Aid for Adamian

A committee headed by James T. Richardson, sociology department, has been formed to encourage and to aid Paul Adamian in seeking his legal rights with regard to the situation which culminated in his termination.

A primary focus of the Paul Adamian Defense Committee will be to gather funds from all interested parties and to assist him in securing counsel for legal actions he might desire to take. Richardson said $2,500 has already been pledged from individuals both in the university and the outside community. The committee feels a minimum of $5,000 will be needed.

MEMBERS OF the committee went to Adamian, said Richardson, and he agreed to accept their support. Adamian and some committee members are now looking into possible legal avenues and an attorney will be retained soon.

Richardson feels the committee is necessary because of the "broader crucial questions involved concerning rights and responsibilities of members of the university community." This group, he said, has no affiliation with existing university organizations although it has a broad base of support among faculty, students, administrators and even individuals from the community.

Pledges and contributions from all interested persons or groups are welcome. Names of contributors are strictly confidential. Funds will only be called in as needs arise and all disbursements of funds will be done by checks co-signed by officers of the committee.

For additional information or questions contact Jim Richardson, sociology; Glen Atkinson, economics; or Bob Mayberry, ASUN. Pledges may be sent to Paul Adamian Defense Committee, P. O. Box 13249, University Station, Reno, Nev.

Investigation urged

The Faculty Senate met Tuesday to consider the Adamian affair. The faculty, which had been mostly silent to date, passed three resolutions concerning Adamian.

The first resolution stated:

"Be it resolved that the Faculty Senate of the University of Nevada reaffirms its criticism of September 17th, 1970, of the suspension procedure initiated by the Board of Regents, and affirms its support of the basic recommendations made by the faculty Hearing Committee."

It continued:

"Be it further resolved that the Faculty Senate reaffirms its commitment to the principles of due process and faculty determination of appropriate professional and academic conduct.

THE SECOND resolution, which was adopted, asked the Faculty Senate Executive Board to conduct its own investigation of the "materials pertaining to the Adamian case" and submit a report to the senate.

The final resolution thanked the hearing board:

"Be it resolved that the Executive Committee of the Faculty Senate, on behalf of the Senate, send a letter of thanks and high commendation for dedicated and conscientious service to the University and ad hoc hearing committee in the case of Professor Paul Adamian."

No Hayden funds

Tom Hayden of the Chicago Eight won't be financed to speak on campus and the question of voluntary ROTC is still up in the air. The first issue of importance before the ASUN senate Wednesday night came out of the report of the vice-president of activities, Paul Basta. ' Basta told senate Activities Board met that day and disapproved a request from Experimental College (EC) to provide matching funds to bring Hayden to campus.

The EC said Hayden could be brought to Reno on Jan. 8 at a cost of $400 to $500.

Dan Teglia, Experimental College, brought the request to the Activities Board a week ago. It was approved then by a vote of three to two.

Bob Almo, senator-at-large activities, said pressure had been brought to bear on members of the board so they reconsidered their action Wednesday and reversed it. University of Nevada, Reno

BOB MAYBERRY, proxy to Richard Barnes, asked senate to disapprove the board's action -- to bring Hayden. The major objection to Hayden was because of a possible reaction from the legislature, which convenes in January.

Mayberry's motion was defeated -- no ASUN funds will be provided for Hayden.

The second major issue was ROTC. A motion made by Frankie Sue Del Papa, ASUN president, to make ROTC voluntary was brought to the floor for discussion. The motion had been tabled by the Senate Rules Committee two weeks ago.

Col. Robert Hill, chairman of the ROTC department, objected to the resolution because the department could not as yet maintain the required number of graduates with a voluntary program: no provisions had been detailed in the motion on how to bring about voluntary ROTC.

Hill said he favored a voluntary program, but that it had to be approached carefully.

Mayberry moved to table the motion because the Military Affairs Board and the Academic Standards Committee would both be considering the issue within the month. The bill was tabled.

Snow sculptures were bigger this year--and a little more biting.

Nye rejects donation

Nye Hall, by an overwhelming 266-94 majority, turned down a proposal to donate $300 to Paul Adamian to help defray court costs in his impending fight to overturn his dismissal by the Board of Regents.

Turning out in impressive numbers -- 71% of Nye's residents voted -- the inhabitants of UNR's largest living group rejected the resolution that would have drained one-third of the resources in their treasury.

A smaller scale voluntary contribution program, headed by Brady Keresey, is now under way.

Pack 5 returns

UNR's nomadic cagers will conclude their wandering and return to Nevada this weekend after a pair of games at the Cowboy Classic in Abileen, Texas, tonight and tomorrow night against Hardin-Simmons and McMurry College.

When they return to Reno, the Nevada hoopsters will finish their non-conference games with three rough contests over the Christmas vacation.

First on the list is Portland State, which will be in town Monday night for an 8 p.m. clash. The Vikings, a 12-15 team last year, will be led by guards Willie Stoudamire and Craig West. Also in their favor is their moderate height--three 6-7 men.

On Tuesday, the Pack faces Washington State, the team that has finished second to UCLA four out of the last five seasons in the mighty Pacific Eight Conference. The Cougars, who were 19-7 last year, will be paced by three returning starters--6-7 Jim Meredith, 6-6 Dennis Hogg, and 6-0 Dan Steward. Additional board strength can be provided by 6-9 sophomore Mike Dolven.

Revenge is the name of the game January 2nd when San Jose State invades the Pack gym. The Spartans beat the Wolf Pack 86-79 the last time the two teams tangled this year, but Coach Jack Spencer and company have vowed it won't happen again. The tall but inexperienced Californians are led by 6-10 Ron Eleby, 6-7 Pat Hamm and 6-1 Johnnie Skinner. The Pack lost to Wichita State, 97-69, Wednesday night.

Skiers win

The Wolf Pack's version of ski team ran up 289.1 points to beat tough Sierra College for first place honors in the Siskiyous Invitational Ski Meet at Mt. Shasta, Calif.

UNR was led by Eric Reinertsen, who won the giant slalom and the cross country and finished second in the special slalom race.

Reinentsen clocked 26.20 in cross country and 107.5 in the giant slalom to edge Sierra's Jan Ostbye.

In the special slalom race held Sunday, Ostbye nosed out the Nevadan with a combined time of 51.4 for two runs. Reinertsen had a 53.6. Three other Wolves followed him: John Rowder (57.6), Rick Elefant (59.2) and Bill Latimer (63.9).

Coach Mark Magney's team was due to compete at Aspen, Colo., this weekend, but because of a lack of snow in the lower slopes, the meet was cancelled.

Nebraska wins

The object of the game is to score and that is exactly what the University of Nebraska Cornhuskers did to the Wolf Pack Monday night as they rolled to an easy 116-71 triumph.

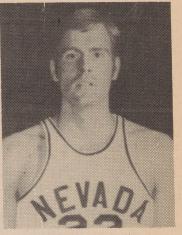

The Pack was never in the game. The Cornhuskers took command early in the contest and breezed to a 52-31 halftime advantage.

Cold shooting combined with lack of height to spell defeat for the Nevadans, who made good on only 30 out of 85 shots from the field. On the other hand, Nebraska shot an amazing 62%.

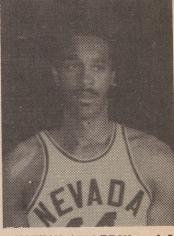

Leading the way for the Pack again was guard Romie Thomas with 22 markers. But the high scoring sophomore was eratic from the field, connecting on only nine of 28 shots. A bright point in the contest was the play of senior forward Dexter Wright. The Fernley star played his best game of the young season by shooting 50% from the field and getting 17 points.

Marvin Stewart of the Cornhuskers led all scorers with 33 points. Nebraska's 6-11 center Chuck Jura followed with 25.

DEX TER WRIGHT -- 21-yearold native Nevadan from Fernley High School . . . back for third season as a starting forward . . . averaged 12.3 points last year . . . ranked among the top 10 scorers in the WCAC conference with a 15.2 average ...

NATHAN APPLETON -- 6-5 forward from Indianapolis, Ind. . . . came to Nevada via Ellsworth JC in Iowa where he starred for two seasons ... junior physical education major has averaged 8 points and 8 rebounds so far this season ...

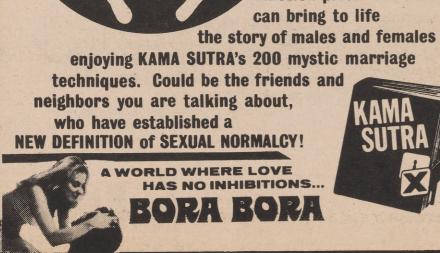

Harriers finish

UNR's cross country team. hampered by bad weather for almost a month, finally finished season-ending, intratheir squad pentathlon last week.

There were, however, only three harriers who decided to brave the elements and compete in all of the events. Anthony Risby took total point honors with 4,061. He was followed by Curtis Terry with 2,974 and Steve Mathers with 1,548.

Terry was forced out of the competition in the 1,320 meter race because of the extreme cold.

The pentathlon consists of the 660, 880, and 1,320 meter, and the one and two mile runs.

Bah, humbug!

Christmas is here. You can tell because every Babbitt and his brother is out commercializing what was meant to be a religous holiday.

But, true to my over-generous nature (proof positive: look at all the bux I gave to Bay Meadows the past few months), I have some gifts for a few people.

FOR PAUL ADAMIAN -- A gig at a college where teaching ability, rather than political views, is paramount in the retention of faculty members.

FOR JERRY SCATTINI -- A lengthy case of laryngitis to strike Terrible Ted Dawson during the season. Also some JC gems and a few frosh phenoms for 71. Also a win over UNLV.

FOR DICK TRACHOK -- A spanking new gym and a string of barber shops.

FOR JOE CONFORTE -- Now really, Joe.

Wolf of the Week

ERIC REINERISEN -- The European star practically single handedly gave the Wolf Pack a victory in the Siskiyous Invitational meet.

Reinertsen won both the giant slalom and the cross country for the Pack and came in second in the special slalom race.

'lolanthe'

See the presentation of Gilbert & Sullivan's delightful "Iolanthe." Directed by Ted Puffer and featuring young opera singers, the production will be fully costumed and staged at the Church Fine Arts Theatre.

The Opera Theatre will give performances of "Iolanthe" today and tomorrow. Performances are at 8:15 p.m.

Tickets are available at the door of the Church Fine Arts Theatre.
