Nevada Players Plan Five Plays For Presentation During Semester

"Mask and Dagger" to Present Feature Production

"The Old Soak" To Be First Offering This Year

Five full length plays, the largest program ever offered by Campus Players, have been decided upon for this semester to complete the 1928-29 season. The plays range from recent comedies to modern dramas.

The first play to be presented was to have been "Take My Advice," a recent New York comedy by Elliott Lester. But owing to the inability to get this play, "The Old Soak" by Don Marquis will be substituted.

The second production of the semester will be a modern English drama, "Outward Bound," by Sutton Vane, which will be given by the play production class. The play will be given March 7 and 8 at the Education building auditorium. The play is one of the most original dramas written during the last few years and has been successfully presented all over the country, particularly by the University of California and the Dallas, Texas Little Theatre.

"Mary, Mary, Quite Contrary," an English comedy by St. John Ervine, will be given on April 4 and 5 in the Education Auditorium. The author is one of the most important living dramatists, having written "John Ferguson" and "Jane Clegg." Theatre Guild plays. He has recently served as dramatic critic on a New York newspaper. The play will be a Mask and Dagger production, the first one at Nevada. It is hoped to duplicate the success of the Berkeley Playhouse which presented the comedy a year ago.

Old Play

One of the most interesting items in the series of plays to be offered is "After Dark," or "Nether Wife, Widow or Maid." This old play is the work of Dion Boucicault, one of the early American dramatists. It was first presented in 1868 at Wallack's Theatre, New York and the same year in London. It will be given in the old style manner with candle footlights, old wigs, painted scenery, and an honest and truly locomotive which almost destroys the hero who is tied across the tracks.

The play is now running in Hoboken, New Jersey, under the direction of Christopher Morley. It will be presented by the play production class as a historical experiment. Laughs galore that the author never intended are promised. The play will be given April 18 and 19 in the Education building.

On May 3 at the Granada Theatre the annual Senior Class Play will be presented. "Love-in-a-Mist" by Amelia Rives and Gilbert Emery, and "The Barker," by Kynyon Nicholson are the tentative selections. A definite decision will be reached within several weeks. It is planned to tour the state with the play.

Other Campus Players activities for this semester will be the Shakespearean Reading Contest and the One-Act Play Contest to be given as part of the Nevada High School Forensic League Tournament held in March. The Annual Campus Players Banquet and Dance will complete the social program.

698 Register For Spring Term In First Four Days Enrollment Is Behind That of Last Semester

With 698 students completing registration during the first week of college, enrollment total for this semester is lagging slightly behind that of last year.

The 72 registration coupons which have not yet been filed with the registrar will bring the number of students to 770. If there are as many late registrations as in former years the figure will exceed 800 by a considerable margin.

The proportion of men and women students seems to remain approximately the same year after year. This semester there are 406 men and 292 women registered, as compared with 410 men and 301 women of last semester.

46 New Students

Up to yesterday afternoon 46 new students had enrolled and 31 students who had been out of college for one or more semesters.

With the routine of registration progressing more rapidly than before, the registrar's office is beginning the work of classifying the students according to school, class and residence.

WOMEN GIVEN HIGHER RATING ON HONOR ROLL THIS SEMESTER

BETA DELTAS CAPTURE HONORS AMONG SORORITIES

GENERAL AVERAGE FOR STUDENT BODY HAS INCREASED

When the scholarship committee met last Monday night and approved the work completed during the holidays by Dean Maxwell Adams, who each year prepares the scholarship averages and the honor roll, they paved the way for many and several surprises Tuesday morning.

The University department was agreeably surprised to find that the general scholastic average for the student body had increased over the mark reached in many years. This was indicated not only in higher averages for both men and women students but in the fact that out of the entire group but sixteen students had been disqualified for deficiency in work taken during the 1928 fall semester.

Women Higher

Women students, taken as a whole, obtained a higher average than did the men, which was probably not surprising to the men for such has been the case for many years. The general average for the coeds was 2.3134 while the men fell several points lower with an average of 2.2670. The average for the entire student body was 2.5407.

Furnishing a surprise to some of the more ambitious sororities, the Beta Deltas held the lead with an average of 2.020. Lincoln Hall Association again took high honors among the men's organizations with an average of 2.3112.

Forty-two students received grades of 1.55 or better and secured places on the honor roll. Leading in this group was Alden Sibley '32, with the high average of 1.13 in slightly over sixteen hours of engineering work. Elizabeth Johnstone '31 placed second with an average of 1.17, while Verdie Fant '30 took third with an average of 1.21.

Jackson Outstanding

Perhaps the most outstanding member of the honor roll was Thomas Jackson who received an average of 1.36 for 22½ hours of engineering work done mostly in senior subjects. Jackson is majoring in engineering and will finish his course this semester.

Following are the standings of the various organizations and the individual averages of those who placed on the honor roll:

NEVADA'S CAGE CAPTAIN

Captain "Jake", Nevada's fighting Irishman, is slated to show cage followers some class basketball when he leads his men against the hoopsters from San Jose tonight. Lawlor is not only one of the scrappiest defensive men on the coast, but he is also a clever floor worker who usually starts the offensive thrusts for the Nevada quintet.

Clarence Mackay Thanks Students For Expression

Acknowledges Letter and Signatures of Student Body

The following letter has been received at the A. S. U. N. office, from Clarence H. Mackay, acknowledging receipt of the letter of thanks and signatures sent to him by members of the student body in appreciation of his most recent gifts.

"I have received with gratification your communication of the 17th written in behalf of the Associated Students of the University of Nevada. I have also received the scroll of signatures, which came by the same mail.

"It gives me real pleasure to have this tribute from the Associated Students, in acknowledgement of the work that my dear mother and myself have tried to do for the University. I can only say that the unflinching response that I have always had from the students has well rewarded me for whatever I have done, and to feel that I have been able, perhaps, to accomplish something constructive for future generations is a source of the greatest satisfaction to me.

"I am, with good wishes to all the members of the Associated Students,

Yours faithfully,
Clarence H. Mackay."

Cage Scholastic Average Is High

The thirteen men who compose the first string of the varsity basketball team made a scholastic average of 2.62. While this is a little below the student body average, it is slightly better than the men's average, which is 2.268.

One of the most significant facts about this average is that these thirteen men are almost all letter men in one other sport besides basketball, this being mainly football. The basketball team is holding its own in both the sport and in the scholastic endeavors and deserve plenty of credit for their work, for basketball is a long, tiresome grind, even requiring the squad to give up its Christmas vacation and work hard twice a day to get into the best of trim for the season.

Students are not allowed to take their autos into the University of Texas campus.

CAPT. LAWLOR STANDS OUT AS GREAT ATHLETE

JAKE HAS PLAYED GOOD FOOTBALL AND BASKETBALL

Captain "Butch" Lawlor, fighting leader of the Nevada Pack, of the maple floor, is a good proof of the ancient wise crack about the "right man in the right job." No better captain for a battling squad could be asked for.

"Butch" came to these halls of learning three years ago and proceeded to show his athletic prowess by making the varsity football team in his first semester. At that time he made a berth for himself at tackle and has held it against all comers through three seasons.

Point Gainer

With the same fight and ability which distinguished him on the gridiron the husky Irishman went out and got himself a job on the basketball team. Not only that, he started in his first year Jake was second only to Monk Morrison in the number of points gained from dropping the leather through the hoop.

Last season Butch was an outstanding player on the Wolf team; was distinguished for his deadly eye and his ability to break up the plays on the defense. He always remembers that there are four other men on the floor and plays ball with them.

Natural Leader

He has the qualities of a natural leader, a thorough knowledge of the game and a cool head on the floor. His value to the team was shown in the series with Stanford two weeks ago. It is no alibi to state that the loss of Jake was keenly felt in the second game.

Besides being a star on the gridiron and court he is a pitcher of no mean ability and for the last two years has hurled the Sigma Nu nine to two championships in the interfraternity baseball league.

Aggie Grad Will Receive New Post

Clarence Thornton, a graduate of the College of Agriculture with the class of '26, leaves Saturday night for Alliance, Ohio. He will take a position as agriculturalist with the Utilities Service Company of that city. Mr. Thornton has been the county agricultural agent of Washoe county. A large increase in salary comes as an additional reward in his new work.

Columbia University has one of the largest wooden stadiums in the country. A new addition increased the seating capacity to 40,000.

New Rules Will Govern Rushing This Semester

Pen Hellenic Council Presents Sorority Regulations

Sorority rushing this semester will be confined to those women who have been here at least one semester, and who have made at least a 2.5 average in their work.

Panhellenic officers, meeting near the end of last semester, formed a set of rules governing sorority rushing with a view toward more careful selection of pledge-members, the raising of sorority scholarship, and the prevention of wild rushing of new women which has always resulted in inattentiveness to college work during the first three weeks of school.

Rules Given Out

Sets of the new Panhellenic rules were handed to all new women at the University this week, and according to Alice Lunsford, president of the Panhellenic Council, and Miss Margaret E. Mack, Dean of Women, it is expected that the new regulations, together with alterations and additions which will probably be made this semester or next, will result in a more sane and well-regulated rushing season each year than has heretofore been known.

New Panhellenic Rules, 1929

1. All rules shall apply to alumnae and inactive people as well as to active chapters.
2. A letter is to be sent to all freshmen women the first of each semester. Dean of Women, Miss Margaret E. Mack, and President of Panhellenic Council, Alice Lunsford, will give information to Freshmen on subjects pertaining to rushing, sororities, and college life in general.
3. That a Panhellenic Tea be given to all new women the beginning of each semester.
4. No Freshman girl (or girls) are to go out in same cars with sorority girls; or on same dates.
5. Sorority women are to be friendly with Freshmen girls—on campus—in campus activities—Manzanita parlors—(this excludes visiting homes or in rooms of either dormitory or in any other place of contact other than on the campus).
6. Sorority women are on their word of honor not to discuss sorority before actual rushing begins.
7. Freshmen girls must make at least a 2.5 average before they can be pledged.

Ellen Harrington, who graduated from the University last semester, is now teaching in the Lyon County High school at Dayton, replacing Miss Elsie Mitchell who on January 2 was married to Nevil North, both of the University.

WOLF QUINTET NOW PREPARED TO BATTLE SAN JOSE TEACHERS

STANFORD GAMES SHOW STRENGTH OF NEVADA

NEVADA MEETS SAN JOSE FOR FIRST TIME THIS YEAR

With the Stanford series safely passed in the same manner basketball team, under the guidance of J. E. "Doc" Martie, and led by Captain "Jake" Lawlor, has spent a solid week of hard practice in preparation for the invading horde from the San Jose State Teachers College tonight and tomorrow night.

The San Jose Teachers are new on the Nevada schedule but the Wolf Pack has heard enough about them already to throw fear into the heart of any basketball team. Boasting of six veterans from last year's championship team and a host of new material Coach "Mac" MacDonald is bringing to Reno a cage machine which has been acclaimed as the best in years by San Jose fans.

Team Strong

San Jose started the present season off in the same manner that Nevada did with a victory and a loss against Stanford. Both games were early season contests and neither team showed any exceptional brand of basketball. Stanford had little trouble in turning the Teachers back to the tune of 27 to 18 in the first tangle. Following a week of strenuous practice on the part of both aggregations the San Jose bunch again journeyed to Stanford and nosed out the Cards by a one point margin. Despite the fact that Tampeke, sensational sophomore guard of the Stanford cagers, netted 10 points alone, the Cardinals could not overcome the huge lead that San Jose piled up in the first half and were forced to bow to a 25-24 defeat.

Maloney Leads

Leading the San Jose aggregation is Captain Tom Maloney, stellar forward. Maloney is a lanky lad and possesses a dead eye for the basket. Add to this the fact that he is a consistent scorer and the danger of letting such a man loose on the floor is evident. Pairing with Maloney in the forward positions is O'Dell, who hails from Oakdale High school, where he played exceptional basketball. O'Dell is new this year to the San Jose lineup but he has done his share in the way of thrills by sinking numerous long shots time and again.

Center Large

At the center position Coach MacDonald figures on starting Dan Linstedt who held the pivot position last year. Don Fowler, who tops the six-foot mark, has been pressing Linstedt hard for center and it will not be surprising in the least to see him play a goodly part of the game at the jump position. "Bill" Hubbard, captain of the 1927-28 basketball team and Carl Coleman, will take care of the guard positions for the Spartans. Hubbard is a big strapping fellow and is considered the main cog in the San Jose defense, while Coleman is a wiry little player but just as dangerous when it comes to breaking up the offensive drives of opposing teams.

Along with this array of formidable stars Coach MacDonald is bringing a bunch of strong reserves headed by "Sammy" Reed and "Lucky" Laws. Reed, it is said, plays a whale of a floor game while Laws is the equal of either Hubbard or Coleman as far as defensive work is concerned.

"Doc" Undaunted

Undaunted by such startling reports concerning the power of the San Jose team "Doc" Martie and his band of cagers have gone quietly to work with the idea of defeating the Spartans in both games. "Doc" admits that the games tonight and tomorrow will be plenty hard to win but then he takes to Martie's viewpoint. According to all of his games serious, no game is a set-up for any team, no matter how weak the opponent may be. And maybe that is one reason why "Doc" turns out so many winning teams.

Hopes Strengthened

Before the two Stanford games the Wolf Pack strength was an unknown quantity and doubt was expressed over every side as to this season's possibilities. After the Pack displayed mid-season form against the Cards, hopes for a successful season were strengthened considerably. Tonight's game and the contest tomorrow night should serve to increase these hopes.

Same Squad

In all probabilities Martie will start the same bunch that took the floor against Stanford except for "Tony" Poloni, who is not back in school this semester. Such a lineup will see Captain "Jake" Lawlor and "Jim" Bailey at the guard positions, "Goon" Gilmarin at center, "Lin" Hainer and "Tip" Whitehead at the forward positions. This aggregation has been showing up well so far this season but have been pressed hard by the numerous reserves now working out and which number in the neighborhood of an even dozen.

Lawlor Seen

"Mike" Lawlor arrived at the start of the week and has been practicing regularly with the squad. Mike is fast rounding into shape and should see plenty of action this season. Nevada's ardor was dampened somewhat at the

PACIFIC COLLEGES LEAD IN STUDENT FREEDOM MOVEMENT

LACK OF AMATEURISM IN UNIVERSITIES DEPLORED

"Organization of student government in the Pacific coast region is more complete than in any other section in the United States," is the observation made by Kelley Lyon as the result of his attendance at the recent convention of the National Students' Federation of America on December 12, 13, 14 and 15 at the University of Missouri, Columbia. "Student opinion seems less restricted and student control more extensively practiced."

Fires Free

Lyon's trip by plane was made through the courtesy of the Boeing Air Transport, which furnished him free transportation to Chicago and return on the air mail route. Stops were made at Elko, Salt Lake City, Rock Springs and Cheyenne, Wyo.; North Platte, Neb.; Des Moines and Iowa City, Ia., and Chicago.

After the convention Lyon visited the following institutions: Simpson College, Indianola, Ia.; Drake University, Des Moines, Ia., and Iowa University at Iowa City; the University of Chicago and the Northwestern University at Chicago. Here he met two former Nevada students, Wayne Webb and Bob Blackman, members of the Kappa Lambda fraternity, and now pro-military students at Northwestern. During these visits Lyon studied library conditions and discussed student problems with the student leaders and deans.

Strongly Organized

The western group of delegates was very strongly organized and this spirit of fellowship and friendship was a topic of comment at the conference. This co-operation had been developed through the activities of the Pacific Student Presidents' Association. A Western man, Urel C. Narver, previous regional chairman of the far west, was elected president of the federation for 1929, when the convention will be held next December on the Stanford campus in California.

The theme of the convention was "What is College Leading To?" As a convention, President Lyon states that the meeting was very successful, though rather quiet on the social side because of the flu. There were present 150 official delegates from the United States and Canada. The delegates were all handled by the sorority and fraternity houses in spite of the fact that the university was closed because of the epidemic.

Many Problems

Problems of student government, honor system, militarism, foreign relations were dealt with by discussion groups, in addition to many open forums of the entire attendance of delegates. Lectures and moving pictures of the delegates of the International Students' Confederation and of the European trip were part of the program. During the convention such speakers as Dr. Stratton D. Brooks, president of the University of Missouri; Governor Sam Baker of Missouri; Hecker, dean of men at the University of Missouri; and Dean J. R. Jewel of Oregon State College and former dean of the Floating College talked to the delegates on college matters.

Militarism Contested

One of the most interesting and hotly contested subjects was militarism, with the pacifists and "so-called" militarists stoutly upholding their views. Concerning athletics, the lack of uniformity of definition of amateurism throughout the country was deplored, and the following resolution was adopted: "That N. S. F. A. commence agitation for a committee chosen from students, athletic directors, coaches and experts to meet and draw up a new and practical athletic code which may be adopted by conferences and individual institutions throughout the country; and that this code having been adopted, all institutions having adopted it should boycott, in athletics, institutions refusing to adopt it."

Bob Behlow, student president of the University of Southern California, was elected regional director of the far west. In this position Behlow has charge of all federation activities in each of the colleges of California, Nevada, Utah, Oregon, Washington, Arizona, Idaho, New Mexico, Colorado, Wyoming and Montana.

SAGEBRUSH MEETING

A meeting will be held in room 110, Education Building, for all old members of the Sagebrush staff, and for anyone wishing to try out for staff this semester, at 4:15 Monday afternoon. It is very important that all members of the staff be there as some important changes will be discussed by the editor.

Student Body cards must be presented at the door to gain admittance at basketball games.

Education Head Makes Visit To Bay Institutes

Miss Sameth Attends Two Meetings in California

On December 20, 21 and 22, Miss Jessie Sameth, head of the Women's Physical Education Department, attended the conference of the Directors of Physical Education, held at Stanford University. The conference is held about this time every year and is the western division of the national organization of the Physical Education Directors. There is also an eastern and mid-western division.

At Conference Early
Miss Sameth started for the conference a little early in order that she might attend the Institute of P. E. instructors of the Bay region held in Oakland on December 14th. At the institute Miss Sameth saw two exceptionally good demonstrations of physical education. One was a dancing program given by high school girls, and the other was a demonstration of gymnastics, tumbling and apparatus work given by high school boys. Miss Sameth also attended a pageant given under the auspices of the Oakland Playground at the Oakland Auditorium on December 14th. The children taking part ranged from three to eighteen years of age and were said to be exceptionally well costumed for the characters they portrayed.

Dr. Barton of the University of Chicago lectured both at the bay region and at the conference at Stanford. He talked about methods in goals of teaching and of measuring results by achievements. Miss Sameth says he touched on two of the most vital questions of methods of education.

Dr. Thomas Storey, formerly director of physical education at the College of the City of New York, now holding the same position at Stanford University, lectured on physical education as a course and its importance.

Each year the western division of the national organization of Physical Education Directors takes some problem to work out. This year the problem is to try to state specifically the objectives for each physical education course. The head of each P. E. department will formulate to the best of his ability the objectives according to his viewpoint and will send them to the chairman at the University of Oregon who will exchange the objectives with each other Pacific coast colleges and in this way try to work out some more or less uniform purpose and classification for the various sports. This will probably be done through certain tests and averages.

Students Desire To Waive Edict

Corvallis, Ore.—(BIP)—Smoking in the new Memorial Union building has caused a heated discussion among students, faculty and alumni of the Oregon State College. Students maintain that the individual character of the building should allow for waiving of the campus edict against smoking.

Dr. W. J. Kern, president of the college has made a three-day study of the situation and has decided that smoking is permissible in the men's lounges and individual offices of the building.

GEOLOGY PROFS ARE BACK FROM NEW YORK MEET

PROF. JONES PRESENTS PAPER BEFORE LARGE AUDIENCE

Dr. J. C. Jones and Professor V. P. Giannella of the Mackay School of Mines have returned from a joint meeting of the Geological Society of America and Section E of the American Association for the Advancement of Science at New York City, where between 10,000 and 12,000 scientists and 350 geologists gathered.

On the fourth day of the meeting Dr. Jones presented a paper on Lake Lahontan and the last three stages of a large number of lakes that have come and gone in Nevada during and since the glacial period.

Several interesting points were proved: one, being the fact that Walker Lake never dried up. Salts, deposited by a lake when it dries up are absorbed by the mud so that when another lake occupies the valley, only sodium chloride is available to be dissolved. Consequently, the composition of the lake as to whether it has redissolved any salt can be judged.

It is definitely known that Walker Lake became a part of Lake Lahontan less than 1,000 years ago. In deposits there, remains of elephants, camels, and horses that must have been living at that time, have been found. Therefore it is proved that these animals lived in historic times instead of prehistoric times as was originally thought.

Professor Giannella who was in the audience while the paper was being delivered, and heard the discussions which followed, states that it was very favorably received and accepted.

On their return trip, Professor Giannella and Dr. Jones visited his father and sister, and his friend Ronald Chamberlain at the University of Chicago. Professor Giannella visited his friend U. S. Grant, who is the professor of geology at Northwestern University.

XMAS BREAKFAST GIVEN BY LEACH

IDEA OF ENTERTAINMENT INAUGURATED BY DEAN

Following their usual custom, Dean and Mrs. Leach entertained a number of the men at breakfast on Christmas morning in the library at Lincoln Hall. This entertainment is of the Prof's own origination, for those more or less unfortunate students who are forced to remain away from home and miss all the other Christmas gaiety which would be theirs if it were possible for them to do otherwise.

A half dozen of the fellows were the guests this time, and while they were cramming down the sausages and hot corn-bread, President Kelly Lyon appeared all at once fresh from his airplane ride across the country. The breakfast immediately held his interest, but his chances for any were rather slim due to the appetites of the others and the character of the meal. Favorable comments were many in number, and Prof was even invited to take over the govt-house by one individual.

What becomes of molasses taffy when an only son eats it? It vanishes into the empty heir (air).

LIVING QUARTERS ARE INADEQUATE

47 MEN TURNED AWAY FROM LINCOLN HALL

"The urgent need for more room is becoming more acute from year to year," says Dean Leach, Master of Lincoln Hall. The dormitory has been full for five years up to last semester when it was crowded to 97 occupants in an effort to retain a few more of those who would otherwise be turned away. The scheme has been tried again this semester with double-deck beds in trying to cram in an even hundred. Despite these efforts however, it seems likely that the number will remain the same, since any further additions thereafter threaten to squeeze some of the present residents out of the windows.

47 Turned Away
After various efforts were expended last semester in attempts to increase the living accommodations, it was found that 47 men still had to be turned away. This meant the loss of nearly $1800 in hard cash. This semester again is the witness of further turning of funds from the University to outside institutions. Thirty applications for residence were made, many accompanied by money. A lot of it must actually be refunded to the applicant, who must live down town or at some frat house.

Scholarship High
The Dean declared that the disadvantage of this situation is shown by Lincoln Hall's scholarship record for the past four semesters. He has decided that such consistency is not luck and he goes on to say that the rank of dormitories over fraternal organizations is consistently held throughout the country in other schools and universities.

He presents the argument in this way. The University women are allowed two dormitories even if they are unable to fill them. The men should be allowed two also, since they can easily fill them at once.

School Board to Zone State For Athletic Games

Block "N" May Not Manage School Tourney

A resolution favoring the zoning of State of Nevada for the purpose of school athletic contests was passed by the Nevada Council of School Administration when it met in Reno in October.

It also went on record as favoring the creation and active functioning of a State Athletic Association composed of and controlled by the principals of the high schools of the State or their representatives. This would mean that the management of high school basketball tournaments held annually at Reno would probably be taken out of the hands of the Block "N" society of the University.

The first of these resolutions has since been adopted by the high schools of the state. The second is still under consideration.

Another recommendation of interest to students was that adequate legislation for the maintaining of junior-high schools in the State of Nevada be made. It recommended that junior high schools be placed on the same basis as to courses of study and adoption of textbooks as are the high schools now operating within the state.

Coach Jim Wray of Cornell University has 48 freshmen rowing candidates towering six feet or more among his latest squad of 100 aspiring oarsmen.

Y. W. SECRETARY WILL VISIT HERE

"What Other Campuses Are Doing and Thinking" and "Religion on the Campus" will, in all probability, be among the topics discussed by Miss Helen Price, visiting secretary from the Asilomar Division of the Y. W. C. A., who will arrive in Reno on Monday, January 14, for a brief visit of three or four days.

Miss Price will speak at a supper-meeting at the downtown Y. W. C. A. headquarters on Wednesday evening, January 16, at 6 p. m. Everyone is cordially invited to attend this meeting. A nominal fee of 35 cents will be charged for supper.

Plans are also being made whereby Miss Price will meet with the members of the Y. W. C. A. cabinet every night during her stay in Reno, for the purpose of offering suggestions and advice for the coming semester. It is hoped that much will be gained, in this way, toward making Y. W. C. A. one of the most active organizations on the campus.

Orchestra Will Broadcast Over Local Radio KOH

Department Outlines Extensive Year of Work

The music department of the University expects to be very active this semester under the direction of Prof. Post. Several activities have already been planned, and a busy semester is assured. The University-Community Little Symphony, an orchestra made up of University and Community Players, will broadcast over KOH early this semester. The program will consist of selections from Tchaikowski's "Nutcracker Suite" and Schubert's compositions. The arrangements have already been made with the radio station, but the date has not been definitely settled as the orchestra is just getting organized after the vacation. This orchestra will be remembered for its performance in conjunction with the opera "King Nutcracker," which was presented last semester.

Reorganized
The Men's Glee Club is now reorganizing, and are planning three primary activities for this semester. They plan to present a joint concert with the California Aggies in Sacramento. They also will present an original opera this spring which will be composed and produced by members of the Glee club alone. Besides this they will go on their annual spring trip to northern and eastern Nevada. The Girl's Glee club will also broadcast over KOH in the near future, and they hope to take a few trips to neighboring cities.

Concerts Planned
The University band is planning to give concerts in cities outside of Reno with the idea of visiting Nevada high schools and creating greater interest in band work. Considerable new music has been added to the band library, and the books of marches have been reorganized and new selections have been added.

All of these organizations reorganize at the beginning of each semester and a few new members are admitted. There is an especially good opportunity at the present time for people interested in band and orchestra work.

Profs Denounce Minnesota Paper

UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA, Minneapolis.—Pedagogues, assistant pedagogues and plain instructors of the English department as a group think little of student publications. Pointless news articles written in bad style and helter-skelter editorials indicative of no consistent policy is the indictment against the Minnesota Daily. Most of the feature articles are pointless, declare a number of the faculty.

Only two Americans, W. J. Travis and Jesse Sweetster, ever won the British amateur title and only one Briton, Harold Hilton in 1911, ever won the American amateur title.

GRID STAR OF NEVADA BUILDS WINNING TEAM

"SPUD" HARRISON MAKES RECORD AT HAWAII UNIVERSITY

Favorable and enthusiastic reports come from Hawaii concerning "Spud" Harrison, who was prominent on the Nevada campus, and graduated with the class of 1925. He came to Hawaii with the Olympic football team after he graduated, remaining there to become widely known for his good work in the promotion of island sports in general, and toward the development at the University of Hawaii in particular.

Prominent Athlete
Harrison has been prominent in athletics since he was in Reno high school being an active participant in the four major sports there. In his junior year he was captain of the basketball team and while a senior he headed the football team.

It was at the University of Nevada, however, that "Spud" really gained his first real athletic successes. During his four years on the campus he played basketball, football, and was on the track team. He was elected basketball captain in his third year, at which time he played center on the squad. During his last year on the hill he was captain of the football team. This was the year Nevada beat California in the last two minutes of play. Harrison's greatest satisfaction was derived from the tie game with California in 1923, which he asserts was "the hardest game he ever played in."

Broad Jumper
While at the University, "Spud" also broad jumped and threw the discuss. He equalled the record for the broad jump, 22 feet 3 1/4 inches, when he was on the Nevada track team, and held the state record for that event while attending high school.

After graduation, he joined the Olympic Club, and played end on the team the year that the Olympics beat California. He went with the team to Hawaii where he is located at present. There he not only played with the town team, but coached the Oahu Blue football team. In the 1927 season he first began coaching the University of Hawaii basketball team; that year was a championship year for them. He has also put out championship track teams and since this former Nevada has been connected with Hawaii, the teams there have been forging ahead by leaps and bounds.

Smoker "J" Awaiting Loved One

Jamesburg, N. J., December 2, 1927
Jest a-sittin', smokin' Edgeworth
An' a-thinkin', dear of you;
An' a candle's burnin' brightly,
An' it says your love is true.
For the days are long, of waitin',
An' the nights are longer still,
An' sometimes (always smokin')
I pick up this old quill—
An' try to write some poetry
To tell you of my love.
As poetry it ain't much good,
But—holy days above—
It's jest the best I can, an' so
You'll find me, when I'm through.
Jest a-sittin', smokin' Edgeworth,
An' a-thinkin', dear, of you.

Track Outlook Said Good For Coming Season

Many of Last Year's Letter Men to Don Suits

With one meet definitely scheduled for the 1929 season, and some others to be arranged later, prospects for another successful track season are very favorable. A dual contest with San Jose is already arranged, and the Far Western conference and perhaps some other meets will probably be scheduled later. Coach "Doc" Martie also intends to keep the date of the West Coast relays meet open, so it will be possible to enter one or more relay teams, if conditions permit.

Many Old Men
Last year's championship team is practically intact, and with the old men and some promising new material "Doc" expects to turn out another group of cinder artists which will cop the Far Western cup again. However, competition this year will be somewhat stronger than last, with Chico and San Jose in the conference. Chico, while not exceptionally strong, has several good individual performers who may cut into Nevada's points, and San Jose has a strong aggregation.

Clover Lost
The loss of Clover from last year's squad will be felt keenly, but his running mates, Lohse and H. Bailey, are both good performers, and will account for their share of points in the distance events. Ferguson's absence will also leave a gap, but some promising new material and the development of several other men may take care of the quarter-mile situation. Leavitt's place in the pole vault will be ably filled by O'Hara, and lettermen will be back in every other event.

Cardinals Go On Special to Game

Stanford University.—(PIP)—A special Southern Pacific train carried Pop Warner's gridlers, rooters and alumni to New York for the Army game on December 1. The Stanfordites left San Francisco at 1:20 a. m. Sunday, November 25, the morning following the "big game." The special arrived in New York on November 28. The return trip was started on December 2, the train arriving in San Francisco December 6.

FROSH QUINTET BATTLES TEAMS OF RENO CLUBS

YEARLINGS MEET WILSON CUBS IN PRELIM ON FRIDAY

A real test as to its basketball prowess awaits the University of Nevada Frosh team when it engages Wilson Cubs tonight in the University gymnasium as a preliminary to the San Jose-Nevada contest.

Boasting of a group of exceptional players, Tim Wilson is pitting his men against the Frosh with the view of adding that name to the list of those over whom the Cubs have already won. During the past vacation the Wilson aggregation engaged many of the high school teams in and around Reno and defeated them all in fairly easy manner.

Friday, December 28, the Frosh had little difficulty in downing Carson High school 28 to 14. Coach "Chet" Scranton was forced to pick up a team and organize it from the Frosh who remained in Reno over the vacation. With six men constituting his squad Scranton proceeded to take on Virginia City High school the following night and succeeded in barely nosing out the prep school cagers 11 to 10.

For the past week Coach Scranton has had a number of Frosh varying from 10 to 25 out for practice and although the time has been short he has built a fairly creditable organization. It is altogether probable that the Wilson Cubs will be the hardest game that the yearlings will have to play and both Scranton and the team members are doubtful about a Nevada win.

Museum Receives New Collection

The Mackay Museum has received a very interesting collection of aluminum silicate minerals from Mr. Philip Hoyt of Las Vegas, New Mexico. The material consists of specimens of cyanite, andalusite, and dumortierite gathered from all known localities in the United States.

These minerals are used in the ceramic industry, and are in demand for the manufacture of refractory brick. Mr. Hoyt has also presented the museum with a new mineral in Bismuth ores, "Danbreite" as well as several specimens of thorium and yttrium ores.

Saturday night the Frosh will tangle with the N. A. C. cagers as a preliminary to the second San Jose-Nevada game. The first year men expect an easier game than against the Cubs, but even at that have no clinch victory tucked away.

The Frosh have some big men, powerful on the defense, speedy and tricky, and fairly accurate shots. With a little more hard practice and a little more work on zone defense and offensive plays and the yearling aggregation will be ready to tussle with any team.

ANOTHER SEASON

Nevada starts the 1929 basketball season off with games against the San Jose State Teachers quintet this week-end, and to make those games ones to be recorded on the win side for Nevada, every student should be there to support and cheer for the Wolves. The Wolves met Stanford in two pre-season games and divided honors with them, but in these games a fast passing and an accurate shooting team was disclosed and one that will stack up with the teams that Nevada has put on the floor in the past.

It always seems easy to get a good crowd out to the first games of a season and have them attend the more crucial games at the end of the season, but it is a hard thing to get good crowds and enthusiastic backers for the whole season and that is what Nevada wants this year.

Many people consider the San Jose quintet a team from a smaller college and consequently one not to be feared, but with a record against Stanford equal to that of Nevada and with victories over other teams in their territory, they cannot be taken very lightly. Coach Martie is strongly impressed with the power of his foes, and says Nevada hasn't scheduled any easy games this year and it is going to take all the backing from the students and all the hard work of the team to enable Nevada to come out on top of her 1929 schedule.

The Students are faced with a clean sheet for this semester's record and it is up to them to hope that it is unattackable in the end of the year. It is to be hoped that when the spring comes around we won't be confronted with the annual swan song that the students didn't support the team, so consequently the team didn't play its best and we had a poor season.

Nevada has been rightfully proud of her basketball record, and if pre-season showings are any clue to a continuance of a record Nevada is going to build and continue that record. All that is needed is that the students get out and back the team. The team has proven itself and will do honor to any institution, so lets get out gang and make it the greatest season of Nevada basketball history.

GET A GOOD START

The students certainly got a cold reception on their return to Reno this semester, but the cold will only tend to mould the fraternities a little closer together, around the fire, and bring more and longer bull sessions, so it looks like a good semester after all. Of course a few of our friends will be conspicuous by their absence and a few new faces will take their places, but on the whole we have about the same personnel to finish up the school year.

The Spring term always seems to have more crowded into it and there always seems to be more social events to lure the student from his studies and also there is the real spring that turns the young man's fancy to thoughts of love and starts the woman on her annual hunt for a mate. So it is best to start this semester off with a bang and lots of studying, so that when the good times do actually appear the student won't find his time and dreams haunted with visions and horror of back work.

Nevada Graduate Gains Distinction

An article in "The Montreal Daily Star" reveals the wonderful work of an old grad of the Mackay School of Mines, H. C. Nield '15, who is president of the Engineers' Mining Corporation Limited; general manager of the Carborundum Company, Shawinigan Falls, P. I.; mining and metallurgical engineer, formerly with the United States Bureau of Mines and the Nevada State Laboratory here in Reno.

"Red Heads" Join Fraternity Group

MADISON, Wis.—"Red headed Christians of the white race with acceptable social status and who are not on probation" are wanted on the University of Wisconsin campus. Rho Epsilon Delta—RED—the fraternity of red heads—is the latest Greek letter organization at the state school. Both men and women are eligible.

Well, well, well if I must tell it looks like a cold proposition to be getting higher education these days; no fooling the other morning when little Oswald was awakened from sound slumber to start registering the humid and depressing atmosphere of the room effected him so greatly that he turned over and slept through both days of registration, but that makes no difference, because he got a letter during the holidays telling him that he was so good in his school work that he needn't come back for a semester at least.

We'll say one thing if Kappa Lambda can't lead the honor roll one way they will find some other way to do it.

I suppose quite a few people will be disappointed because there will be no pictures in this column this week, but we are getting tired of the extra expense that we have to go to to explain our jokes so they will have to come around and see us personally.

Nothing hurts a man's or woman's respect as much as to be seen walking along without a cane in the world on the Reno streets and then to suddenly experience that famous feeling of having one's feet assume the position that one's head held just a moment before and then having to stand up at the dinner table and explain with a smile how it all happened.

Some smart bozo once said that in the spring a young man's fancy turns to thoughts of—But if cupid's record during the holidays has any bearing on the statement, young men are foolish the year around.

Coach Si Feemster stated that owing to the great amount of ice that is now gracing Manzanita Lake, crew activities at the University of Nevada will be discontinued until the spring. However the four-oared crew is advised to continue the push stroke in their bath-tubs.

The best things come to be who waits, is another rule proven by the exception at Nevada, judging by the number waits anyone experiences while trying to get to pay his money during registration.

Pete Frandsen, "the grand old man of science," has made the astounding discovery after years of patient investigation and minute studying that if guinea-hoppers multiplied at the rate of five litters per year and seven guinea-hoppers per litter, there would be enough meat to supply the go-houses the year around.

The black crepe on the Tri-Delt front door doesn't mean that any one is dead within, (although it has been rumored that all of the girls are), it simply means that the sisters are in mourning for their position in the scholarship rating.

It looks like a couple of good mantles are going to waste at the Tri Delt and Kappa Lambda houses. Especially since both organizations figured on the two scholarship cups.

Now comes the rumor that Joe Collich Underwood wasn't placed on the honor roll because of some underhand work on his average.

"The Old Soak" ought to make a good college play. A bunch of well-known men are already trying out for the lead and judging from present performances are well qualified for that role.

One kind old lady remarked at the start of the first Stanford-Nevada game that it was too bad that "Kavoc" Whitehead had to play with such big boys but after seeing him in action she wondered why the big boys had to play with him.

These sororities had better watch their step making rules about second semester rushing. If the freshman gangs get to live in Manzanita a whole se...mester and get a good impartial glimpse of these sororities and sorority life they're liable not to join any.

Here's one we read the other day and had to reprint because it has a local angle:
Disgusted lover: "She said she had hidden charms, but I don't know where she hid them."

Word from the University hospital has it that "Doc" Robinson has stocked up with a fresh supply of black pills and anyone feeling ill or possessing any sprained joints or broken limbs can get plenty of these pills.

Ingwall, one of the new men in Lincoln Hall this semester, wants to know if HIS MORRILL HALL or MORAL HALL.

"Question Mark" Ballenger is still soaring around the campus after breaking all records for semesters in school. It began to look doubtful whether "Q" would be able to pass the existing record when he developed engine trouble during mid-semester and was handed an overdose of delinks. By refusing in mid-air "Q" was able to glide home to a safe landing and the praise of all the fraternity brothers.

"Love never dies" sez a quotation from the Sanskrit. But just the same it's made plenty of guys sick.

Speaking of advice: Some of these self-asserted "chickens" might put away a nest egg in preparation for the time when they become old hens.

POETRY

NEVADA'S CAMPUS

The silvery sands of her deserts
The blue of her Western sky,
Are united in one staunch banner
For her we will do or die.

The sparkling lake on her campus
The walks near her quad so bold,
Are as dear to our hearts as traditions
Her mem'ry will ne'er grow old.

The hallow'd old buildings and new ones,
The trees and the lawns and the rest,
Replacing the desert and sagebrush,
Nevada—symbol of West.

She's as staunch as the mounts about her
The wolf is the sign for you,
Come fight for Nevada's banner
Nevada's Silver and Blue.—C. K. D.

The marriage of Thelma Pray and Ralph E. Gignox took place at Alhambra, Calif., Christmas day. Both Mr. and Mrs. Gignox were popular students on this campus. Mrs. Gignox was affiliated with the Kappa Alpha Theta sorority and Mr. Gignox was a member of the Sigma Nu fraternity.

BOOK REVIEW

The following fiction is included in the forecast of new books to appear during the Spring season of 1929:

"The Buffer," by Alice Hegan Rice, author of "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," is a study in loyalties. It is the story of Cynthia Pree, the ambitious young daughter of an old and ingrowing Southern family. It is written with that mixture of light gayety and deep humanity which has made Mrs. Rice one of the best loved of American novelists.

"A Dead Man Dies"
Percy Marks, author of "The Plastic Age," has written "A Dead Man Dies," which is the story of Nora Dreyer and her three children and the deceased husband and father who shaped their destinies—for a while. In this new novel Mr. Marks gives us some of his most appealing and human young people. It is certainly his maturest and most significant novel.

"A super mystery story such as only Miss Jordan could write"—that is what has been said of "The Devil and the Deep Sea," by Elizabeth Jordan, author of "Miss Nobody from Nowhere." Miss Jordan's legion of followers, as well as all mystery fans, will find this book her most surprising and entertaining novel.

Action and Excitement
"The Woman Hunters," by Arthur Somers Roche, is a novel of high society and the underworld, of aristocrats and thugs, gamblers and wastrels. There is more action and excitement in this book than has ever gone into one of Mr. Roche's widely popular stories of ultra-smart society. "Fugitive Love," by Negley Farson, is a high-powered romance by an author who has already proven his ability to write with humor and gusto. Chicago and the open roads of Illinois are the scene of this stimulating and entertaining yarn.

How the sea possesses the souls of the young couple will reside in Bakersfield, Calif., where Mr. Gignox is connected with the Hopper Machine company.

the men who follow it is told in "The Brand of the Sea." It is written by Knud Anderson, a new Danish writer of brilliance.

"Unholy Virgins"
"Unholy Virgins," by Edna Walker Maloosky, tells of the conflicting temperaments of an American debutante and a married Englishman, as they clash in this tempestuous love story. The background is vivid Monte Carlo. A powerful, elemental and passionate story of plantation negro life is "Earth Born." It is written by Howard Snyder, a man who understands the negro's problems.

"The Golden Round," by Frances Winwar, is a passionate romance of thirteenth century Italy. We read the story of the rise and fall of a court favorite—Pier, the cobbler's son, who rose to be treasurer to the great Emperor Frederic, and fell by jealousy and treachery. Pier truly loved his Emperor and served him well. But Pier was wedded to one of those beautiful women to whom success is but the fuel to higher ambition. She urged him to be disloyal, and the Pope, who hated the Emperor, sent messengers urging him to be disloyal, and in the midst of serving the Emperor, Pier was detected in what looked like the vilest treason. Although his own conscience claimed innocence to the last, he died. Against the setting of Frederic's half Mohammedan, half Christian court, the tragedy is unfolded, lighted by glimpses of the vivid life of the commoner folk as seen through a seasoning of roguish tales in the spirit of Boccaccio.

Lights that Fill the Skies with Commerce

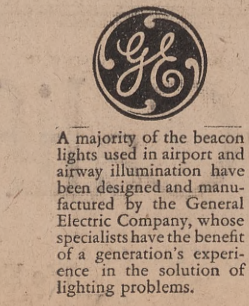

THE air map of America is now in the making—on the ground.

Two years ago, there were 218 miles of air mail routes with two station stops; to-day, a network of sky Roads bridges the country from the Atlantic to the Pacific and from Canada to the Gulf of Mexico.

Can you imagine this growth without electricity—without illuminated airports—without trunk lines studded with electric beacons?

Men of vision are building for increasing traffic of the air. Soon, the skies will be filled with commerce.

Just as electricity is helping to conquer the air, the land, and the sea to-day, so to-morrow it will lead to greater accomplishments in aviation and in every human activity.

WOLVES DIVIDE FAST BATTLES WITH CARDINAL 1929 QUINTET

NEVADA WINS FIRST GO 26-22, SECOND LOST 23-16

SAGEBRUSHERS DISPLAY FAST PASSING AND SCORING TEAM

By FRED WILSON

In a two-game meet with the Stanford Cardinals, the Wolves split honors, winning the first game, 26-22, and losing the second, 16-23. Both games were hard-fought, and the large crowds attending the contests declared them to be among the best ever played here.

Cards Favored

The Cards, coached by "Husky" Hunt and "Rabbit" Bradshaw, arrived in Reno Friday, December 28, for a four-day stay. Hunt's men were, for the most part, around the six-foot mark. They came with the advantage of previous games played. In their dual contest with San Jose State Teachers, they fared the same as they did with Nevada, winning one and losing one. They defeated the Y. M. I. after five extra minutes of play, with a 37-31 score. Six lettermen came with the team. They were: Captain Harlow, Robert, Bill Clark, Cruck Smalling, Harry Berg, Dowd Richards and John McCandless. Other men making the trip were: Fawcett, Hawkins, Moffatt, Loomis, Tampeke, Reynolds, Mears, and Stewart.

Wolves Show Form

In the first game, played on Saturday night, December 29, the Wolves showed mid-season form. "Goon" Gilmartin, outjumped McCandless practically every time, giving the Pack a good start on their way down to their goal. Martie's zone defense weakened the mediocre offensive plays which the Cards tried. Hainer played a good game throughout, and "Tip" Whitehead was by far the fastest man on the floor, not only in the first game, but in the second. Bailey, despite his injured knee, played a fine brand of ball, and was high point man of the game. "Butch" Lawlor held down the guard position so well that the Cards were forced to shoot from a point too far out to do a great deal of good. Poloni, playing his first game with the varsity, went like a flash, and he handled the ball like a veteran instead of a first-year man. Bream, who has already seen lots of action with the Wolves in seasons before, played well, despite the fact that he had had but a few days practice previous to the game. There is little doubt but what the Pack outclassed the Cards in every phase of the game, even in the second contest.

Lawlor scored the first goal of the game and also of the season a few minutes after the start of play. McCandless starred in the first half for Stanford, and the half ended in their favor, 12-10. Nevada came back stronger than ever and soon ran up a lead of 20-14, which they held to the end. Hunt sent in several subs to no use. Four personals took Lawlor out, and Poloni did effective work in his place. Berg and Clark starred for Stanford during this period but despite this they were unable to catch the Wolves, and the game ended 26-22 in our favor.

Jim Bailey was high-point man of the game, with 8 points. McCandless with 7 points, was the biggest scorer for the Cardinals.

Nevada's starting line-up was: Lawlor, Poloni, Gilmartin, Bailey and Hainer. Hunt used practically his whole squad, while Martie made but two substitutions, using Whitehead and Bream.

TWO HILL MEN ARE NAMED ON WESTERN TEAM

LAWLOR AND OVERLIN GIVEN PLACE IN CONFERENCE

"Jake" Lawlor, tackle and three-year letter man on the Nevada Wolf Pack, and "Hal" Overlin, doughty little quarterback, were named in the selection of the All Far Western Conference football team, according to word received from Robert L. Breeden, secretary of the college organization, and now residing at Stockton.

Six Coaches Select

Two teams were selected by the six coaches of the conference which resulted in St. Mary's placing three men on the first squad, St. Ignatius, Pacific, and California Aggies two apiece, and Nevada and Fresno State one each. Lawlor was selected as first string tackle while Overlin was mentioned as second choice to Brett of the Cal Aggies in the quarterback position.

Both Lawlor and Overlin have been instrumental in Nevada's showing in football. The big Irishman, with his 195 pounds of weight, was a great offensive smasher and a tower of strength on the defense. "Hal" Overlin was Nevada's strategist, handling the offensive thrusts of the team for the last two seasons.

Other Selections

The selections as released follow: First team—Ends, Ginsburg (Fresno) and Frankin (St. Mary's); tackles, Lawlor (Nevada) and Robinson (California Aggies); guards, McNalley (St. Mary's) and Keyston (Pacific); center, O'Marie (St. Ignatius); halfbacks, Merrick (St. Mary's) and Countryman (Pacific); fullback, Kleckner (St. Ignatius) quarterback, Brett (California Aggies).

Second team—Ends, Schmidt (California Aggies) and Lein (St. Mary's); tackles, Tobin (St. Mary's) and Parvina (St. Ignatius); guards, White (Fresno) and Evelth (California Aggies); center, Steiver (California Aggies); halfbacks, Dehaven (California Aggies) and Grill (Fresno); fullback, Disbrow (Pacific); quarterback, Overlin (Nevada).

and 1 free throw; Loomis, 1 field goal; Mears, 1 free throw; Clark, 1 field goal and 1 free throw; Hawkins, 2 field goals.

Nevada—Gilmartin, 3 field goals; Hainer, 3 field goals; Bailey, 4 field goals; Lawlor, 3 field goals.

In the preliminary game, the Frosh beat Virginia City High, 11-10 in a nip and tuck contest.

Cards Reverse Tables

The Wolf Pack did not fare so well in the second game, played on New Year's Eve. In the last few minutes of play, they lost their lead and the game ended, Cards 23, Wolves 16. Hunt's men were too much for the Pack, with Lawlor on the bench with an infected foot, and the loss of GIL-

WOMEN'S RIFLE CLUB TO MEET

An important meeting of the Women's Rifle Club will be held next Monday at 8:45 in the Gym. Everyone who is interested in rifle and who is out for the sport is urged to attend.

Edna Eriksen '28, rifle manager, has posted a new sign-up sheet, and there is still an opportunity to go out for this sport. The periods are the same as last semester, from one to four-thirty on Mondays and Wednesdays. Everyone must sign up in the Gym, and regular practice starts on Monday.

Class Matches

Class matches will be held the last week in January, and all those who make first team will receive one hundred points.

Intercollegiate matches will begin February 1st. Fifteen women will be chosen for the varsity squad, and at the end of the season the ten having the highest scores will receive the Varsity award which is the Circle N.

The new officers of the Rifle Club were elected last semester, and they are as follows: Idel Anderson '30, president; Geraldine Green '30, vice-president; Ruth Stewart '32, secretary; Irma Parker '31, treasurer, and Edna Eriksen '29, executive secretary.

Student Body cards must be presented at the door to gain admittance at basketball games.

Enoch Bagshaw, Washington coach, thinks "Chuck" Carroll, his crack halfback, is as good as any in the country this year.

Nevada Expects To Take Title In Hoop League

Dropping of St. Marys and St. Ignatius Gives Chance

At the worst the chances for Nevada to take the championship in basketball this year look very good, according to "Doc" Martie, Nevada hoop mentor. The squads left in the conference this season are Fresno, Pacific, Cal Aggie, San Jose and Chico State. The only other game was the two-game tilt with Stanford last month. Pacific is doped as a very heavy contender for the crown and seems to be the main threat that Nevada has. The two teams that have withdrawn are very strong and it is doubtful whether either of the two teams is as strong as the two that have withdrawn. A good lineup on who will get into the finals for the championship next year can be gotten this year when the results of the tilts with the conference members become known.

According to conference rules, new members should be on probation for at least one year, but the two new members, Chico and San Jose were given permission to compete for the conference track championship this year. San

Following the conclusion of the Stanford series "Jim" Bailey and "Lin" Hainer rank as the leading scorers on the Nevada team with 11 counters each. With each issue of the Sagebrush a record of the total points to that date will be kept of all men participating in any of the games.

Poloni's name was placed in the above scoring column although the big forward is not registered in school this semester. As soon as any of the men not mentioned above, break into the scoring column for the Pack his name will appear with the others.

Nevada has scored 42 points against the opponents 45 or an average of 21 points a game against 22.5 as piled up by the opposition. Watch the Wolves boost their total tonight and tomorrow!

Jose has a very strong track team and they will be a very strong contender for the track crown. Last year Nevada just beat them out for a win by three points in a dual meet here.

WOLVES QUINTET

start of this week when Mike Lawlor developed blistered feet, "Goon" Gilmartin suffered a badly bruised leg after colliding with one of the bleachers, and "Jake" Lawlor was threatened with a touch of blood poisoning. However all three men are greatly improved and should see action against the San Jose bunch tonight.

Fast Offensive

The fast offensive style of play developed by "Doc" Martie this year seems to be getting faster and faster each night that the bunch take the floor. Snappy passing and tricky floor work combined with all around team work and accurate shooting promises to keep the Nevada side of the score board up in the air. The question seems to remain as to whether the Silver and Blue cagers can keep their opponents' score down at a lower level than their own. This season the Pack will have a stronger line of reserves than ever before and many of them, if not all, will see plenty of action this season. The 1929 schedule is the toughest for some time and Martie will probably be forced to use all the men he has available.

Student Body cards will be honored at all Varsity and Freshman games this season but must be presented at the door or the owner will not be admitted.

Musical Concert Brings Unusual Presentation to Local Audience

Production Marks Step

Appreciation

By ELIZABETH JOHNSTONE '31

The fantasy, "King Nutcracker," as produced on the U. of N. campus was a distinct innovation. Combining, as it did the talents not only of an orchestra in interpreting the charming music by Tschalkowski upon which the sketch is based, but also of singers and dancers. This type of production is rarely seen in Reno done by either amateur or professional players. The fantasy, based upon the music "Nutcracker Suite" by Tschalkowski, which was in turn based upon a folk-tale, was unique and the type of thing practically any audience, whether unusual-musical or not, could appreciate.

Faults

First to the faults of the production: The fantasy suffered greatly from inadequate staging facilities. Such things as this should be done elaborately in order to make them effective. First, above all things there should have been a stage and an orchestra pit. Much of the effectiveness of the thing was lost by having the players on the floor level with the audience—it gave a different atmosphere to the whole thing. The lighting effects were terrible. The dancers suffered from this, which could have been avoided since it was due entirely to the inexperience of the operator of the spotlight. Another thing was the costumes. The dancers were extremely amateurish, and for this reason should have had more elaborate costumes. The best idea of all would have been to limit the number of dancers and expend the limited amount of money which was allowed for a lot of outfits, on a few. But enough of the faults—for they were not so glaring as this criticism would lead one to think. The handicap of no stage was very well overcome, I believe, in the setting of greenery and the most striking back drop which was background for the performers. The audience seemed to like the dancing, and it must be said in all fairness that the dancing was better than is expected of the totally inexperienced. The costumes did play their part all right for the general effect was passable. I believe that the orchestral music was the best part of the whole production.

Musical Future

"King Nutcracker" is the beginning of a greater musical future on the campus and in Reno. If the glee clubs, orchestra, and band endeavor, it should

COUPLES TAKE ADVANTAGE OF XMAS VACATION

TEN NEVADANS BECOME MARRIED DURING THE HOLIDAYS

Holiday marriages of Nevada students included those of Elsie Mitchell '27 and Nevl North, former student; Ehelma Pray '27 and Ralph E. Gignoux '28; Frances Fuller '31 and Theodore ("Ted") Morrill, ex-'31; Ray Varney '29 and Mildred Brown '31.

Elsie Mitchell and Nevl North were married January 2, in Reno, with Dr. F. C. Murgotten officiating. Nancy Mitchell, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. After a short honeymoon in northern California the couple will reside in Palo Alto, California. Before her marriage Mrs. North was a teacher in Lyon county high school at Dayton.

Gignoux Marries

Thelma Pray and Ralph E. Gignoux were married Christmas day at noon in Alhambra, California. They are at home at 618 Inyo street, Bakersfield, California, where Mr. Gignoux is with the Hopper Machine Co.

Frances Fuller and Ted Morrill were married at the Fuller home January 5th, with Professor R. C. Thompson officiating. The attendants were Miss Doris Thompson and Mr. Jack Haskell. Mrs. Morrill is a member of the Pi Beta Phi sorority, and Ted Morrill is a Delta Sigma Lambda. Both were sophomores at the University.

Mildred Brown and Ray Varney were married during the first week of vacation, in Reno. Mr. Varney is a senior at the University and Mrs. Varney is a sophomore and member of the Sigma Alpha Omega sorority.

not be difficult to bring the University students into the foreground musically as well as they have been placed into prominence dramatically within the last two years. Reno lacks this sort of thing and it is apparent that anything of this type would be well received as was shown by the attentiveness of the audience who attended the performance of "King Nutcracker." Such an undertaking as this calls for much hard work and a great deal of cooperation, but it can be done and will be done, if "King Nutcracker" is followed up with greater things.

martin on fouls in the last part of the game. The game started much as it did two nights before with neither team having the edge on the other. At the half Nevada led, 9-5. Stanford came back in the second half with fire in their eye, and in a few minutes the score was eleven up. McCandless outplayed himself, scoring four field goals in fast time. This gave the Cards a lead, and they hung on to it the rest of the game. Nevada's game weakened when Gilmartin went out with four personals against him. Substitutions didn't help matters any, and although every man was in there fighting, the lead was too great and the red-shirted quintet took the victory. Poloni got his chance to show his worth with Lawlor out. He worked like a veteran and furnished thrills galore for the fans. Whitehead's floor work and passing were highlights of the game. Bailey and Hainer both played good consistent games. "Doc" started the game with: Hainer, Whitehead, Gilmartin, Poloni, and Bailey. Robertson, McCullom, Dream, DeRoemer, Clark and Baldwin saw action.

McCandless Stars
McCandless starred again for the Cards, with four field goals and one free throw. Hainer was high-point man for Nevada with two field goals and one free throw. In this game, Eddie Petaluma, well-known referee from the Olympic Club, called 21 personals, 11 of which were on Stanford, and 10 on Nevada.

Summary Second Game
Stanford—Fawcett, 3 three throws; McCandless, 4 field goals and 1 free throw; Clark, 1 field goal; Hawkins, 1 field goal and 3 three throws; Rothert, 1 free throw; Tampeke, 1 field goal.

Nevada—Poloni, 2 field goals; Bailey, 1 field goal and 1 free throw; Gilmartin, 1 free throw; Whitehead, 1 field goal and 1 free throw; Hainer, 2 field goals and 1 free throw.

outstanding teams on the Pacific coast displaying a smooth, fast combination, seldom seen of any team so early in the season. Despite the fact that Stanford's defense was much stronger than her offense, the Wolves waded right in and time after time planted baskets with unerring skill.
