The GDI Connection

The Sagebrush has been accused by some of those involved in the current election campaign of being too closely involved with the GDI (Goddam Independent) Party.

Three members of the Sagebrush staff, including the current editor, are or have been heavily involved in the formation and planning of election strategy for the party. Laura Hinton, who was feature editor under Gary Jesch, is the editor appointed last week to replace Gary Jesch after his firing. Daniel Conant is Sagebrush production manager and John Schafer is a member of the Sagebrush staff.

Rumors have been circulating to the effect that the GDI Party was formed by Sagebrush staff members who were angered over the firing of Jesch and who wanted to retaliate against specific members of the ASUN Senate.

Hinton said that she had been talking about and planning the organization of the group since last semester and that it was pure coincidence that the organizational meetings occurred so close to the time of Jesch's firing.

Complaints surfaced that since the first meeting of GDI was only three days after Jesch's firing that the firing was the reason for GDI. There have also been complaints that GDI is overly concerned with editorial freedom and getting the students' publications separated from ASUN.

The GDI group has made a broad policy statement in support of editorial freedom, but has made no specific policy statements on editorial freedom.

Mark Quinlan, a student senator and candidate for ASUN president, said he wasn't sure if the allegations were true or not, but he had the feeling that they were valid after he spoke at a GDI meeting.

He said most of the questions dealt with his stands on publications (he is a member of the Publications Board) and not on other issues. He complained that Jesch started to run the meeting, and he believed this tended to support the allegations.

He said that he doesn't like the present situation and he wouldn't personally become involved in such a situation.

"If I worked on the Sagebrush, I wouldn't be affiliated with a political party. I feel I can't write for the Sagebrush now," he said.

Bill Brown, a campaign manager for six candidates, including presidential candidate Quinlan, said he found no real objection as long as the Sagebrush staffers involved with GDI try to be as objective as possible and confine their writing to non-political situations.

"The only thing that frightens me is that I don't believe the paper should become an organ for any one organization on campus," Brown said.

All three staff members have defended their involvement with GDI as not being part of their work on the Sagebrush, and saying they have remained objective in determining the newspaper's content.

"There is some danger of any journalist getting involved in politics. Right now, I have to get through school, so I attend journalism classes, but nobody should be in that situation. I can't rightly justify being involved in politics and journalism at the same time," Cardinalli said.

Until recently Sagebrush staff members Conant, Hinton and Schafer held three of the five seats on the GDI executive committee. Hinton resigned her position as information officer upon being approved as editor by the Student Senate Wednesday night.

"As an editor, I can remain factual and objective in reporting the activities on campus," she said.

The present ASUN officers not running in the upcoming elections, expressed concern about the number of Sagebrush staff members involved with GDI.

"I would feel more comfortable if there weren't so many Sagebrush staffers with the GDI Party," said Jim Stone, ASUN President.

Stone said he believes the group could affect the outcome of the election, but doesn't think it will because it is too disorganized and didn't begin planning early enough.

He also said a conflict of interest could be cited if the Sagebrush took an editorial stand on candidates after so many staff members have been involved in the party endorsements. He did say, though, that he would be supportive of the Sagebrush's right to take a stand.

Marc Cardinalli, vice-president of finance and publications and a journalism major, sees a danger with being involved in politics and journalism at the same time.

Conant said the Jesch firing was not a motivation for his involvement in GDI and that he would have been involved regardless.

Schafer said he has avoided writing stories on GDI to avoid any possible conflict of interest.

"I believe we have to maintain complete objectivity in our stories in regards to GDI. There has been a conscious effort on my part not to write stories about GDI since I am involved with it. Chances are I don't know what GDI coverage has gone into the paper until after it is printed," Schafer said.

To the Editor:

Like it or not

Beginning tomorrow will be the Primary Election (March 9 and 10). It is important that you vote because it is your money being spent, as well as who speaks for you, whether you like it or not.

Fortunately for all of us, the Independents (GDI) have organized to bring us true representation. Although you are busy, I urge you all to cast your ballot for the Independent (GDI) candidate of your choice.

Milton E. Fuller

Reviving faith

Congratulations to the students of UNR, who now have a newspaper which will not only represent them without fear or favor (as Gary Jesch did) but will also be able to give that courage a strong clout because it has ASUN support (which Gary unfortunately did not have.)

Congratulations to Sagebrush, now piloted by a young woman of unchallengeable integrity, more than enough charm and journalistic status to lead her staff—and with highly intelligent and sensitive literary craftsmanship.

Congratulations above all to ASUN. After listening in on its final hearing which administered the "coup de grace" to Gary Jesch, I did not expect that the student governing body could muster sufficient objectivity and open-mindedness to appoint as his successor one of his most outspoken and resourceful advocates. I for one (along with many others undoubtedly) salute the ASUN for editor and thus reviving faith in UNR's student body.

True colors

In the four weeks that have passed since I was fired, I have tried and tried again to write this letter so that it made sense and wasn't so bitter. Those tries have ended up in the wastebasket or never followed through because they all had one main point: Two candidates running for executive offices are wasting everyone's time.

ASUN student government and its officers showed their true colors this year. We (the student body) saw closed meetings, political maneuvering and "railroading." On the inside, as the center of a controversy, I saw some things that left me with a bad taste in my mouth, and it won't go away.

It wouldn't have been so bad if people like Mark Quinlan or Nick Rossi had decided to leave well enough alone, but since they will be speaking out during the elections about me, I am compelled to give you my point of view about their qualifications and past behavior as "representatives" of the student body.

In my opinion, neither of them is qualified to hold a position of responsibility with ASUN as long as the students desire free and unhindered publications. Simply look at their records on Publications Board. Katrina Everett was worn down from three months of hassles when she resigned as Brushfire editor last November. That didn't stop her from putting out her book, though. There have been four Sagebrush business managers and three editors since the Publications Board took over last April. And each time there was the slightest thing to jump on an editor for in the weekly board meetings Quinlan and Rossi were both right there jumping. Also, the Publications Board had more vacancies from senators who resigned than any other ASUN board. They probably couldn't take it either.

Rossi talks in circular generalities. Sometimes what he says has value, especially when it comes to organizations of governments and changes that are necessary. Last semester he said, "Maybe we ought to throw out the constitution and start from scratch, but that's not the answer either." I had to agree. I would prefer to confine a move like that strictly to Publications Board. But that is for later.

Quinlan and I don't agree on much of anything. It's a healthy conflict and has been good for both of us, if we listen to each other. Which we should, but it's been tough lately because our views are so far apart.

Quinlan was on the Internal Affairs Committee that first discussed firing me last November, with Stone, Cardinalli, Pecorilla and Gezelin. Why he and the rest of the committee saw fit to drop it on the rest of the senate and the student body in January is beyond me. Maybe the thought that if the rest of the student body had known, he wouldn't have been able to prove his point that ASUN can fire the editor of Sagebrush. Or maybe he was manipulated by others who were in control. Either way, he should not be re-elected.

I've been directly "involved" with both of them and I feel these views should be brought out into the open before the elections and not afterwards, when it is too late.

In closing, the faults are not just with Quinlan and Rossi, although they are the targets this time. Others, including Stone, Cardinalli, Pecorilla and Mayer, have not done their best to be the kind of student officers I am looking for. They will hear from me also.

It's a story of deep-rooted concern for ordinary students who not only have to take it from the administration, the legislature and all that, but also get shafted by student government annually over publications.

I was working for them, but now I am just like everyone else. They're getting paid for being in student government and they're working for me and you. Don't let them forget it.

Good luck in your new position. I'm sure you have the best wishes and prayers of the university community for a successful semester.

Sincerely,
Gary Jesch

P.S. One word of advice from an old editor—keep a close eye on the GDI Party this year. It's the best thing this university has had going for it in 10 years. And you can bet on that.

Regent 'Bucky' booted

Don LaPlante

No successor has been named to replace James L. "Bucky" Buchanan, chairman of the Board of Regents, who resigned on Friday following charges that he held office illegally.

Buchanan announced his resignation at a press conference in Las Vegas just hours after discussing the question of his residence with Lyle Rivera, deputy attorney general. He had been elected to the board from District D but is a resident of District C.

He had established and maintained a residence in Henderson, just south of Las Vegas in District D during his reelection campaign but moved back to his ranch in the Paradise Valley area in District C after the election.

As on Monday afternoon, Gov. Mike O'Callahan had not received Buchanan's resignation. Bob Stewart, O'Callahan's press secretary, said that since no letter had been received, there was no post that he could legally fill.

The revelation about Buchanan was made Thursday evening on KLAS-TV in Las Vegas.

Rivera said the television report was the first time he heard of any problem with Buchanan's residence. He called Buchanan on Friday morning to discuss the problem.

"He read the law the same way I did, and he came to the same conclusion. It was not a matter of cajoling or arm-twisting; he said he would call a news conference and announce his resignation. There was little room for maneuverability in the law," Rivera said.

The law that forced Buchanan's resignation was changed by the 1975 legislature to be more explicit. Nevada Revised Statutes section 283.040 provides that an office becomes vacant upon "the ceasing of the incumbent to be a resident of the state, district, county, city, ward or other unit prescribed by law in which the duties of his office are to be exercised.

Although O'Callahan has not received the resignation, Stewart said the governor was considering possible replacements and the post would probably be filled quickly when the letter is received.

"He'll probably act within 24 to 48 hours after receiving the letter from Buchanan," Stewart said.

UNR President Max Milam said he had no idea of who the governor would appoint, so he couldn't speculate on how the change in membership on the board might affect UNR. He did say there weren't any factions on the board, so the change wouldn't alter any balance of power.

The board of regents will need to elect a new chairman at its next meeting to replace Buchanan as chairman.

Budget subcommittee to hear student, faculty views

Don LaPlante

An Assembly Ways and Means subcommittee will listen to students, faculty and other persons interested in the University of Nevada budget on campus March 18.

A time has not been set for the hearing, but Don Mello, committee chairman, said it will be announced sometime this week.

Budget hearings by the Assembly Ways and Means Committee yesterday in Carson City for WICHE (Western Interstate Compact for Higher Education), centered on two complaints.

Objections made by students in the program included a proposal by Gov. Mike O'Callahan requiring students to pay 25 per cent of the out-of-state tuition at the professional school they attend. Presently, students in the program have 100 per cent of their out-of-state tuition paid by the state.

The students also complained that the number of new awards to the budget was too small and deserving students would be denied the opportunity to attend professional schools.

After more than an hour of testimony,

Mello decided to set up a subcommittee to look at the WICHE budget. The members appointed were Assemblymen John Bremner (D-Las Vegas) and Jim Kosinki (R-Reno) and John Dolan, a member of the committee staff. The subcommittee will meet on Thursday evening at 7:30 in the Legislative Building to hear further testimony on the matter.

After two hours of hearings on the UNR School of Medical Sciences request to become a four-year degree-granting institution, the committee adjourned when a potential snag was noted. Presently, an employe of the state may make only 95 per cent of the governor's salary, or $38,000 a year. There was general agreement that this salary would be inadequate to recruit top-flight medical doctors to serve on the faculty. Pay at other schools climbs into the $70,000 a year range and higher.

The committee decided to delay voting on the medical school budget requests until action is taken on removing that $38,000 ceiling on faculty salaries. A bill for that purpose will be introduced by Mello.

Auction aids Brushfire

Harry Hart

UNR's literary/art magazine, Brushfire, was nearly $1,300 richer after the returns from Saturday's art auction were counted.

Called the "Brushfire Benefit Art Auction" by editor Katrina Everett, it was through the donations of local artists and friends that the money was raised.

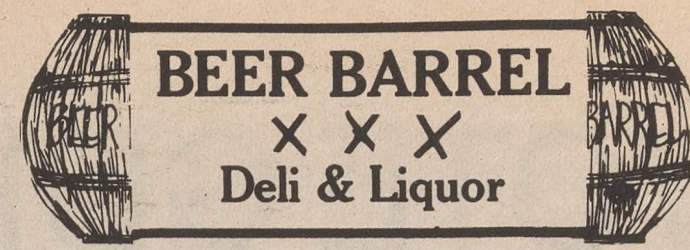

"It was not as much as I hoped," Ms. Everett said, "but it went pretty good. I was really flattered that so many people came to help. The turnout was a little light but not bad considering Reno."

If you were at the Nevada Art Gallery Saturday night, you could have bought some expensive art work at ridiculously low prices, according to Everett. There were paintings, prints, ceramics, sculptures and jewelry; all auctioned off by local auctioneer Pete Stremmel. The art work was donated by members and friends of UNR's Art Department.

Ms. Everett commented that publicity might have been a problem, but she mailed out about 1,000 fliers to members of the community, hoping for a good response.

The money raised at the benefit will be added to a $2,000 grant by the Nevada State Council on the Arts to fund this year's Brushfire. Ms. Everett said the Brushfire should be ready "about the end of April." She said it would be approximately 125 with a soft cover. Everett estimated that the money she has now is a little less than what she needs, and welcomes small donations through the Art Department.

Manning the polls

The ASUN election primaries are just around the corner. We are still in desperate need of volunteers who can help man the polls during the two-day elections.

If you can spare an hour or two, please see Peggy Martin in the ASUN Office or call 784-6589.

One stipulation—volunteers must have no affiliation with the campaign of any particular candidate.

For the resume...

Mackay Week has been scheduled for the week of April 18-23.

The ASUN Office is now accepting applications from the hundreds of you who would like to run the show. It's fun, it's exciting—and it looks good on your resume!

Mackay Week Chairperson will have the added benefit of his/her own committee to help organize this Spring Extravaganza.

For further information, contact Peggy Martin in the ASUN Office or call 784-6589.

Historic doors

Off in a corner on the second floor of Getchell Library is a set of doors with a long history.

The Ghiberti Doors, or Gates, near the Special Collection Department are a copy of those done by Lorenzo Ghiberti between 1425 and 1452.

The original doors are still a feature of the Baptistry in Florence, Italy. Michelangelo gave the doors their best-known name when he called them the "Gates of Paradise" after seeing them for the first time.

Ferdinand Barbedienne cast an original copy of the doors in bronze and gold in 1878. His work was installed in the Cornelius Vanderbilt mansion in New York in 1879. The bronze doors were presented to UNR in 1948 by Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt.

Each door is 121 inches high, 31 inches wide and 2 3/4 inches thick. They were given their present home in the library in 1962.

The subject matter of the Ghiberti Doors is considered historic rather than religious, although the door panels depict scenes from the Old Testament.

Money for male

A $1,000 scholarship has been set up for a graduating male senior who will be attending law school next fall.

According to Dr. Robert McQueen, scholarship chairman, the scholarship was set up by the family of Ralph M. Tucker, a local attorney who died approximately one year ago.

Interested students should complete a standard scholarship application form and label it Tucker Memorial. They should attach to the application a photocopy of their admission certificate to a law school.

The form should be turned in by June 1. It will be forwarded to the Tucker family who will make the final selection.

But, Colonel...

Col. Alexander Lemberes, chairman of the Military Science Department since 1973, relinquished the position March 1 to Maj. Allan C. McGill.

Lemberes had been scheduled to retire from the U.S. Army Aug. 1.

Brig. Gen. John Shea, Commander of ROTC Fourth Region, Fort Lewis, Washington, plans to visit the department next week "for other than routine reasons," according to a source at the university.

Col. Lemberes is a native of this area. He attended Sparks High School and UNR before entering the U.S. Military Academy and a subsequent career in the Army. It is not known whether Lemberes had been removed from his command, or had resigned.

Col. Lemberes is a brother of former Sparks councilman Pete Lemberes.

Get out now

REMINDER—If you are a Nevada resident, have at least a 2.5 GPA and will be a sophomore or junior next year—the National Student Exchange Program is still accepting applications for next year's exchange of students. You have 26 schools from which to choose, and can exchange for up to 12 months. For more information, contact Dean Kinney, 103 TSSC. The deadline for applications is Friday at 5 p.m.

Aboriginal presentation

A free public lecture and slide presentation based on research among Australian aborigines will be given Thursday at UNR. Archeologist James O'Connell, Ph.D., will discuss his recent work at 1 p.m. in the Mack Social Science Building, Room 204.

The title of the lecture is, "Model of Spatial Relationships of Household Units Among Hunter-Gatherer Settlements." According to Jonathan Davis, Nevada Archeological Survey (NAS) member, O'Connell will discuss the implications of the model for Great Basin archeology.

O'Connell received a research fellowship from the Australian University in 1973. He has spent the past four years among the Alyawara bushmen in central Australia.

The lecture is sponsored by the NAS and the UNR Anthropology Department.

On Friday the prehistory of Japan will be the subject of another free public lecture-slide presentation.

Archeologist C. Melvin Aikens, Ph.D., of the University of Oregon, will lecture at 3 p.m. in Room 204, Mack Social Science Building.

According to Dr. Catherine Fowler of the Anthropology Department, Aikens has spent two years in Japan reviewing Japanese archeology and is preparing a textbook dealing with prehistory there.

Aikens, formerly a member of the UNR Anthropology Department, has also done Great Basin research.

Come back, Jesse

Jesse Colin Young is coming back! Tickets are now on sale in the Activities Office of the Jot Travis Building for the March 16 concert. PLACE: Old Gym. TIME: 8 p.m. PRICE: $4 with student I.D.

Kennecott visit

About 15 students and Dr. Yung Sam Kim, chairman of the UNR Mining Engineering Department, will visit Kennecott Copper Corp. operations in Ruth and Ely Thursday and Friday.

Kim, supervisor of the field trip, said Kennecott is in full operation after being closed because of ecology problems it had caused.

Before it's too late

Applications are now being accepted for the position of 1977-78 Artemisia editor. If you enjoy photography, layout, deadlines, political intrigue and 60-hour workweeks, this yearbook business is just for you.

For details and applications, see Peggy Martin in the ASUN Office or call 784-6589.

The mostest hostest

Applications are now being accepted for Mackay Misses, the official campus hostesses at UNR.

Mary Desmond, president, said girls who will be juniors or seniors next fall and have an overall GPA of at least 2.5 are invited to attend their "Coke" dates Wednesday and Thursday at 5 p.m. in the Mobley Room of the Jot Travis Student Union.

Mackay Misses participate in the robing ceremonies at graduation, receptions and alumni luncheons.

Applicants should contact Peggy Martin in Room 111 of the student union by Friday, said Desmond.

New members will be announced at Women's Night of Honor, March 28.

Bonus days at Disney

Disneyland vacations can now be planned around a new schedule for the spring months.

Beginning Wednesday, March 16 Disneyland will be open every day through the summer. The normal Wednesday through Sunday operating schedule is being expanded to a full seven-day calendar through September.

Park visitors will now have bonus days in which they can experience the spin of a teacup, the splash of the Matterhorn and the usual excitement of a Disneyland day.

This will mark the first time since 1958 that the Park will operate on a seven-day operating schedule during the pre-summer period.

Alice & the missing X

There seems to have been a major slip-up in the publicity for the ASUN movie Sunday night. The movie to be shown was Alice in Wonderland.

Thompson Student Services auditorium was packed to the walls, people were standing in back, in the aisles—anywhere they could stand.

First, there were two cartoons, but everyone was waiting for Alice. Apparently, they were hoping for Alice, the X-rated variety.

Well, someone forgot to tell everybody they were getting the G-rated Alice in Wonderland. The 1940's version, Walt Disney wholesome for the kids, didn't seem to do much for the UNR students.

By the time the movie was over, the jam-packed auditorium had about 30 people left in it.

At least a few people still appreciate classic films.

The Candidates

Ed. note: The following are the position statements of candidates for ASUN offices contested in the primary election tomorrow and Thursday, 8 a.m.-5 p.m. in the Jot Travis Union. The statements remain as submitted, unedited or altered in any way. The College of Business Administration is the only one represented in the primary senatorial race, as it was the only college with more candidates that can be represented in the general election.

ASUN President

John McCaskill

Over the last years the ASUN government has meant to represent the students at UNR, but they have not been effective because ASUN has been virtually powerless.

Many problems have arisen and are still present because the BOARD OF REGENTS AND PEOPLE IN CARSON CITY KNOW WE ARE ONLY TRANSIENTS and believe they can hold us off until we go away.

Until now, they have been successful. But no more.

I HAVE THE MEANS TO WORK WITHIN THE SYSTEM. My experience in student government goes back to my high school days when I was Reno High School student body president. It has continued here at UNR. I represented the college of Arts and Science in the senate and was also active on the Publications Board.

This past year, I was the business manager for Artemisia and was on the selection committee which screened over 220 applicants for the position of Arts and Science dean.

Although most problems can be dealt with through conventional channels, I would not hesitate to go outside these channels to achieve our goals.

The most effective way to solve many of UNR's problems IS FOR THE STUDENTS TO ORGANIZE AND MAKE THEIR PRESENCE FELT. For a long time our state legislatures and board of regents have continued to ignore us. However, we have never made an attempt to organize the possible 28,100 voters that the University of Nevada system incorporates.

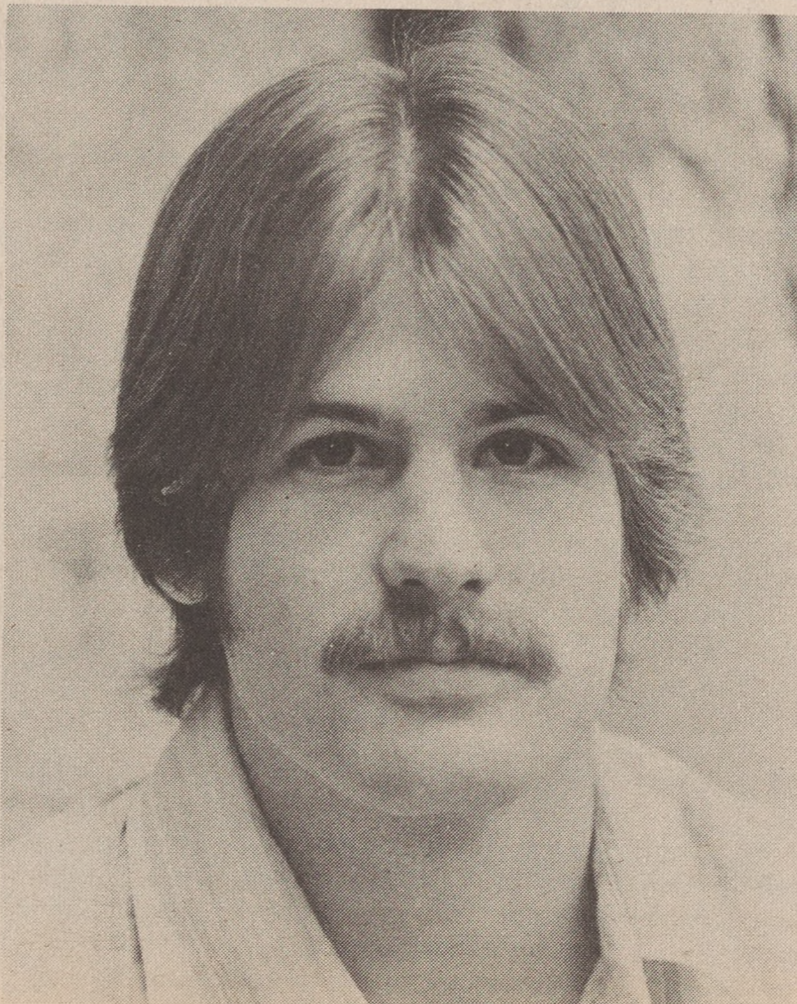

For two years, there has been an organization that was set up to represent the students in this state. It has only been organized at the top levels. THE POTENTIAL IS THERE, we must use it.

Through student voter registration drives, through our publications and by cooperating with all areas of the student body, WE WILL BEGIN TO SHOW THAT WE TOO ARE AN INTEREST GROUP TO BE DEALT WITH.

Currently we are 43rd in the U.S. in per capita income spent on education, and yet we are the only state which has an annual operating budget that runs in the black. THE LEGISLATURES IN CARSON CITY ARE GOING TO START REALIZING WE ARE NOT JUST AN INSTITUTION SEPARATE FROM THE STATE, BUT AN INTRICATE PART OF IT.

If only half the 28,000 students capable of voting were willing to express their views on candidates who would represent the university system in our state, WE COULD HAVE GREAT IMPACT ON FUTURE ELECTIONS IN THIS STATE.

With this kind of backing, ASUN would no longer be powerless. No longer would a student walk into a Board of Regents meeting with 1,200 signatures on a petition and be completely ignored. No longer would those people who represent the university system in Carson City be made fools of. WE WOULD BE A VIABLE INTEREST GROUP THAT WOULD HAVE TO BE CONSIDERED FOR THESE LEGISLATURES TO STAY IN OFFICE.

"Although most problems can be dealt with through conventional channels, I would not hesitate to go outside these channels to achieve our goals..."

As an example, the recent consolidated fee controversy and special requests for such things as allowing consumption of BEER AT CERTAIN ASUN FUNCTIONS FOR STUDENTS BETWEEN THE AGES OF 18 AND 21 must be considered and not ignored.

I am the person that can organize and effectively represent you when it comes to decisions that will determine whether the university will grow and prosper or just be considered a second-rate institution by those who make our decisions.

Mark Quinlan

I have attended UNR for the past three years and have lived in Reno all of my life. This past year I have become deeply involved in Student Government and have learned a great deal. I was a member of the following boards and committees: Senate: Publications Board: Academic Affairs Chairman: Program and Budget: Internal Affairs Committee: Grade Appeals Committee: Teacher-Course Evaluation Committee: U.S.U.N.S. Representative: State-wide Intramurals Committee Chairman: Senate President pro-tem. I am also a second year member of the UNR boxing team.

"I intend to work for a powerful and influential lobby for the legislature to make... our voice heard."

My primary reason for running for the office of ASUN President, is that since I have become so involved with Student Government, I have come to realize the possibilities and potential of Student Government. I feel that I can best represent all of the goals of the Student Body, and that I have the ability and the knowledge to implement them.

CONSOLIDATED FEE INCREASE: The full-time student should not have to subsidize the graduate student's education, and that is what the fee increase constitutes. The financial burden is being placed upon the full-time undergraduate students, and this is not an equal distribution. As President, I would work to reverse this increase.

OUT OF STATE TUITION: Although the petitions of students with over 1,000 signatures, were virtually ignored by the Regents, the fight for representation of the Students Rights on this campus must continue.

DORMITORIES: Simply, much more money is needed for renovation. I participated in a Leadership Conference this year which resulted in a grant from the Board of Regents of $100,000. This should help matters in the very near future but more progress must be made in this STUDENT LOBBY: There are more than 27,000 students in the University system of the University of Nevada. I intend to work for a powerful and influential lobby for the legislature to make our collective voice heard. We are a potent political force that before now has gone virtually unrepresented. We must harness this tremendous power and put it to our advantage.

TEACHER COURSE EVALUATION: I have served on this committee all year and have a great interest in this area. Any student has the right to learn as much as possible about a professor's methods of teaching. I will continue the work necessary to make it a working reality.

GRADE APPEALS: The students need a fair, just, and impartial system to appeal grades. I initiated this program this year and intend to implement this program at the earliest possible date.

U.S.U.N.S. (United Students of the University of Nevada System): I represented UNR at the U.S.U.N.S. Conference this year and through good ideas and hard work we can unite the students of the entire state to work through this organization for the preservation of our rights, and a powerful student lobby in the State Legislature.

In summation I would like to touch upon what I consider to be one of the major problems of our Student Government in the past. Some of the students in office feel that they are waging war against the Board of Regents. Through a system of mutual cooperation and trust a great deal can be accomplished, and I feel that I can complete this task. All I need is your support and your input and we can make next year a year to remember! Thank You.

Steve Scheerer

For those of you taking the time to read this statement, I welcome the opportunity to express my views. My name is Steve Scheerer and I am a candidate for the office of ASUN President. I ask for your assistance and support in this effort.

The office of ASUN President offers an unique opportunity for a student to shape the future of UNR activities and involvement for a year. Given the opportunity, I believe I will supply the necessary blend of knowledge, experience, and technical expertise to serve effectively as president.

My platform consists of the following planks:

(1) A program whereby free legal assistance will be available on campus to students. The legal assistance program will fill a void within the range of services offered by ASUN. This service will offer the student access to legal counsel and counsel access to a large clientele.

(2) Continued expansion of the "USUNS" (United Students of the University of Nevada System.) The USUNS has evolved from the drawing board to its present status as a viable tool for the collective student bodies of Nevada universities and community colleges to use. Its potential must be fully realized. USUNS offers us the opportunity to work together and plan for the common good in the spirit of communication and exchange.

(3) Elimination or relaxation of foreign language requirements for graduation. The foreign language proficiency requirement inhibits many students from completing work in their chosen specialty. I suggest an alternative program whereby a student may satisfy this requirement with courses in cultural studies.

(4) Establishment of a Veterans Emergency Relief Fund. This fund would be established by ASUN and then augmented by funds solicited from those in the private sector who are sympathetic to the needs of veterans.

(5) Freedom of student publications from ASUN

"The legal assistance program will fill a void . . ."

editorial review. I feel they should be responsive and responsible while maintaining their editorial freedom.

(6) Continued improvements to Residence Halls. I hope to work with the residents of each dorm in order to document their respective problem areas and bring them to the attention of the Regents.

(7) More musical events and lectures. I hope to implement collective booking arrangements with other universities and colleges to bring UNR the type of entertainment we all want. Additionally, I would like to see the clubs and organizations on campus work together cooperatively in order to stage group activities such as a craft fair in the Quad or other innovative proposals.

(8) Administration accountability to students and student government. I ask the administration to work with the ASUN in the spirit of accomodation and cooperation. I ask for more communication between the administration and ASUN.

At this juncture, I would like to express my appreciation for your interest and indulgence. In addition, I would like to thank my campaign manager, Bruce Harvey, the members of the Law Club, and many others too numerous to mention for their help and support in my campaign.

Please remember to vote STEVE SCHEERER for ASUN President.

Vice-President of Activities

Ross Chichester

"I believe that students do not have enough to say about what activities actually do come to UNR."

My name is Ross Chichester and I am running for Vice President of Activities. I believe this is one of the most important student offices here on campus. It is always under direct controversy from the students, and it always will be because we simply do not have the amount of money available to produce all of the types of activities that everyone wants to have. For this reason alone it is very important to have a person as Vice President of Activities that not only has the time, but also the ability and drive to follow through with campus activities. I feel I have the time and these qualities, and I am willing to put them to work to help produce a full year of activities in 77-78.

If elected I would like to work also to initiate some changes in the system, these being: A system where more clubs and the dorms could come before activities board and receive under-writes for dances and other activities open to the entire campus, with any profit being kept by the dorm association or club. I would also work to set up a system through the United Students of the University of Nevada System to set up concerts and lectures in coordination with UNLV and the Community Colleges, thus lowering the cost to ASUN.

I believe that students do not have enough to say about what activities actually do come to UNR. I propose a student advisory council comprised of two students from each of the dorms, one student from each of the houses and three students at large. This group would meet and discuss activities and help schedule activities around each other and also send recommendations to the activities board for campus functions.

The Sunday night movies program on campus has been good. I feel it should be expanded to include another night of the week, and also more and better movies. I will work personally with producers over the summer to try to get a larger number of possibilities for concerts and lectures for the year.

I would like to ask your support on Wednesday and Thursday at the polls. This is a very important election this year. There are a lot of good candidates running for all of the offices. I would like to urge everyone of you to get out and vote for the candidates of your choice.

Kim Rowe

"We need 'showcase' activities . . ."

During the last two years I have been watching with some concern as to both the amount and type of activities that have been available to UNR students. How many students honestly feel that they have received their share of the $62,000 that have been appropriated to the activities board for the past several years? The way to see that more students receive their share is: (1) through better management of the major activities; (2) a whole new program of activities; (3) opening activities up to more student input.

MAJOR ACTIVITIES: In the past year 76 concert offers were presented to the board, of which 13 were accepted and only three of these have actually performed.

The promoters have taken advantage of the activities board by stalling and waiting for better concert offers. We need better working relations with the promoters and stricter provisions in the ASUN concert policy to deal with promoters holding out for such offers. The possibility of going outside of Nevada into California for promoters is one possibility that should be explored fully.

We need to be realistic as to the type of major activities available to us and use these resources to their full extent.

NEW ACTIVITIES: We need "showcase" activities on a regular schedule in the Jot Travis Lounge for the entertainment and enjoyment of all students.

Such entertainment would be relatively inexpensive and provide us with more activities than ever before. The list of small acts available at low costs from the producers is endless and exciting. The campus is very flexible. These events could be held in the Student Union, Old Gym, Dorms, Recreation Building or outdoors throughout the campus at a variety of times.

BETTER COMMUNICATIONS: An organization for student input composed of representatives from all major living groups and organizations should be set up. A meeting every several weeks with these representatives would assure that the entertainment would no longer be selected by small, unrepresentative groups on campus.

OFFICE HOURS: This proposal was made by the ASUN public relations man this past year, but was not received well. Office hours are a must if the V. P. of Activities is to be available to the students. I will guarantee office hours throughout the week that will be posted and that I will adhere to.

What ASUN needs is a Vice President of Activities who will work hard to insure that UNR students have activities that are aimed at fulfilling their needs. With the proposals that I have briefly outlined, I feel I can provide these activities.

Health Service to move

Alyne Strusser

The UNR Student Health Service will move to Juniper Hall in the fall because its facilities in the student union are too small.

ASUN is planning an increase in the size of the student union this fall and will need the space occupied by the health service.

Dr. Robert Locke, medical director of the health service, said the move will make it easier to see patients and increase the availability of lab equipment which is already located in White Pine Hall.

Bids for the health service are being accepted this month and work on the project will begin next month. The university plans an allotment of $200,000.

The present facility offers a wide variety of medical care from 8 a.m.-6 p.m. on weekdays and from 8 a.m.-noon on Saturdays. Mrs. Black, nurse supervisor for the clinic, stressed that, "the services are there if you need them." Dr. Locke said the health service has been handicapped with the discontinuation of the 24-hour service, which was changed by the board of regents in the fall of 1976. The regents discontinued the 24-hour service because "the expense didn't justify the effort."

Despite the changes over the past year, the service continues to diagnose, assess, treat or recommend treatment for such problems as venereal disease, alcoholism, abortion/adoption and family planning for the students and staff of UNR. With the help of the Student Health Advisory Committee, which serves at the request of the director, the Student Health Service will continue to develop and maintain the students' physical and mental health.

Juveniles arrested on campus

Bob deJong

Three juveniles who escaped from a California correctional boys' home were arrested on the UNR campus early Sunday morning without incident.

UNPD officers Rod Cullen and Ed Smith stopped the youths in the fee parking lot across from Clark Administration for questioning on possible curfew violations.

Upon further investigation by the officers, it was learned that the car they were driving was stolen from a garage in Applegate, California and the youths were escapees from the Holly Acres Boys' Home, also in Applegate.

Nation's largest...

A lot of JAZZ

Mark Crawford

With a new admissions policy for Reno International Jazz Festival XVI, the local jazz audience will not be restricted to radio broadcasts and newspaper reviews of the festival. For the first time in several years, jazz fans will be able to physically witness this week's proceedings.

According to UNR music professor Dr. John Carrico, coordinator of the festival, a limited number of $2 festival passes will go on sale to the public at noon Thursday at the Pioneer Theatre Auditorium. These passes will be good throughout the three days of the festival.

However, admission to the two formal concerts at 5 and 9 p.m. Saturday will require the purchase of a $6 reserved seat ticket, also available at noon Thursday. The Saturday night concerts will feature final school competitions and the guest appearance of the powerful young group Matrix, which took UNR audiences by storm last September.

As usual, the university radio station, KUNR-FM at 88.7 megahertz, will broadcast the musical event live from curtain to curtain, beginning at 2 p.m. Thursday with high school band competition.

Besides its claim to fame as the nation's largest educational jazz festival, the Reno Jazz program bases its growing reputation on the international development of jazz.

Among featured evening entries in Friday's collegiate band division, which will open at 3:20 p.m. in the Pioneer Auditorium, are the ALS Jazz Orchestra of Tenri University (Japan), the Hi Society Orchestra of Waseda University, Tokyo, and the Big Band of the Popular Music Department of the State Higher School of Music in Katowice, Poland.

Both east and west coasts of this country will also be well-represented Friday evening by guest trumpeter Bobby Shew of Los Angeles—performing with Bob Affonso's UNR All-Star Concert Jazz Band—and piano soloist Ran Blake, head of the third stream department at the New England Conservatory of Music in Boston, where Blake once studied with third-stream pioneer Gunther Schuller.

Third stream music, a movement to merge the traditions of black classical improvisations (jazz) and western classical music composition, emerged in the 1950's. It anticipated some of the fusion movements of this decade—including the hard-to-categorize music of groups like Matrix—and contributes to the unpredictability of the Toshiko Akiyoshi/Lew Tabackin big band in which trumpet soloist Shew is regularly featured.

The audience at the Monterey Jazz Festival last autumn reacted with wild enthusiasm to Matrix. The group was singled out consistently for critical praise. Trumpeter Shew with the Akiyoshi/Tabackin band was also praised.

On Saturday at 9 a.m. in the Washoe County Library Auditorium, Shew will open the festival clinic for music educators. Matrix leader-composer-arranger John Harmon will clinicize on keyboards, as will pianist Blake, followed by Monk Montgomery on electric bass. Trombonist-composer Fred Sturm and drummer Michael Murphy (both of Matrix) will conclude the clinic. At 2:20 p.m. Saturday in the Pioneer Auditorium, Affonso will lead his UNR group in a jazz band clinic.

Among Nevada area high schools jazz bands competing at the Pioneer Auditorium, Tonopah will perform at 2:40 p.m., Incline at 3, Churchill County at 4:20, Douglas at 4:40, North Tahoe at 5, White Pine at 6:20, South Tahoe at 8, Sparks at 10 and Reno at 10:20.

'Besides its claim to fame as the nation's largest educational jazz festival, the Reno Jazz program bases its growing reputation on the international development of jazz.'

Friday in the exhibitor's hall at the Pioneer Theatre, combos from Sparks High School will perform at 10 and 10:15 a.m., followed by combos from Incline at 10:30 and Whittell at 10:45.

A very special exhibit of 70 photographs on American and European jazz subjects will be displayed at the Pioneer Theatre throughout the festival. The photographer is Luxembourg citizen Raymond Clement, official photographer for the International Jazz Federation. Clement's prize-winning work is constantly in demand throughout Europe and will be shown in June at the Duke Ellington Museum in New York.

A schedule of Reno Jazz Festival events will appear in Friday's Sagebrush. For more information on the festival, call the festival office, UNR Extended Programs and Continuing Education, 972-0781.

The office of VP of Finance and Publications is an important position in ASUN government. I feel that I am capable of bringing new solutions and an approach of objectivity and innovation to problems that have remained stagnant over the past couple of years.

Briefly, my platform consists of several basic points which I feel deal effectively with the issues facing the VP of Finance and Publications.

1. We need to have better lines of communication between the office of Vice-President of Finance and Publications, the Publications themselves, and members of Publications Board. I propose a special conference composed of these groups to familiarize each other with their jobs and their problems.

2. I would like to hold regular meetings with the Editors and Business Managers to discuss such topics as funding, expansion, and long-range goals for Publications such as self-sufficiency from ASUN funding.

3. I would push strongly for a practical and working student-teacher course evaluation. For maximum efficiency I would try to make this evaluation form short, concise, and above all, fair to both students and faculty.

4. We need a dependable grade appeals program whereby all students would have a chance to fight for their rights. This program would be a positive thrust away from the present situation which offers students little opportunity to discuss grade grievances with the faculty.

5. Students need a powerful lobby program to make our voice heard when budgets for UNR come under consideration at Nevada Board of Regents meetings and in the Nevada Legislature.

6. Finance-Control Board must make its practices more readily understandable and accessible to all students. This must be accomplished along with a reorganization of student funding priorities so more students and organizations can get funding.

I will not pretend to possess the answer for every problem on this campus. Likewise, I can promise only one thing. I will be fair, honest, and above all, a protector of student rights. Primary elections are tomorrow and Thursday. I would appreciate your vote.

College of Business Administration Senators

Greg Neuweiler

My name is Gregory 'Newy' Neuweiler, and I'm running for Business Senator. I am a junior with a dual major in Architecture and Finance Pre-Law.

As your senator I will put student interest first and strive for quality education. The only way to get the quality education that's needed in our state is to develop a strong student lobby in Carson City—so our voices will be heard where it counts.

In my 10 years of working in business, I have had to deal with all levels of management, so I am in a unique position to understand both student problems and those of the "real world." With this experience, I feel I can help develop a rapport—a fluid line of communications between the students and the Senate, the Senate and the Regents, the Regents and the legislature. To solve our problems—like overcrowded classrooms, badly-needed equipment, rising student fees, unnecessary budget cuts, high student-teacher ratios, reconditioning of dorms—it takes money. No matter how much complaining we do, nothing will get changed if we don't get the money necessary to improve our campus. And the only way to get the additional funds is to get ourselves united behind our student leaders and get our voice heard in Carson City.

Remember, the first step is your vote. If you really want change on our campus, then get out and support the candidates of your choice. We need leaders that are going to support us—the students.

Cindy Thomas

I am a sophomore in Accounting and Economics and I am running for Senate from the College of Business because I feel I can accomplish many things for the students of this University.

This past year I spent as Administrative Assistant to Jim Stone. I attended all Senate meetings, many meetings of Finance Control and Publications Board, and Board of Regents meetings.

The most striking thing I learned during the year is what tremendous potential Student Government has to fulfill the needs of the students. This potential can only be realized when enough input is forthcoming from the elected officials. I am running for Senate because I have the energy and enthusiasm to get the most out of the job. A few of the issues I would work for next year are:

1. New Business Building—this is sorely needed and I would do all I could to insure construction as soon as possible.

2. Smaller sections—with a new dean entering office in July, now is the time to get organized and work on ways to decrease the size of sections.

3. Better Communication with the Administration and Community as a whole—if graduates expect to look for jobs in this community it is very important to maintain good lines of communication with future employers.

These are just a few of the more important problems we will be facing next year. I feel I am the most qualified candidate to deal with these problems.

John Youmans

My name is John Youmans and I'd like to be your senator in the College of Business Administration. I'm a sophomore majoring in Economics with a 3.34 GPA. Through being active on the Homecoming and Winter Carnival committees, I've gained insight into the workings of Student Government and want to become actively involved in ASUN by serving on the Senate.

Furthermore, if elected, your interests, problems and ideas would become mine to bring before the senate. I would always be available to talk or to meet with anyone interested in discussing student and University affairs.

Bill Brown

The political expert

Pete Weber

Several student candidates for ASUN government positions are utilizing the experience of a campaign manager who has been involved in politics since 1960.

Bill Brown is the campaign manager for six student candidates in the upcoming elections. He started his political involvement by passing out bumper stickers for candidates in 1960. Since then, he has managed the campaigns of three past candidates for UNR student government, all of them winners.

Brown's first campaign for a student government candidate resulted in Pat Archer's election to the office of ASUN President. Brown also managed campaigns for Jim Stone, ASUN President, and Marc Cardinalli, vice-president of finance and publications. Pat Archer's successful bid for ASUN senator last spring was also managed by Brown.

This year, Brown is managing campaigns for Mark Quinlan, running for ASUN president; Nick Rossi, running for vice-president of finance and publications; and ASUN senate candidates Cindy Thomas, Greg Neuweiler, Becky Blundell and Steve Martarano.

Brown has predicted that Quinlan and Rossi will win in the general elections if they make it through the primaries. He also predicts that all four senate positions will be won by his candidates.

People continually come to Brown for political advice.

He supports any candidate who needs help in campaign organization. Brown helps candidates find the best utilization of manpower, signs and slogans.

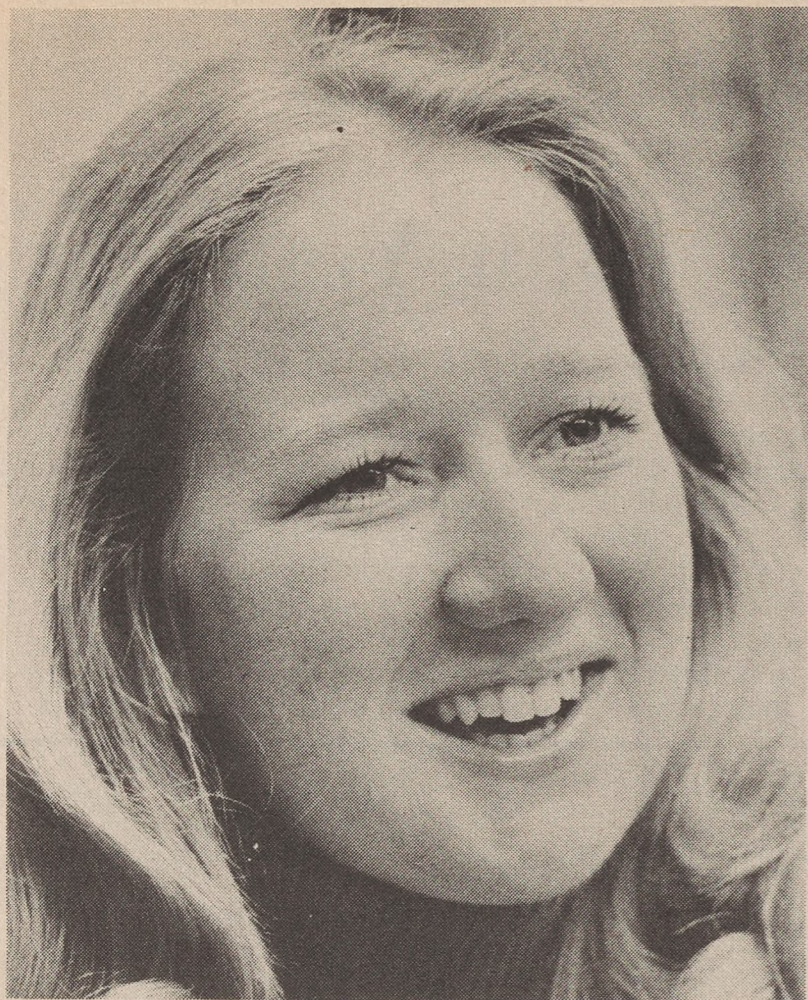

Not wanting to give his candidates the "Madison Avenue" type of image, Brown personally interviews each of his candidates to give himself an honest picture of each person. He said that each candidate has good qualities that can be brought out during the campaign. Part of his job includes helping the candidate organize a campaign that best portrays the individual and his attributes.

The "big boss" type of political figure is detrimental, according to Brown, because he does not offer new ideas. The "big boss" candidate is more dependent on what was right in the past rather than what is right for the future or present, Brown explained.

Brown also commented that there is great potential for a student lobby for the state legislature. The University of Nevada System, including the community college system, has more than 28,000 students. If we can harvest this power by having all students register to vote in Nevada, then UNR would have extreme bargaining power before the legislature, Brown said.

Brown is majoring in broadcast journalism and plans to continue to work for students in any way possible in the future. He hopes to apply the techniques he has learned in campaigns at UNR to downtown situations.

Sheri Skidmore

"... it takes the willingness and the drive ..."

Have you ever had one of those days when your cereal wouldn't snap, crackle, or pop, your 24-hour deodorant isn't, and even your prune juice won't make things run smoothly? And then, yes, to top things off, your favorite concert featuring the "Chartreuse Lizards" has been cancelled at the UNR gym—again. But don't worry, the "C. L." will be playing in S. F. for the second time this year. In general, are you distressed with a boring Student Union? Do you feel there's nothing to do on weekend nights? Well, I don't have an answer for the first three problems (perhaps a letter to Ralph Nader or Ann Landers) but maybe for the rest, the answer is Sheri Skidmore for V. P. of Activities.

"But," you ask, "is she qualified for such a position?" Having served in the Senate, on Activities Board and on various committees for ASUN and also having worked with student government on another college campus, I feel I am aware of what is going on especially in this school in regards to student government. I feel it takes someone who has worked with the Senate and Activities Board to know what is required of them and what sort of work is entailed. I feel I am familiar with the procedures involved and would be that much further ahead of my opponents. Yes, I feel I have the qualifications to be a good V. P. of Activities.

But it takes more than qualifications to make a good anything. In this case it takes the willingness and the drive to go out and find activities, find entertainment and not wait for it to come to me. This year's Activities Board in regards to concerts found itself victimized because it was a small university. I know we can combat that by over-scheduling ourselves and staying one jump ahead.

V. P. takes someone who wants to do the job, who is willing to put in the hours, but most of all to be a good V. P. it takes your support. With the efforts of all the students behind me, I'm sure we can make the 1977-78 year the best ever for activities.

Vice-President of Finance and Publications

Paul Etchgoyhen

I am Paul Etchegoyhen and I'm running for the office of Vice-President of Finance and Publications.

BACKGROUND AND EXPERIENCE: I am a junior majoring in Accounting. This past year I was a senator representing the College of Business. The fall semester I was on the Finance Control Board and this current semester I am on the Publications Board. I have served on the Dean's Advisory Council for the Business College and the committees I am on are the Senate Rules and Actions, and the Teacher-Class Evaluation Committee.

I am aware of the duties and responsibilities that the office of Vice-President of Finance and Publications has, and I am also familiar with the problems facing the job today. I don't pretend to have all the answers to all the problems. I believe, however, that my experience and background will enable me to handle any unforeseeable problems that the job will encounter.

In the way of Publications, I have served on the committee for Teacher-Class Evaluation and I believe it would be very beneficial to students and faculty to have a manual evaluating the classes and teachers. A lot of progress has been made concerning the Teacher-Class Evaluation manual and I will promise to continue working on it. For Publications in general I believe they should have greater autonomy from the student government. Many problems arise when you have a Publications Board that is full of senators who, for the most part, have had no prior experience in editing or writing, yet this board is overseeing editors and people who have much more experience and knowledge in the field. However, I do believe there should be some accountability to student government by publications because as the system is now, students are funding these publications and they should know how their money is being used. So, financially, publications should be accountable to the Publications Board, but I think government is overstepping their authority in telling an editor what he can or can't write or print in their publication. This is why it is a very important step to choose an editor of a publication

"Financially, publications should be accountable to the Publications Board ..."

(Sagebrush, Artemisia, etc.). If in choosing an editor you choose one who is competent and experienced you, in most cases, won't have to worry about the content being objectionable in his or her publication.

The Finance Control Board is a very important board as it allocates most of the money given to recognized ASUN organizations. Planning is an important aspect of this board so that the money is used to the best possible advantage. I believe my background in Accounting and my experience on Finance Control Board will be helpful to me in planning and organizing a budget that will make use of the students' money in the most beneficial way.

Many ASUN sports organizations come before the Finance Control Board requesting money (Women's ski team, Rodeo club, Soccer club, etc.). I believe that many of these organizations could receive some funds from the intercollegiate athletics fund or perhaps another alternative, such as a booster banquet, could be started for these teams. This would let other recognized ASUN organizations, who have no other alternatives, to receive more money from ASUN funds.

I encourage everyone to vote and whether you be GDI, Greek, or whatever, I hope you consider voting for me on the election days.

Beth Morgan

As a candidate for Vice-President of Finance and Publications, I don't stand on any platform. I stand on the ground with the students.

I am a strong advocate of extending total freedom of speech to student publications, and leaving editorial control in the hands of the editors.

Sagebrush, in particular, is not only watchdog of the faculty, administration and board of regents, but also the ASUN government. This creates innate conflict, and in the four years I have been a student here there has been conflict every year.

"I stand on the ground with the students."

If elected, I would work to sever the link between publisher and government by having a publications board elected at large, to meet once a month solely to deal with student publications' finances.

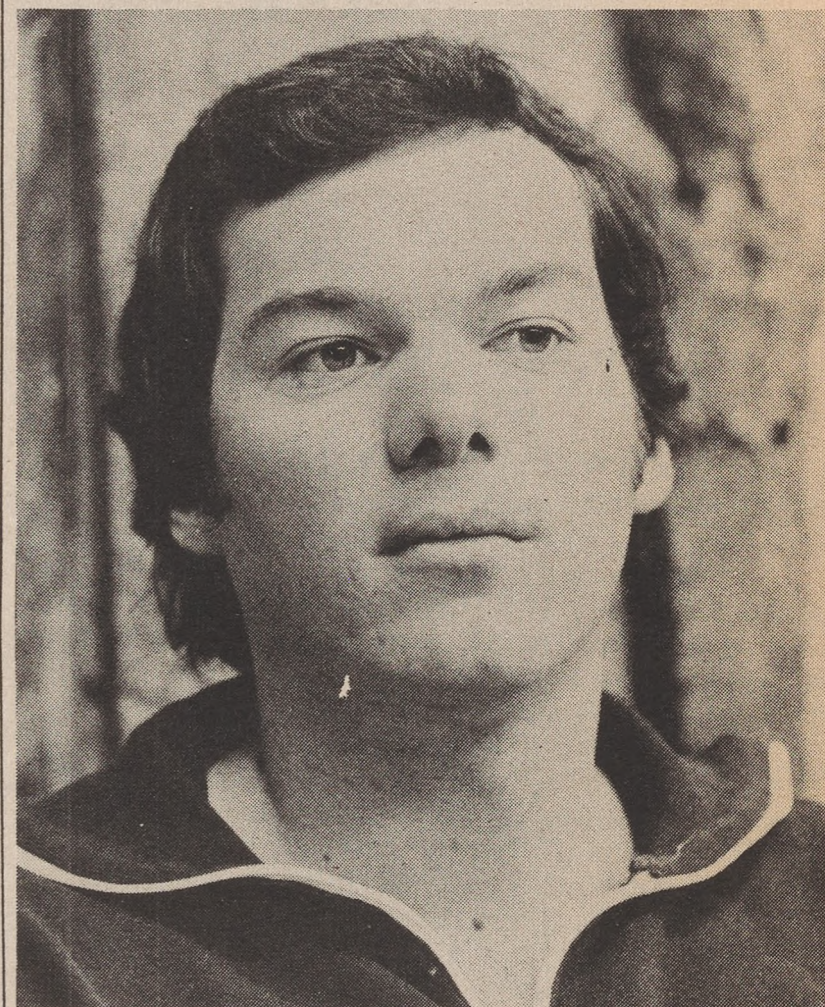

For the financial part of my job, I don't think an accounting degree could give me a greater sensitivity to student body needs and priorities, and I intend to adjust my personal views and priorities until they mesh as closely as possible with where students want their money spent.

ASUN is the students... and it's time the government was held more accountable to student concerns.

I have not ever held elected office at this university, but I have been actively involved, as a student, in pertinent issues throughout my four years. I gained political insight about working within the system, to change the system, as a congressional intern with Senator Laxalt in Washington, D.C. last semester.

I could promise to achieve student government miracles next year as Vice-President of Finance and Publications, but miracles of any kind are few and far between. I want to start from an honest position, that only strong leadership will initiate change, and only hard work will bring it about.

Nick Rossi

"... an approach of objectivity and innovation ..."

My name is Nick Rossi and I am running for the office of Vice-President of Finance and Publications. I have been a student of UNR for six semesters including this one. Currently my college is Arts and Science and Political Science is my major field.

I have been involved in student government for the past year as an ASUN senator from Arts and Science. During my term I have served on the following committees: Publications Board, Program and Budget, and Community Affairs.

Wolf Pack baseball wins one in home debut

Terri Gunkel

UNR's baseball team is still struggling to put together a string of victories in a tough Western Athletic Conference as it dropped games 10 and 11 in a weekend series with the St. Mary's Gaels.

The Wolf Pack's home debut Friday, postponed a week by cold weather, was anything but bright as the Gaels ripped pitchers Rich Jameson and Pete Padgett for 14 hits on their way to a 10-5 victory. Saturday was a little better as the Pack came from behind in the seventh inning to take a 2-1 victory, its fourth of the young season, behind senior southpaw Pat Alexander. UNR lost the nightcap of the doubleheader 11-9 in the last inning.

Friday, St. Mary's began the scoring with a back to back double and triple and a later single in a second inning for two runs. The Gaels really exploded, however, when reliever Padgett came to the mound in the seventh.

The former Pack basketball star walked the first batter on four pitches and then gave up a single, triple and double for four runs. That decided the game since St. Mary's led 8-1 at that point, however, UNR managed four more runs in the eighth and ninth innings.

Jameson was charged with the loss after six innings. He walked one, struck out four and gave up eight hits.

But in Saturday's lone victory, it was the Wolf Pack's pitching and errorless defensive play which saved it. Like John England's on the money throw from right field to nail a St. Mary's runner trying to score in the second inning, or the close calls in the eighth and ninth when the Gaels threatened.

In the eighth Alexander was struggling, so the Pack gambled with its 2-1 lead by loading the bases to get to catcher Dwayne Wright who was hitless so far in the game. Wright popped up behind the plate and the next batter, Kurt Cannedy, hit an infield fly to end the inning.

Again in the ninth, with one out, St. Mary's Greg Fisher lined a triple to the right field fence on Alexander's first pitch. But on the high bouncing squeeze play bunt, Alexander and catcher Paul Loveseth combined for the put out at the plate, a crucial one since it took away St. Mary's threat. Two batters later, Alexander ended the game by breezing two identical fast balls past John Perez. The third pitch, another fast ball, Perez lined straight into the glove of centerfielder Jack Tolliver.

"I knew he wasn't a very good hitter," said Alexander. "I just wanted to give him something he'd either miss or pop-up." He spoke quietly, moreso than usual, explaining that he was "more or less mentally drained. When you've got a 2-1 game, it takes a 100 per cent concentration on the mound," he said. "It's hard."

Incidentally, the Pack scored its two runs in the seventh as England bunt singled home a run and Loveseth took a full count walk with the bases loaded from pitcher DaVallon Harper to score Ron Ball with the winning run.

But where the first game was slow and methodical, the nightcap was loaded with hits and errors. Overall, the Pack committed eight mistakes and connected for 13 hits while the Gaels were charged with four errors and had 16 hits.

St. Mary's led off with four runs in the first inning, but not to be outdone, the Pack retaliated with six of its own in its half of the first.

Finally, going into the seventh the score was tied at 9-9. Pack pitcher Mike Brunett left two on, the result of a single and Pack error, before leaving the game to another reliever, Jim Gray. Gray, though, had the misfortune to face Eddie Biggs, St. Mary's powerful catcher who had already homered and doubled in the game for two runs batted in.

Gray worked the count to 3-2 before Biggs got hold of a pitch for a left field single which drove home the winning runs. The loss was charged to Brunett.

WOLF PACK hurler Pat Alexander eyes the plate before throwing another pitch on his way to a 2-1 victory Saturday. The senior from Tempe, Ariz., now holds a 2-3 season record.

The Pack's bright spot on the offense has to be right-fielder England who went four for five with two runs scored in the game. In addition, it was a personal achievement for the senior from Sparks who has only played eight games this season, starting late because of an ankle injury. In the seven previous games, England could only manage three infield hits.

Today the Pack host UC-Davis beginning at noon on University Field.

Track races to 4-0 season

Debbie Potter

Although missing a regular coach and three of its top tracksters, UNR's men's track team cruised by Chico State 88-65 at Saturday's meet there.

With a 4-0 record so far this season, assistant coach Kevin Christensen, a graduate student, is doing an admirable job. He has been managing the team the entire season, while coach Jack Cook recovers from an illness. "I'm getting a first-hand experience, finding out what it takes to run a team," said Christensen.

Sometimes that experience has not been so pleasant. Besides Cook's temporary absence, three "big-point" men have left the team. Ivan Coleman, a top sprinter, and Dwight Van Pelt, middle distance man, could not keep their GPA's up and had to be cut. Then, one week ago, Gary Jenkins—the team's decathlon athlete—severely injured his knee during a meet against Southern Oregon State at Mackay Field.

"Those three were a lot of points," said team member Tom Wysocki. "Of course the team's been a little down. But if you worry about it, it only gets worse."

So rather than worry, the team went to work. The statistics of Saturday's meet back that up.

For the first time in UNR history, the team made a clean sweep of the 100- and 200-meter dash events. In the 100-meter race, Neil McIntyre took first, with a time of 10:7; Cyril Lewis came in second with 10:8 and Pard Galvin also clocked at 10:8 for third place. That order was repeated in the 200-meter dash, with times of 21:7, 22:4 and 22:7, respectively.

Mike Kerney, undefeated in the intermediate hurdles this season, placed first in that event, and Rudy Munoz, voted Most Valuable Athlete of the Week, finished second in the 3,000 steeplechase with a time of 9:24.

The 440-yard relay team, with members Winston Mora, Lewis, McIntyre and Galvin, flashed to a first-place win in 41:8 seconds. "This is the first time the relay team's really been together," said Christensen. "In this and all other events, we should see some records broken this weekend." Mora, McIntyre, Lewis and Kearney comprised the mile relay team, which finished a close second to the Wildcats.

Other top finishers include Larry Moss, who threw a 15-pound shot 50' 1" to take first place and Dan Mosely, who was second in the high jump at 6' 7".

This Saturday the Pack hosts Boise State and Idaho State in Mackay Stadium. Both schools are in the Big Sky Conference and all—including UNR—are traditional rivals.

According to Christensen, "This should be a super triangle meet. Boise and Idaho are tough schools—one of our toughest conference meets this season. It should be touch-and-go all the way."

The Pack meets Fresno there Friday, March 18 and hosts Santa Clara in Mackay Stadium March 26.

Tennis team learns lesson

Tom McQueen

What happened to the UNR men's tennis team last Friday afternoon could be termed a learning experience. Serving as instructor was the University of California—Berkeley, which is tenth-ranked in NCAA with an 8-0 record.

What UNR learned was how to lose. What California taught was a 6-3 lesson in defeat. A first for the previously undefeated Pack.

Coach Bob Fairman, who saw five of his six players lose in singles competition, was pleased with his team's performance, despite the loss. "I thought it was a very good loss in a way. I was extremely pleased with their efforts," said Fairman.

Trebtor Allen, the only member of the UNR squad to taste singles victory, defeated California's Scott McCain, 2-6, 6-4, and 1-2. McCain, who pulled a muscle in the third set, was forced to forfeit.

Though the rest of Nevada's squad lost, most played close matches. Bill Gardner lost to Eric Fieberling, 6-4, 7-5; Brian Corolo was defeated by Cal's Doug Lancaster, 6-1, 6-4; Nevada's John Conway was outlasted by Dan Tierney, 6-4, 7-5; and Elton Lobas lost to Steve Pompan, 6-2, 6-1.

Nevada fared better in doubles competition, where the Pack won two of three matches. Allen and Lobas of Nevada downed Pompan and Harper, 6-7, 6-3, 6-3. UNR's Carolo and Conway defeated Tierney and Wright, 3-6, 6-4, 6-4. California's only doubles victory of the day came as Fieberling and Lancaster defeated the Pack team of McQuown and Gardner, 6-2, 6-4.

The Wolf Pack, 2-1, is optimistic of better results this week, as it takes to the road for a crowded weekend schedule. The Pack's first opponent is Chico State on Friday.

Women still positive about WIAAW

Shirley Sneve

Even though the UNR women's basketball team came back from the NCIAC championships in fourth place, the Pack still has a positive attitude going into the WIAAW regionals, starting Thursday.

Friday night, the Pack lost to Chico State, 79-54. Coach Kaprice Rupp said, "It was obvious that we conceded alot of height." Chico outrebounded the Pack, 67-47.

Scoring 11 points each were Bridget Galvin, Cindy Rock and Ellen Townsend.

Chico finished second in the championships with Sacramento State taking first.

The Saturday game with San Francisco State was tied 38-38 at halftime, but the Pack didn't get back into playing soon enough and found SFU ahead by 10. The Pack lost, 84-72.

In the SFU game, Townsend led scoring with 20 points. Galvin had 17 and Pat Hixon had 11. Barkley had 14 rebounds and Galvin had seven.

The Pack starts regional action Thursday at 8 p.m. in Fullerton. Rupp said they are seated third out of the six teams competing.
