blended wolf fur. A small close fitting sand colored felt hat with shoes and gloves to match completed the outfit.

The smartest fall and winter coats are lavished with luxurious furs. Some of the new fall shades for coats are franciscan brown, new grey, moscovia green, rubina red, moonlight blue and peruvia brown.

GREAT SEASON PREDICTED FOR WOLVES FROM HUGE TURNOUT

PREP SCHOOL STARS BID TO TAKE POSITIONS FROM VETERANS

KEEN COMPETITION OUT FOR EVERY BERTH ON GRID ELEVEN

By "Dink" Stevens
With two unblemished coaches, Lawrence ("Buck") Shaw, and Harry O-Boyle; with three or four veterans battling for every position, possibly excepting the wings, 1927 will be the big chance year for the Wolf Pack.

Fresh Play Part
Strangely enough, freshmen will play an important part in Nevada's campaign this year. At the end positions, where the Wolves are admittedly weak, Shaw has Bob Harris, formerly of Bakersfield, and All-California end in 1922 and 1923, "Hoopie" Thompson, former Sallinas high school star, Fred Perley, an ex-San Mateo Junior College star, and "Bearcat" Montgomery, who is going out for the squad for the first time. All four are promising, according to Head Coach "Buck" Shaw. Thorup, a recent arrival from Sallinas high, and an all state man, will make a strong bid for tackle honors. In addition to his ability as a lineman, Thorup is capable of excellent punting.

"Mixie" Newton, younger brother of Harold ("Nig") Newton, star tackle, promises to create a furor on the line. Right now "Mixie", All-California guard in 1925 and 1926, is giving the veterans a real run for a regular berth. Dixon, formerly of the Harvard Military school, is equally as promising, and looms as a real prospect.

Reno Men Strong
Walters, formerly of Reno High, is out for the center position, and shows plenty of promise.

Camille Mery, another Reno High star, is trying for the quarter position. Thompson, from Los Angeles also is looking good at the quarter position.

John Bradley, former Pennsylvania high school star, comes here with a brilliant high school reputation. Elston Woodland High, is out for a halfback berth. Both are first semester frosh.

Fred Cook, who played fullback for a Los Angeles high school team weighs around 190 pounds, and may develop into a good backfielder.

There are a few second semester frosh, now rating as Sophomores, who show possibilities. Among these are Don Inskip, a guard, and Viv and Bus Parra, halfbacks.

GOOFS WILL BE DISTINCT SQUAD

This year coach Shaw will make an experiment with the "goof" squad. Men who have gone out for football in the past and who were neither frosh nor varsity men have not had much opportunity to work for football honors. This year's plans call for three distinct squads, the frosh, goofs and varsity. A regular team will be built, so that the men will be able to specialize in playing in certain positions, just as is being done in the frosh and varsity squads.

All men who are interested and who are not already in the field should begin work on this team immediately, according to coach Shaw.

With half a dozen of last year's star varsity players not back this year there will be several chances for second string men and for frosh to gain permanent berths on the varsity team.

The outlook for a powerful team this year is never the less very promising with several good men in the field who have shown ability in the past, with the number of men now in suits over eighty-five, and with a number of frosh of high school fame out for practice daily.

KAER TO RETURN TO U.S.C. TRACK

Southern California's 1928 track hopes revived somewhat this week when Morton Kaer announced to friends at the University that he was turning down all offers to play professional football this fall and will return to the Trojan campus for his third and last year of track next spring.

Kaer will maintain his amateur standing by playing with the Olympic Club team of San Francisco. "Devil May" also had his eye on the 1928 Olympiad when he made his decision to remain an amateur. He placed 6th in the pentathlon in 1924 and hopes to boost his rating in this event in Amsterdam, Holland, next summer.

CROSS COUNTRY RACE TO BE RUN AT HOMECOMING

CUP PLANNED FOR FRAT HAVING FIRST THREE MEN FINISH

For the past several years plans have slowly been taking place for an annual cross-country race. Interest has been raised this year to such an extent that a race seems a certainty. At present only tentative plans have been made as to the entire race. At present plans call for this race to be held on Homecoming day and to make it an annual event from then on. Different teams will be entered from the organizations.

Instead of having the race so that one man will win for his group, the best three man team will be declared the winner or the first house organization that has three men across the finish line. This is to keep the group who has one good man from carrying off the honors. There will be no limit to the number of men entered as the more men the more competition and the greater interest aroused in the sport.

The race is to be held on the morning of homecoming day if the present plans work out, although no course has been mapped out but the finish is planned for the campus. No definite distance has as yet been selected for this race but it is probable that it will be between three and four miles. There are several ideal courses for this sort of a race that will test the speed and stamina of the contestants.

With a starting number of three men and as many more as care to run at

O. A. C. TO HAVE UNION BUILDING

An authentic account of the plans of the new Memorial Union building, which will be located in the center of the Oregon Agricultural College campus, was given recently in an issue of the O. A. C. Almanac.

The building will be the common meeting place for all alumni, for the students and for the faculty. It will be the center of recreational activities as well as of administration affairs.

The memorial feature is symbolized in the main entrance and the large vestibule which reaches from the main floor to the top of the pure white dome. The front cover is an art sketch of the main entrance of the building.

A mammoth carved stone fireplace, the gift of one end of the large main living room. This will be a common social meeting place in the years to come.

At least fifty men are expected to participate in this event and a suitable trophy will be awarded the winners. Any one desiring information should get in touch with J. E. Martie, head of the Physical Education department.

Will Rogers in a speech to Yale students used the subject, "Which is more beneficial to college, suicide or football?"

CENTER SOUGHT BY USC COACHES

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 2.—The problem of filling the center position left vacant by the graduation of Jeff Cravath is proving tougher than anticipated at Southern California and the beginning of school is still three weeks away.

Candidates for that place seem to be dwindling away. Allan Walker, freshman ball snapper, is reported to be ineligible while Tom McMahan, who was expected to be a valuable asset in this place is not expected to return to the Trojan camp. Lyle Baldrige, letterman sub for Cravath for two seasons, is said to have quit football.

Only one center prospect remains in John Fox, pivot man for the 1925 frosh team. Fox made a letter last year but got in as much playing time at tackle as at center. Fox was somewhat of a disappointment last year, appearing too slow for the roving type of game demanded under the Jones system.

There is considerable talk that Nathan Barragar, 1926 freshman fullback, will be converted into a center. Barragar is one of the best backfield prospects S. C. has ever had. He is heady, has weight and is fast, thus promising to be an ideal center.

FEW FRESHMEN OUT FOR HOCKEY

With only 35 women signed up for hockey at the end of the first week of the fall semester, the season starts with the less freshmen women enrolled than have formerly gone out for the sport.

The women's hockey season lasts six weeks, at the culmination of which will be held an interclass tournament during the week beginning October 3. Playing the round robin system, each team will meet each other team entered in the tournament, and the team winning the most games will be awarded a silver loving cup.

CLASS DAY IDEA SAW BEGINNING TEN YEARS AGO

FIELD DAY ADOPTED IN ACCORDANCE WITH NEWEST IDEAS

By EMILY RICHARDS

Tomorrow's field day celebrates not only the second field day in Nevada history, but will be the tenth anniversary of the original class day idea as a means of settling underclass difficulties.

Previous to the first class day, held in September 1918, sophomore-freshmen "night rushes" were the lively way in which the newcomers became acquainted with the second year men. These "rushes" extended over a period of a week or more and were more or less energetic affairs during which the townspeople complained of the noise, and mothers feared for their sons. The traditional poster rush was held in such a manner, and according to accounts in the "Brush" for those years, the participants not infrequently arrived in the Orr ditch.

Difficulties Met

Even the first attempt at a peaceful class day was not without its difficulties. According to the "Brush," following the cane rush both factions were heartily in favor of abolishing the tug of war, so that idea was dropped. But the excitement was not to end there. Several frosh grabbed one of the second year men and threw him in the Orr ditch. Then the melee broke loose, and could be stopped only when practically every man of both classes had been thrown in and their spirits thoroughly dampened. In spite of this however, the sophs showed up at the Gothic "N" dance with their canes and white vests, so for them, at least, the day ended happily.

Comment Made

Commenting on the introduction of the first class day which has evolved into tomorrow's field day, the editor of the Sagebrush for that year says: Nevada's first class day has been successfully carried out, thereby introducing a new order of class activity, a substituting of a newer and more modern program for an old, largely abandoned custom.

"That the class day plan as a whole, is a better way of starting the freshmen off on the right track of school activity, is held in doubt by a very few. Holding to our old customs of a week of night rushes, shows us to be years behind the majority of colleges in this matter."

So, as a part of Nevada history we have the inauguration of the class day idea in 1918, and the first class field day in 1926. On both of these days, the sophomores have been victorious.

MINERALS GIVEN MINES MUSEUM

An exceptionally fine collection of minerals was presented to the Mackay school of mines museum this summer by L. D. Gordon, former manager of the Cerro-Gordo mine.

The Cerro-Gordo mine is located near Owens Lake, and is famous for the rare minerals found here. During his years at the mine, Gordon collected many fine specimens, which are now in the cases in the museum.

A unique specimen of zinc and copper crystals formed on a zinc carbonate background has been named "The flight of birds" due to the etching of bluebirds in flight, formed by the crystals.

Sixty Beginners Sign For Tennis

Sixty women have signed up for tennis, this being the largest number ever to have gone out for this sport. Miss Weber states that there will be three coaching sections, one for beginners, one for intermediates and one for advanced players. The class teams will be chosen during the week of Oct. 10 and the interclass tournament will be held the last week of October.

Isabel Loring, '28, the tennis manager, plans to organize a club which will make tennis an interesting sport thru-out the entire year. Definite plans for this proposed club will be made very soon.

W. A. A. WILL HAVE CLUB ROOM IN SCHOOL GYM

The Women's Athletic Association have made arrangements for a club room in the second story of the gymnasium. Although it is still necessary that the classes be held in this room, the W. A. A. may call it its own for a club room and meeting place. The W. A. A. members are making plans enthusiastically for various improvements to be made in the room. The furnishings are to be donated and the work done entirely by the W. A. A. members.

TOM TOWLE IS ELECTED HEAD OF TRACK TEAM

RAYCRAFT CHOSEN TRACK MANAGER FOR THE 1928 SEASON

Tom Towle '29, for two years a letter man on the Nevada varsity track team and a member of the Wolf Pack football squad during the past season, was elected captain of the 1928 track team, at a meeting Monday afternoon of track men who won their letters last spring.

Homer Raycraft '29, was appointed track manager for the 1928 season, after two years of service on freshman and sophomore managerial staffs.

Excellent Record

Towle made an unusual record in athletics during his first two years at the University of Nevada. Entering as a freshman from the Manual Arts school of Los Angeles with an enviable list of prep school achievements, he demonstrated his ability on the cinder path by breaking the college record in the 120 yard high hurdles, cutting the time from 16 1-5 seconds to 15 4-5. Last season he again won the high sticks, winning first place both years in the Far Western Conference meet.

Although coming in for second place in the low hurdle race both years in the Conference meet, Towle unofficially broke the Nevada record for that event, and in several of the dual meets came in for easy victories in both the obstacle races.

Allen Understudy

In addition to track activities, Towle worked out during the past two football seasons. Last year he was understudy to Max Allen, captain of the Wolf Pack, and when the husky leader was forced out on account of injuries, Towle stepped in and ably filled the gap, checked the advance of the opposition, and consistently gained yardage when called on to carry the ball.

DANCING, CLOGGING ARE ADDED TO P. E. COURSE

Dancing and clogging, the regular P. E. 31 course has been offered to all women students for either University credits of W. A. A. points.

For a grade of 1 to 1.5 one hundred points will be awarded. Other points will be graded accordingly. A choice of 1-2 credit will be given if preferred.

The course is offered 2:15 on Tuesday and Thursday and there will probably be two other sections on 11:15 Monday and Wednesday and Tuesday and Thursday at either 11:25 or 1:15.

Frosh Insult Cords During First Laking

And thus runs the tale of the two dirty cords.

They flitted quickly, one pair after another, into the University of Nevada dining hall. Then they stopped. The cords rolled up disdainfully upon discovering two pairs of feet, pigeon-toed and shuffling with uncertainty, just below.

The two pairs of cords then settled themselves into creases of disdain, while waiting for the seemingly momentous decision of their wearers.

And one pair creaked to the other pair: "Aw, heck, why don't we stroll down to the senior table and sit?"

"I'm kinda wonderin' myself," squeaked back the other pair.

"I know the answer, now," squashed one pair of clean cords as it clambered out of the lake, on a wet and shaking freshman.

"So do I," squeaked back the other pair. "I'm not on a senior anyway," he sputtered sadly as he traveled up the driveway.

Co-Eds Archery Drill to Begin

A beginner's section of archery will soon begin practice in order to gain experience for the spring archery season.

Last spring the beginning section was too large to be taken care of conveniently, and the idea of fall practice is being tried in an attempt to cope with this emergency.

Seventeen women have signed up thus far, according to Mary Donohue '29, the archery manager.

"You say you were present when this man and his wife were engaged in a very violent quarrel?" inquired the magistrate of the witness.

"Yes, your honor," replied the man on the stand.

"What was he saying?"

"He wasn't saying anything, your honor."—American Legion Monthly.

PICTURES SHOW BIRD HOME ON PYRAMID LAKE

PELICANS SEEN AROUND NATIVE HAUNTS BY SCIENTISTS

The people of Reno were given a chance to see moving pictures of the pelicans at Pyramid Lake taken by scientists from the Milwaukee Museum, at the auditorium of the Education building last Tuesday evening. The pictures and program were thru the courtesy of Dr. B. A. Chapelle, head of the department of modern languages, who also gave a lecture during the showing of the pictures.

Anaho Island, on which there exists one of the largest pelican rookeries known, is six miles from the shore of the lake. It is very difficult to get to the island, and for that reason little is known of the strange birds. The scientists spent six weeks there, and took pains in securing the pictures in order to present the pelicans as they really are at home.

The primary purpose of the expedition was to obtain material for habitat groups in the Museum, of which there will be some four hundred, and of which the pelicans will form an important part.

The pelicans, because of their rarity, have long been of unusual interest to scientists and to the world at large. The birds found on Anaho Island are white, and have been discovered to possess some most unusual characteristics of building nests, etc.

Fishing is an art among these birds. On fishing days almost all the islanders gather in the lake, form a phalanx formation, and start for the fish. After a school of young minnows, chubs, and carp are located, they surround them, drive them into shore, and then help themselves.

This expedition is one of the many things that prove to the outside world that Nevada is something more than cowboys and rattlesnakes, and marks the beginning of Nevada's recognition in the outside world, according to the scientists who were members of the exploring party.

The wife (wearily): I've talked to you until I am worn out.

Her husband: Well, why not shut up for repairs?

MINES SCHOOL TO BE VISITED IN JOURNEY OF MISSISSIPPIANS

MISSISSIPPI GOVERNOR AMONG NOTABLES TO VISIT CAMPUS

200 VISITORS IN PARTY ON WESTERN TOUR OF FRIENDSHIP

Governor Dennis Murphee of Mississippi, and many other distinguished people of that state, have requested to be allowed to visit and inspect the Mackay school of mines tomorrow, when the "Know Mississippi Better" train passes through Reno, on its 1927 tour of the western states.

4 Hour Visit
The Mississippians have only four hours in Reno tomorrow morning, but they have chosen to spend the greater part of them on the University of Nevada Campus.

The school will be thrown open to these visitors who left Mississippi to start their inter-state tour, August 25, and will return September 10.

The new equipment has arrived, and the Mackay school will be in readiness to entertain the Mississippi people. Samples will be run through the mill, and all of the newly installed equipment will be demonstrated.

Bulletins Given
Mackay school of mines bulletins will be given the visitors with the hope that they will carry away a deep impression of this first class school, according to J. A. Fulton, director.

Harold Hughes, '25, assistant manager of the Reno Chamber of Commerce, will be in charge of the expedition, and the visitors will be shown through the various other buildings. The new Alice McManus Clark Memorial library will also be inspected.

200 Visitors in Group
The train will bring 200 visitors to the campus, a number of whom are college students, and all intent on making a friendlier spirit between their state and other states of the Union.

The itinerary of the tour runs thru Southern Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, California, Northern Nevada, Utah, Colorado, Kansas, and Missouri.

Club Has Men of Many Countries

In a recent Cosmopolitan Club organized at the College of Agriculture at Davis, California, nineteen countries are represented. The following nationalities are numbered in its membership: British, India, Mexico, Bolivia, Honduras, Guadalupe, San Salvador, Russia, China, Canada, Czechoslovakia, Egypt, Syria, Isle of Guernsey, Columbia, South Africa, Greece, Switzerland and England.

RECENT FACULTY CHANGES MADE

Several changes in the faculty were made this week at a meeting of the board of regents, according to Dr. Walter E. Clark, president of the university.

Miss Marjorie Ohman, a graduate of the university two years ago, has been selected to aid in the home economics department. Professor Sarah Lewis, of the home economics department, was granted a leave of absence for this semester. Miss Ohman has been teaching for the last two years at the high school at Pruneda.

Miss Jean Mohr has been selected as technician for the state hygienic laboratory. She received her B. A. Degree in bacteriology at the university of California.

A change has been made in the comptroller's office due to the resignation of Mrs. T. W. Bath, who for a number of years has been engaged as an assistant. Alice Terry, formerly secretary in the college of Agriculture, will fill the vacancy.

Mrs. Peterson was elected as an assistant in the department of chemistry for the first semester.

UNIVERSITY BAND NEEDS MEMBERS

According to Professor Kent, there are three times as many fresh out for the band this year than there have ever been in previous years. Kent also states that two or three more cornet players and drummers are needed.

The band owns several bass and alto horns which will be furnished, as well as instructions, to anyone who wishes to come out for the band.

In addition to playing at the regular Friday morning military classes, the band will also play at various public functions and at the football games.

OBERLIN, Ohio.—The absent-minded professor is no longer a thing simply one of the younger professors of Oberlin college entered a barber shop here and, standing before a mirror, started to undress. He discovered his error when he looked for a chair on which to hang his shirt.

LAKE RECEIVES FIRST FRESHMEN

The breaking of campus traditions caused five erring freshmen to be initiated into the cold waters of Manzanita lake Tuesday, August 30.

Promptly at one o'clock, curious spectators beheld a group of jean-clad Sophomores and shouting juniors gathering behind the Aggie building. Burney Baker, James Armstrong, Walter Wilson, Ted Layman and Fred Morrison were named as victims, and after the preliminary "on-two-three" were hurled squirming into the lake.

Burney Baker rose to sudden glory when, after much troublesome wriggling, he managed to drag in Marshal Just, one of his Sophomore tormentors, and both appeared crawling up the banks, dripping with slime and mud.

HOSPITAL STAFF ANNOUNCE HOURS

Dr. M. A. Robinson, who has for several years been the physician for the University hospital, is back again this year, and has announced Miss Phoebe Tabbett, who was here last year, as his nurse. The hospital is open at all times, and Dr. Robinson is in attendance from four till five every afternoon.

No patients are as yet recorded, despite the fact that football season has started.

CLUB PLANS FOR LIVE AGGIE DAY

Rumors that there would be no Aggie Day this year on account of the exposition, were disqualified when the Board of Directors of the Farm Bureau met with the Aggie Club and plans were formed for a "bigger and better than ever" Aggie Day this fall.

In addition to the open-for-all horse shoe tournament there will be a three cornered match between two teams apiece from Lassen county, Washoe county and the University faculty, according to Lee Burge, '29, president of the Aggie Club. An Aggie dance will be given in the evening after the Nevada-Santa Clara football game.

Picnic Planned
Plans were also discussed at the meeting Wednesday night for a moonlight picnic to be held at Bowers Mansion on September 17th. Those appointed on the committee were L. Fox '30, K. Mergen '30 and T. Genasci '29.

A special meeting will be held next Wednesday night when final plans for the picnic and Aggie Day will be announced. All students registered in Home Economics or Agriculture are welcome at all Aggie Club meetings, according to Burge.

CAMPUS SHOWS MANY CHANGES

Old students returning to the campus have noticed considerable improvements in the grounds. The debris of lumber and other building materials that were scattered around the Clark Memorial Library last semester, have been changed to green lawns around both entrances. A new lawn has been planted in front of Artemisia Hall, and a grass pathway in the rear of Artemisia.

An improvement in the way of a cement basement has been added to the old Hatch Station at the northern end of the campus. Other changes and improvements to take place in the future are not definite as yet, according to J. B. Lynch, superintendent of grounds.

MIDDLETOWN, Conn.—Beginning with the class of 1931, graduates of Wesleyan university will be granted only A. B. degrees, the degrees of Bachelor of Science and Bachelor of Philosophy having been abolished for the future.

OFFICERS ELECTED
The new officers of the Cosmopolitan Club are F. S. Louie '28, president; Alpha Pierson '28, Secretary and Michele Derico '29, treasurer. A meeting of this club will be held in the near future to make plans for the following year.

"I'm thinking of a trip to Europe."
"Really, old man, you can't afford that. You're not accustomed to that sort of thing."
"I merely said I was thinking of it. I can afford to think, can't I?"
"No; that's what I mean. You're not accustomed to thinking."
