RENAISSANCE

“Certainly
I read the Sagebrush, doesn't everyone?”

Wm. Shakespear, Gent.

Sagebrush, in competition with the best of the West's college newspapers, won third place as the best all-round newspaper in the Sigma Delta Chi (SDX) Mark of Excellence Awards competition last weekend at the society's regional convention in Fresno.

The competition, which drew over 450 entries in news writing, editorial writing, photography, broadcast, all-round newspaper and magazine categories, is an annual contest sponsored by the Society of Professional Journalists, Sigma Delta Chi. SDX is the largest journalism society in the world; in the western region (Region 11, comprising California, Nevada, Arizona and Hawaii) there are over 45 student and professional chapters.

In the all-round newspaper category, over 30 student newspapers, including the best of the West Coast's college dailies, competed for honors. Finishing ahead of the UNR Sagebrush were The University of Southern California Daily Spartan (second place), and Pepperdine University (first place).

BRUSHFIRE

Spring, 1974

The Spring 1974 issue of Brushfire is scheduled to appear on campus Thursday to coincide with the UNR Arts Festival. Copies are free, while they last, to all UNR graduate and undergraduate students with identification; all others must pay $2.

Contributions to the current Brushfire are by university students, faculty and well-known national writers. The issue features interviews with National Book Award-winning poet William Stafford and black poet Nikki Giovanni. Two short stories by Jesse Stuart, famed Kentucky educator, poet, and novelist, are balanced by short stories written by four UNR students. Richard Armour, author of 51 books, has contributed a light verse poem. Other well-known poets who have contributed original verse are F. D. Reeve (Connecticut), Elizabeth Coatsworth (Maine), William Fox (Nevada), Josephine Miles (California), and John Ditsky (Canada). Reeve is a translator of exiled Russian writer Alexander Solzhenitsyn's writings for Farrar, Straus and Giroux, publishers.

The book contains a two-to-one relation of art work and photos to verse and prose submissions. It is a 72-page book with a brown cover designed by Alice Nuwer, a graduate student from Brooklyn, New York.

The book is financially backed by the ASUN with aid from the Nevada Council of the Arts and Graduate Students Association.

The editors are William Baines, Hank Nuwer and Kelsie Harder.

Letters

Editor:

On Friday, April 19, various members of the university students and staff gathered in Room 115, Getchell Library, to honor the Reno Host Lions Club.

The occasion was a dedication of an extension study facility for visually impaired students. Official ceremonies were held at 12:30 p.m. and open house was held until 3 p.m.

Lions Clubs of this entire region have donated generously of their time and money over the past several years. Their contributions to handicapped persons everywhere of all ages continue to be a service of great help.

We, the Blind Student Association, wish to thank the Reno Host Lions Club, for their tremendous effort on our behalf.

Editor:

As an independent publisher, I would like to congratulate the editors and staff of Sagebrush for the fine writing and layout of that publication for the last year. For once there has been news of national and international importance in Sagebrush—moreover, reported with humane intelligence, not merely UPI tapespiel. The layout has been clean, consistent and literate, and with very few of those surreal juxtapositions that makes reading a paper a crucifixion. The humor of the editors has been neither cruel nor capricious—the paper has been fun to read and to the point.

It's inevitable that the staff of Sagebrush will change. I wish it wouldn't.

Yours,
William L. Fox

Ed: Because it's against our policy to print flattering LETTERS, we've decided to print only ONE this week.

1974 Arts Festival Calendar

Art

As part of the spring Arts Festival at UNR, the music department will present a "Music-Faire" April 27 at the Church Fine Arts Theater.

Directed by Gene Isaeff, the varied program will begin at 2 p.m. with the University Concert Band in an hour-long concert. Featured will be a band arrangement of Carl Orff's "Carmina Burana," an unusual orchestration of several medieval popular songs and dances.

This will be followed at 3:15 p.m. by a performance of Stravinsky's "The History of the Soldier." This is a stage work conceived to be "acted, played and danced" and will feature actors, dancers and professional musicians.

The University Concert Jazz Band takes over at 4:30 p.m. with a program of contemporary jazz and rock music.

The public is invited to the performances.

All events, except where otherwise indicated, will be in the Church Fine Arts building on the UNR campus.

The Fair begins Wednesday at 7 p.m. with a reception for the Cup and Goblet Show in the Gallery. Hours for the show will be Thursday 8 a.m. — 5 p.m., 7 to 9 p.m.; Friday and Saturday, 1 to 5 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m.; Sunday, 1 to 4 p.m.

At 8 p.m., an English department reading, "Ptomaine or not Ptomaine," will be presented in the UNR Theater.

"Verdi Requiem" will be performed at 8:15 p.m. at the Pioneer Theater Auditorium, under the direction of Ted Puffer. Guest soloists will be Maria Martino, Willene Gunn, Ray Arbizu and Charles Koehn.

During the evening hours, "The Hungry Lens" a photography exhibit, will also be displayed, as well as showing of banners, from 7 to 9 p.m.

At 7 p.m., Jock Reynolds, a San Francisco artist and performer, will talk about raising pigs on the sculpture patio.

The Early Music Consort of London will perform in the UNR Theater at 8 p.m.

Friday's events begin with a sculpture event on the patio at 1 p.m.

Hourly, from 1 to 4 p.m., a "Peep Show" will be presented by Jock Reynolds in Room 10, of Church Fine Arts.

Leonard and Lillian Pearson, psychologists, will talk about dieting and the aesthetics of eating in Room 8, at 3 p.m.

The UNR student rock group will perform on the sculpture patio at 4 p.m. At the same time, in the parking lot, students will be flying kites.

Ralph Rea will talk about wines at 5 p.m. in Room 8.

Belly Dancing will be performed by Sandra Whittal at 7 p.m. in the Gallery.

A food follies, presented by the speech and theater departments, will take place at 8 p.m. on the sculpture patio.

On Saturday, a belly dancing workshop will be held by Miss Whittal in the Gallery, at 1 p.m.

A raku party beings at 2 p.m. on the sculpture patio.

At the same time, the UNR concert band will perform in the UNR Theater.

Howard Rosenberg, art professor, will speak at 3 p.m. on "Chicken Soup" in Room 139.

Stravinsky's "Soldier's Tale" will be performed under the direction of Gene Isaeff at 3:15 p.m. Following at 4:30 p.m., will be the UNR jazz band. At 5:15 p.m. the UNR Jazz combo will perform. All will be in the UNR Theater.

At 7 p.m., Sharon Shore of Los Angeles will perform with 20 pounds of spaghetti in Room 102.

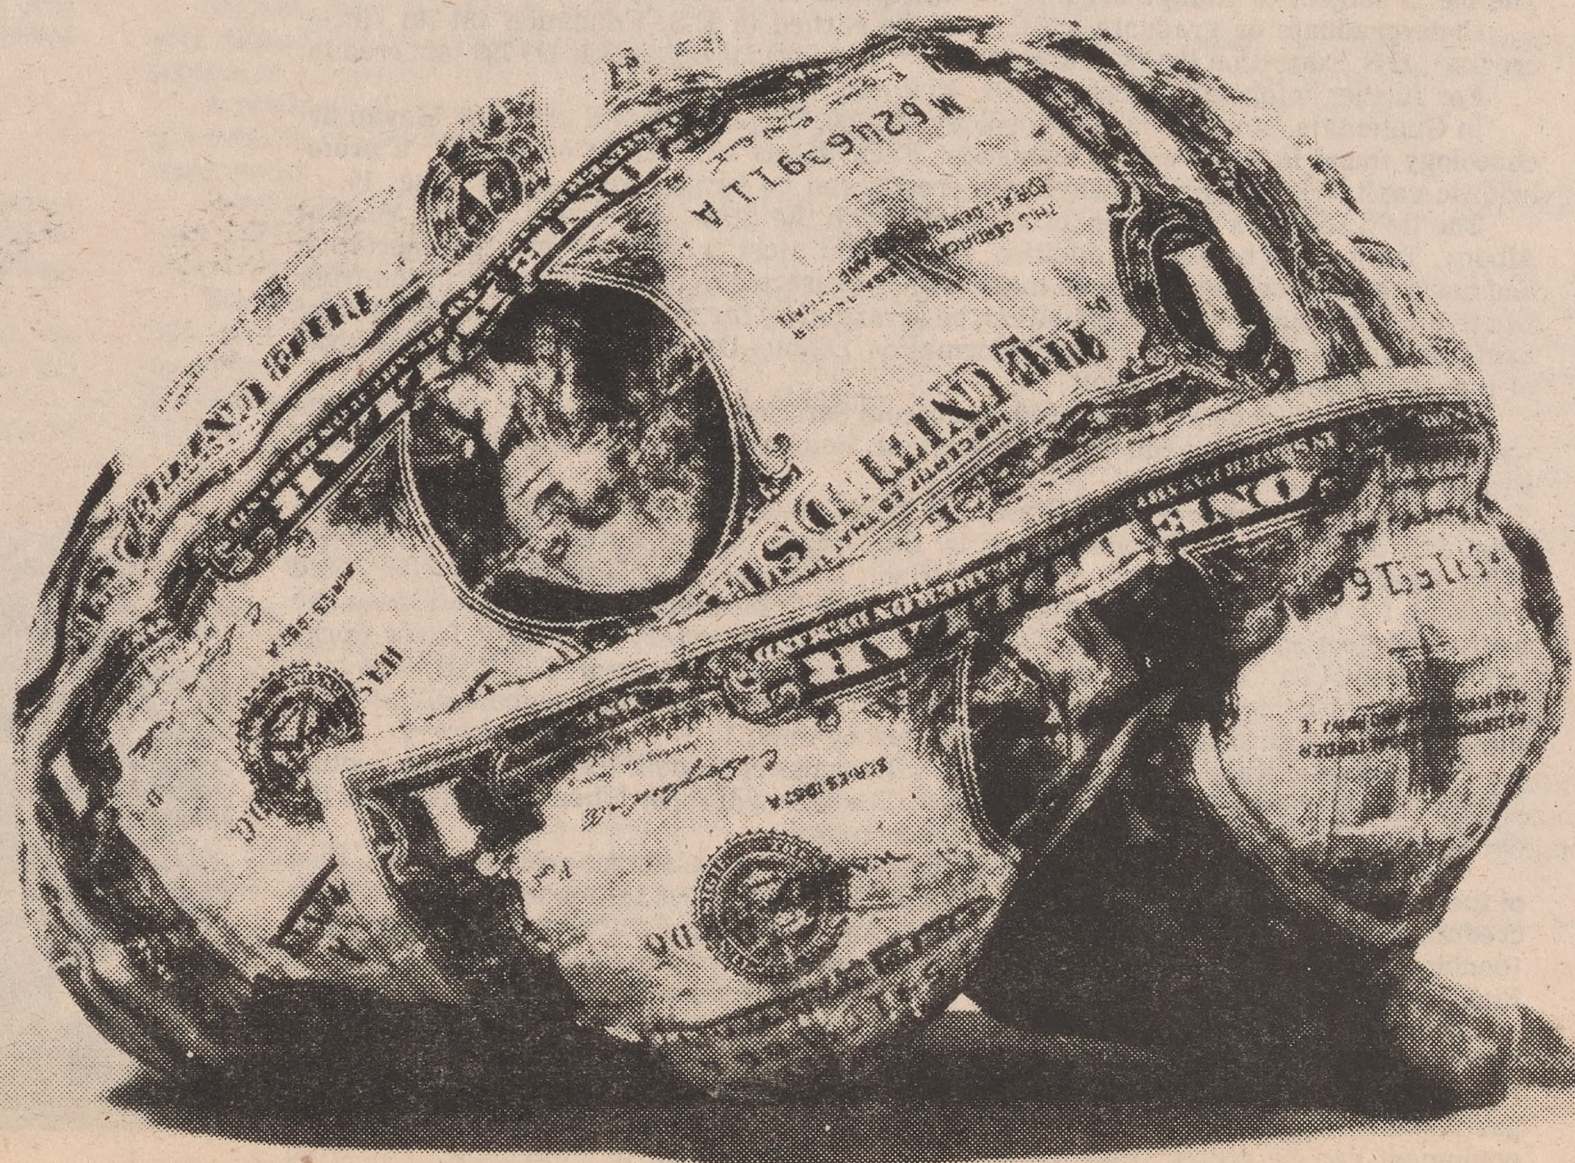

Another food follies will be presented at 8 p.m. on the sculpture patio.

On Sunday, the public will be able to view working artisans and craftsmen from 1 to 4 p.m. on the sculpture patio.

English chamber music will be performed at 2 p.m. in the UNR Theater, directed by Ronald Williams.

The UNR Brass Quintet will perform at 4 p.m. at Manzanita Lake.

The Renaissance Feats, beginning at 4 p.m. at Manzanita Lake, will close the festivities.

NEVADA-RENO 1974

Classrooms this summer stretch from the environs of Reno down to the Sea of Cortez, up to the Elizabethan theatre in Ashland, Ore., and across the Pacific to Hawaii. In addition to the eleven field study programs during Summer Session, students can choose from three European study programs offered by the Institute of European Studies. For further information about any of the programs, call 784-6593.

In Anthropology 460-760 Urban Anthropology, students examine a particular facet of urbanization in Reno such as health care delivery systems, transportation or drug and alcohol usage. The six credit course runs from June 10-Aug. 15.

Professor John Ignacio said, "During the first two weeks, the student receives classroom instruction in field methods. The remainder of the course involves field work and consulting with me on the student's topic."

In Anthropology 400-700 Section 500, 20 students, two archaeologists, two cinematographers and a gourmet cook will work in the high-rock plateau country of Northwestern Nevada to continue excavations dating back to 8000 B.C.

The six-credit course is co-sponsored by UNR and the Nevada State Museum. The excavations will center on the "last supper cave," where previous discoveries of preserved basketry, matting and chipped stone artifacts have been made. For further information, contact Dr. Thomas Layton, director, Nevada State Museum, or Dr. Donald Hardesty in the Anthropology Department.

Elementary Prospecting (Geology 495), a special introductory course offered by the Mackay School of Mines, will be taught by Dean Arthur Baker. The one-credit course will be held on four Saturdays, July 20, 27, Aug. 3 and 10. It is designed for people who have had no geology courses and little or no experience in prospecting, but are interested in looking for minerals as a past-time.

Although there will be no long hikes, boots and rough clothing are recommended. Some field trips will be to elevations of 8,000 feet.

Enrollment will be limited to the number of people who can be accommodated on the field trips. Sign up in the Summer Session Office in Clark Administration.

Registration closes today for a one credit scuba course to be held during Intersession from May 26-30. Learn to scuba in the Sea of Cortez near Mulege, an oasis located on Baja California. Registration is limited to 18 people. Jack Brownson is the instructor. Total price for the course is $269. The fee includes round-trip transportation, Long Beach-Mulege-Long Beach; housing and meals in the Mulege or Serenida Hotels (first class); boat transportation to diving sites; tank refills; and instruction.

Professor Sven Loevgren of the Art Department will conduct another trip to Mexico from June 10-23 for Art 319, Section 501. Mexican and Mayan art, architecture and culture will be surveyed in the two week, three credit course.

Because of its wealth of art objects, architectural monuments and variety of cultural opportunities, Mexico City is the focal point of the first part of the tour. The world famous Museum of Anthropology will serve as the classroom for academic instruction. Auxiliary field trips will be taken to Teotihuacan and Tula and to the ancient monastic centers, Acolman and Tepotzotlan. One field trip will concentrate on the fabulously rich colonial art and architecture found in Puebla and its surroundings.

From Mexico City, the group will fly to the colonial city of Merida on Yucatan. Merida will serve as the base for extensive field studies of the fascinating Maya cities of Uxmal Labna and Chichen Itza. An optional visit to the legendary and mysterious islands of Cozumel and Isla Mujeres will be provided.

Another trip to Mexico, a six-week field study tour from June 17-July 26 is planned for educators desiring to gain a greater insight into the principal minority cultures in the United States Southwest, with emphasis upon the Mexican-American subculture, according to Dr. J. Patrick Kelly, by examining their pre-Columbian and Hispanic roots in Mexico and the Southwest.

Included in the field-study tour will be stops at Albuquerque, El Paso, Mexico City, Puebla, Taxco, Acapulco, Puerto Vallarta, Guadalajara and Mazatlan. The tour will conclude with class projects examining the research regarding the principal ethnic groups largely unsatisfactory experiences in traditional public schools in the United States and practical, culturally-based procedures recommended for assisting them in classroom settings.

The cost of the program is $1,199 which includes round-trip air fare transportation, six semester credits; housing (double occupancy); some meals; and scheduled excursions. The fee is subject to change because of anticipated air fare changes.

Undergraduate or graduate credit may be earned in E.S. Education 481-781 (three credits); E.S. Education 482-782 (three credits); and Special Education 499-799 (six credits). For further information, contact Dr. Kelly at 784-4961.

In Guatemala, students in Anthropology 400-700, Section 500, will examine Mayan archaeology found in the Western highlands. Excavations will center on Uxalan, a proto-historic capital of the Quiche Maya. Six credits can be earned from July 13-Aug. 15.

The field school is being conducted jointly with the State University of New York at Albany. Tuition will be $144. In addition, the student must provide his own transportation and housing. Arrangements can be made with the director to provide transportation from Guatemala City. Housing is cheap and can be arranged by the student in the nearby town of Santa Cruz del Quiche. For complete information, contact Dr. Donald Hardesty, chairman of the Anthropology Department.

From June 3-9, a bicycle field study tour from San Francisco to San Luis Obispo will be sponsored by the physical education department. Registration is limited to 22 students and there is already a waiting list.

The Globe Theatre in Ashland, Ore., will be the classroom for students of English 495 from July 15-19. Plays to be performed by the Oregon Shakespearean Festival include: "Two Gentlemen of Verona," "Twelfth Night," "Hamlet," "Titus Andronicus," and "Waiting for Godot" and "The Time of Your Life." In addition, students will see the Festival Collection of Shakespeare Exhibits and rare 16th Century editions of Tudor works at the Ashland City Library. Dr. W. David Hettich will be the instructor. The field study tour costs $125 which includes transportation, tuition; housing (double occupancy); and admissions. A deposit of $50 is required, payable by June 1.

The islands of Kauai, Oahu and Hawaii will furnish the landscapes for Art 319, Section 502, from June 19-July 3, a three-credit course. Students will record their impressions of the island paradises in painting or through water colors.

The field study director will be Prof. Robert J. Morrison, assistant professor of art. Cost of the tour is $569. A deposit of $50 is required. The fee includes tuition for three semester credits, round-trip air fare from San Francisco and inter-island travel; tours; and housing (double occupancy). For more information, write to Professor Morrison, Director of Hawaii Field Study Program, Art Department, University of Nevada-Reno, Reno, Nev. 89507.

The field study programs will end with a one-week High Sierra back-packing tour from Twin Lakes through the Matterhorn Canyon to Toulumne Meadows in Yosemite National Forest, offered by the physical education department for one credit from July 22-29. Each participant must provide his or her own food, backpack, sleeping bag and other gear. Some equipment can be rented from the university. Transportation to Twin Lakes and from Toulumne Meadows will be provided. Cost for the course is $39. Registration closes July 16.

Girls at the bar

Females interested in a possible law career are invited to an informal get-together with the McGeorge Women's Association at McGeorge School of Law, University of the Pacific on Saturday, April 27 from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Discussions will focus on how to apply to law school, admission requirements, financial considerations, and general information regarding all California law schools. There will also be a debate on the Equal Rights Amendment. Anyone who needs a ride or wants more information should contact Patricia Lynch at Washoe County Legal Aid (786-2695). The law school is located at 3200 5th Avenue, Sacramento, Calif.

Look who's talking

Like so many things in our national life, we miscalculated (the Vietnam war). We overestimated our ability to control events, which is one of the great dangers of a great power. Power tends to be a substitute for judgment and wisdom.

Fall guys meeting

The spring advisement period is April 27-May 10 for currently enrolled students who plan to return to UNR next fall.

Copies of the fall semester preliminary class schedule will be available in academic departments during the advisement period. Students should complete special address cards so registration materials can be mailed to them during the summer.

Yeller peril

Columbia, Ga.— A college student was sentenced to seven months in jail Friday for stealing an 89 cent package of lunch meat from a grocery store.

Superior Court Judge John H. Land imposed the sentence on Lewis J. Yeller, 22, a student at Tuskegee Institute in Alabama.

Yeller, who pleaded guilty, said he had taken the meat from a grocery store here March 29 as part of a fraternity initiation. He was caught by several store employees.

Land told the youth that he should get his fraternity brothers to help serve the sentence.

Alumni awards

The Southern California chapter of the UNR Alumni Association has announced two scholarship awards for the 1974-75 school year.

The awards of $100 each will go to Dan Kolodzieski, a freshman from Playa del Rey, Calif., and Clark Cole, a pre-medical student from Whittier, Calif.

Alumni officers said the annual scholarships are indicative of the Southern California chapter's continued interest in the university and its success.

Concerted effort

GRATEFUL DEAD tickets go on sale this Friday in the Activities Office. A limited amount of tickets will be available for this spectacular concert in Mackay Stadium Sunday, May 12, at 2 p.m.

ASUN tickets will be only $3. The DEAD will be performing on their mammoth new sound system, acclaimed as the best in the world.

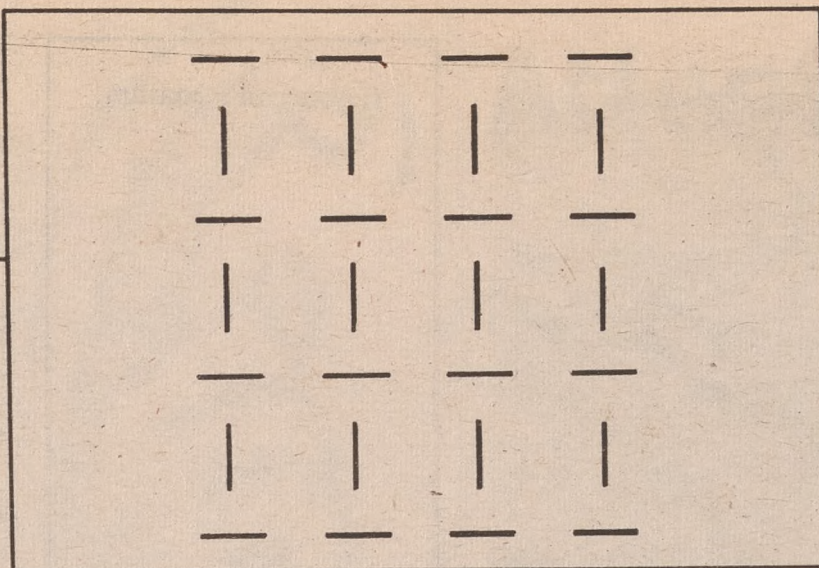

Don't miss your chance to see the DEAD in concert at UNR. Buy your tickets early.

Hawaiian eyes

Chad Taniguchi received 145 votes as the top vote-getter of 18 candidates in the Associated Students of the University of Hawaii primary election April 5. Of these, 14 were marked wrong and ruled ineligible, and 34 were voided because voters changed their vote or voted for more candidates than allowed.

Thus, 286 eligible votes out of a possible 15,000 student population were cast—a little better than two per cent of the total possible turnout.

Berning desire to speak

A fund-raising luncheon for the UNR Women's Athletic Program will be held on Saturday afternoon, May 11, from noon to four at the El Dorado Hotel-Casino.

Sponsored by ASUN, the benefit will be hosted by Mrs. Mike O'Callaghan.

PGA golf champion Susie Maxwell Berning will be the special guest speaker, and the UNR women's gymnastic team will perform.

Tickets for the no-host cocktail hour and sit-down lunch can be purchased until May 3, by mail or in person, from the UNR Activities Office. A minimum $10 per person donation will be accepted.

All community members are urged to help contribute to this worthy cause, and receive in return a tasty meal and enjoyable afternoon. Please phone the Activities Office for additional information.

New S.I.D. man

Dick Trachok, athletic director for UNR, announced the appointment of Bob Shriver as Sports Information Director.

Shriver, who previously was an account executive with Allison and Associates Advertising in Reno, has also served as a reporter with KOLO-TV in Reno.

A graduate of Carson High School and UNR, Shriver is a veteran of Viet Nam, where he served as a company commander.

In making the announcement, Trachok said, "We are very pleased to have a man of Bob's background and experience for our sports information director."

Besides extensive sports information duties, Shriver will also head season ticket sales for football and basketball, and handle the publicity for the Wolf Pack Booster's banquet held at the Governor's Mansion, in Carson City.

Liberty bonded

New York—About a dozen youths took over the Statue of Liberty Friday, saying they were protesting "President Nixon and the rich people of the U.S."

Howard Crane, manager at the Statue, said the youths took over the statue about 5 p.m. and "politely escorted" the guides out of the building. Few visitors were on hand because the statue was about to be closed for the day.

The youths were identified as members of the Attica Brigade.

Crane said the youths staged the takeover peacefully, and that he had been instructed by the National Park Service "to let them have it as long as they were not violent."

Big centance

A penny saved may be two pennies earned, the Treasury Department said, noting that speculators this year had begun hoarding the copper coins on the assumption that the metal content would ultimately exceed its face value. The department imposed a ban against melting or exporting copper pennies, with penalties of $10,000 and five years in prison.

Gotta give 'em credit

Americans used bank cards more than 632 million times in 1973 to charge nearly $14 billion.

This represents a jump of more than $3.4 billion over 1972 when total dollar volume for purchases and cash advances amounted to less than $10.5 billion, the American Bankers Association reports.

Collegians shun crook

One college student out of seven (14 per cent) aligns himself with the Republican party today, the lowest point since these measurements were initiated almost a decade ago, the George Gallup Poll reported. Some 49 per cent of the students said they were independents and 37 per cent listed themselves as Democrats.

Shut the Equador

Naturalist Charles Darwin found some of the beginnings of life on them, marine biologist Jacques Cousteau has explored the sea around them, Princess Anne of Britain has marveled at their stark beauty.

Now, many Ecuadorians fear that success—namely tourism—will spoil the remote and strange Galapagos Islands.

"Uncontrolled tourism has endangered the rare species and the ecology of the islands," says Ecuadorian City Planner Milton Barragan.

Death in the afternoon

White, youthful Nelson Shields IV, 23, member of a socially prominent Delaware family, became the 18th victim and the 12th death in an unprovoked shooting spree in San Francisco by a black man (or men); police have given the code name "Zebra" to the attacks, which began Jan. 28. Shields was killed instantly by a man described as 5-foot-11, slim, black. The shooting took place in the Ingleside district as Shields was loading athletic equipment into a borrowed station wagon.

In her field: outstanding

Sophomore LINDA BOWMAN received the Outstanding Senator Award at the annual ASUN Banquet and Dance held last Wednesday night at the new Holiday Inn. The award, voted on by the student senators, recognizes outstanding service to the students, the university and the community.

The plaque, which is engraved each year with the name of the deserving senator, is located in the Student Union. Ms. Bowman was chairman of the Senior Citizens' Day held last Nov. 7, was Senate Community Relations Committee chairman, student producer of "1776," and is currently a member of the Women's Athletic Fund-Raising Luncheon Planning Committee and is Mackay Daze chairman. She was re-elected Business Senator this year, and has filed for Senate President.

Attended by some 150 ASUN politicians, dogs, employes, assorted dignitaries and their guests, the much-awaited affair provided an evening of good grub, levity, looseness, boogying and "roasting" for the participants. Most agreed it was The Event of the year, even surpassing the Student Union Bask (SUB) and the Bingham, Bowman and Dietz affair of 1973. Once again, "fun was had by all."

FRED L. (PETE) PERRIERA, roastmaster and emcee of the evening, awarded about 30 mock awards commemorating student flubs and characteristics, along with a photo presentation of Sagebrush and Artemisia photographed celebrities, made humorous by his satirical caption narration.

Grow, grow, grow your beard

The Mackay Days Beard Growing Contest has begun, which could account for the ragged growth and scattered peach fuzz noticeable on many university jocks and aggies recently.

But by May 3, when the judging takes place, these tenderly cared for whiskers should have attained their desired length, rendering the bearded gentlemen suitable candidates for the competition.

That's not all there is to Mackay Days, however, Ma and Pa Mackay voting starts Monday, and will be held all week in the Student Union. Photographs of the contestants will be posted on the Union bulletin boards by the end of this week. Then we have our first "discount night" of the week, at the Little Waldorf (The Wal).

On Tuesday noon, the UNR PARACHUTE TEAM helps get the week off to a flying start with its theme, "Mackay Daze: More in '74," by executing a multiple jump. And be sure to sign up in the Activities Office for the three hours of WINE TASTING to be held in the Travis Lounge from 1 to 3. Only 300 students may participate. THE WAL will again host a student discount night.

An ALL SCHOOL SOCIAL will be held from 3 to 5 p.m. at Evans Park (refreshments will be served!), to be followed by DISCOUNT NIGHT at THE LIBRARY and a DANCE in the gym. The band will either be Dan Hicks and his Hot Licks or Mag Wheels and the Lug Nuts. Either one should be fantastic.

As Ma and Pa Mackay voting continues, the COMIC RODEO will be held Thursday night at 7 at Reno Park, 15 miles north of Stead. FREE BUSES will leave the Nye Hall parking lot at 6:30 for those without transportation. Please make reservations at the ASUN Office if you plan to ride the bus out. Among other fun-type rodeo events, the PIE-EATING CONTEST will be held—all the cream pies you can eat with your hands tied behind your back!

Sweep

"They left their hearts in San Francisco."

The University of San Francisco baseball team must have left more than their hearts, as the surging UNR Wolf Pack swept a three-game set from the Dons last weekend.

The Pack won Friday's controversial contest 5-4, and returned to the Pack diamond for a doubleheader on Saturday, to win a see-saw battle 6-5 in 11 innings of the first game, and the nightcap, 10-3.

The victories gave Nevada the most wins ever while in the West Coast Athletic Conference, 11-4. The Pack is now within a game of league-leading Pepperdine's 12-3 WCAC mark.

Pepperdine took two of three games from the University of Santa Clara this past weekend. The Broncos, who are also contending for the crown won last Friday night's game 10-8, and were shut out in the first game of Saturday's doubleheader, 2-0. They managed to come back and take the nightcap, edging the Waves 2-1.

In Friday's chilly UNR-USF contest, it seemed as if the Pack had started off wrong when errors in the first innings helped the Dons take a 2-0 lead. But Nevada didn't let it bother them as they started trimming the Don lead in the bottom of the third, as catcher Corky Gowans scored from third on a double play ball by John Phenix.

The Bay Area nine came back in the fifth to add a lone run to make it 3-1, but the Pack bats opened up an inning later when hits by leftfielder Tom Kolesar and designated hitter Paul Hodson provided them with three runs and the lead for the first time.

The Dons tied it in the eighth, 4-4, and set the stage for the most controversial play of the season. Phenix had ripped a double after Tim Riley had struck out. Then the Don pitcher walked John Osborne intentionally. The Don catcher tried to pick Osborne off at first base and caught him in a run down. Phenix decided things were a little warm around second base, and scooted down to third base. The first baseman threw to third trying to nail the Pack centerfielder; it was a close play and umpire Tom Biscotti called him safe.

The call enraged the Don third baseman and while he and Biscotti argued, Phenix streaked home to give Nevada the win.

Despite a rocky first inning, Pack hurler Stew Colton went the distance for his fifth victory against three losses. The hard-throwing southpaw was able to get out of jams and halt potential big innings by the Dons in the first and fifth.

Friday's excitement carried to Saturday's doubleheader as the Pack rallied again, and nailed USF in the 11th inning of the first game. Down 5-3 in the bottom of the ninth, the Pack met a do-or-die situation with Mike Rocca's bat. The senior first baseman rapped a two-run single to tie it at 5-5. Two innings later, teammate Mike Torres lined a triple into left center field. Stew Colton entered the game as the designated hitter. He got his first game-winning hit of the season, when he singled in Torres.

The Pack had 13 hits against five Don pitchers. Fallon native John Lewis relieved starter Don Fisk to record his third win without a loss.

In the seven-inning nightcap, the Pack had little trouble with USF. Nevada scattered 14 hits, with John Osborne leading the way with three of those hits.

Phenix, Friday's hero, had three RBI's and two hits. Senior Gary Kendrick picked up the win, his seventh of the season, against only one loss.

Kendrick needed help from Rich Tucker in the final two innings. Tucker held the Bay Area nine scoreless and hitless, while striking out two.

Nevada will take time off from the heated WCAC race today when they host Chico State in a pair of non-league games at the UNR diamond. They will travel to Santa Clara this weekend for three crucial games with the Broncos.

The Pack's overall record is 23-10.

Weep

All good things must come to an end sometime. That was the story in Boise, Saturday for the Wolf Pack track and field team. They met their downfall and saw their 34 straight dual meet win record snapped by a determined Boise State team, 85-69.

The Pack had been compiling their record since 1971. Nevada will try to bounce back from the shocker Thursday, when they travel to Walnut, Calif., for a meet.

Swiss runner Hans Menet shared winning honors with Fred Assef. Both captured two victories each.

Menet ran to wins in the steeplechase and the three-mile run. He was clocked at 9:39.0 to take the steeplechase. He won the other with a time of 14:24.7.

Assef was triumphant in jumping as the Iran native won the long jump with a leap of 24.9. In the triple jump he won it with a finishing mark of 52' 3/4.

Pole vaulter Don Demosthenes, who recently set a UNR record, out vaulted teammate Bernie Juarez with a height of 15 feet while Juarez could only manage 14-8. But Juarez wasn't satisfied with just a second place; he returned in the 120 high hurdles event and won it over fellow trackmen Dale Clayton. He had a time of 14.7.

The Pack's long distance runner George Hernandez ran to victory in the mile. He finished just ahead of Domingo Tibaduiza by a few seconds. Tibaduiza also finished second to Menet in the three-mile run.

In the field, the Pack's Bjorn Koch overpowered his competition in the javelin with a toss of 223.10 feet. He out-distanced his nearest rival by 53 feet.
